MEN'S BIBLE CLASS ENTERTAINS LADIES

Banquet Is Featured With Speeches, Musical Program And Play

DR. SCHWALM TOASTMASTER

One Hundred And Forty-Two Are Served Delightful Dinner By College Girls

Those who were present last Friday evening when the Men's Bible Class entertained the Ladies' Class in the Church basement say they enjoyed themselves immensely. Supper was served to 142 ladies and gentlemen, with the assistance of the Ladies' Aid, and with ten college girls as waitresses. The supper session was liberally sprinkled with spicy songs, led by "Si" Sargent, which chased Old Man Gloom far out into the night.

After supper, Professor Mohler of the Program Committee introduced Dr. Schwalm as the toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Vaniman, President of the Men's Class, introduced as first speaker of the evening, extended a warm welcome to all the guests. Following the welcome, Mrs. J. J. Yoder expressed the sincere appreciation of the ladies and thanked Mr. Vaniman for his kind welcome. Dr. Schwalm announced the next number as a solo by Clarence Hawkins, to "Hawkey's" embarrassment, as the number was an old ditty lullaby sung by Miss Ruth Hiebert and himself, he accompanying on his guitar. Dr. Schwalm begged pardon, saying that he had not been told that Hawkins was to have a "help-mate". The number was encored. As their second number they sang "Highways Are Happy Ways—When They Lead To Home."

Mr. A. A. Ohmart was introduced as the next speaker on the topic "What Is It All About?" To him and others, attendance at Sunday School is no longer a mere duty, but a privilege. The class of men is an unusual one, and has an uncommonly good corps of teachers.

Miss Batchelor then sang, accompanied by Miss Moyers at the piano. The listeners called for an encore and Miss Batchelor sang a short comic song.

Prof. B. O. Miller spoke on "What Way Next?" stressing in his talk four things in which laymen can help, namely: 1. Development of religious life within the home. 2. Being a group which will support church programs not only financially but also with time, moral support, and other influences. 3. Studying the community in which they live and endeavoring to correct evils and make better the things which are good. 4. Do personal evangelism.

Mr. Marvin Steffen and Miss Dorothy Swain entertained the men and their guests with a unique and very interesting dialogue entitled "When Angry, Count a Hundred."

Near the close a few remarks were called for from others who were present, including Prof. Heckman, Dr. Yoder, Dean Mohler, and Dr. Schwalm. The company sang two verses of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds", and were dismissed with prayer by Prof. Heckman.

BOONE ENTERTAINS MANUAL ARTS ASSISTANTS

Thursday evening at 6:30 the Manual Arts assistants were the dinner guests of Prof. and Mrs. G. N. Boone.

The dinner consisted of waffles, creamed chicken, pear salad, and desert of jello with whipped cream, pineapple and marshmallows.

A part of the evening was spent in a bean bag tournament. This was followed by a business meeting in which various problems of the Manual Arts Shops were discussed.

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carney, Glen Kilmer, Ralph Bowers, Paul Bowers and Lloyd Jamison.

ALL ABOARD FOR SWEDEN!

Everybody's going! Where? Why to Bethany of course. When? Next Friday. Every true bulldog is going to be there, early, and hitting on both lungs, just aching to yell—to yell for the fighting five, to yell for his Alma Mater. Remember, this tells whether or not you are a TRUE Bulldog—so be there—in the PEP section, dressed in red and white—and yell. We cannot lose.

LEHMAN REVIEWS POPULAR BOOK AT C. E.

"The Christ of the Indian Road" By E. Stanley Jones Outlined

Given As A Challenge To Modern Youth Who Intend To Be Missionaries Abroad

To an usually large crowd at C. E. Sunday evening came a new view of Christ, as, after the opening numbers of songs and reading, Miss Della Lehman reviewed "The Christ of the Indian Road", by E. Stanley Jones, for many years a missionary, in India. In the review, two events were particularly outstanding. When Mr. Jones entered the ministry, he felt that he was to be Christ's lawyer. Almost entirely forgetting his first sermon and then descending from the pulpit convinced that he was a total failure, something seemed to say to him "Have I done nothing for you? Tell them that!" And a great missionary career started there. Later, in India, with health completely broken, and his greatest work before him, he was about to give up when the same something said again: "Leave your health to me. Forget yourself and just work!" And his greatest work has been done since then.

Through the book runs the ideal of the title, "The Christ of the Indian Road", an Indian Christ, direct from God to India, walking up and down the roads of India as He once walked in Palestine standing above the weaknesses and evils, but not aloof from the people of His day.

J. W. HARNLY, FORMER M. C. GRADUATE HIGHLY HONORED

John W. Harnly, an alumnus of McPherson College, was recently elected second vice-president of the Microscopical Society of Illinois. He is employed as a leather chemist for Artess-Plager Tannery Company at Waukegan, Ill. Harnly graduated in the class of '24 and is a nephew of Dr. Harnly. Mrs. Harnly will be remembered as Miss Welita Durst and as a former student of McPherson College.

The University of Texas will offer classes in golf instruction for girls at the beginning of the second semester.

LENDEL COACHES WINNING DEBATORS—TWO VICTORIES

Success for the Formoso high school debate team, coached by Charles Lengel, '27, is indicated by the following item taken from the Topeka Daily Capital.

"Two victories, an unanimous decision over the negative team of Republic high school and a two to one decision over the Burr Oak high school affirmative team, on the McNary-Haugen bill have been scored by the Formoso high school."

Lengel was a member of the McPherson College debate team that won the state championship banner last year. He was recommended for his present position by Prof. Maurice A. Hess, college debate coach, when the Formoso high school made inquiry for possible applicants.

Lengel also teaches history and coaches athletics.

COMMUNITY BUILDING BE READY IN ANOTHER WEEK

It was stated this morning at the community building that another week of work will see the convention hall side of the structure ready for use by next Monday. It was expected to start laying the maple floor tomorrow, and it was stated that two days would see this work completed, after which it would be sanded and oiled and ready for play.

However, the lobby will not be ready for use at this time, but it is pointed out that the two exits on the east side of the building can be used. The balcony floor and front have been stained and the painters today were busy on the metal work. The three steel stairways at the corners of the balcony are completed and ready for use. The basket back-stops are in place and will see the decorated with the baskets. The seats for several stairs are here, have been for several weeks, and will require but a little time in putting in place.

Visitors to the building now can get a good idea of how the place is going to look when completed, and one hears many words of praise for the structure and appreciation for what it is going to mean to the city.

FACULTY FLING

The faculty fling the Highland fling in a lowland flop a week ago Monday night. The bean bags were flung best by the Freshmen. The college dumbbells were flung on the floor and rolled about unscrupulously. No gambling was allowed, but Dame Fortune turned the cards up in favor of the Sophomores. The Sophomores won the first grand prize by having the most appetizing class stant. In order to avoid complications the class as a whole was awarded with the hole of the largest doughnut in the state. This being such an abundant prize, all Sophomores filled all their pockets after they had satisfied their cannibalistic appetites. The Freshman stant was a modern revelation of the anatomy of a college student. The Juniors forgot the dignity of their class and acted their own age, very beautifully. The Seniors in a unified attempt supplied the highly artistic part of the program.

The faculty promenade was one to show the wonderful achievement of modern science. Dr. Harnly made a most elegant Dr. Bunkum and Miss Heckethorn was his ladies aid, for as you all remember, Dr. Bunkum was handsome and besides, this is one year in four. These two wizards had invented a machine containing all the radioactive minerals of the doctor's geology collection. This machine was attributed with the long sought powers of rejuvenating the faculty. In Prof. Blair's psychology classes, is suppressed desires, and if this is true, the faculty must have spent the evening having a good time in California. How did they get there? Why? On a night mare of course.

The wish is rumored among the students that several astonishing results of this miraculous machine were only stable. If so, our school could boast of having the world's youngest financier at the head of its business department and of having the largest enrollment of boys in home economics classes of any school in the state. Our history department would be apt to take on a care free atmosphere and Major Forney would be blowing the smoke from two-bit

FRESHIES HAVE BIG LEAP-YEAR BLOWOUT

Party Is Scene Of Games, Readings, Musical And Feed

Little Green Things Seen In A Pinkish Hue As Fair Maidens Call Them From Domicile

Leap year was in evidence again Saturday evening when the freshman Class threw a party in the fourth hall of the Science building.

The green young care-women, in order to prevent any dissention over the choice of partners, drew lots to select the accompanying young man. From the opinion of some of the girls "They had to take what they could get." Masterful co-eds raided the Fahnstock Hall and led the blushing, timid but unresisting boys away to an evening's entertainment of games of rivalry, guessing contests, readings, vocal and piano solos, stunts and a debate which was the outstanding feature.

After the program the gay crowd consumed the fruit salad and waters served by the obedient maids. Professor and Mrs. Boone, Fresh sponsors, kept a watchful eye on the proceedings.

NEW AND FORMER STUDENTS TOTAL 18

The special students entering this semester are: Ray Swander, McPherson; Lucile Yowell, Conway, Fredella Yoder, McPherson; and Fred Church, McPherson.

Best the Swedes!

BARRELMAKERS AND BENEFACTORS FALL

McPherson Equals Bethany's Rating Of Five Victories And No Defeats

LEO CRUMPACKER HIGH MAN

Two Strenuous Games Face Cadets—St. Mary's Tonight With Trek To Sweden Friday

The McPherson Bulldogs stepped up on the level with the Bethany Swedes last night in the Kansas conference lead when they took the measure of the St. Benedict's crew at Atchinson for a 26 to 15 count.

The Gardner men met some real opposition in the Benedictines and pulled through to a victory only after the hardest struggle of the season.

Jumping to the lead immediately after the game started, the Mac men held the advantage entirely through the game, leading 12 to 6 at the half. The battle settled into a real struggle then and at one time the Bulldogs' margin was cut down to four points. In the last four minutes of play the Red and White hoopers started a drive which ended in the final score.

Snyler and Rump got in the game for just about a minute's play. It was an unusually clean game with McPherson showing up in some of the season's finest play. The game was decidedly defensive as the low score shows.

Tonight they meet another set of splendid basketballers in the St. Mary's Micks there. St. Mary's has taken beatings from the leading teams of the conference, but only after a tight battle.

Friday the Bulldogs challenge the Bethany Swedes for the front position in the conference rating. McPherson college fans are arranging to trek to Lindsay in a body. The game was scheduled to be played in McPherson but, in order to use the new court of the community building the places have been reversed as the new gymnasium is not yet completed.

Sterling Falls 48 to 20

The Sterling Barrelmakers hit the grip of the McPherson Bulldogs Friday evening when they were bitten for a 43 to 20 loss. The main tooth of the McPherson scoring attack, Miller, was decidedly off edge, but Leo Crumpacker stepped into the limelight and carried the offense with six field goals and two free throws. Leo was playing fine form all evening, playing a real exhibition of guard work, with Nonken staging his usual quick change from defense to offense.

Kinzo seemed to be sharing Miller's hard luck and was unable to hit consistently, but he displayed brilliant floorwork.

Elmer Crumpacker shared second honors with Miller with four field markers, and it begins to look as if he is going to take more chances and give his accurate scoring ability a chance.

Quoting from the Sunday's Wichita Eagle: "The Crumpacker brothers with Miller, center, proved a too efficient scoring combination for the Sterling Cagers."

LINDELL RELATES HIS EXPERIENCES IN Y. M. C. A.

A topic of interest was taken up in Y. M. C. A. Tuesday morning by Leland Lindell, the Freshman class president. He told of the experiences he had while in New Mexico, of visiting among the Pueblo Indians. "It was one of the greatest experiences of my life to see the corn dance," said Lindell. The Indians held the corn dance to bring rain for the dying crops. The great event was an all day festival in which all the Indians participated in great abject faith. Then to finish it all, Lindell said, it actually did rain that evening.

Devotions were led by Harold Fasnacht.

Pep!!

McPherson is a good school. M. C.'s Bulldogs have not lost a single game of basket ball so far. Do we expect them to lose any? No, not one, why ask that question. But upon what does this success depend? It's that something which only a true bulldog has, a true unerring quality that goes with true fight—PEP! It takes the real "Ginger" to get a Bulldog to know his best. We have several games yet to play so let's put all behind the old pep that we can muster, let's keep the score a hundred percent.

Observation proves some points of doubt. McPherson students are true and loyal students, and square sports. What can we expect of this? There is another year coming—we must prepare for it. If we can win in our sports, play the game square in our scholastic responsibilities what will it mean for us next year? It is very evident we want our school to grow; let show the results. All it takes is a little try, a continual growl from M. C.'s Bulldogs. We're proud of M. C. We're proud we're on the map. Let's Go—Rah! Rah!

A Challenge

If somehow I am able to sense the challenge of the Detroit International Conference, it is, that the world needs leaders as never before. Leaders not only for this western part of the world but for the eastern part as well. No doubt we cannot see the lack of leadership as can some persons who have studied the matter more fully. One of these men Dr. Henry Walker, Prof. of ecclesiastical history, Chicago Theological Seminary is quoted by a Chicago paper as follows: "Protestantism is declining because it has failed to recognize the fact its future lies in the hands of youth of today." Leadership has played a most important role in the history of Christianity. Wherever the church has forged ahead, it has been because some great personality has been behind the movement.

The Catholic church has recognized this fact, and selects its most promising young men for dedication to the service of the church, but the Protestant church has failed to appreciate it.

The youth of today must be dedicated to this great undertaking by the home and the church. Until both of these agencies recognize their mutual responsibility for the religious leadership of tomorrow the Protestant church must continue to face a decline.

There is no profession comparable to the ministry in opportunity for service. The ministry touches life at all its angles. It comes in contact with childhood, youth, adulthood and old age, with rich and poor, employer and employee and saint and sinner. The minister is a social engineer, guiding and inspiring his community to a better life.

Is it because our western religion does not possess leaders that can make Christianity Christian that we are classed by the easterner as a people of institutionalized Christianity? All leaders are not necessarily ministers, therefore, the challenge comes to the youth who is willing to dedicate a life, not to wealth or fame, but to a life of service. When our Christianity is challenged our leadership is challenged. Young men and women what kind of Christianity will the next generation have? It's leaders shall answer the question. "We are the leaders."

CHEER FOR THE BULLDOGS

"It is the best cheering section I have ever referred before," said Edmunds, well known sports writer and referee, at the Bulldog-Ottawa game here last Tuesday night.

The relationship between that statement and the fact that McPherson has, as yet, an undefeated basketball team is not slight. The student's cooperation with the cheerleaders was largely responsible for the successful cheering. Every student did his best, thus evidencing a personal interest in a Bulldog victory. Pep sweaters, red and white outfits, and other signs of M. C. Joyalty added to the spirited atmosphere of the occasion.

A champion Bulldog basket ball team requires, besides the best cage quintet in the conference, an enthusiastic cheering student body, present at every game and giving all its pep and encouragement to the men on the floor.

The degree of a student's Bulldog loyalty can be determined during the next few weeks by the support he gives the team. What a person gets often depends largely on what he wants and how much he wants it. Do you want a Bulldog championship? Do you want your Alma Mater to have her name above all others? Do you want it enough to work hard at every game and between all conflicts to keep up the spirit that wins?

From Other Schools

A campus dance club to further the interest in dancing at the University of Oklahoma has been organized, the requirements being dancing ability and high scholastic standing.

Whitman college boasts that 89 per cent of the men students and 50 per cent of the women are partially self supporting. One interesting thing is the Sunday nursery run by several of the girls, at St. Paul church.

Students at the University of Oklahoma, by purchasing student activity tickets may attend 53 events for $10. This is an average cost of only about about nineteen cents for each event.

Between $15,000 and $20,000 was lost by the University of Chicago, recently when five armed men entered the business offices of the university and scooped up the money just delivered by an express truck.

The shaggy haircut is the latest style for men at the University of Oklahoma. The hair is grown long on the sides and is cut short on top. An uncut effect is also given to the back of the head.

Soulers at Syracuse University must now pass a general English test before they are eligible for graduation. This measure was taken in an effort to build up the general standard of English throughout the entire University. Attention was called to the condition last year by business concerns in referring to letters which had been received from Syracuse graduates deficient in the use of English.

At the University of California there are nine students 15 years of age or younger.

During the last two weeks of the first semester, upperclassmen at Harvard are not required to attend class. They are given the privilege of attending class or remain at out of class to study as they wish.

Violating an honor pledge, upperclassmen clipped the hair on the heads of 200 freshmen, at the University of Louisiana. As a consequence three varsity football players and five other students have been dismissed. President T. W. Atkinson is trying to identify the other clippers, and promised they too will find themselves out of the University.

The annual winter sport Frolic was held at Madison, Wis., this week-end. The skaters, skiers and hockey players returned from their vacation trips, and immediately set to work for their final rehearsals prior to the Madison four-day carnival.

Bulldogmas

Zeke Saylor is quite an authority on neckties and since he has been playing basketball he is more so than ever. "A scoreless tie," he says, "isn't the kind you wear around your neck."

Black: Why, my man, you're all crippled up. Have you been in an auto accident?

Crow: No, I just come from the chiropractor.

The bootleg business is being deserted. Most of the old time yeggs can make more money on the police force.

Bert Acosta, north pole and transatlantic flier, was arrested the other day for flying low over Nantucket, Conn. It isn't every one that gets the publicity he does from making the low dives.

Wray W: "I saw your English paper yesterday and it didn't have many marks on it."

Berries: "What was my grade?" Wray W: "Oh, it wasn't graded yet."

The new Fords are still the wonder of the century. With an audio steering attachment the driver simply tells the car which way to go. This relieves the inconvenience of keeping one hand on the steering wheel.

Speaking of attachments reminds us that there is still one on our old car. A couple more years and we'll pay it off.

Prof Blair (Registrar): "Are you the oldest one in your family?" Thelma Seltz: (Sincerity plus): "No, sir! Mom and Pop are both older than me."

Dr. Schwalm very truthfully stated, the whole remedy for the World's salvation in these few words: "Let's be careful how we spend our week nights." That's pretty hard to do hough with leap year and everything.

One thing we never like to see is two antagonists quarrelling at a peace conference.

Lindbergh has set a worth while example for those going on good will tours: "Keep your mouth shut."

This week's most pitiful case is the absent minded student that got up early in the morning and tried to attend an eight o'clock class he had last semester.

When a man says he's sorry for some mean thing he has done, you can never tell whether its for the deed or himself.

When money talks it says the same thing over and over again—"Not guilty."

Friday evening it was thought that the administration building was on fire. It seems that the second floor caretaker smelled rubber burning. Who ever had on the rubber collar left before the investigation was complete. Prof Pries says he will see that no more necking in the ad building is permitted. We're for him if it will lower the fire hazard.

Beautiful Spring Time

In the spring our spirits thaw out and we lose much of that frosty glaze, awaken to the glory around us. Spring is here! Although the "sausage" hasn't seen his shadow yet on February 2, I say, SPRING is here.

The Gardner is busy! Amidst the June-Berries of his garden, the new-found Spider Miller darts hither and thither. He informs us that this is a rare specimen and can never be exactly duplicated. Beautiful butterflies and flies in surprising variety of colors and sizes flit merrily about over the garden. Most of them are red and white and a "Cherry" little youngster told us that they are rapidly displacing the butterflies of more somber color. In the Mulberry tree at the corner of the garden sits a B. Martin, merrily singing for the Good man of the house.

Out in the world, spring is here! A well known Saylor has decided to quit the briny deep, and has landed at Ellis Island. No more of sea for him. He has seen—well! He says he loves June weather on land. Down at the old swimming hole, "de el millers" flit joyfully in the balmy air. Cute little Eddies swirl among the Reeds. The flowers on the farm are fragrant with the new life of spring.

Springtime has touched at McPherson and finds Paul Bowers no longer a young man. Now, he needs must have his Hicken staff when he goes for a walk in the fresh spring air. A Lehman is beginning to think that he needs a ministers wife—under the influence of spring.

An apparent interest is manifested in things outside. It is suspected that Miss Elma Oakes is going to Phillippi to teach school. That must be Caesarea Phillippi. We can think of no other. We are fortunate to have more than one Prantz in our midst, as one is expecting to embark upon the sea of Matrimony soon. May he not sink!

In Fahnstock Hall, spring is here, with the new outlook that it brings. We have a new club, an L rod, which it is thought will be more effective than oak paddles. A Rock went through the window last week sometime, but no window was broken. Our HALL is lonesome and sometimes hungry, but we believe that the lonesomeness is spring fever and a little more hash will finish repairing him. The Ford dealer has now gone from our midst, and now the Statz man will have a chance to show his wares. So I repeat again—spring is here, and most of us are happy!

AEROPLANES CONVEY WICHITA TEAM

Probably the first basketball trip by air was made last Saturday when the Wichita U. men journeyed to Hays in five Wichita airplanes.

Captain Ross McBurney, all-american center, said that the journey by air was all right to him. "I'm not nearly as tired as if I had made a railroad trip, and I'm not a bit stiff as I always am after a long overland journey."

SWEDES DEFEAT ST. MARYS

The Lindsborg Swedes maintained their position among the undefeated of the Kansas conference when they snatched their fifth consecutive victory of the season Saturday playing the St. Mary's Micks. St Mary's took an early game lead, Cooney and Greve hitting the basket but the Swedes came back to take the lead at the half, 19-14.

Lundstrom led the Vikings with thirteen points. The final score was 21 to 26. McPherson takes the Micks on their home court tonight, and then some estimate can be made as to how the game will come out when the Bulldogs tangle with the Swedes Friday.

JUNIOR GIRLS WIN FROM SENIORS, 22-14

The first game of the girls basket ball inter-class tournament was won by the Juniors last Wednesday evening. The score was 22-14.

Members of the Junior team were Inez Hobbeseffen and Thelma Seitz, forwards; Ruth Bish and Thelma Budge, centers; and Jessie Churchhill and Arian Brigham, guards.

The Senior lineup was as follows: Melvina Graham and Iva Crumpacker, forwards; Irene Thacker and Kathryn Burgin, centers; and Viola Bower and Oma Holderread, guards. During the last half Burgin played forward and Crumpacker played running center.

Graham made 12 points, Burgin 2 for the Seniors, and Seitz made 8 and Hobbeseffen 14 for the Juniors.

INDEPENDENT LEAGUE TO PLAY SECOND HALF GAMES

Word has been received here to the effect that Wichita will continue to hold a team in the Kansas Independent Basketball League which means that the second half of league play will be staged according to schedule. The Bankers will play their first game of the second half at Hutchinson on Wednesday night of this week, and Wichita will come here for a game next Monday, with the Bankers going to Wichita for a return session on Thursday, February 9.

The Bankers took the first half. If they win the second round there will be no disputed championship. However, if another team wins the second round, then this team will tangle with the Bankers in a play-off series.

HIGH SETS PACE IN CENTRAL

Two more decisive wins places McPherson High in the lead of the pack of the Central Kansas League eagles. Emerging with a 29 to 27 victory over Salina, the only other undefeated team in the lead, and then trimming the Herington quintet on Saturday with a 52 to 19 drubbing, the Carpenter-Maws-Mohlstrom combination is resting on the peak.

The Salina game proved the mettle of the Holtfrerich crew, for the Maroons were ahead until the last four minutes of play when McPherson started a desperate rally to come up from behind and bring home the bacon.

The Herington game was just another exhibition of what the team can do in a run-away match.

HERE'S ONE ON DEACON

A small back-woods New England church was to have a Christmas program. But first something must be done with a place behind the rostrum where some plaster had fallen off. It just happened that one of the deacons was going to New York the next week, so it was decided that a banner should be made to cover the place.

When the Deacon arrived in New York, he found that he had forgotten the name and size of the banner, so he telegraphed home for directions, and left for his dinner. While he was gone, operators changed. When he returned, the new operator was found lying fainted on the floor. After arousing her he asked the trouble, she answered, "A telegram came bearing this message: 'For us to us a son is given, four feet wide and nine feet long.'"

Games This Week

Monday—McPherson vs. St. Benedict's at Atchison.
 Tuesday—McPherson vs. St. Mary's at St. Marys.
 Thursday—Sterling vs. Baker at Baldwin.
 Friday—Sterling vs. Ottawa at Ottawa; Friends vs. Kansas Wesleyan at Salina; Bethany vs. McPherson at McPherson; Bethel vs. St. Benedict's at Atchison.
 Saturday—Bethel vs. St. Mary's at St. Marys.

With a quartet of teams deadlocked for first place, the Kansas conference is starting a merry race for the title. Of the leading contenders Bethany and McPherson will engage in an important tilt this week to decide which is entitled to an undefeated record.

Bethany is leading the circuit at present with five wins; McPherson has four; Baker, two and Bethel one. None of these teams has met defeat.

McPherson is the real leader as far as the conference statistics are concerned. The Bulldogs have the best scoring machine, having averaged 42 points a game. Their defense stands second in power, next to Bethel, which has played in but one game.

Baker's record is better than the one established by the Swedes this season. The Methodists stand second in goal shooting and third in keeping down the score of opponents. Although winner in the most games, Bethany ranks only fifth in defensive play and but two notches higher in scoring.

Miller still holds the high scoring honors with a fifteen point average, although Buller of Bethel, who plays ed only one game so far was able to come up to this average. Lundstrom of Bethany ranks third with a 11.2 standing, and Talley of Baker is the fourth man with 10.3. C. Binns Ottawa, Grove, St. Mary's, Lispig, St. Benedict's and Young, Baker, follow in their order. Leo Crumpacker is ranked ninth with an 8.5 rating. Kinzie has a fourteenth place, E. Crumpacker is twentyseventh, and Nonken is thirty third man.

FRESHMEN GIRLS LOSE TO SOPHOMORES 18-8

A final score of 18-8 was the result of the basket ball game between the Freshman and Sophomore girls last Thursday night. Whether it was Higham's dining hall announcement or purely an interest in the sport that brought the spectators, it is not known. However, the crowd was larger than any that had yet attended any girls basketball game. Coach Gardner refereed the game.

Members of the freshman team are: Goodman, Hess, Sargent, Blickestuff, Oaks, Burgin, Richards, Gustafson, Baker and Ostlund.

The Sophomore team is composed of Moyers, Wine, Viengst, Anderson, Taylor, Jones, Stull, Brunk and DeWitt.

Everybody's going to Sweden!

RAILROADERS BEAT COYOTES

The Bethel Railroaders of Newton, "the basketball capital of the state" opened their Kansas conference play last Thursday night on their home court by giving the Wesleyan Coyotes a severe surprise in a 34-19 setback.

The Coyotes were working fine in their guard work until Bethel started to bombard the hoop from the middle of the floor and to follow the ball up to a great advantage.

Bethel's offense is not as valuable as the defense, but their long range barrage is a menace to any team. Buller, center for the Bethel squad, piled up five field goals and as many free throws. Wesleyan was called for fouls often and the Menonites converted the chances into ten points through the free throw route.

Siade and F. Jilka led the Methodist attack.

ST. BENEDICT'S NOSE OUT

Overcoming the Brave lead, the St. Benedict's basketmen annexed their fourth victory out of seven starts by a score of 29 to 25.

The Benedictines emerged with a 17-15 advantage at the half and kept the advantage.

FRIENDS OUT COUNT SALINA

29 to 24 was the result of the Friends U.—Kansas Wesleyan basket tilt at Wichita Friday evening when the Methodists lost the other half of their southern road trip.

The Quakers held the lead except for a short time in the beginning of the second half when the Salina men got hot with Mulkey, Frank Jilka, Holsington putting the ball through. However, Jones, Salley and Lacy opened up in approved style for the Wichitans and turned the tide to a safe lead.

The game was loosely played, with inaccurate shooting and rough play. The passing was the best part of the game.

A class at George Washington University waited fifteen minutes for an instructor and then left. The next day the instructor claimed to have been in class because he had left his hat on his desk and on the following day he was surprised to be greeted with rows of chairs occupied only by hats.

Beat the Swedes!
