C. E. INSTITUTE HELD IN BRETHERN CHURCH

Field Sec., Harold Lovitt and Gardner Winn are Main Speakers

"QUEST OF THE CRUSADER"

Five-thirty Luncheon Was Held in Basement of Church

Having as its theme "The Quest of the Crusader," the Christian Endeavor Institute of McPherson County convened Saturday afternoon and evening in the basement of the college church. The main speakers of the meeting were Harold Lovitt of Topeka, who is the field secretary of the Christian Endeavor, and Gardner Winn of Emporia, who is the Central District president of the organization.

Owing to inclement weather and bad roads only 11 out-of-town Endeavorers were present, representing Hoffnangau, Bethel, Menonite and Centennial Societies. There were seventy-five registrants in all including delegates from the Presbyterian, Christian, and Brethren churches of the city and those from the out-of-town organizations.

After registration, which began at three o'clock, was completed a number of songs were sung by the group after which Rev. J. F. Richards of the college church led in the devotions.

Miss Jessie Churchill, county president, then gave a brief address of welcome to which John Schmidt of the Hoffnangau society gave the response.

The history of Christian Endeavor from its organization by Dr. Francis E. Clark in 1881 to its present existence in every country of the globe was then recounted by Miss Verna Mae McCoy of the Christian church of the city and after this introductory back ground the delegates adjourned to various rooms to discuss Christian Endeavor problems.

The leaders of these conferences were: Harold Lovitt, whose group discussed the problems and duties of officers, Miss Ruth Anderson, of the Presbyterian society who led a discussion group on Prayer Meeting; Miss Dorothy Swain, county secretary, whose group was interested in the social aspects of a C. E. organization; and Miss Mildred Swenson, county treasurer, whose group discusses problems of finance and money-raising methods.

After a number played by a string trio, Miss Velma Wine, president of the college society, talked on "How to Organize a C. E. Society".

Following this Harold Lovitt talked on "Tools of the Crusader," giving the abstract necessities and also presenting a number of books, pamphlets and magazines helpful to the active Endeavorer. This was followed by a brief intermission during which the delegates were privileged to examine the books he displayed and to make inquiries concerning them.

At five thirty o'clock a luncheon was served to those present. Every place was filled at the tables which were set to accommodate seventy-five individuals. The tables and the room were decorated in red and white, the Christian Endeavor colors, and a fire blazed in the fire place lending a cozy atmosphere to the room. A number of girls of the college society served the luncheon which consisted of: creamed chicken on toast, mashed potatoes, buttered peas, hot buttered rolls, pear salad, ice cream, cake and coffee. Rousing pep songs were sung between courses and at the close of the meal the group adjourned to the meeting room again.

The evening's program opened with a devotional period under the leadership of Rev. G. H. Cotton of

DR. SHERWOOD EDDY AND MRS. EDDY VISITS CAMPUS

Sunday Morning Dr. Eddy Spoke on "What is Christianity?"

PRESENT WORLD SITUATION

Monday Morning He Spoke in the Chapel to Students and Out of Town Visitors

The students of McPherson College, after several years of waiting, enjoyed the presence of Dr. Sherwood Eddy and Mrs. Eddy in their midst. Dr. Eddy spoke to the people and students of McPherson on Sunday and Monday of this week.

At the Sunday eleven o'clock service, Dr. Eddy spoke on "What is Christianity?", illustrating the different phases of it he discovered in his own life of service and growth. It has broadened from the simple personal gospel, into one that is missionary, soul-satisfying and clearly social. His experience of the transforming powers of Christianity over the world makes his message very real.

On Sunday afternoon his message was on the present world situation, in its economic, political and social aspects. The position of the United States on peace, political problems, and social problems was critically inspected, comparing somewhat unfavorably with many of the other countries. Students of other countries are intensely interested in

CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT MAY SECURE PORTRAIT

The chemistry department is considering purchasing a large oil painting of Ira Remsen. The portrait will be placed in the halls of the chemistry department. Ira Remsen, twelve years, president of Johns Hopkins, is one of America's early pioneer chemists. The painting will help show the interest and advancement of this department.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

The column this week is to be devoted to giving advice to the folks in love with their various and many troubles so Miss Claribel has consented to answer the letters with her sage and wise counsel.

Some of the letters and the replies are as follows.

Dear Miss Claribel:—I am a young some college boy and I have troubles a lot. I am twenty-two, an ardent follower of jazz. I have black hair and eyes and people tell me I am good looking—but I don't seem to be popular with the girls. Could you tell me how to become popular?

Reply:—Well young man, I think you have a self-conscious complex and you should stop thinking about yourself so much. When you are with a girl be interested in what she is, and don't talk about yourself but talk about what she likes to talk about. Every girl likes a good dancer so you should bring this gift out, especially tell her that she is a good dancer. Popularity comes higher than the cost of a pair of patent leather pumps. Good luck young man.

Dear Miss Claribel:—I am a girl of seventeen. I started going with a boy at sixteen. We are now engaged. We are both going to college and have for the last three years. We both love each other but since all the new freshmen have come in seems like he is growing away from me. He likes a little blond with a wind blown bob. What shall I do to win him back?

Reply:—My dear little girl, if we love these men we must suffer. Don't you think you have taken him too much for granted? You see men are just like children, they must be petted and flattered but we must not let them know it. Now the blond probably has the "clinging vine" line. That appeals to almost all men. I might suggest that you become interested in a little freshman boy. Then become cool to your boy friend. He will set up and take notice and when he comes around never reprove him for straying but welcome him back and don't forget to flatter him. Men eat it up.

Dear Miss Claribel:—I am a young girl going to college. I am a sophomore and am considered good looking. My trouble is that my boy friend plays basket ball all the time and hardly has time for me. I may as well be a basket ball widow. How can I make him notice me more than the old basket ball?

Reply:—Your problem is the old one of trying to use force on a man. My dear, men cannot be driven or forced. They must be coaxed but never let them know it. In your case you should be glad your rival is a basket ball instead of another girl. The thing to do is to become interested in basketball. Make it your hobby. When on a date talk about basket ball to the exclusion of everything else. Soon your young man will tire of the subject and will try to interest you to something else. Let him lead you to other subjects.

Dear Miss Claribel:—I think my problem is hopeless but I do hope you can help me. I go to college but I am what they call a bookworm, a wet blanket, I wear glasses, but my complexion is good, and I have good clothes but cannot seem to become popular. There is a boy I am in love with but he does not even know I am on earth. If you could only tell me what to do. I am miserable.

Reply:—Poor little girl—so young and get so sad and over a man as always. Sometimes I think men are not worth the heart aches they cause, yet they are nice creatures to have about. First I think you have a self-complex. Don't draw us to yourself so much. You are intelligent. When you are in a conversation contribute something even if you must force yourself to do so. The reason you do not register is because you have let your personality remain hidden. You must make an effort to brink yourself to the front but do not adopt a supercilious attitude. Now about the boy. Never, never, let him suspect that you care for him. If you are thrown into contact with him act sensible for no matter how much men seem to prefer blondes and the clinging vines, they marry the sensible, intelligent women. So take heart and do not be afraid to show your intelligence.

Dear Miss Claribel:—I am a boy eighteen and a freshman in college. Now I am seemingly intelligent and the fellows all like me but my trouble is I am too small. The girls all treat me like a baby and some of the big fellows call me half-pint and say I couldn't lick my weight in postage stamps. What shall I do to prove that I am as husky as anyone?

Reply:—Well! Well! Here is a different problem from what I usually get. Since you are so young I don't believe you are through growing. Now the food you get in a college dormitory will help you grow and expand. Take lots of exercise every morning before an open window and go out for all sports. Before long you will notice a difference and you will wake up some morning to find you are a man! Then the girls will look adoringly up to you and say safely, "My Hero".

BULLDOGS DEFEAT THE STRONG OTTAWA TEAM

The Game Was the "Bulldogs" Throughout the Whole Conflict

BULLDOGS 42, OTTAWA 27

Outstanding Feature Was the Defensive Play of Nonken and Blickestaff

The Ottawa basketball team was completely wrecked last Thursday evening by the mighty onslaught of the fast Bulldog crew. From the very beginning there was little question as to whom the victory belonged. Nonken, Blickestaff, Miller, Crumpacker and Rump were playing true to form but there was no time during the game that they had to call for the best that was in them to decide the victory.

The Canines started the game off in a hurry. Rump connected with the goal twice and Miller once before the Baptists found themselves. At one time during the first period of play the Bulldogs led 5-19 and that half ended with the Baptists trailing 13-24, quite different from the score at Ottawa two weeks ago. The visitors made only one decent set-up during the entire first period due to a large measure to the smooth work of the McPherson defense.

In the second half Ottawa came back much stronger and much more determined than they were before and scored four points before the home team settled down again, but soon the Bulldog scoring machine was started which made things look for awhile as though the score was going to be one-sided until Coach Gardner ran out his second string men which gave the Baptists an opportunity to improve the looks of their end of the score. The game ended with the Bulldogs in the lead as they had been, the score 42-27 being final.

An outstanding feature of the game was the strong Nonken-Blickestaff defensive play. "Blickey" played a "dandy" game, breaking up shots and plays under the basket that otherwise would have counted for the opponents. Captain Nonken was seen time and again to return the ball from the enemies end of the court, in his usual flashy manner that never fails to bring the spectators to their feet. Melvin Miller, the lanky Bulldog center, was seen to do the impossible scoring act several times. He played all but about half of the game and came out with twenty-three points to his credit, most of which were made at long range. Rump and Crumpacker played a nice game at battling-in on the follow-ups. Holloway and Windmill did a good piece of work after being substituted for Miller and Blickestaff.

Alexander led the scoring for the Baptists with eight points to his credit. Throughout the game Ottawa seemed to lack the strength they had been showing against other conference rivals this season.

The game was fast and exciting, marked by clean sportsmanship on the part of each team.

The following is the summary of the game that ruined the prospects of the team that has more than once been picked as this year's conference champions:

McPherson (42)	fg	ft	P
Crumpacker, f.	3	6	0
Rump, f.	1	2	1

KANSAS DAY

How many of us realized that January 29 was an important day for the people of Kansas? How many of us observed or commemorated its significance to us? You observe your own birthday. Kansas has had a birthday, her sixty-eighth.

On January 29, 1861, Kansas was brought into the Union as a Free State. But back of this lies a period of unrest, "Bloody Kansas" as it is called. It was a fight between the slave holders of the south and the free settlers of the north as to whether Kansas should be Slave or Free. Border warfare followed, and in the adventurous hearts of the Kansas pioneers a determination to free itself from the bonds of slavery resulted in our being brought into the Union as a Free State.

After sixty-eight years we point with pride to our advancements, to our accomplishments. March 4th one of our native sons of Kansas will have risen to the second highest position in our great nation. He is no other than our own Charles Curtis, vice-president-elect of the United States.

Kansas has been pioneers in moral advancement, being one of the first to establish a bone-dry law. Opportunities of every sort are lying in wait for the progressive leader. Was not our State among the first in the agitation for women's suffrage. The "spirit of our Kansas people" should cause us to point with pride to our prosperity.

Let us remember Kansas Day.

THE "SWEDE" GAME

Once more we are going to battle our friendly enemies of the north. But this time the "flaxen-haired" as Prof. Hess terms them are descending into our camp. Are we going to let them come without a reception of thunderous noise and cheer. Not for their benefit, but to inspire and encourage our mighty BULLDOGS and urge them on to victory.

Let us take this matter into our own hands and create an enthusiasm and "spirit" of "pep" that has never before been seen or heard upon our campus. Let us not only create this spirit of sportsmanship entanglement in the true sense of "pep", but show a courtesy and friendliness to our enemies. In our "rooting" on the side-lines be a true M. C. sportsman. Do not "hoot" and "jeer" the referee, if you do, you lose the respect of the multitude of sport fans.

Instead of "slandering" and "sighing" at a bad play or skill of our opponents why not "cheer" or "applaud" their skill. What then, when our own mighty BULLDOGS show their skill? Merely "cheer" all the louder.

The "Swede" game is approaching. Spirit on our campus should gain momentum. Let us talk it up. But let us prove that to be a real BULLDOG we must have that true Christian sportsmanship. It is the "spirit" that wins. It is our sportsmanship that shall not be criticized.

TO SECURE A DATE

Last Wednesday afternoon while the Spectator staff was holding its weekly conference in the "Spec" room the following notice appeared on the blackboard.

NOTICE

"Will the Spectator please publish instructions as to the methods of making a date? This will greatly please bashful, timid boys."

The Spectator aims to please, so we have, after years of experience and study before hand, compiled a body of rules that is sure to bring the desired results. If the troubled students who are trying or have not yet tried to get a date will follow strictly the code of rules we will lay down, the sweet words of, "I will be glad to go to the show with you," will result.

1. Have confidence in yourself.
2. Pick out the fair co-ed that you desire to date.
3. When you see her go to the library or "ad" building rush out and hide behind a bush or tree and wait for her return.
4. Be sure no one else is watching you.
5. When she reappears step out in front of her and stop her.
6. Do not apologize.
7. Ask her very politely if she would like to go to the show this evening.
8. Do not wait for her answer. Tell her to be ready by seven.
9. Turn immediately and rush to your room and tell your roommate.

"PETTY" STEALING

"Petty" stealing is taking place in the boys' dormitory again this year. Last year it was relatively stopped—after a fashion. This year we are not going to contend with these "white-livered" thieves, for is that not what they are. The first evidence we have will be referred to headquarters—police headquarters. No one may expect any mercy or sympathy from those he steals from in the dorm. The things taken so far this year have been things of little value. Little value or great value if it is a crime. Robbery is a crime. A crime that is punishable either by fine or imprisonment, or by both. If they be either dorm men or someone outside the dorm, and when they are caught, shall expect no mercy from us. Let them get their mercy from the judge.

NEED OF A BELL SYSTEM

We need a bell system in the boys' dormitory! This could be installed at a very little expense for a certain percent of the apparatus and fixtures have already been secured.

Is it fair to the Elrods? The phone rings many times a day and numerous are the occasions Mrs. Elrod has to climb those flights of stairs to call a student to the phone. Even at night one of the two may be heard calling some student on second or third. After a day of weariness and back-aching climbs to third can one expect a restful night?

What would the results be, if the bell system was installed? It would result in a more quiet dormitory. It would save time and labor on the part of the Elrods. It will have solved one of our problems.

BE A GUIDE FOR OUR GUESTS

This week the Trustees of the college and out-of-town ministers and friends of the college are here. They are our guests; let us treat them as such. A large number of them are strangers and are not familiar with our campus. Let us take it upon ourselves to show them about. If they are interested they will want to be shown.

Men, invite them to your rooms. Some of them are old students of M. C. Show them about and get acquainted with them.

SHERWOOD EDDY

these things, and Dr. Eddy deeply challenges the students of America to an active interest in their country. The message for Sunday evening was "Dare we be Christian?" To many this was the greatest of challenges. Men do not have to know what electricity is in order to make it drive machinery, make light, and many other things. Religion is felt virtually untried. War has failed. Extreme waste and luxury by the few is leaving many at the other end of the scale in inefficiency and starvation. The negro is still lynched occasionally and often kicked out, and people with darker skins are held at a distance. Real Christianity means a personal, vital relationship to God, within, and a practical, social relationship to men without.

The messages on Monday were limited to students and out of town visitors, and were held in the college chapel.

C. E. INSTITUTE

the Presbyterian church. D. L. Miller, of the college society then led a contest in which the finance goal was reached. The contest was conducted mock base-ball style and in this way more than thirty dollars was pledged by those present. This sum will go to make up the goal set by the state for McPherson County.

"The Quest of the Crusader" was discussed by Gardner Wign, who brought out the importance of the crusade with Christ and the duties of the crusader.

A brief closing address was then given by Harold Levitt.

Under the leadership of Leland Lindell, college society, a Fellowship hour furnished social enjoyment for all present. A number of stunts and contests roused the enthusiasm and relaxed tired minds.

"The Crusader's Hour" under the direction of Gardner Winn fittingly concluded the convention with some weighty remarks, silent meditation, and prayer.

At about nine thirty o'clock the meeting was adjourned.

LOCAL ORATORICAL CONTESTS TO BE HELD SOON

A great deal of interest is being shown in the Peace and Old Line oratorical contests to be held March 10th and 12th.

The Peace oratorical contest will be held in the Brethren church Sunday evening, March 10. Local prizes of $7.50, $5.00 and $2.50 are offered. In the State contest two prizes of $50.00 and $40.00 are offered. All entrants are asked to submit their names to Prof. Hess immediately.

The probable entrants are as follows: Ploy Brown, Ralph Landes, John Lehman, Lloyd Dicks, Harold Crist, Lillian Horning and Helen Hudson.

The Old Line oratorical contest will be held in the chapel Tuesday, March 12th. Topics for speeches may be on any subject. The State contest will be held April 11th and 12th. At least three must try out for the local contest before we are allowed to send an entrant to the State contest. The probable entrants are as follows: Clara Burgin, Lloyd Johnson, Eugenia Oliver and Leland Lindell.

JUNIOR CLASS TO PURCHASE PICTURE

Candidates for Class "Queen" are Nominated

As a result of the interest stimulated in art by the recent exhibit, the junior class voted, at their meeting Friday morning, to buy one to be given to the school. A committee, chosen by the treasurer and Miss Della Lehman, sponsor, will decide upon the picture to be bought.

Other unusual business to be transacted was the nomination of three candidates, from whom the class "Queen" will be chosen. The juniors, having done their part in the sale of Quadrangles are entitled to have a full page picture of their class "Queen" in this year's Quadrangle. The candidates are Alberta Hovis, Naomi Witmore, and Bernice Mc-

Clellan.

A report was made by Mildred Swenson, chairman of the banquet committee, upon what is being done toward preparation for the Junior-Senior banquet. Paul Bowers, class treasurer, gave a report on the condition of the class finances.

COLLEGE MALE QUARTET GIVES PROGRAM IN Y. M.

The Y. M. program last Tuesday was a surprise. The college male quartet sang five numbers before they were allowed to stop. These varied from hymns "Softly and Tenderly" to the more sublime "Ole Uncle Moon", "Prayer Perfect", "Mother Movreen," and "Lassie O' Mine" were the others.

Dismissal was next in order.

A few young men who were not there would certainly have appreciated this program. Become a regular attendant, for a good program is given often without warning. And you get out as much as you put in at any of them.

TWENTY-TWO GIRLS INITIATED INTO W. A. A. TUESDAY

Twenty-two girls were initiated into the Women's Athletic Association last Tuesday, January 29. The initiation started when the whistle blew for eight o'clock classes. Each new girl went to her morning classes dressed in a costume as dictated by the old W. A. A. members. Some of the girls looked quite dignified in their long full skirts while others (Mildred Wine) looked quite child like in her baby hood and white outfit.

Another interesting feature of the morning's program, at least interesting to the old members, was their treat of salted peanuts and candy. Each candidate for membership carried a supply of salted peanuts and candy and treated every old member that she happened to meet. A few other rules that the girls observed in their room were wearing cotton hose, using no powder or rouge, and wearing their hair combed back from around their faces and foreheads.

J.C. PENNEY CO.

Your Family Doctor Doesn't Offer "Specials"

Suppose your Family Doctor offered a "special" on measles every other Thursday, or advertised his office fees would be cut in half on the second and third Mondays of the month.

Illogical, isn't it! That is exactly why the J. C. Penney Company doesn't offer "specials" or "cut prices" or hold so-called "sales."

Day after day we sell merchandise at the lowest figure consistent with market costs, plus a fair charge for distribution and handling. Whenever you buy anything in our store you may be sure of two things:

1. It is priced as low as we can possibly mark it—and our buying resources make this very low indeed.
2. You are paying exactly the same price as your neighbor—no more, no less.

Changing Horses

At the portals of our large cities—New York, Baltimore, Detroit, and soon Cleveland—a semaphore halts a luxurious flyer drawn by a puffing steam engine. A simple switching maneuver, and electricity takes charge. A giant electric locomotive, quickly under way, glides silently into the home stretch with its long string of Pullmans. Like a thoroughbred it makes the run—tirelessly. Passengers alight in a clean terminal—clean because there is no smoke or soot.

Another milestone in transportation—another event in the life of the iron horse!

Civilization is progressing, with electricity in the van. How far this advance will take us, is a problem for our future leaders. It is for them to develop and utilize new applications of electricity—the force that is pointing the way over uncharted courses, not only in railroading, but in every phase of progress.

BULLDOGS AT THE TOP OF KANSAS CONFERENCE

The Bulldogs are at the top of the Kansas Conference this week as a result of victories over Kansas Wesleyan and Ottawa last week, and have a mighty nice opportunity to hold their position the rest of the season, but according to Coach Gardner the Canines do not have another game but what they could easily drop to the other fellow.

Tomorrow night the Bulldogs tangle with the Bethany Swedes at Lindsborg and everyone knows that there is no such thing as dope when a Swede-Bulldog game is scheduled and it behooves all loyal supporters of our team to follow them to Lindsborg and give them the best they have from the sideline. Wednesday evening the Swedes defeated Ottawa by two points and the very next night McPherson downed the Baptists with a fifteen point defeat. Monday night the Canines defeated the Coyotes in the most hotly contested court battle of the season by nine points and Friday night the Swedes stopped the Coyotes on their own court by a twelve point defeat.

Friday night the Baker Wildcats, the team that defeated the Bulldogs two weeks ago after they were crippled by the loss of Leo Duke, are coming to McPherson to reassess us of their strength. Baker did not play any conference games last week and has had plenty of room for improvement since the defeat handed them by the Ottawa five the week before.

As has been shown in the past a large student representation at the sideline during the games is helpful to the players, and this week it is a privilege as well as a duty of each student to attend the games and support the team to the fullest. The boys are not playing for personal glory, but are playing for their Alma Mater that she might rank high in basketball circles. Every real Bulldog will make it his business to attend the game at Lindsborg tomorrow evening with a strong determination to win both on the part of the players and on the part of the students back of them.

KANSAS CONFERENCE OFFICIAL STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.	Pts.	Opp.
McPherson	4	1	.800	136	118
Bethany	3	1	.750	128	97
Baker	1	1	.500	57	59
Ottawa	3	3	.500	197	199
Kan. Wes'n	1	3	.250	113	125
St. Mary's	1	4	.200	125	160

Games Scheduled for this week in conference:

- Monday—Kansas Wesleyan at St. Mary's
- Tuesday—Sterling at Ottawa.
- Wednesday—McPherson at Bethany.
- Thursday—Sterling at St. Mary's
- Friday—Baker at McPherson.
- Saturday—Baker at Bethany.

The games played last week put Bethany on the winning side and show that the Swedes will be real contenders with the McPherson Bulldogs for the conference title this year. The crucial test will come Wednesday evening at Lindsborg when the Bulldogs meet the Swedes on their own court at Lindsborg.

This promises to be the most hard fought game of the season and should be attended by a large representation of the McPherson fans and supporters. Many who remember the result of last year's game with the Bulldogs on that court will be on hand expecting to see the best that is in two rival teams brought out under fire. M. C. students should make plans to attend this game above all others.

OTTAWA'S COMMENT

We usually enjoy a good joke. This week our biggest joke is an article taken from the OTTAWA CAMPS, dated January 24th. I suppose you remember that we have beaten Ottawa twice this season. This article is a sort of "aftermath" of their first defeat at the hands of the "Bulldogs". We have not read their comment on their second defeat. We enjoyed reading this one and thought you might like it.

"So far, so good. Three days to go by—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evening drops around. And McPherson, that band of courtiers, who captured the title last season, drops in with us, expressly for the purpose best expressed by that old Latin phrase that sounds like "Weenie," "Weenie" and "Weenie."

We hate to talk about that affair. Really, you know, there should be a law against such things. Well, anyhow, Ottawa didn't win. Perhaps you could have gathered as much in a little while."

Kidding aside, this last demonstration was a wonderful thing to watch, especially in the last five minutes. Only the situation, eventually, went bad, to spoil our fun. The game started, chronologically speaking, and Ottawa, in the course of half a game, piled up a seven point lead, sufficient to win most games. Well, Mr. George Coach Gardner, head man in the McPherson show, must have done things between halves. His pupils came back in a thoroughly ugly mood, at the beginning of the second half. So ugly were they that when they did get started doing big things, or things in a big way, as you like, they wouldn't stop. Net result—the final gun, and matter thoroughly sewed up at the 33-33 stage. And the play-off began. Oooh, how we had to go on. Bitter medicine, and all that rot. They simply were unbearable. They scored eight points, which wasn't nice, while

Ottawa halved the same amount. Final score, 41-37, NOT for OTTAWA.

We felt much as the little boy did who came crying to his mother. Upon asking what was the matter, he replied, "I tharted to wide my thitck horth acroth the threeth, an' e frew me and I faw down and go 'Oomp!' Brethron, that was us all over!"—OTTAWA CAMPUS.

NEW STUDENTS ENROLLED

A number of new and former students are enrolled in McPherson College. Golda Ebbert, an alumna, is taking special work in the Home Economics department. Mildred Idhe is enrolled as a senior and will complete her work here this semester. Irene Baker, who was compelled to quit school last year because of illness has enrolled for this semester. The freshman class has two new members. They are Donald Bowers from McLouth, Kansas, and Edward Bradley from Chase, Kansas.
