BIG SENIOR-FRESH PARTY GIVEN

Seniors Lost All Their Dignity And Freshmen Act Natural

THREE ACT PLAY FEATURED

All Refreshments Were Served After Refresment Were Taken

Friday evening, September 28, at 8:00 o'clock on the McPherson College campus a wonderfully strange thing occurred. A great majority of our honored seniors lost all dignity, and exactly at the eighth stroke of the clock became children again. There was also another change though slightly as conspicuous as the other. Practically the whole freshman class, all dropping many or few, mostly few, years from their ages, became youngsters too.

They met in the gym, transformed into the well known Shoe of Mother Goose rhymes, and all together, forgetful of the past, revealed in the wonder and glory of carefree childhood.

They were well overseen and taken care of by "The Old Woman Who Lived In The Shoe"—played by Ruth Hiebert.

At the very first a spectator might have been dubious about the outcome of the great alteration. The youngsters hardly knew how to behave themselves. But they spent only a short time fighting over lollypops, dolls, horns, etc., and then quieted a trifle and played games. The games were carried out in an extremely childish fashion the outstanding one being three deep drop the handkerchief, London Bridge, Simon says Thumbs Up, and New Orleans.

The crowd was entertained at intervals by Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn excellently portrayed by Ted Crist and Guy Hays. Special mention could be made of one little boy. It was thought he came even without invitation because he was so awfully naughty, and unmanageable. He was about three years old it seemed by dress and actions. His name he said was Ralph Bowers.

Half Sox and hair ribbons were predominant among girls and knee pants and dirty faces among the boys.

The Old Lady of the Shoe managed to keep order well by giving animal crackers and peppermints around to the best children.

Just as the crowd began to become tired and fussy they were told to gather around and be quiet and the dear old mistress of the Shoe told them some stories. It had a very quieting effect, indeed some of them actually became drowsy, and even little Ralph quieted down. She told them about the "Pot that Talked," and everyone enjoyed the story very much.

Next she had some of her special children show off for the rest. First there was a piano duet beautifully raised by Arlan Brigham and Dorothy Swain. The dust closed with much excitement and Dorothy was declared winner—she beat Arlan through by four notes.

Second was a 3-act play. The important ones concerned shall be mentioned here.

W. A. A. START SOCCER

With the beginning of soccer practice another round of sports sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association has started. Other activities are to follow including volleyball, basket ball, base ball, tennis and hiking. No girl can afford to miss participation in these sports. At least some of them should receive your attention. They provide healthy exercise, a wholesome extra-curricular interest, and a means of becoming better acquainted and developing a sportsmanship that a school of quality must have.

Soccer is comparatively a new sport here, having been introduced only last year. Those who played can assure those not acquainted with the game that it affords a plenty of exercise and lots of fun.

The freshman girls and all others who are interested are urged to participate in the W. A. A. activities. At present, soccer is the particular sport that is being stressed by that organization. Do not pass by this opportunity of becoming a part of the student life about you.

THE CECELIAN MUSIC CLUB MEET FOR THE FIRST TIME

Prof. Doll, Adviser And Sponsor Of The Club, Outlined The Activities For The Year

MISS SAYLOR PRES. OF CLUB

A Campaign For New Members Will Be Started In The Near Future

The Cecelian Music Club met for the first meeting of the school year last Thursday evening in Harnly Hall. The club gave a musical program and in addition had a short business meeting. Prof. G. Lewis Doll, advisor and sponsor of the club outlined some of the activities that the music club would undertake during the year.

The following is the program of the first meeting:

Piano Solo ..... Miss Thelma Budge
History of the Club
"Dream" ..... Lawrence Turner

Flute Solo, "The Herd Girls"
Vocal Solo, "In An Old Fashioned Town" ..... Lloyd Diggs

Violin Solo ..... Orion High
After the program Miss Arelene Saylor, president of the club took charge. The club voted to stage a campaign for new members. It was decided to have a contest dividing the organization into two equal groups with Miss Thelma Budge and Lloyd Diggs as captains of the groups. It was also decided to have regular meetings of the club on Wednesday evening at 7:30 twice each month.

ESTHER KEIM AT MANCHESTER, Idaho, who was a member of last year's freshman class, is now attending school at Manchester College at North Manchester, Ind. Miss Keim recently sent her subscription for the Spectator.

WHY AND WHEREFORE

The editorial staff of the Spectator has been a very impressive cast this year. Each and every member of said staff seems to take his duties seriously although causing well-meant interference in various affairs of others about the campus. Bear with them, though sometimes they know not what they do.

Since Doris Ballard has been Editor-in-Chief it has been extremely difficult to keep her exact geographical location constantly in mind as she makes voyages to various parts of the campus in search of "scops." It seems that she has achieved the impossible of being in two places at once—namely the Spec office and at the printer's. She serenely interviews the faculty advisor, at the same time holding long distance conversation with another staff member across the campus. She has degenerated into a chaser of reporters pro and con, and in other respects gives an excellent imitation of a disappearing act at any time.

Leland Lendill seriously considers taking up a career of a mathematician, and he is now serving his apprenticeship as make-up editor. He figures fractions of ems and ens to a hair's breadth, and he clings to his yardstick as a drowning man to a straw. His forehead is constantly corrugated in worried lines as he strides distractedly about the campus. He may be heard muttering "inches," "lines," "space" as he goes about his duties with a Spec in one hand and a protractor in the other.

Ralph Bowers as Business Manager has numerous matters to oversee, and he may be seen dashing madly hither, thither, and yon at random about the campus. Euclid smokes from his tri-daily sprints to the heart of the city.

Emery Metzger as private secretary to the Business Manager has been compelled to accelerate his customary motion as he takes dictation at top speed as he bounds gracefully down the ad building steps in the wake of his leading employer who broadcasts directions over his left shoulder.

Ernest Watkins goes in and out of stores down town wistfully and soulfully asking for ads. Anything is appreciated.

Loyd Johnson circulates about the campus and has perpetual motion patented. If he sticks to everything he undertakes, it is only because he has glue left on him from wrapping Specs to send out.

There are a number of cub "pencil-pushers" which wander about appropriating news for the Spec columns.

Harriet Hopkins shows her true nature by assiduously collecting items.

Harold Fasnacht reports at intervals in the time he can spare from the manipulation of the Student Council Budget.

It is difficult to say anything definite about Oliver Ikenberry. He speaks for himself.

Warren Sisler is to be avoided for he writes feature stories, and was once into him who puts an unique idea into Warren's head for his satire is wonderful to behold, though serious.

MANN WRITES FROM K. U.

Lawrence Mann, who attended McPherson College the past two years and showed his ability as a sports writer on both the Spectator and Quadrangle staffs, sent his subscription for the Spectator from Lawrence where he is attending Kansas University.

Mann wrote:

"Here's to the 'Quality School' and a better Spectator. If you want a correspondent in Lawrence, write and let me know and I'll try to furnish some copy. I'm just getting lined up in a journalism course.

McPherson meets on the campus now and then. Kauffman, Ihd, Leola Rhodes, Autumn Lindbloom, and Ralf Martin have crossed my vision so far.

"Dorothy Mann is sharing this subscription with me.

"Beat the Swedes!"

"McPhersonly."

"LAWRENCE MANN."

SCHWALM AND YODER ATTEND ELGIN MEETING

On Monday of last week Dr. V. F. Schwalm attended the annual meeting of the General Education Board of the Church of the Brethren held at Elgin, Ill.

At that meeting he was appointed to two commissions to study educational problems. Dr. D. W. Kurtz was re-elected chairman of the General Education Board.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of last week President Schwalm and Dr. J. J. Yoder attended the meeting of the council of boards of the Church of the Brethren, also at Elgin. Dr. Yoder was elected chairman of the board.

Action was taken for more effective administration of the affairs of the church.

"And why is he so snobbish?"

"Why, he was the first man in town to be run over by one of the new Fords."

FORENSIC CLUB GIVE PROGRAM

Prof. Hess Explained the Part M. C. Plays in Forensic Activities

HAROLD FASNACHT, PRES.

A Debate Will Be the Main Feature Of the Next Meeting.

The forensic club held the first meeting of the year Wednesday evening on the fourth floor of Science Hall.

Harold "Berries" Crist, former president of the club, introduced Harold Fasnacht, this year's executive head, who had charge of the meeting.

Miss Norine Howard, a freshman, gave a musical reading. She was accompanied by Miss Mildred Mitchell, also a freshman.

Prof. Maurice Hess spoke to the group, explaining the part McPherson College plays in forensic activities and urging that a large number of students engage in this particular extra-curricular activity.

A reading was given by Miss Ruth Hiebert after which Oliver Ikenberry sang "Asleep in the Deep," accompanied by Miss Harriet Hopkins.

"Black and White Speckled Pig-Hog," a composition by "Berries" Crist was read by the author which was the concluding number.

Announcement was made that a debate would be the main feature of the next meeting, the question to be discussed being:

'DAD' ELROD SPEAKS AT Y. M.

Last Tuesday morning James "Dad" Elrod spoke on the subject "What is worth going out for in college?" Every boy attending the Young Men's Christian Association assembly heard a vital message of truth concerning college life.

"Dad" Elrod explained that life is just what the individual makes it and that he reaps just what he sows. Every one must be careful in the building of a life for character is moulded most of all during the college years.

"Dad" gave ten suggestions for college men:

1. Be teachable; you don't know it all.
  2. Be interested in your school activities.
  3. Be considerate of others.
  4. Play the game fair, in every detail be square.
  5. Be sympathetic and kind.
  6. Be inwardly pure, down in the secret parts of your life.
  7. Be friendly to all.
  8. Be courageous, never afraid to stand alone.
  9. Be genuine, don't be a sham.
  10. Be a lover of truth.
- In conclusion Elrod said, "Prepare your life for usefulness for we will be needed to help remedy the ills in this world of ours."

Y. M. C. A. CABINET MEETS

The first cabinet meeting of the year, led by Warren Sisler, president, was held Monday evening. Complete plans were discussed for the coming year and a few definite goals set. The immediate need of the cabinet is to get its membership, and is now working hard at that matter. The cabinet plans to have a bigger and better Young Men's Christian Association, to help all they can in serving the men's needs on our campus. Plans left uncompleted Monday night were again taken up Tuesday evening when the cabinet again convened for a short time.

When Cupid hits the mark he usually Mrs. it.

Are Caps Keepsakes?

One would at times wonder if the freshmen have already pasted their caps in their memory books. That fear looms ground when a bit of red shines from some hip pocket, or some member of the new class strolls by with his property clasped.

Just why the freshmen seem adverse to wearing the caps might be psychologically explained, but opposing arguments outweigh the solution. True, the results of careful application of hair oil does not appear to such good advantage when covered by this special means of identification, but the freshman probably did not stop to think that by having that cap to tip to "her" he has one more means of demonstration of his admiration.

Bigger reasons are there for obeying cap rule than the above. Every one admits the the presence of caps puts more pep and spirit into the atmosphere. A dash of color here and there alone adds something. When accompanied by the fact that the brilliancy is the special property of the class whose identity is already often quite apparent, the appearance becomes only more effective. It is surely the desire of the freshmen to make his college environment a live one. Then why should they fall in this their first great opportunity to do so?

Freshman days in college come only once to the average individual. Never again will the privilege of wearing a cap all of his own, one so strikingly different from the masses, be his. Upper classmen who were forced to wear frosh caps declare that there actually was a "klick" in the wearing. Do the freshmen of 1928-29 propose to reach senior heights and look back on a college life that is minus freshman cap days?

Why be ashamed or afraid to wear the cap? You have reasons to be proud that you are a freshman. You have a bigger heritage of college ideals and traditions and a better school due to growth and advancement than any class that has ever entered. As the latest class to enter you have more years before you here than any other; then make it a place that has life and interest. Do not cultivate any spirit of indifference by leaving off your cap. It might grow and mean the death of the spirit that makes this a good place to be.

Real life here only comes when a student is true Bulldog. Among the qualities true Bulldogs manifest, is loyalty. When a freshman properly displays his cap according to rule, he indicates respect for the traditions of McPherson College, a respect that is the foundation of a loyalty that binds us together in a spirit that puts M. C. in the quality list.

It is not bunk when others tell you that it is a privilege to wear your cap. It is your opportunity to tell the world that you are a real sport, a loyal booster, and the kind of a Bulldog that is forever in the ring to make M. C. just what she ought to be.

SOCCER TEAM CHOSEN

The attendance at the soccer meeting last Thursday afternoon indicated a live interest. Alberta Hoivis, soccer manager of the Woman's Athletic Association, explained the rules of the game.

Captains were elected and teams chosen. The teams are as follows: Ruth Blickenstaff captain Jennie Yiongst Mildred Mitchell Doris Ballard Myreta Hammann Odessa Crist Lila Eberly Prudence Strickler Clara Burgin Ida Lengel Louise Allen Elsie Mase Mildred Swenson Hazel Falls Roxie Kilwener Helen Eberly Beth Hess Rena Loshbaugh Iva Crumpacker captain Harriet Hopkins Velma Eldridge Ruth Trostle Verna Falgren Jeannette Hoover Attilia Anderson Leta Wine Florence Weaver Florence Lehman Ada Stutzman Velma Wine Mildred Doyle Evelyn Saylor Nellie Collins Sylvia Flory Genevieve Crist Avie Wattenbarger.

Y. W. C. A.

As a variation from the usual Y. W. C. A. meeting place the program was presented Tuesday morning on the campus around a bonfire. (?)

The Y. W. cabinet assisted by three Freshman girls, Misses Mildred Doyle, Velma Eldridge and Lila Fields gave a playlet for the purpose of getting new members and committees signed.

The setting was supposed to have been a group of girls on a picnic about a week before school started. The three freshman girls were questioning the older girls about different phases of college life and in this way the Y. W. as an important activity was advertised.

Heads of the various committees urged that every one sign for some part of Y. W. work.

Pledge cards were signed at the close of the meeting.

JUNIOR CLASS ACCEPTS BUDGET

Finance and frolic were the main subjects for discussion and deliberation at the Junior class meeting last Friday morning.

After some consideration of the matter it was decided by an almost unanimous vote that the juniors will have a hike and weinie roast some evening this week, possibly Thursday. Following this decision a more serious matter—that of finance, was brought up before the class.

Miss Mildred Swenson read the report of the budget committee stating the estimates placed on each item of expense anticipated by the class as a whole for the coming year. The matter of dues was then brought before the class and a motion was made and carried by a vote that each member pay five dollars per semester for dues.

ECHOES FROM ESTES

An Analysis of the Present System Reinhold Neibuhr, one of the outstanding speakers at the Estes Conference, June 6-16, believes that the greed of the individual is at the root of our present industrial difficulties.

Neibuhr points out the fact that we Americans have spent our energy in the application of science to industry while the Orientals, not less intelligent, devoted themselves to inner values. "Now we are teaching the Orient industrialism but we are not learning their arts but are enslaved to the machine and to its too numerous products. Their surplus is stimulated by hope of gain and profit.

"Machines are fast becoming a curse because they produce too much stuff. At the present there are four and five million unemployed; when other countries become industrialized we will have more. These unemployed bid for jobs which lowers the standard of living."

Neibuhr says that we buy our benefits of industry by dehumanizing the machine and taking from the lower classes and at their expense.

He believes that a combination of religious imagination and a fresh conscience (of the country) will make for a new system.

 Little Boy—Max Conner.

At midnight the fairy Clara came entered, the dolls came to life and all performed very well, but loudly for Manager Morine awakened, entered, and the dolls again became lifeless inanimate objects.

Refreshments of ice cream lolly pops and cup cakes were served to the hungry and clamoring children. The party was ended at the Old time rather reluctantly. Everyone then went to "Walkers" and pictures were taken of the gleeful group.

At a very late hour for such a private company they returned to their respective places of abode and as the last light flickered and went out and the little surrounding world became dark the last little imp of mischief flitted out the windows into the night air and again were they grown up.

Prof. Maurice A. Hess went to Kansas City last Thursday where he attended a joint meeting of the debate coaches of Kansas and Missouri. Meetings were held Friday and Saturday for the purpose of discussing problems on questions for debate and the scheduling of the debates for the ensuing season.

ARE YOU RESPONDING?

The first student organizations to make their presence known this fall were the Young Men's and Women's Christian Association. They were very welcoming students to McPherson College and endeavoring to foster a spirit of good will and fellowship.

The first all school social function was a watermelon feed, was entirely in charge of these organizations. Activities of these two groups continue throughout the year. Their endeavors to promote the living of a more full and creative life is constant. Meetings each Tuesday afford an opportunity for students to worship together and to think with one another about the problems that confront them every day.

 It is the privilege of every student to benefit by the meetings. The more interest manifested by the individual by his regular attendance and willingness to discharge his duties in connection with the organizations result in directly proportional personal benefit.

LIBRARY NOTES

Seventy-nine more books were loaned at the library Tuesday than were loaned the corresponding day last year, and two hundred nine more than two years ago. On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings all the chairs in the reading room were occupied, and some students were forced to study in the basement. The librarian reported they were very quiet, and every one seemed to be at work.

The management purchased a new L. C. Smith typewriter for which the librarian was very grateful.

Miss Vera Cade presented the library "A Brief History of Education" by Ellwood P. Cubberley and "School Efficiency" by Henry Ben-

Electricity drives the California so efficiently that the fuel bill for the initial coast-to-coast trip was even less than the Canal tolls. Electricity mans the winches, bakes the bread, makes the ice, polishes the silver. And electricity cools the cabins and provides passengers with the

On sea or land, in every walk of life, electricity is in the van of progress. Undreamed of yesterday, the electric ship is a symbol of the electrical industry's part in modern civilization and a prophecy of even greater accomplishment.

This monogram is found on great motors that drive the California, and on a multitude of electric appliances which contribute to the comfort of her passengers. It is an emblem of skilled engineering and high manufacturing quality.

EAST CENTRAL SCORES ONLY POINTS ON OPENING GAME

Bulldogs Profit by Experiences of First Game.

McPherson college lost the first game of the season to the fast team of East Central State Normal of Ada, Oklahoma by a score of 13 to 0.

The loss of the game will have no effect on the conference standing but has thrown some light on the general weaknesses of the team and on individuals of the team. It is believed that a number of the faults will be ironed out in the next few days practice.

The game was featured by a spectacular play by Larue and Kuhn of East Central when Kuhn took Larue's fifteen yard pass and carried it fifty-five yards for a touchdown early in the second quarter. The rest of the game consisted of smashes and punts from the danger lines of both teams.

The outstanding men of the McPherson team were Wells and Miller. The injury of Nonken in the first quarter and Wells in the third quarter was keenly felt by the Bulldog aggregate as it weakened the backfield to a degree.

The lineup for the game was:
 McPherson East Central
 Wells Q. B. Brians
 Nonken L. H. Larue
 Swain R. H. Norman
 Miller F. H. White
 Blickenstaff L. E. Patton

COMMUNITY CHORUS ORGANIZES

The community chorus which was organized last year met Wednesday evening to discuss plans for the year. The chorus will be directed by Prof. Lewis Doll. During the year the chorus will study secular and sacred music, with the plans that the Salon Orchestra will accompany the chorus. Later in the year it is the expectation to produce the Opera, Faust, with the Chicago Civic Opera Company.

The members show great interest and enthusiasm in their plans, and wish to solicit the help of more of the college students. The chorus will meet next Tuesday evening, likely at the junior high school building. It is open to anyone who desires to enter.

CECILIAN MUSIC SOCIETY MEETS

A large number of music lovers were present at the Cecilian Music Society which met for the first time this year last Thursday evening in amusement hall on the fourth floor of the science building. A number of musical numbers and a short business meeting constituted the evening's program.

A piano solo by Miss Thelma Budge, a violin solo by Orion High, a vocal solo by Lloyd Diggs, and a flute solo by Lawrence Turner preceded the business part of the meeting. Sides were then chosen for the membership drive contest, with Miss Budge and Mr. Diggs as captains of the two competing groups.

More than 75 members have joined at the time of this writing (Friday) and the outlook for the coming year is said to be very promising. The organization plans to invite outside talent from other schools and cities to the campus during the winter.

The officers for the ensuing year are: Miss Arlene Saylor, president; Francis Berkebile, vice-president; Miss Mildred Wine, secretary, and Ralph Landes, treasurer.

Coach Hess Gen. Sec. of Kan. I. D. L.

It is a matter of interest to know that "Coach" M. A. Hess is General Secretary of the Kansas Intercollegiate Debating League.

This office is comparable to that of president and the organization includes: Kansas Wesleyan University, Bethany College, McPherson College, Bethel College, Sterling College, Southwestern University, Friends University, and Wichita University.

The league was organized ten years ago and Prof. Hess is the only coach in the district who has coached continuously during that time.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 20—Princeton will use eight football coaches this season instead of ten used last year. The varsity coaching staff includes Bill Roper, head coach; Al Wittmer, line coach; Stan Keck, tackle coach; Shad Davis, end coach; Nat Poe, coach of reserves, and Keene Fitzpatrick, trainer. EDITORIALS
We need no law, no jury or no judge to tell us when we're wrong. We need but heed the instant signal from within, to condemn a thought, intention or an act that is not square. The world's best definition of honesty is engraved upon the heart of every man, and is ever re-traced by each beating pulse. The reward of honesty is the nobleness of the act itself—the most bitter penalty for its disregard is the insistent whispered hissing of the soul.
