Some things not to do are to talk about ones self continually and involves personalities of other people, was an assertion of Miss Lehman. "Two extremes to avoid are 'stringing a line' and being very learned." A vocal solo "One Fleeting Hour" was sung by Opal Bowers.

The Oak Dale park in Salina has become a popular rendezvous for picnickers from the College due to the fact that motor boating is the outstanding sport.

After enjoying three picnic meals during the day, the class repacked their modern means of transportation and journeyed to the city where they remained for the evening to enjoy the comforts of resting tired muscles at a theatre. A few students, anxious to return did not go to the show because of urgent matters calling them to McPherson.

REPORTING AS A PROFESSION

There are certain traditional views of newspapers that have come down from past generations. One of them is that the newspaper reporter is a happy-go-lucky individual, with no particular training, who takes his work in a desultory way and travels from city to city with no other purpose than to see the world and enjoy life.

However, true this conception may have been fifty years ago, it is fantastic when applied to the reporter of today. The interview in The Star a few days ago with Mr. A. B. MacDonald, recipient of the Pulitzer prize, by the Star's Roving Correspondent, illustrates the background and ideas of the modern efficient reporter. It reveals two men with a wide acquaintance with literature and life, who take their work as seriously as any professional man.

In fact, the modern reporter is a professional man. He works hard to acquire the necessary training and to develop himself in a broad way. He seeks not merely to report surface events, but to give an understanding interpretation of them. He recognizes his responsibility to his readers and to the great public service institution with which he is identified. It is the rarest thing in the world for a reporter to betray his trust.

No profession is more exacting in its demands than that of reporting. The reportorial work of a newspaper is an essential factor in modern life in keeping the public informed and reporters as a class measure up to their high opportunity.—Kansas City Star.

THE MERGING OF MEN

They have labored against imposing odds that their offices might function properly. They have become experts in their fields. They have gained the respect of the student body and their confidence has never faltered in the eyes of those they assist. No greater tribute could be accorded them than to mention the fact that they have fulfilled their duties and purposes to the utmost of their ideals and abilities that what they have done in the past might not be forgotten in the future. They have never hesitated in answering a request from any student, nor have students hesitated in approaching them with their problems.

Ever smiling and seemingly always to be happy in their work, Dean R. E. Mohler and Prof. J. A. Blair, have and always will be held as inspirations for higher accomplishments, for more worthy thinking, for straight forward endeavors, and for the greatest standard of life—that of true Christian men.

Chaperons should be old, feeble and nearsighted or young, active and broadminded.

It is not always the engine that makes the most noise that does the most work.

The three things most difficult are—to keep a secret, to forget an injury, and to make good use of leisure.

WAR DRUMS

War, the universal tide of human slaughter, has a premature appeal to a young generation that will have to be abolished before an attempt can be made for permanent peace. This generation is fascinated with the adventurous and thrilling experiences it pictures and the hero worship it manifests.

We are a nation of misbelievers and misrepresentation of our own personal beliefs. In times of war we are for war and not for peace. In times of peace we are for peace and hate even the thought of a next war. We preach against war and attempt to place a vision of the horrors of human conflicts before a public that is ever ready to listen—but seldom to act. The ire of discontent of present feeling has its appeal for further thought. We are a nation of "freedom of speech," of "equal rights," and of "freedom of religion." We sing the "peace on earth, good will toward men." Yet we go to war.

War breaks out—a "just" cause is manifested—in self-defense they cry—a war to end war is their appeal—a call for volunteers is answered—a brass band marches through the streets—playing a military and patriotic march—we listen—we see others join in the trek—we forget mother, father, and sweetheart—we desert our own feelings toward war—the band plays on—the music is as a dose of liquor—we don't care—we "rally round the flag"—the flag—we find ourselves with the others—in the street—marching with them and singing their songs of victory—on we go to war—to fight—to kill—to be killed—war—war—
Yet God said, "peace on earth, good will toward men."

As strange as it may seem many a woman has won in the matrimonial handicap—by a neck. . . Yeah! And a lot of them have gone to Nevada to be Reno-vated. . . You can even get married on time now, but you will have to go to Germany to do it—but where are we going to get money to get to Germany? . . . Of course you have heard of the woman that wanted to join a bridge club but didn't have time to go to a hospital for an operation so she could have some subject for conversation. . . We have a suit for every day of the week—this is it. . . "Silence is the secret of success."—No wonder so many men get married. . .

With all these junior and senior sneaks one cannot help but wonder if it doesn't have some effect upon the intelligence of the two lower classes. . . And talking about sneaks—even a tombstone would say something about a man when he is down. . . We imagine that, some of the underclass "boys" are as dumb as the individual that thought the Canadian border paid rent. . . The trouble with common sense is that it isn't common. . . Therefore horse sense is a result of stable thinking. . . My favorite interest in life is the kind that brings my money in. . . I am not so certain that the evil part of it, but money must be at the root of something—the way I have to dig for it. . . ### BOTH DEAN AND REGISTRAR ARE HEARTILY IN FAVOR OF MERGING OF THEIR OFFICES

"I Have Been Pulling For This Change For Last Three Years" Says Mohler—"The Present Change Most Constructive Thing Done Since I Have Been Here"—Blair

That the new changes that are to be brought about in the merging of the Dean's and Registrar's offices into one is gaining favor is evidenced in the fact that the two men who now hold these positions are heartily in favor of the new change. In an interview with Dean R. E. Mohler and Prof. J. A. Blair yesterday many interesting facts were brought to light as to what advantages the new change would be.

"The new change will result in the most economical type of administration," Professor Blair remarked. "The present system has proved itself very uneconomical and the new plan will result in better efficiency." Professor Blair became Registrar of the College in 1922. Before he took over his new duties no complete records of students grades and credits had ever been kept. He instituted a system that soon found favor not only among the faculty but also among the students and has proved to be efficient, accurate and complete.

Before the last decade the College was unable to issue a complete transcript of grades for any student. A great deal of trouble was experienced by alumni members who returned for their grades and credits. Dean Mohler, like the present registrar, was of the opinion that the new plan will result in a more efficient office. "I have been pulling for this change for the last three years," Dean Mohler stated. When approached as to its benefits he stated that it will be a great economy of time and labor. Dean Mohler became Dean of the College in 1925 and he had held this position faithfully and executed his duties to the height of efficiency.

As a result of the merging of these two offices the educational department will probably be divided into two divisions. It is the present plan to separate it into (1) psychology division, and (2) administrative division. Professor Blair intends to remain in full charge of the psychology division, in which division he says he has received the most training and which is of more interest to him. The second division, that of administrative, will be taken care of by Mr. Replogle, who has received special training in this field of education.

Because of the heavy duties of Mr. Replogle he will probably not teach more than six hours of work during his first year at McPherson. The two courses that will include the six hours will probably be principals of education and high school administration.

"The present change is the most constructive thing that has been done," Professor Blair stated, "since I have been connected with McPherson college." Both Dean Mohler and Professor Blair are lending all of their support to the new plan and feel certain that it is going to prove a wonderful success.

TO MERGE DEAN AND REGISTRAR'S OFFICES

the outlying reaches of the McPherson college area. Both have volunteered to change their program to provide for the re-organization which will bring to the campus one especially trained for educational administration. This was initiated more than a year ago when Dean Mohler asked to be relieved of the Deanship as soon as convenient. Both have expressed their desire to continue their work in the College with the same enthusiasm and devotion which has always characterized them. For this splendid spirit and for their untiring efforts in behalf of the College, they have added to the debt of gratitude all the friends of McPherson college owe them.

There will be added to the faculty Fred A. Replogle, now of Chicago, who will assume some of the administrative duties now cared for by Professors Mohler and Blair and will also be professor in the field of education and religious education. He will become Dean and Registrar of the College.

Mr. Replogle is a man of pleasing personality, of excellent training, of varied experience and sterling character. He has his Master's degree from the Northwestern university and will soon receive his Ph. D. from the University of Chicago. He has had experience as a teacher, principal, superintendent of schools, the director of young people's work, and for the past two years, he has served with the Methodist Educational Board in Chicago as research director.

His special training is in educational, administrative, and personal work, though he is also well trained in religious education. He has taken courses amounting to about a year's work above the required number for his Doctorate at the University of Chicago.

He is 32 years old, married and has one son. He will come to McPherson about August 1st and will begin his work with the opening of the next school year.

One person in writing of Mr. Replogle said, "Replogle is a high grade man, possessing excellent ability, great industry, and a fine personality. He is the sort of man who would awaken the respect and admiration of college students."

The man with whom he has been at work on the Methodist Board of Education says of Mr. Replogle: "He has an inquiring mind and a concise method which has fitted him admirably for our work in research. A sound knowledge, comparatively quiet and modest manner, and his ability to put his finger on the important matters, usually inspires confidence."

"Mr. Replogle is basically religious and in our many conferences he has maintained a thoroughly analytical interest but one directed at the constructive solution of the real problems related to guiding folk into meaningful and inspiring relationship with God."

One who has worked with him a great deal says, "He is a splendid individual, with whom cooperation is easy. He is open minded and able to take suggestions. Yet he will be found very capable of originality and individual initiative. As a personnel worker he would lead the student body to come for advice and direction. I have seen this happen normally and naturally many times. He has a forceful power of language and a splendid ability to grasp situations and present the heart of a subject. It will be your good fortune if you can land him. I wish he were coming to our campus."

To Make Reservations With Roy O. Frantz At Rocky Ford, Colo.

The College is making arrangements to have a camp ground headquarters for McPherson college friends at the Colorado Springs annual conference of the Church of the Brethren from June 10 to 16.

Strictly modern accommodations may be had at both places and the rates are very reasonable. If sufficient number send in reservations special rates may be secured, including gas, heat, and light at a special price of $1 per day.

People interested in this camp are urged to make reservations with Roy O. Frantz, Rocky Ford, Colo., as soon as possible. It is roughly estimated that there may be from 500 to 1,000 in this camp. They are estimating that there will be 15,000 people in attendance at this annual conference.

BOTANY CLASS ON A PART DAY FIELD TRIP

Visit Points Of Interest Northeast Of McPherson—Study Ferns Flowers

Thurs., May 7—The botany class, under the direction of Dean R. E. Mohler, reversed the type of lesson discussion today by going on an extensive field trip. This afternoon 13 students and the instructor motored to points north of Little River and Marquette. They visited Natural Corral, located west of Marquette. Many types of nature's art were observed but special emphasis was placed upon flowers and ferns. A picnic supper was enjoyed by class before they returned to the campus late this evening.

Despite the fact that a strong wind was blowing from the north some fairly good times were made in the distant runs. Hochstrasser won the 100 yard dash for McPherson in 10.1 seconds. No relay was run because of Bethany not entering any.

McPherson captured nine firsts out of the 14 events. McPherson was weakest in the high jump and the broad jump, only earning one point in each event.

— DRIPPINGS — from THE DOPE BUCKET

Talk about being interested in a track and field meet, we think that "Cash" Carlson of Bethany takes the "cake." During the dual meet here with the "Swedes" last Friday, "Cash" sat in his car practically all afternoon and seemed to take no interest whatsoever in his team. He must have a good deal of interest or faith in his team to leave them to the mercy of their opponents without his help or suggestion.

The state meet seems to be centered around Kansas Wesleyan, Ottawa, and Baker, who have all three been making good times during the season. Ottawa doubled the score on St. Marys, St. Marys defeated McPherson, and Baker has held the edge on St. Marys. Competition will be keen.

Wagg, Ottawa, and Hochstrasser, McPherson, are favorites in the quarter mile run at the state meet Friday. McIntyre, Wesleyan, beat out Hochstrasser in the Pentagonal meet, so it is a matter of endurance and speed to see who will break the tape first.

Under ideal conditions some of the track marks, and perhaps some of the field, are likely to fall this year, five new marks having been made last year. The two short dash marks, held by Puckett of McPherson, will be tested severely as will the javelin record of 170 feet seven inches held by Young of Baker.

Boxberger, Wesleyan, ranks high in the field events, and he has easily proved the best of the shot putters and javelin throwers, although he had been beaten once by both Zinn of McPherson and Toewes of Bethany. —L. E. L.
