J. BARNABY PRESENTS LYCEUM ENTERTAINMENT

Varied Program Of Impersonations, Readings, Pianologues, and Crayon Sketches

Full House Sees Beautiful Color Effects Sketched by Talented Sketcher And Reader

The fifth number of the lyceum course was given Monday evening to a well filled house. The program was given by Paul J. Barnaby, Entertainer. He divided his program into two parts, the first consisting of impersonations and readings. A few of his impersonations and readings were "Nicholas Nicholby," "John Jasper Godfrey and His Crowbar," "A Luncheon and a Gawk," "Marriage and Purgatory are as One," and "Always Stir the Sugar in Your Coffee Cup."

The latter part of his program consisted of chalk talks, crayon sketches, and comic cartoons. A few of these numbers were "The House by the Side of the Road," "The Giant's Garden," and "The Road to Mandalay" by Kipling.

The next and final number of the lyceum course will be held in the new Community Hall Auditorium, sometime during the first part of May. No definite date has yet been made.

B. F. MCGILL PRESENTS LIBRARY WITH SPECTATOR

Mr. B. F. McGill of McPherson recently presented the College Library with a volume containing about 215 numbers of the original Spectator published by Addison and Steele, and for which one College Spectator was named. With the exception of about fifty pages which have been lost, the volume contains number 174 to 394 dating from Thursday Sep. 20, 1711 to Monday June 2, 1712, and is well preserved. While its predecessor, the "Tattler" was a wide step from the previous heavy political publications in that it contained a combination of political news and social gossip from all public places, the "Spectator" entirely disregarded current political news, except for an occasional odd allusion or advertisement. It was a purely literary publication usually limited to a daily essay on morality, literature, philosophy and other serious or humorous reflection.

It was published every week-day from March 1, 1711 to December 6, 1912, during which time 555 numbers were published. By their wit and humor, grace, fine shades of criticism, and delicate satire in sketches of humor character, social eccentricities, ridiculous features and manners, and corrupt symptoms in public life and taste, Addison and Steele were able to bring before the attention of the people the evils and deficiencies of their life. Such characters as Susan Civil, Mary Manwell, Josiah Henpeck, Robin Goodfellow, Barney Brittle, Rustic Sprightly, and Abraham Thrifty are suggestive of some of the themes that were used.

SALON ORCHESTRA WILL CONVENTION PROGRAM

Thursday, March 22, the McPherson Salon Orchestra will appear on the program of the State Convention of the Federation of Music Clubs. Their part of the program will consist of two numbers, Haydn Second Symphony and Edwin Johnson will play Meditation from Thal's by Massenet.

A number of the members of the Cecilian Music Society expect to be present at this program. The Cecilian Music Society is the name of the recently organized music club of McPherson. It also is now a member of the State and National Federation of Music Clubs.

DOLL TO HEAD COMMUNITY MUSIC FESTIVAL

Representatives of the schools and civic organizations of McPherson, together with some of the city and county officers met in the Commercial Club room March 5, to discuss a two or three day Music Festival for McPherson. It was decided that there should be one, and they organized and elected Professor Doll chairman, Mrs. F. O. Johnson vice-president, Mr. Philip Pierce secretary, and Mrs. Edwin Anderson treasurer. The Festival is to be a community affair, and those elected will proceed as executive committee to make plans.

BULLDOG DEBATERS WIN FROM BETHANY

Hayes, Spohn, Idhe and Frantz Annex Northern Division By Defeating Rivals

Next Clash Will Be With Bethel College To Decide State Championship Team

McPherson College won the northern division in debate last Friday night when they won both decisions in a debate with Bethany. The next clash will be for state championship with Bethel.

Hayes and Spohn upheld the affirmative here. Idhe and Frantz were the McPherson speakers taking the negative at Lindsborg on the question "Resolved, that the United States should cease to protect capital invested in foreign lands by armed forces except after formal declaration of war."

Prof. E. A. Davis of Emporia State Teachers College judged the debate here. While stating some of his criticisms he said that he regarded Lamb of Lindsborg the best speaker on the platform. Davis explained that the affirmative was victorious because of fewer inconsistencies and the systematic organization of material, and superiority of argument.

Sturba of Newton, the judge at Lindsborg said that the McPherson team was a well balanced team with two debaters instead of a team of one debator and a man. He gave us reasons for his decision, more points, more examples and more authority.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTS OFFICERS FOR THE COMING YEAR

The Y. M. C. A. met Tuesday morning, March 13 and elected the new officers for the coming year. Nominations were made by the nominating committee of the organization. ## BULLDOGS WIN THREE AT NATIONAL TOURNEY

Machmen Stayed Until Only Eight Teams Were Left Of The Fifty-Two

Dogs Stopped By Hilliards in Quarter-Finals After Beating Peru, Liberal Lions and Wichita U.

Flashing brilliant basketball for three consecutive days until they ran up against the champion Hilliards of St. Joseph, Missouri, and then failing to hit anyway near their usual form until their opponents had run up a fourteen point lead, the McPherson college Bulldogs dropped out in the fourth round of the National A. A. U. tournament at Kansas City Thursday in a 25-17 decision.

Of the eight teams on the floor that night, the Hilliards were the only players that were playing up to form and the champions were displaying their best exhibition so far in the tournament. McPherson forced the chemicals all the way but could not overcome the fourteen point lead the St. Joseph grabbed the opening of play.

The McPherson style of play had won the entire support of the 8,000 spectators who cheered continually for the Bulldogs. McPherson and the Pittsburg Teachers were the only two teams from Kansas who lasted to the fourth lap and both fell by the wayside at the hands of teams composed of the cream of the Missouri Valley, the Hilliards and the Sterling Milk.

At the fall of his team in the fourth, Miller, uncanny scorer for the Bulldogs, was high point man of the tourney. The team had an unusually record of clean playing and expert basketball in general. Spectators there were beginning to ask shortly after they witnessed the Bulldogs in action such questions as "Where is McPherson?" "What is it, a college, town or what?"

When the dogs were going around before the Hilliard game it was considered a toss up, and had both teams in their best form a loss-up it would have been. The records of McPherson in the tournament saw the Bulldogs playing the cream teams of sections of the country in each round of play. McPherson took the fast Nebaskans from Peru Normal off the list in the first game. Especially Miller was in top form at center and in his deady habit of scoring under the basket. The Bulldogs carried off the laurels in a comfortable fashion, 45 to 31.

While the Bulldogs were quelling the Perulans, the Liberal Lions team stepped on last year's final list, the Ke-Nash-A Club, and slew them with a 27-21 shot. However the Lions were Lambs when they ran up against the Canines. The final count was 24 to 15, a game in which McPherson had it all the way. Miller got a big ovation when he came off the floor and McPherson play was creeping into the hearts of the fans.

Wichita U. with its All-American center, McBarney, met the Canines Wednesday having hung to their belts the scalps of the Comar Oilers and the Knights of Columbus from Omaha with ten point margins in each victory. An evenly waged battle ensued during the first half with the score standing at eleven all. The Canines came back with sweeping strides and suited the game away in about two minutes of play. That nine point lead held and at one time the score stood 29 to 15 but the Wichitans pulled a rally to come up but never rallyed to threaten.

Advancing into the quarter finals, the St. Joseph Hilliards found the Canines offside while their men were "plenty warm" and the Champions continued on their way with a 25-17 annex. While McPherson was hoping for a victory, the

A Treatise On Man

—Once upon a time I thought I'd understand man, and would eventually marry one. But alas! was an intricate piece of machinery. Here is what I have decided.

If you wear gay colors and startling hats, man will hesitate to take you out, but if you wear quiet colors, he will take you out and lose both eyes on some female in orange or red. If you are a "snake," he hates to have you meet his mother or his sister, and if you are a "flapper" he inevitably remarks to his "fret brother" that you are trying to be wicked. If you are the sweet old cling vine type, he doubts if you have any brains. If you are advanced, modern and independent, he doubts if you have a heart or scruples.

If you are affectionate and allow him to embrace you, he soon tires of your kisses, and if you don't he gets offended at the start. If you are boyish and cute, he longs for a "son-in-law." If you are brilliant and deep he longs for a playmate.

If you flatter him he thinks it's your line. If you don't he wonders why not. If you are jealous of him he can't endure you, and if you aren't he simply can't understand you. If you always agree you cease to interest, and if you don't, you cease to charm him. If you don't believe everything he tells, he believes you a cynic; if you do he tremes you a little fool.

If you join him in his vices—drink, swearing, and the like, he declares you are driving him to the devil; whereas, if you don't he takes you home early and goes out with one who will.

If you call him on or write him quite a bit, he is convinced that you are trying to rush him and he gets hellishly conceited. If you don't do those things he is sure you don't care a thing about him. If you admire his wonderful fraternity pin he thinks you are scheming to get the fool thing; and if you don't mention it his feelings are hurt. If he asks you to wear it and you refuse, his feelings are terribly hurt.

If you praise his Alma Mater he thinks it is because he is there, and if you rant his college, Great Guns, he picks up his Stetson, his coonskin, jumps into his Stutz and flies for home. (It is here supposed that he or his roommate possesses said articles).

Now girls, how on earth are we to please man? Why not turn I. W. W. (Independent Wild Women) and do what we darn please? The first hundred years are the hardest. Let man take it or leave it. And just between you and me, I hope he takes it.

Chapel Echoes

Dr. Harley conducted chapel, Friday morning. His theme was "The beauty of possession that is ours for the mere nothing." He expressed the desire that we all might have "eyes to see, ears to hear, and minds to understand", and ended with the challenge, "Are you really glad you live? Do you really enjoy living?"

The speaker at chapel Wednesday was Rev. Bess, pastor of the Free Methodist Church of McPherson. "Truth" was the subject of his talk. "If you seek truth in the spiritual realm with the same diligence that you do in the scientific realm, you will surely find it was the key sentence, Rev. Bess gave illustrations of scientific truth, of psychological truths, and fully, of spiritual truths.

Mr. Christian Hope, Jr., member of the State Medical Board, and former student of McPherson College, spoke in chapel Monday. Mr. Hope has spent a great part of his life working among the laboring classes and talked of his experiences in this work and of his travels in Western United States, Mexico, and Canada.

McPHERSON SALON ORCHESTRA GAVE CONCERT

The McPherson Salon Orchestra gave a concert in the Marquette High School Auditorium Tuesday, March 13. Three special features of the program were Edwin Johnson, violinist; Miss Ruth Hebert, reader; and a trio consisting of Miss Autumn Lindholm, violinist; Miss Jessie Doren, pianist; and Carl Freeburg, Cello.

A new feature is being presented to the readers of the daily paper of the University of Minnesota. Twice a week the paper publishes campus news as taken from its columns of four years ago. The purpose of this feature is to "bring back memories to those in school now of days when they were freshmen or when they were considering entering the University of Minnesota."

Women students at Grinnell College are considering a resolution which would charge the faculty with discrimination in permitting men students to smoke on the campus, but denying women the same privilege.

From Other Schools

Hand organ music, minus the traditional monkey but plus a few attendant monkey-shines, is being used as publicity for the sale of the University of Washington year book.

Sport roadsters as a substitute for Phi Beta Kappa keys as scholarship awards were suggested by Prof. John Wilfenden of Oxford, England, for five months a professor of chemistry of Oberlin, Ohio. He declared that not enough incentive is given to students in this country to strive for scholastic honors.

All students at the University of Idaho who have maintained an average of 5,000 or better during the previous semester, will be allowed to cut classes without loss of credit hours. If a student falls below the average he must return to classes for the remainder of the semester.

The Yale News, the oldest college daily in the United States, recently celebrated its one hundredth birthday.

The retiring cheerleader of the University of Michigan was formally presented with a pair of brilliantly hued garters as a token of the support of the student body.

Bulldogmas

Bluefield, West Virginia (Mar. 20)—Bobbie Earl (the Lone CowCoo of the air) is found! After twenty one days of wandering in the dense jungles the messenger of good will was picked up by local police and taken safely in jail.

What might have been the most fascinating adventure in history came to an unexpected close. But why not let him tell the story himself.

"This may sound like a yarn but it is all wool. After leaving Nogales all went as uneventful as a Monday's chapel period until NH3 drifted over Mexico City and its famous volcano Popocatepetl. As the Spirit of Ammonia chugged over the crater hell broke loose and all turned black. But how was I to know the fool thing was going to erupt?

"When I came to both the NH3 and myself were fitting down to earth; on an old envelope I wrote the last words—'Tell Blair I can't make up that quiz.' We hit! A dull thud! The NH3 and myself sailed upward, down we came to rest in the branches of a rubber tree some place near the east coast of Nicaragua 1200 miles from Mexico City and not even an eye brow mused—Continued next week.

But that doesn't explain why he's in jail. Perhaps next week will watch for the next issue and see how this gruesome tale will end.

These deputation trips are all the bunk. When some real talent wanted to lecture on Companionate Marriage they turned him down.

10% OFF ON ALL COLORED KIDS—Ad in Port Huron Daily. These are cheapest Picninnies we know of, girls here's your chance.

Most people will get out of the way of a man who blows his own horn.

Vivian Haruly—"Hans, use the word ginger in a sentence."

Hans—"G'inger yourself when the porch swing broke?"

Miss Lehman, expression teacher, expresses herself again. The question deducted for chapel absences why was raised—if honor points are not added points for attendance? after the argument pro and con had continued for some time, Miss Lehman solved the puzzle by the simple truth—"Perhaps the stuff you get there isn't worth it."

Miss Lehman wouldn't say that and anyway she wouldn't say stuff, criticized a freshman. So we had to tell him that we'd even heard her say "shucks."

Adeline—I'm using kiss proof rouge now.
Roy—Let's see if it really works.

Some one with a commercial mind might sell McPherson mud for some stick glue.

The other day a girl told the columnist the only thing he'd ever be a success at would be detring eggs.

Choesie—"Every one in red and white get out in this stunt."

Chester C.—"I've got red garters on."

Our fickle music teacher is wearing a ring with the initials W. R. and they don't mean Wilma Bachelor. Isn't it perfectly scandalous? Why it's all over town! Don't say a word about.

Billie—That girl across the lake has three diamonds. She must know her onions.

Bill—I'd rather say her carats.

We don't know whether yesterday's chapel speaker was sincere or not. At times we suspected her connection with the telegraph companies.

Have you paid your income tax?—Bobbie Earl.

REINCARNATION

If you could chain the thoughts that rise in me,
That travel through my brain incessantly,
That rise within me like a maddened sea,
I'd rival Solomon.
The ever-flaming serps of gleaming red
Like messages that come from minds long dead
If I could only hold them in my head,
I'd solve eternity.

—Hal Adamson, (University Daily Kansan).

They include "Studies in Contemporary Biography" by James Bryce, which contains twenty biographies of men Bryce knew personally; "Autobiography of John Fox" which is regarded as one of the great religious autobiographies of the world; a two volume set of Basil Williams entitled "William Pitt"; and "Life of John Wesley" by Winchester.

"Short Plays" is the title of a book of plays selected by Webber and Webster.

Eight of the leading magazine articles found in the current number of the outstanding magazines selected by a committee of librarians are to be found in the library. The Atlantic Monthly contains three, the Survey two, and the Forum, Good Housekeeping, and Scribner's each one.

Emery C. Wins, A. B. '22, has received an appointment as an assistant instructor in the department of history at the University of Pennsylvania for the year 1928-1929. Mr. Wins will continue his work toward a doctor's degree.

CHEMISTRY CLUB SOLVES DIFFICULT PROBLEMS

Youth. "Papa, why does a red cow, which eats green grass, give white milk?"

Papa. "Ask your brother, he's been to college."

Big Brother (who attended last Thursday's Chem. Club). "Well kid you see it's this way; a cow is nothing more than positive and negative electric charges and grass is the same thing. When a red cow eats green grass the period of vibration is such that milk is white. It could have as easily been blue."

Dwight Stutzman did not discuss the preceding question in Chemistry Club last week but he did reduce every particle of matter to simple positive and negative electric charges revolving about a nucleus. The Bohr theory of the atom was presented in a way that might have been understood.

The Lewis-Langmuir theory of the atom was discussed by Robert Puckett. A number of the more common chemical compounds were presented in diagram upon the black board and the "what causes that" explained.

Daniel Johnson went further in the Bohr theory and explained the circles and ellipse orbits.

Little Essays on Money and Banking

Immobility of Reserves

Designed to meet the fiscal necessities of war times, the National Banking System, established in 1863 and remaining substantially unchanged in scope and operation for half a century, proved inadequate to cope with modern commercial needs. The fundamental defects were: the inelasticity of note issues, and the immobility of reserves.

Banks were required to keep a large part of their reserves in their own vaults, thus weakening the system in that it scattered the cash reserves of the country among 25,000 different institutions, and provided no central reservoir from which banks could draw cash when it was urgently needed. Nor did the practice of depositing a portion of the reserves with banks in central reserve or in reserve cities, as permitted by the national banking law, allow any qualification of the criticism. The large proportion of the country bank reserves went to New York city where they yielded two or three percent interest and got were subject to call at any time. In the absence of a rediscount market where prime commercial paper could be readily converted into cash, the New York banks had lost one chief source of investment for these bankers' balance—the call loan. These call loans were made mostly to stock brokers upon the security of stocks and bonds, and thus under the old unsatisfactory banking system the banks involuntarily fostered speculation at the expense of business.

Under every great strain the reserve system completely broke down. In the panics of 1873, 1894 and 1907 which cost the country untold millions of dollars the system of scattered reserves proved powerless to uphold the structure of credit. Under the Federal Reserve System the reserves of the member banks are concentrated in twelve central institutions thus guaranteeing an adequate supply of currency and credit at all times.

JUNIORS STAGE ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARTY

Extemporaneous Debate Adds To Fun Of Party—Program Is Followed By Refreshments

The Junior class staged a St. Patrick's Day party in the Heibert home last Saturday evening.

After playing a few St. Patrick's Day games, a program was given consisting of a Vocal Solo by Miss Arlene Saylor, pianologues by Miss Ruth Heibert, a reading by Miss Iva Crumpecker, and a debate.

A unique part of the program was the extemporaneous debate with Floy Brown and Allen Morine upholding the affirmative, and Miss Eualce Longdorff and Philip Spohn supporting the negative of the argument, resolved: "That Irishmen make better husbands than Scotchmen." The negative won the decision, in a very close contest, by a margin of three tenths of one percent.

Shamrock favors were given and the same observance of St. Patrick's day was carried out in refreshments of brick ice cream with Shamrock design, cup cakes with green icing, punch, and green and white mints. Refreshments were served to twenty-eight guests.

THE FEMININE

Every once in a while some old-fashioned person stands up on his hind legs and lets out a bitter yawn about the shamelessness of the present generation of women and, especially, the flappers.

The contrast is drawn between this generation and those that preceded it. In the good old days a woman's face was radiant and clean—nothing used but warm water and soap. Now,adays you can't see the face for the powder and the rouge and the lipstick. All wrong, all wrong!

But to take this attitude is to look half-eyed at history.

Woman is what she has always been. If the Colonel's lady and Jidia O'Grady are both alike under the skin, so it is equally true that the girl of today and the girl of all time have been very much alike—on the surface of the skin.

Just the other day, American and British scientific excavators uncovered the tomb of one of the queens who once queneed it in ancient Ur of the Chaldees, the place where Abraham was born. This particular tomb belonged to Queen Shub-ad, who flourished about 4000 years before Christ.

And carefully stowed away in her grave, along with her crown jewels and ornaments, were her face paint pots and the vessels for her unguents.

How modern it all sounds! We seem also to catch a dim echo from that faraway time.

It's the king speaking fondly: "Shubie, old thing, I want you to look your loveliest this evening. I am receiving a deputation from my subjects in the west. Go upstairs and put on your lipstick. Why darling, you look positively naked!"

IRISH DAY CELEBRATED BY SOPHOMORE CLASS

Rook Furnishes Bulk Of Entertainment After Which Program And "Eats" Are Offered

Class colors of green and white and the conventional green of the Irish Saint were quite in harmony at the St. Patrick's Day party of the Sophomores in the recreation room of Harnly Hall, last Saturday night.

A trailing lattice work of green crepe paper and shamrocks concealed the everyday walls of the room, while green and white streamers shaded the lights.

"Hook," played on green-topped, quartet tables, was the chief mode of entertainment of the evening. A box of chocolates, the prize for highest score, was awarded to Oliver Kenberry.

In the latter part of the evening a special program was given by members of the class. Miss Evelyn Kimmel sang a solo, "In April" and Miss Bernice McClellan gave a reading from one of Booth Tarkington's novels. Miss Weyer played a piano solo which was followed by a humorous reading by Miss Mildred Swenson. The concluding number was a whimsical Scottish pianologue by Miss Mary Prather.

After the program, dainty refreshments of shamrock-decorated brick ice cream, white layer cake, and punch were served.

Four hundred ninety-six students at the University of Washington, failed in the fall term, according to reports.

As Fern Shoemaker entered the home of Professor and Mrs. R. E. Mohler, Saturday afternoon, March 17, she was greeted by a chorus of "Happy Birthday to you." This little surprise was planned by her roommate, Merle Shatto.

The theme of St. Patrick's Day was carried out through the entire afternoon. After several appropriate games, Helen Hudson read "My High School Days" which she very cleverly dedicated to Fern. Dainty refreshments were served.

Those taking part in this delightful surprise were Merle Shatto, Mary Lou Williams, Jennie Yienst, Elma Oaks, Sarah Moyer, Helen Hudson, Oma and Ruth Holderread, Mable Steiner, Mary Brown, Ida Markham, Lillian Horning, Edna and Leona Nyquist and Irene Gibson.

A "straw vote" poll in which students at the University of Nebraska will have an opportunity to indicate their presidential candidate choices will be taken Wednesday, March 21.

The vote is being sponsored by The Daily Nebraskan, and information concerning the candidates is being supplied through the courtesy of the department of political science.

"Resolved that married women should be employed in full time positions outside the home?" was the topic for discussion at the Sterling-Emporia Teachers women's debate.

The audience, especially the unmarried part of it, undoubtedly gained some valuable information regarding this disputed question of the place of women in the home. New married young men can find great solace in the fact that the affirmative side won.

BULLDOGS AT NATIONAL

fans here are highly satisfied with the showing in the tournament. There's no doubt in anyone's mind that this string of Bulldogs composed the strongest outlay of basketballers that has ever represented the college.

MANERISMS

The first thing I heard Coach Gardner say after the benefit game between the Banker and college teams was, "How much did they take in?" I guess from that you can realize just what was the feeling toward the Kansas City tournament—he wanted to see and show the rest of the basket fans that McPherson had something serious in the way of a basketball team.

We've heard at college that Dr. Schwalm got a "kick" out of the way the boys stood up under fire—yes, most everybody got "kicked" and it lifted us even above the clouds.

One of the players was asked if he had any fun at the tournament. "Not until after the Hilliards beat us," was the reply. Well, I'll bet there was some pretty close rules on training to withstand that four-day grind.

Well, if the boys should get the swell-head now, you'll surely have to admit that if that's all they get they'll be poorly rewarded.

There were only two players on college teams named in the All-Star Teams of the tournament—one was "Spider" Miller and the other was "Carroll" Rockhurst. On the honorable mention list Rockhurst placed two men, Lamb and Zahner, while McPherson placed Crumpacker and the Maryville Teachers placed Dorke. With the exception of Miller and Carroll, the three teams were composed of Conks, K. C. A. C., Hilliards and Sterling Milks. To the victors go the honors.

MATTERS OF INTEREST BY STUDENT COUNCIL

All-School Party Is Announced—Basket Ball Men To Receive Sweaters

The McPherson College Student Council met Tuesday evening and transacted several matters of student interest.

A committee is now investigating and arranging for an all school social. The committee will soon announce the type of social it is to be, the time it will be held, and the place it will be given. A few suggestions were made to the effect that the basket ball men, debators, and others receive their letters, and tokens of recognition at this social. The affair is to be given in honor of the men who have achieved honor in school events. Definite plans will be announced later.

The second matter of interest is that of purchasing sweaters for the basket ball men. A motion was passed that this be done, and is now in the hands of a committee. Eight good $15.00 woolen sweaters is the goal.

All school elections will be held the first week in April, says the Student Council. The officers for student body elections are: President and treasurer of the Student Council; editor and business manager of the Quadrant; editor and business manager of the Spectator; cheer leaders.

The matter regarding tennis courts was thoroughly discussed and it was decided to present a plan to the management in order to start some action as soon as possible. Several students have offered their labor for one day to get the new courts underway.

Other matters discussed were: A slight charge will be made for the State Debate to be held here the last of the month. This charge is made in order to cover the unplanned deficit of something over $70.00.

A motion was carried to the effect that the Council be responsible for the Thespian play, "The Goose Hantz High," now being cast.

WHITENECK PLACES IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Monday, March 12, Prof. Hess and two picked forensic performers went to Wichita to take part in the Kansas State Oratorical Contest and the Extempore contest held at Friends University. Seven schools were represented in the oratorical contest and six in the extempore contest.

In the Kansas State Oratorical contest, Eugene Link, College of Emporia, talking on "Puppets," carried off first honors. John S. Whiteneck of McPherson won second place with "The Inevitable Truth." Howards Roberts of Friends won third place with an oration on "What Records Will Our Civilization Leave?"

In addition to the winners, the orators and their subjects were "Living in a Hurry," Luther Henshaw, Southwestern; "The Price of the Prairie," Oscar A. Peterson, Bethany; "Mussolini," Noel E. Wray, Sterling; "The College in Answer to the Challenge of Mass Education," Hans Regier, Bethel.

In the Extempore contest held at 3 p. m. in the Alumni auditorium, James Young, Emporia K. S. T. C., won first place with his talk on "Journalistic Jingoism." Lorene Laird, of Friends, taking an affirmative stand on the question, "Is the Newspaper More Influential Than the Pulpit?" placed second. Cecil Lamb of Bethany, was declared third with "Daily Papers and Mr. Voter." The judges of both contests were the coaches of the schools represented.

The general subject was the influence of the press and speakers were given one hour in which to prepare their individual topics. Speeches were limited to eight minutes. The speakers and their subjects, in addition to the winners, were: James Hutton, Emporia Teachers "Yellow Journalism;" Noel Wray, Sterling, "The Place of Newspapers in Rural and Village Communities;" D. D. Eitzen, Bethel, "Radical Newspapers;" Ralph Frantz, McPherson, "The Modern Newspaper as an Educational Institution."

The morning business session at 10:30 was attended by the coaches of the schools. A new constitution was formulated and adopted revising the organization of the old line state oratorical contest and eliminating the printing of orations for distribution in the several schools. An extempore contest was added and it was resolved to join with the Pi Kappa Delta state tournament held on alternate years. The old policy of participation in the Pi Kappa Delta national contest will be continued.

New officers include Coach J. T. Baker, Southwestern, president; Arthur A. Grabber, Bethel, vice president, and Maurice A. Hess, McPherson, secretary-treasurer. The contest next year will be held at McPherson.

Coaches attending the session also included C. Dorr Demary, Sterling; Floyd L. Sampson, Friends; Martin J. Holcomb, Bethany; J. T. Baker, Southwestern, and George R. R. Pflaum, Emporia Teachers, retiring president. Schools participating in the organization include College of Emporia, Southwestern, Emporia Teachers, Baker, Bethany, Sterling, Bethel, McPherson and Friends.

THE LION AND THE LAMB

According to HOYLE or some authority March having entered in the form of a LAMB is destined to make its departure in the form of a LION.

Maybe so—Maybe not. We don't claim to KNOW.

But these breezy March days—when chill mornings and evenings require a little FIRE in the grate—watch your chimneys and the ROOF.

And TRASH fires are dangerous. Put them OUT before you leave, or a whiff of wind may spread them broadcast. And what about your fire INSURANCE?
