

Faculty To Imitate Royalty At Annual All-Time Party

All Macollege students, wives, and husbands are to be guests of the faculty at the annual all-school formal scheduled for 8 o'clock Friday evening, March 22, in the gym.

"You Are There" is the theme of the Faculty Formal. Walter Kronkite Fly will be the master of ceremonies.

Historical sketches from royal courts are to be presented for the entertainment of the students and the King and the Queen, who will be chosen by the faculty. Committees for the formal have been appointed by the co-chairmen, Mrs. Homer Brunk, and Bob Wise.

Prof. Kenneth Kinzie is chairman of the decoration committee. Mrs. Wesley DeCoursey, Coach Sid Smith, and Prof. John Ward are the members of the committee.

Chairman of the program committee is Prof. Dayton Rothrock. Committee members are Dean James M. Berkeble, Miss Doris Coppock, Prof. Donald R. Frederick, and Miss Anne Krehbiel.

Refreshment committee is headed by Prof. and Mrs. S. M. Dell. Members are Dr. John Burkholder, Mrs. Audrey San Roman, and Miss Mildred Sick.

Rev. Paul Wagoner is chairman of the advertising committee. Miss Della Lehman is helping him.

Prof. Dayton Rothrock said that the program will be a combination of the sublime and the ridiculous. It will depict the professors displaying hidden talents and ambitions. While some of the teachers will leave their hair up, some will let their hair down.

This Faculty Formal will be the sixth held at McPherson College. The first was held in the spring of 1951.

Chapel Choir, Orchestra To Entertain Mac Boosters

The twenty-seventh annual Booster Banquet, of McPherson College will be held April 6. A musical program will be presented by the McPherson College Chapel Choir and the College Civic Orchestra.

Arrangements committee for the banquet is Prof. Guy Hayes, Coach Sid Smith; Art and Instructor Kenneth Kinzie; Dr. John Burkholder; Mrs. Homer Brunk; Prof. Dayton Rothrock and Prof. S. M. Dell.

On the Publicity Committee are members of the Public Relations Sheets, Paul Wagoner, Mrs. Homer Brunk, Kenneth Kinzie, and Dr. D. W. Bittinger.

Pre-program music will be under the direction of Prof. Paul Sollenberger and Billy Joe Hillbreth.

Mrs. Raymond Flory will be in charge of the food for the banquet again this year. Serving will be buffet style and guests may come at any time between 6 and 7:30 to be served.

Faculty members and wives will be serving the meal and acting as ushers in the dining room. Each will wear a name tag to identify him and his department for the guests.

MCA Selects Juanita Fike To Represent Mac In Europe

Juanita Fike looks over a map of Germany with her German professor, Dr. Kenneth C. Bechtel. As the McPherson exchange for next year, Juanita plans to study in Germany.

Juanita Fike, Macollege sophomore, has been selected as the 1957-1958 school year. This is under the sponsorship of the MCA.

Juanita plans to go to Germany because she has heard so much about it and the Church of the Brethren had begun there.

An English major, Juanita is from Pecee Valley, Mo. She has four brothers, two of which graduated from Macollege and one has attended Mac.

Selection was made by a committee of faculty and students. Criteria for the selection, among other things, were health, scholarship, personality, and the given reason for going. For personality, the ability to mix well with others and to adjust to new environments were especially considered.

JoAnn Negley of Durham, Kan., was selected as an alternate if Juanita is unable to go.

The MCA has a project this year of sending an exchange student to any country that is open for such a program.

MCA will pay $300 of the total expenses of the year away, and the cost to Juanita will not be more than that of one year of college in the States since the estimated cost is $750 - $1000.

Juanita looks at this opportunity as a real challenge. She is honored and believes that this is a good opportunity to learn a lot abroad and to better international understanding.

Elsie Lucore, a Macollege student, is studying in Germany this year under a similar grant from religious organizations on the campus.

Dog House Seeks Manager For Fall

The salary of the manager is $125 a semester plus one-fourth of any profit of the Dog House during the year.

Working with the manager is a committee composed of the treasurer of the Student Council, one student from the student body at large, and one faculty member from the Student Council.

Divided into districts the registered delegates at the conference were as follows: Southwest Kansas - 48, Northwest Kansas - 29 (22 from Quinter), Southeast Kansas - 14, Northeast Kansas - 23, Southern Iowa - 15, Middle Iowa - 48 (12 from Stover Memorial at Des Moines), Northern Iowa - 62 (11 from Grundy Center and 18 from Waterloo), Colorado - 34 (10 from Prince of Peace Church).

Delegates from three churches traveled over 800 miles to attend the conference. They are Grand Junction, Colo., Cando, N. D., and Roanoke, La.

The highlight at the conference was the banquet Friday evening in the Community Building, downtown. The main speaker was Rev. Harry K. Zeller.

At the executive cabinet breakfast meeting on Friday, March 8, at the Warren Hotel, the Annual Conference in Richmond, Va. was discussed. This region will be in charge of the evening recreation and worship services at the conference, October 25 will be the first meeting of the new Regional Cabinet.

Next year's Regional Youth Conference has been set for March 6-9. The Rev. Bob Richards will be the guest speaker. Over 500 young people are expected to attend.

Profs Spend Leisure Time Working In Their Gardens

By Ruth Davidson

Everyone has heard of dishing hands, but how many people have heard of gardeners' hands?

You can ask almost any of the Macollege professors, and they can tell you, for many of them are ardent gardeners.

With all of their knowledge about life and how it is maintained, the science professors, especially Dr. John Burkholder and Dr. Wesley DeCoursey, are expected to be good gardeners with good results.

This year, a usual gardener, Miss Mildred Siek, has rented her garden to Dr. DeCoursey. However, she will do gardening similar to that which Miss Edna Neher, Dotzour housemother, does — take care of her flowers.

Miss Della Lehman makes her small garden look larger by building a strawberry pyramid.

Prof. Guy Hayes takes his gardening seriously enough to try the local fairs and he sometimes walks away with prize ribbons.

Dr. Raymond Flory and Prof. Merlin Franzix miss gardening with house — building.

What used to be Gordon Yoder's garden plot is now a home site, and the Yoders' garden activities have been greatly curtailed.

Many faculty members find it rather hard to maintain a garden and keep up with their work and just don't try.

One gardener in a big way is Mrs. Homer Brunk. She and her husband had enough garden last year to can over 500 jars of vegetables.

Gardeners in McPherson, as well as anywhere else, must learn about insecticides. One professor stated that there is a special insect for every kind of plant (or maybe it's a worm). Grasshoppers are thrown in besides.

Among mentioned vegetables grown are tomatoes, potatoes, peas, beans, kohlrabi, spinach, chard, spinach, beets, onions, lettuce, okra, cucumbers, squash, asparagus, rhubarb, peppers.

If you see any professors out dropping potatoes this afternoon, it may be because the almanac says, "This is the day if you want a good crop."

100 Choir Alumni Return To Sing

McPherson College alumni returned in force for the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the A Cappella Choir. This coming together of former choir members was a unique type of alumni reunion for the college.

Registration for the choir and unofficial counts indicate that a few over 100 former choir members returned for and participated in the final numbers of the concert presented Saturday evening in the McPherson High School auditorium.

Welcomed by all were former choir directors. The McPherson College A Cappella Choir organizer, Alvin Voran, is now director of a college choir in Shreveport, La. Nevin Fisher, preceding Prof. Donald Frederick, is choral director and chairman of the Music Department at Elizabethtown College.

Decorations, such as the lyre, the stained glass window, and the torch to depict the different parts of the program, were arranged by Kenneth Fancher.

The high school auditorium was filled to overflowing with many people turned away. An estimated audience of 900 listened to the choir perform.

Kruschwitz Uses 'Jerry' To Practice Ventriloquism

Forrest Kruschwitz, junior from Grundy Center, Iowa, has been amazing Macollege students and audiences at programs outside his college this year with his powers of ventriloquism.

His latest appearance was at the Regional Youth Conference banquet where he made a big hit with the visiting high school students.

Forrest, who is the only known ventriloquist on campus, says that he has always been fascinated by ventriloquism. About a year ago, he sent for a book on the subject and started muttering to himself.

Then at the first of last summer, Forrest sent off and got "Jerry," his dummy. When asked how he came to name the dummy Jerry, Forrest replied, "Well, that's just the name that was on the box."

"I really enjoy doing it as long as Jerry never forgets," says Forrest about the programs.

Other hobbies of Forrest's include magic and dramatics. Grundy Center, Ia., is the home town of Forrest, who is a junior music education major.

Forrest plays the piano, has been in quartet for two years, and is currently in A Cappella Choir.

He has played the baritone horn and bass drums and is now playing the bassoon in Band and Orchestra.

The Spectator Speaks . . .

Epidemic Hits Macampus

The campus is getting back to normal now after one long week beginning with Regional Youth Conference and ending with Spiritual Emphasis. The week has not passed without leaving its effects on the students.

Most noticeable are the extra snorers in classes all day, not just in the 7-45 ones. The professors bend over backwards trying sly means to keep us awake, probably because they are bushed also but don't want to embarrass themselves by falling asleep.

While the students are getting their sleep, that has been the major extent of their activities

Assignments have gone by undone, beds have remained unmade, letters unanswered, term papers have been postponed while the students have devoted their time to the noble duties of attending class and chapel, sleeping, and Rook.

Of course, this activity will not go on for long because next week will be nine-week tests. After that the students will take another period of recuperation until grades are out.

For some reason, falling grades inspire students to get on the ball before the end of the semester.

Pondering With The President . . .

Steak Dinner For Boosters

Within a week or so 40 or more leading men of the city of McPherson will meet together for a steak dinner. At this time they will divide among themselves the names of some 400 or 500 of the business people, business firms, and leading citizens of McPherson.

They will then go out, each to call upon the people whom they have chosen or who will be assigned to them. They will talk about McPherson College, its progress, its continuing needs, its hopes.

They will urge the people of the city to stand back of this higher Christian educational enterprise, support it, and help to make it a growing part of our city and area.

They will not do this because they had a steak dinner, but the steak dinner will deepen their fellowship as they discuss the work they are going to do for the college.

A few weeks ago we handed out in the chapel a number of stamped envelopes and college bulldog letter heads, asking students to write to their friends who are finishing high school to tell them about McPherson College.

We did not feel that it would be a good policy to offer financial remuneration for this, for the desire and hope was that the good feeling which we all have about our college family would make us eager to invite others to become members of the family.

If we were paid for doing this, it would spoil something of the family spirit.

However, as the public relations people sat together discussing this, they felt that a steak dinner could help to deepen the fellowship of those who are "boos-

Dr. D. W. Bittinger

It was decided, therefore, to say that any student who succeeds in bringing another student to the college through his letter writing and/or his personal contact, will be invited to participate, next fall, in a celebrating, free steak dinner.

At that dinner we will share our experiences of solicitation, talk about our college, and make suggestions about its growth.

Some of you took as many as ten or a dozen letters. Some of you did not take any. We invite you to enter into this enterprise.

May God bless you as all of us together seek to make McPherson College ever a greater and better college.

Cooks Begin Preparing Food Early Each Day In Cafeteria

Have you ever thought of cooking 1252 meals a week or washing dishes for 350 people a day? These are just some of the problems of quality that Mrs. J. F. Slifer, cafeteria manager, and the cafeteria employees face each week.

The day begins in the cafeteria at 6:30 a.m. as the cooks start breakfast. Then at 6:45 a.m. before breakfast is even served the roasts are started for the noon meal.

Baking pies is another early morning chore. After breakfast the other meats, vegetables, and the main dish for dinner are begun.

From 2-4 p.m. the cafeteria is empty. At four the cooks return to get supper ready.

In addition to the regular cooks, students work in the kitchen during meals serving food, running errands, doing dishes, and cleaning up.

Mrs. Slifer also has the job of having an acceptable variety of foods. In comparing the McPherson College cafeteria with KU, the variety is almost the same.

In quantity, the amount of food used in a week seems large to one accustomed to cooking for an average family.

Signs Direct Visitors To Mac

New McPherson College signs have been placed on the highways in McPherson to direct out-of-town visitors to the campus.

Two signs were put on highway 56 at Eshelman, and two were placed on the city route of 81 at Euclid.

The signs are black and white with the words McPherson College and an arrow pointing in the direction of the college.

These signs were provided by the city of McPherson and their location was determined by the officials of the city.

Kendall To Go Into Ministry

Lee Kendall, chief engineer and associate superintendent of grounds of McPherson College, will terminate this position at the end of the summer school term.

His present plans are to go into the active ministry again. When Mr. Kendall and his family first came to McPherson almost five years ago, he served as pastor of the Newton Church of the Brethren. He retired as pastor two years ago.

Since coming to McPherson, Mr. Kendall has averaged five hours of class work per semester outside his regular campus position.

Mr. Kendall will not announce definite plans until a later date.

The dishwashers use 1,100 pounds of soap a year.

Never believe the impossible. Never regret the past. Do not long for the unattainable.
