BULLDOGS DEFEAT OTTAWA BRAVES FOR FIRST KANSAS CONFERENCE BASKETBALL VICTORY

McPherson Team Gains Small Lead in Slow First Half and Holds it Throughout Game—Lead 8 to 7 at First Half

BULLDOGS 18, OTTAWA 16

Jamison, Pauls, Binford, and McPherson of Ottawa Tie for High Score

Fri., Jan. 22—The McPherson college Bulldogs won the first Kansas Conference basketball victory here tonight over the Ottawa Braves. The final score was 18 to 16. McPherson took a slight lead at the beginning and held it all through the game.

The game started out slowly with each team feeling out the defense of the other. The Bulldogs soon broke into the scoring column and clung doggedly to their small lead for the entire game. After a slow first half the McPherson team was leading 8 to 7.

The second half started with faster play on the part of both teams. This speed soon became roughness with both teams sharing in this feature. McPherson held an advantage in passing and floor work, while both sides missed many shots. By passing and milling around with the ball McPherson had increased her lead to five points and both teams were fighting hard for possession of the ball. Ottawa made a free throw good and after a few minutes of scrambling for the ball the Braves made a field goal. With this Captain Jamison called time out with five seconds remaining to play. Play was resumed. Ottawa got the tip, with McPherson, their star forward of the evening, taking a long shot. The goal was missed and a McPherson man took the ball off the back board as the game ended.

McPherson of Ottawa and Pauls, Jamison, and Binford of McPherson all tied for scoring honors with six points each.

Entertainment Is to Be a Mothers and Daughters Affair

All college women are reminded to plan on attending the Mothers and Daughters Tea to be given next Sunday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. room. The hours are from 3 to 5 P. M.

The tea is being sponsored by the college Y. W. C. A. Each member is asked to bring a guest, preferably her own mother, or some friend in the community if her home is away from McPherson.

The program for the tea is to be musical, but its exact nature has not yet been disclosed.

DORMITORY TO HAVE ANNUAL OPEN HOUSE

Next Saturday evening, January 30, the women of Arnold Hall will hold open house in the dormitory. The hours during which they will receive their visitors are from 7:30 until 10:30.

All students, faculty members, and others of the community are cordially invited to come and enjoy the evening at Arnold Hall.

GLEE CLUBS PLAN TO GIVE SACRED CANTATA

Joint Concert of Musical Groups Planned for Next Month

Thurs., Jan. 21—Mrs. Anna C. Tate, director of voice, announced that the men's and women's glee clubs of the college will be combined to present a sacred cantata this spring, the time to be somewhere near April 1.

The cantata chosen for presentation is "Ruth the Moabitess," words and music by J. Astor Broad. It has six scenes, and will include many solos, choruses, and speaking parts. Costumes and scenery will be arranged to suit the theme of the story. This cantata is somewhat similar to "Esther," the production put on last year by the mixed chorus, which resulted in a great deal of favorable comment.

A concert is to be given by various musical organizations of the college during the last part of February, the tentative date being set at February 24. It will be a joint concert by the women's glee club, the men's glee club, the ladies' quartet, the men's quartet, and the college orchestra under the direction of Miss Margaret Shelley. The program will be given in the Congregational Church of McPherson.

REGIONAL CONFERENCE TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK

Dr. Paul Bowman and Dan West to Be Among Leaders

Wed., Jan. 27—The Regional Conference of the Church of the Brethren will be held on the McPherson college campus February 1 to 5. The meetings, beginning Monday night at 7:30 with the opening address by Dr. V. F. Schwalm, will be held in the college chapel. The program for the conference includes inspirational conferences and addresses for ministers, educators, students and young people, and leaders in children's work.

The meetings begin Monday night at 7:30 with the opening address by President Schwalm. There will be addresses and sectional conferences throughout Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, with the closing meetings Friday forenoon, in charge of Dr. Paul H. Bowman and Rev. H. F. Richards.

Leaders and speakers for the Regional Conference include Dr. Paul H. Bowman, Dan West, Miss Ruth Shriver, Rev. W. H. Yoder, Rufus Bowman, Prof. R. E. Mohler, Dr. J. D. Bright, Dean F. A. Replogle, and Rev. H. F. Richards.

Dr. Paul Bowman is President of Bridgewater college, Bridgewater, Virginia. He is now a member of the General Ministerial Board of the Church, and is a pleasing and eloquent speaker. Dr. Bowman is scheduled to speak from 10:00 to 10:30 for each of the days of the conference.

Dan West is Director of Young People's work in the Church of the Brethren. As a leader of discussions he is rarely equalled. The students of McPherson college who have enthusiastically welcomed and listened to Dan West on his former visits to the campus, will be glad to learn that he will be here again, during the Regional Conference.

Miss Ruth Shriver is Director of Children's Work for the Church of the Brethren. In her field she is one of the most successful leaders in the country. Rev. W. H. ## W. A. A. MAKES PLANS FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

Chairmen of Various Committees Selected at Meeting Held Last Week

DATE SET AT FEBRUARY 20

Association Also Makes Plans For State W. A. A. Play Day Here This Spring

Plans are now being made for the annual banquet of the Women's Athletic Association, which will be in the parlors of the Church of the Brethren on Saturday evening, February 20. Committees are taking charge of the various arrangements essential to a successful banquet.

At a meeting of the association held last week, Ethel Sherry was selected as chairman of the program committee. Florence Weaver is to be head of the menu committee, and the committee headed by Ada Brunk will have charge of decorations. These committee chairmen will select other members of the W. A. A. to help them with the work involved.

Each of the W. A. A. members is entitled to bring one guest to the banquet. This is one of the outstanding social affairs held on the campus during the year.

A committee has been appointed to take charge of arrangements for the State W. A. A. Play Day, annual get-together for all members of the W. A. A. from the colleges of Kansas. The Play Day is to be held here later this spring. Last year the Play Day took place at Sterling college, on April 17. Besides a banquet and opportunity for visiting among members, those attending participated in various sports, such as baseball, tennis, basketball, volleyball, and track events.

The local Play Day committee includes Attilia Anderson, Velma Bean, and Mildred Stutzman.

The date for the annual W. A. A. initiation for new members has not been definitely set as yet. However Nellie Collins, president of the organization, has announced that it will take place some time before the banquet. Attilia Anderson is head of the committee which will have charge of the initiation. This is an affair which all budding candidates for membership anticipate with a great deal of interest, well anticipation.

DEAN LEADS CHAPEL ASSEMBLY FRIDAY

Says Students Often Wish They Could Correct Mistakes

Fri., Jan. 22—Dean F. A. Replogle read the scripture in chapel this morning, and followed it with a short talk.

Dean Replogle said that as the semester draws to a close many students often wish that they could go back and pick up seeds they have planted along the way. He also mentioned the fact that there are many subjects a person may take in college for which he may not have a specific use later, but still he cannot afford to miss them because of the personal satisfaction gained from them later.

The College Male Quartet sang two songs, "The Old Refrain" and "Pilot, Lan' De Boat," a negro spiritual.

MAKE USE OF WHAT TALENTS YOU HAVE

Replogle Speaks Concerning Talents in Chapel Service

Wed., Jan. 20—Talents and efficiency in using them was the main subject upon which Dean F. A. Replogle based this morning's chapel talk. After reading Goodspeed's translation of the "parable of the talents" in the Bible, Dean Replogle stated that those who do the most with what they have are the ones who are trusted with more; and those who have the least and do the least expect the most. He also said that the one who has but one talent is usually tempted the most.

He then applied the idea of college life. If the college student would double or increase what he has in grades, reputation, etc., both his grade cards and life history could be much improved. Dean Replogle stated that we should not make our decisions and plans in our darkest moments when we are discouraged with life, but that we should use our best moments to solve our trials and problems and then try to live up to them in times when things look dark.

HERSHEY WILL SHOW FILMS THIS EVENING

Moving Pictures on "Synthetic Atmospheres" to Be Seen in Chapel

This evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, the Chemistry Club will meet in the chapel in order to view the moving picture films taken of Dr. J. Willard Hershey's experiments on synthetic atmospheres. These films were taken during the Thanksgiving vacation, on November 27, in the McPherson college chemistry laboratories. In them appear a number of the assistants in the chemistry department, who aided Dr. Hershey in making the experiments and in taking the pictures. Among those who assisted were Fern Heckman, Ralph Keedy, Attilia Anderson, Walter Wollman, Esther Brown, Vernon Gustafson, Walton Smith, and Mildred Doyle.

The films were taken by E. C. Dent of the Kansas University Extension Division, a man who specializes in visual instruction work.

Last month they were shown at the New Orleans meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in connection with a paper on synthetic atmospheres read by Dr. Hershey.

In addition to the moving pictures, Dr. Hershey will present a number of slides and the accompanying lecture.

This program will be of interest to all of the students of the college. Therefore Dr. Hershey extends to all a cordial invitation to attend the meeting this evening.

MILDRED RONK LEADS C. E. PROGRAM SUN.

Subject Is "Does Christianity Meet Modern Needs?"

Sun., Jan. 24—"Does Christianity Meet Modern Needs?" This modern problem was the subject of an interesting Christian Endeavor program tonight. Genevieve Crist spoke on "Christianity in Opposition to Modern Ideals." Nellie Collins talked on "Christianity in Agreement With Modern Ideals." The last talk, by LaVere Flora, was on "What Jesus Taught." It was pointed out in the discussion that the Christianity taught by Christ is as vitally important and usable today as it was in Christ's own day. Mildred Ronk was chairman of the meeting, and led devotions.

Doubt is the shadow of truth.

BROADCAST IS MAIN FEATURE

Group Gives Two Church Programs Besides Radio Hour

Sun., Jan. 24—McPherson college Sunday was the designation given today in all churches and communities included within the McPherson college territory. Special addresses and programs and a special offering in behalf of the current running expenses and endowment fund of the college took place in most congregations of the Church of the Brethren.

The headliner for the day was the McPherson college broadcast from Radio Station KFBI at Milford, Kansas. The program was a feature of the regular "Latching Hour," which comes from this station from 2 to 3 P. M. every Sunday. The program was opened by groups of numbers by both the men's and women's quartets, followed by a group of soprano solos presented by Mrs. Anna C. Tate. An interesting surprise feature of the program was the rendition of "O Promise Me," by Mrs. Tate. The number was requested to be sung as part of a wedding ceremony at Wichita, Kansas.

Dr. V. F. Schwalm spoke during the radio hour, setting forth the aims and objectives of McPherson college, with a brief description of its curriculum, departments, student body, and faculty. Mr. E. A. Wall, president of the McPherson Chamber of Commerce, obligingly accompanied the group and furnished transportation for part of them in his car.

Before going to Milford the same party gave a program of speaking and music at the Navarre Church of the Brethren, at 11 A. M. Following the radio broadcast they visited the Brown Memorial Park and Home for the Aged, near Abilene, and in the evening gave a McPherson college program at the Abilene Church of the Brethren, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

Meanwhile several other representatives of the college were busy carrying their messages to all parts of Kansas. Prof. J. A. Blair went to Garden City, in the western part of the state, to deliver an address this morning, and gave another this evening in the church at Friend, Kansas, north of Garden City. Dr. J. J. Yoder spoke at the Conway Springs church.

Miss Margaret Shelley, Miss Della Lehman, and Miss Edith McGaffey gave a program jointly this evening at the Hutchinson Church of the Brethren, before a large audience. Dean Fred A. Replogle represented the college at the Barlow church, of which Charles Austin is pastor, and this evening addressed the pastorate of Ward Williams at Castleton, Kansas. Rev. H. F. Richards, pastor of the local church, traveled to Larned for a sermon there this morning, while his place in the McPherson pulpit was taken by Dean R. E. Mohler.

Dr. J. D. Bright spoke this morning at the McPherson Congregational Church, and this evening at the Church of the Brethren. His subject was "Efforts at Militarizing America."

In all of these programs and talks the important phase of the church college, the quality of work which is done there, and the present need of the local college were the things chiefly brought to the attention of the audiences.

BRIGHT DELIVERS TWO ADDRESSES AT CHURCHES

Sun., Jan. 24—Dr. J. D. Bright, professor of history at McPherson college, delivered addresses at two churches of McPherson today. This morning he spoke at the Congregational Church, and this evening he delivered the address at the Church of the Brethren.

Dr. Bright's subject was "Efforts at Militarizing America."

A TIME TO DO SOME THINKING

At the beginning of the new semester it is well for students to take stock of themselves and see just where they are in the game of getting an education. It is the time to look both backward and forward.

Some of us have unfortunately made mistakes which we would like to recall. We have wasted our time. We have done careless work when we had the opportunity to truly achieve. We have not kept our friendships on high levels. We have neglected to cultivate the finer side of our lives by interesting ourselves in the spiritual and cultural things which our college environment has to offer. We have wasted our money.

Many others, while not thinking of themselves as being guilty of the above things in a marked degree, have failed to do the best work of which they were capable. They have been satisfied with mediocrity. It is always a more nearly universal need to replace good with better than to replace bad with good.

Let us all now resolve to forget our mistakes in the past, remembering only the lessons they taught us, and look forward to better and growing achievements during the last semester of 1931-32.

LEAP YEAR

Under the ancient leap year tradition, women during every fourth year have the privilege of asking men to marry them. At times in history, this custom has been more than a joke. A law was passed in Scotland in the 13th century, which explicitly gave women that right. It was followed by a similar statute in France, and like regulations existed later in Genoa and Florence, Italy. These provisions reveal the existence of a feeling that the old custom which gives its first initiative in marriage to men, is unfair to the female sex. These old laws were a first sign of the woman's rights movement which has turned the world upside down during recent years.

How has it happened, that men are supposed to take the lead in seeking marriage? Perhaps the women, with the intuition of their sex, originated the custom themselves, and frowned upon their sisters who were more forthputting. They may have felt that when they gave an impression of elusiveness, they made themselves more attractive.

The idea seems more appropriate to an age of women's seclusion than to the present one where women do all kinds of work, and are given equal rights under the law. At present many happy marriages are prevented by the timidity of the unwilling behavior.

Some bright girls should take those shrinking creatures, drag them out of their snug but narrow retreats, and force them to make a decision that would enlarge their lives and create happy homes. Many of the best women never marry, largely because they are too fine to be appreciated by the average male animal.

However, the girls have their ways of forcing a man up to the fatal question. If he is really interested, they commonly know how to make him feel unhappy if he doesn't come across with the momentous question.—McPherson Republican.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SUCCESS

A SERVICE BY A FRIEND

We wish to acknowledge the courtesy of Mr. E. A. Wall, president of the McPherson Chamber of Commerce, who was kind enough to furnish transportation to a part of the McPherson college group which presented the radio broadcast from station KFBI last Sunday. After leaving McPherson early Sunday morning, Mr. Wall took the party to Navarre, where they presented a church program, thence to Milford for the radio broadcast, and back to Abilene for another program in the evening before returning to McPherson.

Although such courtesies sometimes pass by unacknowledged or even unnoticed, they are always appreciated by those interested in the welfare of the school.

Give us a man, young or old, high or low, on whom we know we can thoroughly depend—who will stand firm when others fail—the friend faithful and true, the advisor honest and fearless, the adversary just and chivalrous; in such an one there is a fragment of the Rock of Ages—a sign that there has been a prophet amongst us.—Dean Stanley.

CRUMBS THAT FALL

It isn't the hope or the wish or the dream; it isn't the vision, the thought or the scheme; it isn't the aim and it isn't the plan—it's just what you do that determines the man.—Robert Guillian.

"Cramming" is a good way of forgetting.

Little talk makes big scandal. There are no boundaries in the world of thought.

HAST THOU A LAMP?

Hast thou a lamp, a little lamp, Put in that hand of thine? And did He say, who gave it thee, The world hath need this light should be? Now, therefore, let it shine.

And dost thou say, with bated breath, It is a little flame? I'll let the lamps of broader wick. Seek out the lost and cheer the sick, While I seek wealth and fame?

But on the shore where thy small house Stands dark, stands dark, this night, Full many a wanderer, thither tossed, Is driven on that rock and lost. Where thou hast hid thy light.

Rise, trim thy lamp; the feeble part Behind thee put and spurn. With God it is not soon or late, So that thy light, now flaming great, Doth ever fiercer burn—

Fierce with its love, and flaming In its humility; Shunning no soul in sinful need, Fearing no path where He may lead. Glowing consumingly.

Thou shalt not want for light enough. When earthly moons grow dim; The dawn is but begun for thee. When thou shalt hand, so tremblingly, The empty lamp to Him.

DIARY OF A CO-ED, A LA PEYS

JAN. 18—Blue Monday. Managed to drag my shivering self forth to put the windows down at eight bells this morning, but lost heart and went back to blissful unconsciousness until chapel hour.

Arrived in chapel just in time to hear Prof. Hess say something about 57 varieties of choice or Heins 57 choice varieties. I can't remember which. Classes weren't so bad today. Prof. Blair manages to cram several practical ideas into our heads in spite of ourselves. I even find myself remembering what he said a week or two later.

We had new soup bowls at dinner—shallow ones and much easier to serve from, but not so capacious. Had just two apricots instead of three for dessert. That tiresome depression again.

Met Charles Austin this morning just as he discovered a flat tire on his vehicle. His only exclamation was, "Aw, rats!" Don't tell me these preachers can't practice what they preach.

Speaking of vehicles, what's that new contraption Lillian C. was herding down Euclid today? She must have been trucking back some ill-bary books.

In the evening we went downtown to the Cross Road Playermakers' Meeting and sat for a full hour entertained by Miss Lehman's interpretation of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street". A good play with an excellent cast, all impersonations by Miss Lehman.

JAN. 19—Already they begin to speak to us of examinations and the ordeal is yet a whole day off. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Thought for awhile I was losing all my friends, until I remembered that it was cramming season. These blank looks are merely a camouflage to obtain mercy from these heartless hunters of facts.

Noticed a few bright spots on the horizon, though; Don Trostle's new henna-colored sax and Cleason Minter's good looking tie.

Ate some J. J. on bread for the noonday meal and it was almost appetizing. Had always thought those amber-colored jars in the center of the table were for ornamental purposes only.

More campus capers are being snapped for the Quad. It's getting quite metropolitan around here. Can't step outside without getting shot.

Got a cheerful little earful from Youse who this evening. Somebody told somebody that she knew somebody who saw L. Lewis by a wedding ring down town yesterday. Not so fast, Lewis, but so fast! The fellows haven't recovered from Bradley's cigars yet.

JAN. 20—Up betimes today, for the day of judgment was at hand. As a special feature of the feast for the condemned we had eggs for breakfast. Satisfactory with everyone but the dishwasher who preferred to save his energy for two exams instead of expending it on egg plates.

Prof. Harnly almost upset our orderly stacks of facts by his allusions to Amos and Andy. How anyone can jest in the face of such a crisis! Chopin's funeral march and a rendition of "Why Should the Spirit of Mortal Be Proud" would have suited the general mood better.

Prof. Bright had a modernistic idea for arranging the chairs in the torture chamber. Wonder if that was supposed to be a last diabolical touch to complete our bewilderment?

Having spent the day weeping over quizzes and the night weeping over "The Champ" I must for a few handkerchiefs and go to bed.

JAN. 21—Woke up this morning with the feeling that several thousand flu germs had invaded my anatomy and were starting a big war. The room was upside down when I crawled out of the downy bed so I went back and waited for it to right itself. By ten-thirty everything looked normal except the vision in the mirror which usually looks unusual anyway so I decided that the flu was not yet upon me. Such a disappointment! Was hoping I'd get a little attention and breakfast in bed.

Bitterscotch pie for dinner! Every little blessing helps during exams. Decided that Wilbur W. had become a grocery clerk until I saw him use the pencil over his ear for an exciting game of "Navy Battle". Other flimsy room observations: Nellie Collins infectious laugh, and John Kinsky's excellent manicure.

Saw a light in the gym tonight so went exploring and was rewarded by the sight of our faculty playing volleyball. What a transformation! You'd never recognize the fellow with the white duck trousers, grey sweater, and broken-billed cap as our debate coach. His white collar and flat black hat were conspicuously absent. Nor would you have known at first that the fellow in the nondescript unionalls was our Professor of Education. But "by their fruits shall ye know them". Hess simply could not keep that eloquent tongue of his still. He was official score caller. And Blair's tongue was also in evidence, especially when he was working hard to get a ball over the net. Some of the other stars (and they were good) were Bohling, Fries, Dell, and Bowman. You'd be surprised what excellent volleyball this particular club plays. The ball is volleyed as many as fifteen or twenty times before it goes down or out of bounds. Not many college teams can boast of better skill.

JAN. 22—Friday. Exams over and a basketball victory! And three days of vacation. (Not a bad moon, either). Yours for recreation and self-expression,

Betty Co-Ed.

Woodwork Classes Do Unbelievable Amount of Work During a Semester

EMPHASIZE LEARNING UNITS

Over 100 Large Pieces Have Been Completed So Far

Thus, Jan. 21—A checkup made today revealed a surprising amount of work which is being done in the McPherson college woodwork shops, under the direction of Prof. S. M. Dell. Approximately 110 large pieces have already been completed in the shops during the first semester, besides a large number of smaller articles. Many pieces also are now in the various stages of completion, and not included in the number of finished articles.

Although a great deal of the work has been done by men taking their first course in woodwork, the results would do credit to any manufacturer of home furnishings.

Here is a partial list of the articles already finished in the shops this year: 3 tilt top tables, 3 parlor tables, 3 footstools, 2 mallets, a bean bag board, 3 walnut cedar chests, 3 combination book racks, 4 nut bowls, 4 sets of candle sticks, a dressing table bench, a book rack, a table lamp, 2 bud vases, a match holder, a powder box, 7 hammer handles, 3 spoon holders, 4 card trays, 3 gavels, 4 darning eggs, 3 turned dresser sets, 3 end tables, 4 stationery boxes, a medicine cabinet, 2 book shelves, 3 pin trays, 12 clip boards, a check desk for a bank, 16 picture frames of various kinds (most of them mounted), a tool box, a fishing tackle box, a button box, a turned spider box, a chair rocker, a cake pullman, a barometer frame, an ironing board, 2 clocks and another clock case, a neck tie rack, 4 drawing boards, a drawing table, a dozen or twenty paddles, and, what's this... a dozen dice, a telephone stand, 2 bread boards, a shoe polishing box, 10 patties, an insect box, a fruit bowl, a magazine basket, a recipe box, and a cake stand.

About thirty additional articles, most of them pieces of furniture, are not yet finished and therefore not included in the list given.

It has been the aim of the woodwork classes this year to analyze the learning units involved in making each project undertaken. Thus the student can more critically judge the worth of what he is doing, see his mistakes more readily, and more fully appreciate the finished product. In accordance with this plan each of thirty-three students enrolled in the woodwork classes was required to make a wood block, following directions given by the teacher. The task appeared to be very simple, but when analyzed the students discovered that there were eighteen learning units involved in its completion. At the end of the semester's work each student was asked to do the project a second time, after a semester's training. The improvement was quite noticeable.

LYCEUM NUMBER FRIDAY BY DE WILLO COMPANY

Program Unique—All of Members Are Highly Talented

Next Friday night, January 29, McPherson will be privileged to hear one of the most widely known entertainment companies in the Lyceum and Chautauqua circuits of the United States. The De Willo Concert Company comes as the fifth number of the McPherson Community Lyceum course. The program will be heard in the Congregational Church of McPherson, beginning at 8:00 P. M.

The De Willo Concert Company is the oldest company in Lyceum and Chautauqua without change of personnel. It has played over circuits for eighteen years, since 1915, in every state east of Pennsylvania and several times in Canada. Some towns have been visited as many as five times.

Each of the three members of the group has improved a high degree of native talent by extensive training. De Willo Semerau, manager of the company, features his Concertina Grande, the only instrument of its kind in the world. De Willo drew the blue prints for this instrument and had it patented. Although resembling an accordion and working on the same principle, the tone quality of the instrument resembles that of a pipe organ. Then by the use of levers it can be made to sound like an entire orchestra, and because of its wide range heavy marches and grand opera selections can be played which are impossible on the accordion.

Mrs. De Willo Semerau, soprano, piano soloist, and accompanist, is a post-graduate of Knox Conservatory in both piano and voice. She has a voice of wide range, blending well with the Concertina and violin.

La Naomi Coffin is a post-graduate of Cincinnati Conservatory under the famous Tinsdell. She is recognized as one of the Chautauqua and Lyceum's foremost artists on the violin. Besides giving heavy solos by familiar composers, she has a number of her own arrangements of old familiar folk songs, negro melodies, and hymns.

The program of the De Willo Company consists of classical, grand opera, and modern music. Such combinations as concertina and violin; concertina and voice; concertina, violin and voice; and concertina, violin, and piano are used. Each member also plays the piano.

Students will find this program well worth their time and money, as it is one of the strongest of the numbers included on this year's Community Lyceum course. The next and last number will be the program by the Welsh Imperial Singers on March 2.

ALUMNI MAGAZINE TO BE PUBLISHED SOON

Third Issue to be Dedicated to the Class of 1922

The 1932 issue of the Alumni Magazine is soon to make its appearance. Early this week members of the editorial staff announced that the magazine would be out within the next two weeks. This will be the third issue of the Alumni Magazine, which has been published twice previously in the spring of 1930 and 1931. Orville Pote, a graduate of '23 who is at present the principal of the high school at Halstead, Kansas, was editor-in-chief of the first Alumni Magazine and is now manager of the magazine work on the editorial staff. Last year's issue was supervised by Dean R. E. Mohler, and Miss Edith McGaffey is chiefly responsible for the 1932 edition. Other members of the editorial staff are Eunice Almen and Dale Strickler of McPherson.

The Magazine this year is to be dedicated to the Class of 1922, which is to have its ten year reunion this year during Commencement week, according to the custom of the Alumni Association. Harold Bean, a member of the Class of '22, has been placed in charge of arrangements for this reunion and banquet, and Dean R. E. Mohler who was advisor of the class, is also taking a great deal of interest in the preparations.

The 1932 Alumni Magazine, a sixteen-page booklet, will contain up to date news concerning members of the Alumni Association and the current happenings on the campus.

STUDENTS SPEND WEEK-END NEAR NICKERSON

Visit at Trostle and Kimball Homes—Hear Hutchinson Program

A number of McPherson students and friends were guests in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Trostle, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Trostle, and Fay Kimball near Nickerson, Kansas, over the week-end. The group spent the week-end in numerous interesting diversions. An enjoyable feature of the entertainment was the showing of the motion pictures that have been filmed by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Trostle. Gulah Hoover and Pauline Dell took part in the church service at Nickerson Sunday; Miss Hoover sang, and Miss Dell played a piano solo. Several members of the group returned to the campus Sunday night, while the others motored to Hutchinson, where they witnessed the special McPherson college program put on at the Brethren Church. They returned to the campus Monday noon.

Those included in the party were: Alberta Yoder, Esther Pote, Pearl Walker, Gulah Hoover, Pauline Dell, Faith Ketterman, Essie Kimball, Ruth Trostle, Paul Sherry, Donald Trostle, Clinton Trostle, Lloyd Larsen, Delbert Kelly, Kernell

HAYS TIGERS BEAT BULLDOGS SATURDAY

Central Conference Team Leads 47 to 25

Hays, Kansas, Jan. 25.—The Hays Tigers won a nonconference basketball game from the McPherson college Bulldogs here tonight. The final score was 47 to 25.

Hays jumped into an early lead and steadily increased it as the game progressed. The entire Hays team was going good and all were exceptionally "hot" at the basket. At one time during the first half the score was 23-2 and at this point Rock and Johnston went into the McPherson lineup at the forward positions. The McPherson team held the Tigers during the remainder of the half while the Bulldog total was increased to 10 points.

In the last half the Hays team continued to hold its lead while McPherson was trying hard to overcome it. The Tigers presented an unusually good offense and a defense that the Bulldogs found hard to penetrate. Wilkinson scored 13 points while Rock made 11 points for the losers.

BULLDOGS WILL PLAY WESLEYAN COYOTES

Kansas Conference Contest to Be Played at Salina

The next basketball game for the Bulldogs is scheduled for Friday night when they tangle with the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes in a conference game at Salina. Thus far the Coyotes have not won a conference game but they are planning to upset the Bulldogs.

The Wesleyan quintet seem to be very good at upsetting the dope because two years ago they gave the Bethany Swedes their only conference defeat and have always given the Bulldogs hard battles.

Dyck, who starred last year for the Coyotes is back again at his forward position. Besides several lettermen Wesleyan has some freshmen that have been showing up well. Last year McPherson and the Wesleyan team divided games with each team winning on the other team's court. Coach Binford has been drilling his cagers hard and is planning on taking the Coyote basketeers into camp at Salina Friday night.

DRIPPINGS from THE DOPE BUCKET

The Bulldogs broke into the winning column last Friday night by defeating the strong Ottawa university team, Ottawa, until Friday night, was undefeated in the Kansas Conference race, having won from Kansas Wesleyan the week before by a 41-12 count.

In the Ottawa game four men tied for high scoring honors. Three McPherson players each made a third of the team's total points. These were Pauls, Jamison, and Binford. McPherson, an Ottawa forward, also scored six points. This game was ragged and rough in spots, but both teams were playing tight defense.

On the night following the game here, Ottawa journeyed to Lindsborg and the Braves were defeated 33 to 22 by the Swedes. Ottawa gave the Swedes a real battle and it was not until late in the last half that the Swedes were able to draw away from the Braves. The Swedes led by three points at the end of the first half, but about the middle of the second half the Braves had tied the score at 17 all. Larson, lengthy Swede center, continues to make good the field goals and free throws. He accounted for 17 of his team's points in the Bethany-Ottawa game. Cassidy, a substitute guard for Ottawa, played a good game and scored nine points.

The Bulldogs lost a nonconference basketball game Saturday night to the Hays Teachers of the Central Conference. McPherson met an exceedingly "hot" bunch of basketeers led by Wilkinson. Rock of McPherson was high scorer for his team with 11 points. Hays was going unusually well and possibly, even probably, the Bulldogs might have been tired from the hard and fast game the night before.

Bethel college seems to have one of the better college teams of the state. The Mennonites routed Kansas Wesleyan of the Kansas Conference by a score of 44 to 22. Baker, the other member of the conference, is still undefeated. The Wildcats did not play any conference game during the past week.

The Bulldogs tangle with Kansas Wesleyan next Friday night at Salina. Wesleyan lost her only conference game played so far, but nevertheless usually has a good team. The Bulldogs will have all that they can handle when they meet the Coyotes.

MRS. F. A. REPLOGIE SPEAKS AT Y. W. C. A.

"Choosing a Vocation" Is Title of Interesting Talk

Tues., Jan. 26.—Marcelle Stansel opened the Y. W. C. A. meeting this morning with the playing of a prelude.

Lola Hawkins had charge of the program, and read a scripture passage at the beginning. Ellen Steinberg, accompanied by Mildred Ronk, sang a solo.

Mrs. F. A. Replogie gave an exceedingly interesting and helpful talk on "Choosing a Vocation." She said that the magic word in life is work. In past generations women have been happy and contented in their homes because there was so great a demand for creative work. They were the spinners, weavers, bakers, laundresses—the hubs in the wheel of family life. The general lack of such creative work now is responsible for much of the restlessness which exists in the home.

It is possible now for a woman to marry and then ask, "What next?" She is not content to be married and nothing else, but also wants to have a career as well.

The problem of uniting a career and married life is challenging the people of today. Psychologists declare it is necessary to assume that every girl will marry in order for colleges to serve their ultimate purpose.

Many women are in business who are not seriously interested in their work. They consider their work only as a makeshift until they marry. The chief disadvantage of the attitude is a general mediocrity in their work. They do not enter wholeheartedly into their occupation and consequently are not very successful. The same attitude is later reflected in their homes.

There is no reason now why women cannot be happy in their vocations because they have such a wide variety from which to choose.

Mrs. Replogie closed with a quotation, "America will be as strong as her women."

RADIO BROADCASTING BRINGS MANY THRILLS

Running Down a Luckless Dog, Singing For a Wedding, Visiting Old Folks Home, etc.

Dr. V. F. Schwalm, president of McPherson college, and Ernest Wall, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, drove to Navarre, Milford, and Abilene last Sunday in the interests of advertising the college. They were accompanied by the college Male Quartet, composed of Messers Nachtigal, Kim, Bradshaw, and Siemens, the college Ladies' Quartet composed of Mrs. Hollaway and Misses Flora, Sherry, and Edwards, and Mrs. Anna C. Tate, soloist.

A program of quartet selections, solos, and a talk by Dr. Schwalm was given in the Church of the Brethren at Navarre in the morning, and at Abilene in the evening. Splendid interest was manifested by congregations present at each of the programs.

In the afternoon at two o'clock the group found themselves, after a ride which ended the life of a dog and upset Mrs. Tate's nerves, at Milford, shut up in a sound proof room with a tiny electric apparatus known as a microphone which would transmit every sound they made to the listening world. As each person took his place before the microphone he was mentally seeing his parents and friends listening tensely for the sound of a familiar voice.

Unusual excitement was ahead, for someone had decided to stage a wedding and Mrs. Tate was requested to sing "O Promise Me". A search was started for a copy of the music, which was ultimately found.

The Ladies' Quartet, then in the process of rendering a selection, was shut off, Mrs. Tate and her accompanist hustled off to another studio, and the wedding properly begun. That over, the concert continued as if nothing had happened. The congratulatory messages which came in caused first one face and then another to light up as familiar names were read. Soon it was over and the party was on its way back to Abilene, tired but happy.

A visit to the palatial Brown Memorial Home for the Aged, the evening program, and the drive home completed the adventure and wrote final to a memorable day.

FAITH, LOVE AND CHARITY AND THE GREATEST OF THESE IS SLEEP

What a day! It began at six-fifteen with an Avul Chorus from the radiators. I stuffed a pillow in my ears and lay in misery for fifteen eons or so. Just as the torment was subsiding with a few last snuffles and snuffles the six-thirty rising bell began. That curdler-of-the-milk-of-human-kindness is so arranged that it alternately rings and buzzes. With one's head under a pillow the buzzing becomes inaudible and one relaxes in the belief that the worst is over. But no! In a second or two the racket begins again. There is a lull and hope is renewed only to be shattered by another shrill explosion. Having survived thus far without insanity or profanity, I peested down for a half hour's nap.

But the roommate evidently had less powers of endurance than I. Jumping from the bed she clumped around the room in half-heeled slippers, put the windows down with twin bangs, and began jerking the drawers of the dresser. Two staccato thuds in my ear told me that she had kicked off the slippers; a squeak and a slam informed my aching nerves that she had gone to brush her teeth; and one last slam reverberated that she had departed for breakfast. At last! Twenty minutes of delicious peace. But not yet—I had forgotten the break-bell. Five peals and five buzzes were yet to be endured. Such is the average early morning program broadcasted by M. C. C.

You hear a lot about hanging by an eyelash to the rail of an old dorm cot but take it from me they're high in my estimation during the morning hours and they're a lot easier on the anatomy than some of those stiff Puritanical classroom chairs. Of course people have been known to sleep in even those chairs, such is the general attitude toward sleep around this institution. I met Wheeler Kurtz coming out of Room 6 last week with a full-sized yawn on his face and the remark that he'd enjoyed the hour very much. And L. Lehman usually manages to get twenty or forty winks in Novel class thrice a week.

Old Rip Van Winkle was the luckiest guy, though. Just think, for twenty years, or 7,300 mornings he rolled over and kept right on sleeping. Next to Rip it would be quite O. K. to be an Eskimo and sleep for six months at a time. Those two careers usually being denied one, I think I'd next choose to be an opera star, a dramatic critic, or a professional basketball player. One wouldn't have to go to work until eight o'clock P. M. which means seven P. M. at the earliest as the fatal hour for rising.

I've read somewhere that they've invented an alarm clock with a phonograph attachment so that instead of a raucous bell you can hear Ruddy Yalke or Paul Whiteman. Not that the former would be so much better than the alarm, but that's for you to decide.

And hotels now hire telephone girls for their sweet soft voices. When you awake in the morning, you can hear, instead of the stereotyped "Eight o'clock, sir", a honeyed

"Good morning, Mr. Smith. It's now eight o'clock, the hour at which you wished to be called." Which is not so bad if you don't happen to be Mr. Jones who wanted to arise at eleven o'clock.

These are merely a few suggestions for the solution of what I consider the greatest problem on this campus—To overcome the students' craving for sleep.

"I'd face my life with strong brave heart

If I could have one priceless boon— That I might skip these frosty dawns

And have my day begin at noon."
