Evangelistic Services.

Will Begin in Chapel Next Sunday
J. H. B. Williams, the Evangelist

Although more than ninety per cent of the students enrolled in M. C. are members of some church and nearly all of the remainder have church preferences, it is the custom here to hold a series of evangelistic meetings each year shortly after the opening of school. The fact that these meetings are worth while is proved for the reason that practically every year they are held there are results achieved which surprise everyone. Last year there was a general pessimistic attitude taken toward the meetings because it was thought that practically every student enrolled belonged to church; yet when the meetings closed there were thirty-two converts.

This year Elder J. H. B. Williams of Elgin, Illinois, has been secured to conduct these services. Elder Williams is an alumnus of McPherson College having graduated from the collegiate department in about 1904. From here he went directly into church work and at present is one of the most prominent men at the head of affairs in the Church of the Brethren. His ability is easily judged by the work to which he has been called. He is the editor of the Missionary Visitor, the official missionary organ of the church. For several years he has been assistant secretary and treasurer of the General Mission Board of the Brethren Church. Elder Williams has always been interested in mission work and is perhaps better informed in this sphere than any other man of the church.

Elder Williams is a ready and a forceful speaker. He has been elder in charge of the Elgin church for several years. The meetings will be in progress for at least two weeks, and if the local congregation does its part there should be great success achieved. Each meeting will start early in the evening and will perhaps be over by eight o'clock, thus working no hardship on the students who wish to attend. It is hoped that everyone will get behind these meetings and do his share to make them a success and to make Elder Williams' stay here both pleasant and profitable.

Mrs. Bozarth of Missouri visited her son, Eugene, several days last week.

"I'd give a nickel for a kiss."
Said Cholle to a pretty Miss.
"Go way" said she, "you lazy cuss,
You're looking for a jitneybuss."

Π. C. Students Oversubscribe
Quota more than a Thousand Dollars--Chapel Services Impressive.

Wednesday morning was the time set for the report of the delegates to the War Relief Conference at Topeka. This fact had been well advertised and the chapel was crowded. Everyone present was rewarded with what proved to be one of the most impressive chapel services ever held at McPherson.

The delegates who had attended the conference agreed that the report was to be brought to the students by Miss McVey and Dr. Harnly representing the faculty, and Edith McGaffey and Galen Jones representing the students.

Miss McVey impressed upon the assembly the awful seriousness of the task in which we are engaged and accentuated the seriousness of it by reminding us of the faces already absent from our student body and those soon to go. She impressed upon the students the high sense of duty which should possess every one at this hour.

Galen Jones reviewed the speeches of Sherwood Eddy and "Dad" Eliot. By fragments and excerpts he managed to bring to the students the spirit of that great convention. Mr. Jones dwelt upon the terrible suffering and the overwhelming temptations of the soldiers at the front, and made the statement that we can help to overcome these conditions by self-sacrifice. He maintained that whatever the ethics of spending money lavishly heretofore has been, it is absolutely criminal to do so this year.

Edith McGaffey reviewed the special conferences for women at the Topeka Conference and told of the place of woman in this war. At the intrusion of Y. W. C. A. camps at the different cantonments over the country, vice and sin vanishes. The place a pure woman holds in the lives of the soldiers cannot be overestimated.

Dr. Harnly disillusioned us of the current belief that the war is going to be an affair of short duration. In the opinion of all the experts and men who have actually been on the field, the war will last several years unless some agency now unforeseen intervenes. He, too, told of the suffering endured by the soldiers which is beyond the power of man to describe and urged that the fact that these men are standing between us and the decline of our civilization should be an incentive to spur us into action.

A committee of about sixteen students and faculty members had been appointed before the meeting in Chapel to arrange for the handiest way of carrying on the campaign for funds. This committee met on Tuesday evening and arranged the canvassing scheme. Before adjourning they made their own individual pledges which amounted to $560. The fact that a great many of these students were working their way through school and were sacrificing a great deal in giving the amounts they pledged no doubt had its effect upon the students assembled in chapel.

From the very first it was evident that M. C. was not going to fall short of her pledge. The faculty members pledged from fifty to one hundred dollars and a great many students gave from ten to fifty dollars. Only a few pledged less than five and practically everyone in chapel called for a pledge card.

The total amount raised to date is $2598.50. There yet remain several students to be canvassed and this amount may be raised two or three hundred dollars. Of the amount thus far pledged the College Department leads with $1,176.50, the Faculty are next with $730.00 and the Academy next having pledged $692.00. About 200 persons in all signed pledge cards.

From all over the state comes word that the amounts pledged by the colleges at Topeka are being oversubscribed, although none of the oversubscriptions are so marked as that of McPherson according to the Topeka Capital. Fairmount and Washburn have made excellent records. We are glad for this opportunity to show our appreciation in a limited degree to those brave men who are offering up their lives to keep German frightfulness from permeating the earth.

Spectator Staff Enlarged

Now that the routine work attendant to the establishing of our new weekly has been accomplished and the Spectator is running along fairly smooth if enough energy is applied, it has been decided to enlarge the staff. This has been done for several reasons. The present staff are for the most part members of the Senior Class. Seniors, as a rule, are overburdened with work, and a staff coming almost wholly from one class cannot be as representative of the entire school as it could, if the members were apportioned among several classes.

The literary part of the Spectator clan has been overworked in gathering the news because there are only three of them to do it. Three reporters, Paul Hoffman, Cecil Maxcy and Edward Girard, have been added. It is probable that upon the shoulders of these men will fall the task of editing the paper next year and perhaps a combination of circumstances will make it necessary for them to take charge at the beginning of the second semester. Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Maxcy, and Mr. Girard are the stars of the oncoming generation in the writing game with abundant powers of observation and individuality of style as assets. They will be a bulwark of strength to the staff.

The business staff has also been overworked in their tussle to place the Spectator on a firm financial basis. Mr. Phillippi and Mr. Hoffman decided to appoint another man, and the choice fell upon Elden Engle. Mr. Phillippi will now be the business manager and Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Engle will chase down advertisements. These choices have all been ratified by the student council which is the publisher and will assume their duties immediately. We believe the staff has been greatly strengthened and that its work will be very much facilitated.

SOCIAL NOTES

Friday evening a company of young folks from the Hill gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Detter to help Mrs. Detter and her son Clinton celebrate their birthdays which fall upon the same day. A very enjoyable evening was spent at various games. Music was furnished by Pauline Vaniman and Clinton Detter. An interesting feature of the evening was a list of conundrums concerning the names of the guests. It required a great deal of ingenuity to solve these. The entertainment smacked somewhat in some of its features of Hallowe'en. Refreshments were served at a relatively late hour and the guests departed. Those present were: Misses Evelyn Trostle, Ruth Shirk, Lora Trostle, Delilah Stutzman, Ruth Shoemaker, Ruth Williams, Elizabeth Mohler, Pauline Vaniman, and Messrs. Lawrence Vaniman, Wilbur Vaniman, Floyd Mishler, Chester Ditch, Herbert Hoffman and L. F. Kimmel.

The M. C. students responded nobly to the appeal sent forth to them in chapel Wednesday and everyone connected with the institution is proud of the sacrificial spirit they showed which resulted in McPherson leading all the other colleges of the state in the Eddy War Relief Fund.

But from all indications the end is not yet. All the classes are seriously considering discarding refreshments so far as possible in all their class entertainments and turning the money commonly spent for such things over to some fund which will go for the purpose of alleviating the suffering of this war. The Freshmen have already acted upon this and have turned twenty five dollars which was to have been used for class purposes over to the Eddy Fund.

The Freshmen are entitled to a great deal of praise for this and it is hoped that their example will be an incentive to the other classes and organizations to do likewise. A great deal of money is required to carry on student activities, but a great deal more is sometimes spent than is necessary. Then, too, the exigencies of the circumstances this year point out the fact that money which could be spent legitimately last year for certain things is now criminally spent when used for the same purposes. It is criminal to spend large sums for banquets this year when the world may be starving in a few months. It is criminal to spend large sums of money in activities not essential to school life when there is so much suffering to be relieved in the world. It is criminal to spend money on nick-nacks of student life and we are glad these organizations are by their examples declaring such things to be taboo around M. C. The seriousness of the war will soon make such criminal spending impossible, but we are glad that an early stand is being taken against it here.

Candid Remarks

When one attends the most serious functions, occasions on which he is supposed to be long faced and pious,—that is when the most humorous situations and the funniest jokes come to him and impel him to laugh.

The man who earnestly invites persecution and says he doesn't give a rap whether he gets praise or blame so long as he does his duty, is the man, nine times out of ten, who crabs most vehemently when he gets blame and persecution.

We observed some girls recently who were laboring under an hallucination. They had several coats of lamp black, paint, and powder arranged on their faces after the manner of the Cubist artists or perhaps an Apache war chief. Poor, poor, deluded girls. They will learn some day that making a hit does not consist in disguising one's real self but in being one's real self.

An Irving Victory.

There was no limit to the cheering and enthusiasm of the crowd at the Alumni Gym Wednesday night. Truly as an arouser of the "old pep" the event was in a class all by itself. For on that night did the basket shooters of the Iconoclast and those of the Irving mix in a general free for all. This game is always a thriller and the last was no exception.

The game started out with every promise of being anybody's until the finish. The Iconoclast warriors, goaded by the cries and pleadings of their yelling comrades, strained every nerve and for the first part of the first half kept the score even. But by this time the cool, steady playing of the Irving men started to count and point by point they chalked up a lead that proved impossible for the Iconoclasts to overcome. The Irving guards simply wore out their opponents' forwards and the ball was in the Irving territory most of the time. This victory keeps untarnished the record of the Irvings during the history of the contest, for never have the Iconoclasts won.

The final score was Irvings 30, Iconoclasts 16. R. Kintzie, a former M. C. student was referee. The lineup was as follows:

Irving	Position	Iconoclast
Ditch	F.	G. Jones
L. Hoffman	F.	Neher
D. Eichenberger	F.	Ellenberger
C. Moors	C.	Evans
M. Moors	G.	Yoder
H. Hoffman	G.	W. Brubaker
Mishler	G.

Recent visitors to Camp Funston report that Cedric Eichenberger is making a great record for himself at that place. He impresses everyone with his willingness.

Mormonism Exposed.

Former Priest of Mormon Church
Tells of Treason and Frightful Practices of Priest and Prophet.

Mr. Vernon J. Danielson, a former high priest in the Mormon Church, a man who was formerly trusted with the most important secret and who walked in the innermost circles of the church founded by Joseph F. Smith, but who is now in the employ of the National Reform Association and who is traveling under its auspices, addressed a fair sized audience in the College Chapel last night. Mr. Danielson is a forceful speaker and kept his hearers interested throughout. He came to McPherson from Wichita where he held a week's series of meetings. He has traveled all over the United States to tell the people what Mormonism really is.

The Mormons absolutely control twelve of the Western states and are gradually assembling their forces to gain control in several others. High Priests are appointed in nearly every state in the union to carry on this work. In Kansas, Arthur E. Anderson of Topeka is the Mormon high priest and he has under him 480 men and 212 ladies who are doing missionary work in this state. These missionaries do their work by claiming to be members of a purity league of magazine salesmen and thus worm their way into the confidence of the people, and then proceed to disillusion them of all their former unflattering views of the Mormons.

Jonathan: "Meat doesn't need smoke as long as it's alive."

Clarence Bailey, student of M. C. for the past two or three years, came down from Navarre Monday where he had been attending the district meeting, and visited at McPherson for a day with friends. A good corn crop will probably keep him at home all winter.

The depredations committed by the rising generation on College Hill hallowe'en were perhaps fewer than usual, but the "fellers" were out nevertheless. Various transportable articles were moved about and an out building belonging to Herbert Hoffman was upset. Herb thinks it was very unkind of the perpetrators to upset it in such an awkward position as he was greatly inconvenienced in righting his property.

The Senior class pins have arrived. There is now a shining spot on the bosoms of the upper class dignitaries. The pins have the design, "M. C. '18" together with a lighted candle, the insignia of the school, engraved on them. A few ordered rings and stick pins.

Hallowe'en Party

Misses Lola Warwick and Nina Jones entertained a few friends Monday evening at a Hallowe'en party given at the E. E. John home. The entertainment for the evening was carried out in the form of a "Hallowe'en Salmagundi," after which refreshments were served. Those present were: Misses Leah Miller, Ua McAvoy, Sarah Brubaker, Salome Jones, Hazel Warwick, Ruth John, Ruby Teeter, Modena Heckman, and Messrs. Galen Evans, Dayton Yoder, Crawford Brubaker, Henry Stover, Jay Young, R. B. McAvoy, Roy Brubaker, Howard Engle, V. P. Shores, and Leonard Crumpacker.

B. B. Tournament Started

The inter-class basket-ball tournament started off with considerable show of pep on Thursday of last week when the College Sophomores met the College Seniors in a fast little set-to which resulted in the ultimate victory of the Sophs by a score of 21-17.

The two Academy teams met on the same evening. The Academy Freshmen and Juniors are lined up together and the Sophs and Seniors compose the other Academy team. The Freshies and Juniors came out victorious in this fracas by a score of 19 to 9.

A heavy schedule will be played next week and by the time it is completed an idea can be had of how the tournament will result. The students are showing their interest by turning out en masse.

Mormonism Exposed

is required to take an oath of bloody vengeance against the United States government for the murder of some of the Mormon prophets years ago. The speaker was reared in the Mormon church and had no scruples against their way of doing things. In a moment when he was half-maddened by conflicting emotions this bloody oath was administered to him. In substance the oath is that every Mormon must be ready to avenge with blood the blood of the prophets of this nation, and that they must teach this to the third and fourth generations and so long as time shall last they are not to forget this oath. A dagger is drawn around the throat, the heart, the intestines, and the limbs of the oath taker as a reminder of what will happen to him should he prove a traitor. Every Mormon is required to wear underclothes with red tape at the throat, the heart, and the wrists and ankles. These are never to be taken off except to put on clean ones and then the one suit is to be put on as the other is being taken off as a constant reminder of the oath.

When the Mormon lads were drafted a special ruling was made for them allowing them to keep these underclothes, because they refused to take them off. The fact that Reed Smoot has failed to be unseated, that he was chairman of the committee that nominated Hughes, that the post office department refuses to close the mails to treasonous Mormon literature—all these witness the growth of the Mormon political power. There are 3,900,000 Mormons in the U. S. and these are so cleverly manipulated by the Mormon prophets that in many states they hold the balance of power. The Mormons control the sugar industry and to a large extent the wheat industry of the country. Everyone pays tithes to the Mormon prophets.

The Mormon bible, the Pearl of Great Price, teaches polygamy. Mr. Danielson quoted from it verbatim and allowed the audience to see the passage. He hesitated to give any exact figures as to the exact extent of polygamy in the U. S. as the Mormons are constantly trying to get him on the grounds of perjury, but every prophet and priest has from 2 to 27 wives. The speaker was secretary of the Mormon missionaries in Europe for several years and during this time he was instrumental in sending from 1000 to 1500 girls yearly to the U. S. Very often they were refused admittance and were smuggled in. Mr. Danielson gave some interesting memoirs of his travels in Europe, telling how Kaiser Bill chased him out of Germany and how an English mob threw him into the river Thames.

Mr. Danielson is working against the Mormans now because he became acquainted with Christian people and learned to love true Christianity and his country. He is now making what amends he can. A price is on his head but this tends to make his work more interesting. He has been shot at and threatened, but still he goes on. Prophet Smith wrote him that everytime he thought of Danielson he got a bad taste in his mouth. Danielson advised him to use peroxide.

Four resolutions regarding Reed Smoot, Mormon literature and constitutional amendments were adopted unanimously by the audience. An offering was taken for the Reform Association. It was perhaps the most forceful Mormon lecture ever heard in McPherson.

Miss Lillian Shirk came down from Lost Springs Saturday to visit with her sister, Ruth Shirk.
