McPHERSON COLLEGE, McPHERSON, KANSAS, WEDNESDAY, MAR. 30, 1932

NUMBER 27

DR. S. A. BARRETT, MAIN SPEAKER AT SCIENCE MEETING APRIL 15 AND 16, IS FAMOUS SCIENTIST

Directs Milwaukee Public Museum Since 1920—Has Conducted Several African Expeditions—Authority on Animal Life

SUBJECT: "TAMEST AFRICA"

Prof. L. E. Melcher to Give Lecture in Chapel April 14, With Colored Slides

The academy of Science which is to be held on the McPherson College Campus April 14, 15, and 16 has as its main speaker, Dr. S. A. Barrett, director of the Milwaukee Public Museum and Leader of the Cudahy-Massac-Milwaukee Museum African Expedition and of various other expeditions for Scientific research, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Dr. Barrett, who will deliver the evening address before the Kansas Academy of Science at McPherson, Kansas, on April 15, was born at Little Rock, Arkansas, according to "Who's Who". He received his bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees at the University of California. He studied a year also at Columbia University. He was awarded a Doctor of Science degree by Lawrence University, Appleton, Wisconsin.

Dr. Barrett was ethnologist on an expedition to South America, where he studied, in particular, the Cayapa Indians of Ecuador. He has made a special study of the Pomo and Miwok Indians of California and of the Winnebago Indians of Wisconsin. He has published extensively on these and other tribes.

Doctor Barrett was made Curator of Anthropology of the Public Museum of Milwaukee in 1905, and Director of the Museum on the resignation of Mr. H. L. Ward in 1920. In 1925 he went to Africa, as head of the Cudahy-Massac Milwaukee Museum African Expedition. While on this trip, many reels of motion pictures were made. A large number of skins of animals were brought back. This material was of such value and importance that a cold storage plant was built in the basement of the Museum and these skins were stored at low temperatures. The films are also being stored at low temperatures to preserve them.

Doctor Barrett does not consider Africa a dark continent, but a bright place teeming with wild life. He chooses for his subject, "Tamest Africa". His pictures deal with intimate views of wild life and of the people he met on this expedition. The expedition made the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson their headquarters while preparing the animal skins for shipment back home.

Doctor Barrett is a very scholarly man, of impressive appearance. He is quite at home on the lecture platform and he knows what folks like to hear. He is a very popular lecturer and in much demand.

THESPIAN INITIATION FOR 9 MEMBERS HELD TONIGHT

Formal Initiation Ceremonies Completed at Luncheon Tonight

The new members of the Thespian club are receiving their just dues in an all day initiation on the campus today. The initiates will be seen in various and sundry paraphernalia which will prove interesting and attractive to the remaining students of the campus. Not only will the new members be affected by these assignments but their closest friends will not be permitted to hold conference with them during the day.

At the close of the day, the members will be rewarded for their faithful services with a light luncheon which will be held in the Y. W. room. The luncheon might well be termed a banquet for the guests, will be entertained with toasts and after dinner speeches carefully prepared by the new members.

New members being initiated by the Thespian club are: Genevieve Crist, Velma Ames, John Kinsky, John Austin, Ralph Keedy, Hobart Hughes, and Blanche Harris.

MEN WILL HOLD OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY NIGHT

Next Saturday evening, April 2, the men of Fahnstock Hall will hold open house during the hours from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock. At this time they will welcome visitors from the other dormitories on the campus, members of the faculty and their families, and any others of the community who wish to come. As the Open House Party is usually held but once a year it is expected that many visitors will avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the men in their college homes.

DR. JAMES CHUBB HERE FOR TWO DAY SESSION

Conducts 5 Meetings Besides Many Personal Interviews and Class Lectures

Tues. Mar. 29—Conducting five public meetings besides a number of classroom lectures and personal interviews, Dr. James S. Chubb of Southwestern university has spent two days here of considerable profit to McPherson college students. Dr. Chubb was brought to the McPherson campus by the local Y. M. C. A. He is head of the department of religion and philosophy at Southwestern and is well known as a psychologist and personnel worker, having a good reputation for being an inspirational leader of young people.

One of his most interesting talks was given in the Monday morning chapel service, when he spoke of how students could develop the modern Christian attitude toward life situations. He compared the insignificant, "fool-proof" world of Columbus with the modern world of interdependent people and nations. In the world of Columbus men could be divided into groups and nations, but now that is impossible. Some significant statements made by Dr. Chubb were the following: "There is no doubt that the world we have today has more possibilities than the world of Christopher Columbus, provided that we have the judgment to use the machinery"; "There are entirely too many people with the Columbus type of mind in our present times, spaceless world."

Dr. Chubb stated that the student of the present age can display the truly modern Christian spirit by deciding any questions which arise on the basis of justice, honor, and integrity. (Continued on Page Four)

MUSIC STUDENTS PLAY IN FRIDAY ASSEMBLY

Fri., March 25—Several musical numbers were given in chapel this morning.

First was a vocal duet, "My Savior Liveth," by Gulah Hoover and Lois Edwards. They were accompanied by Pauline Dell at the piano while Miss Margaret Shelley played a violin obligato. Then President V. F. Schwalm read a scripture and gave a short talk on examining our lives taking the Easter season seriously.

This was followed by a piano solo played by Julia Mingenbeck and a violin solo by Mr. Lloyd Spear, "Fantasy," from "Fantasy." Miss Mingenbeck, a pupil of Miss Fern Linencolter, is from the city junior high school, and Mr. Spear, a pupil of Miss Margaret Shelley, is from the Wisdom high school.

BALLYHOOD CONVENTION TO OCCUR TOMORROW

Nominating Speeches For Candidates To Be Given in Chapel at 10 A. M.

PRIMARY ELECTION FOLLOWS

Only Two Offices Have More Than Two Candidates—Some Have No Opposition

Excitement on the campus is running high as the 1932 McPherson college political campaign draws to a climax. Campaign posters may be seen everywhere advertising the virtues of this or that candidate for office, and most students are displaying a great deal of interest in the qualifications of the various applicants for the positions sought.

Tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock the annual political rally and nominating convention will take place in the chapel, under the leadership of Ralph Keedy, president of the Student Council. At this time either the campaign manager or someone chosen by him will deliver a nominating speech for each candidate, divulging his platform, his past history, his special qualifications, and the outlook for the future of the office in question if filled by him. One and one half minutes (no more and no less, says President Keedy) will be allowed for each speech.

Immediately following the nominating speeches the primary election will take place, from 10:30 to 12:30 o'clock. Students will cast their votes for the offices of president of the Student Council and men's cheer leader, the only offices for which there are more than two candidates. (Continued on Page Four)

BOOSTER BANQUET FRIDAY NIGHT TO BE BIG SUCCESS, RESULTS OF TICKET CAMPAIGN REVEAL

RETURNS FROM IDAHO

Pres. V. F. Schwalm, who spent two weeks in doing field work among the churches of Idaho, returned to the campus last Wednesday morning.

PLAN FOR A DAY OF CAMPUS IMPROVEMENT

Student Council Initiates Project—Committee Is Working Out Arrangements

Under the leadership of the Student Council an all-school Campus Improvement Day has been tentatively planned, and at present a committee appointed by that body is considering arrangements by which the plans can be realized. Frank Hutchinson is chairman, and is assisted by George Lerew and Esther Brown.

This committee has been making a survey of the various things needed to improve the appearance and usefulness of the campus, and also of the time and expense involved in making the improvements. Working in conjunction with the faculty and the administration they will appoint sub-committees to have charge of different phases of the work planned for the Campus Improvement Day. If

JENKINS HERE BY AIRPLANE

Kansas City Speaker to Be Flown by Dr. Brock, Famous Aviator of Kansas City Airport

Tues., Mar. 29—After a checkup this evening of all results turned in by McPherson college faculty members in the big Booster Banquet ticket selling campaign, it was revealed that an unusually large number of tickets had already been sold, the amount of cash already turned in amounting to approximately fourteen hundred dollars. President V. F. Schwalm expressed satisfaction at the splendid spirit of cooperation and friendship toward the college displayed by the citizens of McPherson and surrounding towns in making the second annual Booster Banquet a success. Nearly all of the merchants along Main Street have already purchased, and other business and professional men of McPherson are showing a decided interest in the Banquet.

With the exception of the college students, who have been somewhat tardy in buying their tickets, the sale thus far has been very successful considering the strenuous financial conditions. It is expected that many people who have not yet definitely arranged to be on hand will obtain tickets within the next two days, as they did last year in the days immediately preceding the banquet.

Dr. Burriss Jenkins, the leading speaker for the banquet Friday night, plans to arrive by airplane, coming to Hutchinson because of lack of a suitable airport at McPherson. The pilot who will fly his plane, Dr. John D. Brock, is a widely known and spectacular aviator. He holds a record for having made at least one flight a day for over two years, a period of 800 days. He recently completed a tour including the capitals of all the 48 states.

Dr. Jenkins, a noted author, world traveler, and radio speaker, will have as his subject for the Booster Banquet "Education for Modern America". Other speakers who will give brief toasts are Dean Paul Lawson of Kansas university, State Superintendent George Allen of Topeka, and Superintendent Huesner of the Salina public schools.

Music for the Banquet program will be furnished by Mrs. Anna C. Tate, who will sing a soprano solo, and the combined college glee clubs, singing the final chorus from the cantata "Ruth, the Moabitess," to be given next week. An orchestral ensemble directed by Miss Margaret Shelley will also play.

It is urged that students buy their tickets today if possible, so that the (Continued on Page Three)

MONDAY CHAPEL CONDUCTED BY CANADIAN JOURNALIST

Topic Will Be "Canadian System of Liquor Control"

Ben Spence, noted Canadian Journalist, is scheduled to speak next Monday morning, April 4, in the college chapel, beginning at 9:45. His subject will be "The Canadian System of Liquor Control." The extra fifteen minutes added to the regular chapel period is to allow time for both a talk by Mr. Spence and a forum afterward, in which the students and faculty will have an opportunity to ask him questions concerning his subject and to present their own views.

Having been a Washington representative of one of the leading Canadian newspapers, a member of the Press Club and the Senate Press Gallery, the speaker has had an exceptional opportunity to observe American and Canadian affairs with the view of comparison, and will be prepared to present facts and figures interpreted by his experience and observation. As a speaker he is said to be keen, witty, and resourceful.

FORMER "Y" CABINET HOST TO NEW MEMBERS

Give Luncheon in Y. W. C. A. Room Wednesday Evening

The members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet of 1931-32 entertained the newly elected cabinet members of the local organization with a delightfully planned luncheon at 5:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening, March 23, in the Y. W. C. A. room of the college.

Following the serving of the delicious two-course luncheon the group played games under the direction of Helen Holloway and Ethel Sherry. A violin solo was played by Mattie Shay, after which Alberta Yoder, retiring from the presidency of the Y. W. C. A., conducted an Easter worship service. This service was followed by the impressive presentation of each cabinet member's position to her successor.

Those present were Alberta Yoder, Helen Holloway, Ethel Sherry, Evelyn Saylor, Constance Rankin, Grace Heckman, Mary Wendle, Elizabeth Richards, Add. Brunk, Esther Brown, Mattie Shay, Urs Ring, Corrine Bowyer, Gulah Hoover, Dorothy Dresler, Bernice Fowler, Genevieve Crist, Louise Ikenberry, and Miss Della Lehman.

satisfactory arrangements can be made for the project, classes are to be dismissed for a half day, or perhaps a day, and all students will cooperate in cleaning up and eliminating undesirable things about the campus, at the same time doing what can be done to beautify and otherwise improve the grounds and buildings. It has been suggested that some kind of picnic be held in the evening following, so that students may combine pleasure with work in their efforts toward the success of the event.

Full cooperation of the college faculty and administration is assured, and the only thing now remaining is to complete plans for the project.

LELAND ENBERG WINS CHEM. SPELLING MATCH

Thurs., Mar. 24—The Chemistry Club program for today consisted of the annual chemistry spelling match for the beginning chemistry students, when the budding chemists are asked to "spell down" in a contest using terms frequently encountered in chemistry.

Leland Enberg won first prize in the contest, and was awarded a set of five books for playing first. John Austin was awarded a prize of one dollar for winning second place.

"ON TO ESTES"
The student Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. conference will be held at Estes Park, Colorado, June 7 to 17. The conference is being planned to help each student in those areas of life in which he has problems in connection with his own thinking and conduct.

The program of the conference has been worked out so that it will develop in a constantly enlarging circle beginning with the self that is with the individual—his problems, frustrations, successes, and possibilities. The circle nearest him is his campus relationships, then his family—the home of his parents and his own future home, and next, his relation to society in general—to the state and the world, and to some of those acute issues with which every person and nation is today faced.

The place of religion, philosophy, psychology, economics to these individual and social questions will be discussed. The process will develop gradually, so that as the Conference progresses from day to day each new step will come naturally.

The meaning of Jesus for us today is a question which will run near the center of the Conference. Are we really Christian as a nation, as groups, and as individuals? An hour each day will be given to objective studies of His teachings.

One of the real opportunities at Estes is to come to know great personalities. There will be leaders from many professions and occupations. Estes is composed of students and leaders from many campuses and from many lands. What a rare opportunity to expand one's horizons, to form new friendships, to come to know some of the outstanding representatives of other nations who are guest students in our country. Estes is a campus of cooperation, of democracy, of friendliness.

Estes Park, itself, is located in the Colorado Rockies. From the Conference grounds can be seen the snow-capped mountain peaks with Long's Peak in the distance. The Conference provides rare opportunity for recreation in the mountains including mountain hikes, picnics, horseback trips, and motor trips to scenic points.

As a student or faculty member plan now to spend 10 days in June attending the Estes Conference and be a part of the McPherson delegation. Adopt the slogan "On to Estes."—A. Y.

PROFITING BY MISTAKES

Statesmen and educators have said recently that humanity has made as much or more progress since 1860, as in all the period before that. It is a natural question, to ask "What, in this latter period, has made possible such rapid progress?" The writer recognizes a multiplicity of political, economic, social, and religious factors which have had a part in this rapidity of progress, but there is one underlying principle which is more or less fundamental to the success of the other factors. This underlying principle is that men have learned to profit by the mistakes of others.

The teaching one followed, was, "To err once is experience; to repeat it is tragedy." For thousands of years each generation had to re-learn practically the whole existing knowledge, by the trial-and-error method, if the civilization was to equal that of the preceding generation. But now each generation advances from a position held by the preceding generation, taking the existing knowledge as a foundation on which to work.

Advanced educational methods and modern means of communication have been in no small way responsible for this ability to advance civilization more rapidly. Improved transportation systems have made learning by travel safe, interesting, and practical. The radio has made it possible for the person of limited finances to learn. Books have facilitated the progress of each succeeding generation, more and more. Thomas Carlyle said "Literature is the thought of thinking souls." Each generation is endowed with the accumulated experiences of the past, because these experiences live again in books.

When we have opportunity to read and become informed, we should not pass up the opportunity, but read widely and thoroughly. By reading we can get, in several years, what it took our ancestors centuries to find out by experimentation. After reading, it is then our task to use our knowledge for service to mankind—to make our civilization better for our having been a part of it.—E. F.

AN ALL-YEAR EASTER

Christ died nineteen hundred years ago, and at this Easter season we celebrate his Resurrection. But isn't it a tragedy that the true Easter spirit does not live throughout the year? Our religion is based on Christ's life, death, and resurrection. We should not allow the Easter spirit to ebb after the chronological celebration of the Resurrection; the fact that Jesus arose is just as vitally important to our religion in one season as another.—E. F.

MARCH WEATHER

Snow flurries, blizzards, sunshine, wind, rain, clouds are all found in the course of the month of March as winter tries to leave its marks and spring comes bouncing around the corner. Again the "windy" month is about gone and students don their bright Easter costumes in gay style; old Fords are cranked up for a little spin; picnics are planned for; deferred walks are enjoyed; and a general good feeling covers the campus.

But let's not forget that life resembles this third month of the year, and even though the "bliss" get you down, better times are coming. When problems, studies, disappointments stand in the way be an optimist, a true Christian student and find a way out. Make your mind and attitude fit the twentieth century situations. Dig up the gray matter, cultivate it, and evolve some new views on life.—D. A.

I have never been hurt by something I did not say.

CRUMBS THAT FALL

A bluff and a bluster may deceive a few but ultimately the shrivelled heart, the decayed core is disclosed, and the society ramshackle falls.—Bogardus.

Life may be a fleeting show. Of wormwood and of gall, But there are a lot of folks you know, Who get no show at all.

You are much more apt to skin yourself sliding down than climbing up.

SEEING McPHERSON THROUGH A TRUE-BLOODED SWEDEN'S EYES

By LILLIAN CARLSON

Go, but it gives a fellow a grand and glorious feeling to come home once again—if you don't believe it and don't want to take my word for it, just try going off to some foreign land even though it is just fourteen and a half miles away, and then come back to the familiar scenes every once in a while (on one of those frequent and enjoyable vacations that all good Swedes have handed out to them) and you'll find yourself quite the center of attraction. Kids you hardly knew before hail you right and left and honestly seem to appreciate you. It seems rather nice and comfortable too, to just loaf around amid the scenes of your recent toils and tribulations and watch your poor unfortunate former classmates turn upon you with envy and purple with longing for just one small vacation. By the way, I've been informed that you are going to have an all school picnic here at Mac, according to the vote of the democratic students, and someone also remarked that the said picnic was going to take place on some Saturday. We hope that they are wrong.

And speaking of vacations, on the occasion of one of those frequent happenings when my pocketbook was positively void of the filthy lucre, my soul was filled with such an overwhelming desire to visit once again the scenes of my happy college experiences that I even contemplated hitch hiking home, but my grandmother, who is a rather puritanical person with very definite ideas as to what constitutes proper conduct for a lady, put her foot down and as a result she financed my journey home. Here's that for an example of good business!

Chapels are about the same in Sweden—only they last just half as long—save when one poor, benighted M. D. takes it upon his shrinking but willing shoulders to initiate us into the mysteries of the human body and the rise of the medical profession to its present lofty heights (in spite of Dr. Bright's beliefs and experiences to the contrary). But lest you should think that we are protected by some auspicious omen, please let me add that we meet every day of the week and that the chapel hall is either in a highly over-heated condition—its temperature is closely approaching that of an electric oven—or else it is as cool and airy as a barn when the strong north wind starts howling around the corner.

And speaking of cold north winds, that reminds me of the long icy walks I have to endure every morning of my hapless existence and the people there in Lindsborg aren't so thoughtful and kind-hearted when it comes to picking a fellow up and giving him a ride to school. I suppose they are only more cautious and careful of their lives and property; after having been accused of looking like anything from a half-wit to a Russian Red, I really don't find it possible to blame them.

I made one dreadful violation of proper Swede etiquette since I have been around there this last semester. It happened when the Bulldogs traveled to Bethany to display their Basketball skill and to endeavor to roll in enough baskets to knock the Swedes off their pedestal and go home with a victory to their credit. That was the nearest I ever came to falling from grace—even my own cousin would hardly claim me as any relation and after my grandmother heard about it she about decided to lock me out in the cold street and force me to make a public apology before I could reenter her home. But somehow I pulled through it all right and this is the crime that I committed. Instead of going over with the rest of the patriotic and good looking members of my nationality and lending my lusty voice to swell the cheers intending to urge the members of their Basketball delegation on to a thrilling and easy victory, I very emphatically deposited myself with the small group of the McPherson children on the other side of the gym in full view of the Swedes and put all the strength of my virile young body into supporting the hard fighting Bulldogs. Every time the Swedes started to yell and drown out the feeble cheers of Mac I quietly swore at them at the same time diligently praying that Pauls would get hot, and start pouring in baskets in order to do the impossible and throttle the Swedes and their Basketball.

Bethany, as you've probably been told, is a regular man's paradise—for all the gorgeous looking femmes just going to waste is enough to make your heart bleed. But as one young Romeo was heard to remark you soon get used to seeing so many beauties around and there is no room for excitement. Fancy some of Mac's Beau Brummels ever reaching such a lifeless and disinterested stage. To consider the men themselves, that is the ones in the art department, the others are good looking enough—but those art students are the silliest, silliest, muttish looking specimens I have ever had the misfortune to see. And the way they talk, they look so enraptured then that it almost makes me sick. They think they have lived disipated, worldly, and creative lives, the poor men, they don't know what life is.

I still sincerely appreciate Prof. Hess, Dr. Bright, Miss Lehman, Dr. Howshay, and some of the others, but most of all I believe I appreciate Miss Heckethorn. Some librarians can never understand what you want and then after they do, they won't let you get outside of the library with any material. I've been thinking about the way in which Miss Heckethorn has traveled all over the library finding stuff for me and then let me walk out with both arms loaded with magazines and use them to my heart's content. Somehow or other she always seemed able to find me what I wanted.

One thing that exists at Lindsborg that is here at Mac too is the feeling that all Seniors have in common. All the Swedes are worrying over whether they are going to have schools to teach in next winter and just how long it will be before they get jobs.

I think that I've lauded McPherson just about enough so I'll add only one more word. When the McPherson debaters meet the Swedes in the final debates, I hope, McPherson pours it on 'em.

BOOSTER BANQUET TO BE BIG SUCCESS

committee in charge of the banquet menu will know tomorrow how many to prepare for. Although several men outside the college have paid more than fifty dollars for their banquet tickets, students will be admitted for the relatively small price of one dollar per plate. Several others have paid as high as twenty-five dollars for their tickets, among them some alumni of the college.

Many of the churches in the McPherson college district have shown a splendid loyalty to the college during the Banquet campaign. Two weeks ago the Quinter church sent in $82.00 as a result of a McPherson college Booster Banquet held in Quinter. A part of this amount will be used to pay for the tickets of Quinter students enrolled in college. A sizeable contribution was received from the Navarre Ladies' Aid Society, and the Monitor church is giving part of the supplies needed. The dent of the Kansas Academy of Science this year, was on the Milwaukee Public Museum staff with Doctor Barrett in 1917 and 1918. Doctor Smith was Associate Lecturer on Natural History at that time and he gave a series of public lectures on birds, insects, etc. Doctor Barrett gave a series on Wisconsin Indians. In the fall of 1930, Doctor Smith lectured on Haiti at the Public Museum, which favor Doctor Barrett is returning by coming to McPherson.

Saturday morning, the program will be general, and of a business nature. In the afternoon, the program will be in charge of the Entomologists.

These programs throughout the convention should prove interesting to anyone who is in any way interested in the field of Science.

CLEANINGS FROM THE NEWS N. S. P. A.

(A list of similar comments on the news of the day is to be supplied regularly from now on by the National Scholastic Press Association of which the Spectator is a member.)

President Paul von Hindenburg of Germany undoubtedly will be made president for another 7 year term. In the recent election he failed by only a few thousand of getting a majority of all the votes cast. Lacking a majority, he must run again. In the next election, in April, the one receiving the most votes will win.

Hindenburg, chief of staff of the German armies during the World War, is 85 years old. He was destined to be a soldier from the day of his birth. His father was a Prussian soldier. His father's father had been a soldier. His nurse had been a canteen woman in the Napoleonic wars and when Paul cried, she would shout "Silence in the Ranks!" At 11, Paul went to military school, at 13 he saw his first action. He was present in Hall of Mirrors when Wilhelm I was proclaimed Emperor of Germany. He retired from the army in 1911, at 64 years of age, confident war would never come again in his life time. The World War broke. Hindenburg emerged as Germany's national hero especially since he refused to flee the country after Germany's defeat as did the Kaiser and Ludendorff.

Certain groups in Germany felt the best way to restore the monarchy was to elect Hindenburg president. They did so. They forgot his sense of duty, however. When he took oath to defend the constitution he meant it, and he has kept his word. It is fortunate for Germany, and for the world, that Germany has a Hindenburg. Germans mistrust most of their politicians, but they trust him. This faith in a man has helped Germany weather the most trying time in her national existence. But Hindenburg is old.

Many Candidates Come out for Track Practices—Grounds Put in Condition

The first real spring days are here and as a result the track men have been making good use of their time. Coach Binford has spent some time this week in getting the track into condition and prospects look good for a winning track team. Lettermen who have reported for practice are Ohmart, Rock, Mowbray, Bradley, Zinn, McGill, Kindy, and W. Williams. Of the freshmen the following are out for practice: Lindholm, Himes, Moore, Kraus, Suttle, Taylor, Wiggins, Hebert, Van Norwick, Blume, and Tlee. The first meet is scheduled with the Hutchinson Junior College furnishing the opposition here on Friday, April 8.

— DRIPPINGS — from THE DOPE BUCKET

Coach Binford has been placing much emphasis on intra-mural athletics and gym classes and has been getting good results. Last year one of the best track men that the Bulldogs had was found in gym class. This man was McGill, a Sophomore now, and this year he is looking even better than last year.

Loren Rock, a two year letterman in track is back in a suit again this year and it is expected that he will make many points for McPherson this year. He is recognized as one of the best javelin throwers in the Conference. He also enters in other field events.

Spring sports are taking possession of the Campus during the last few days. Nearly every man in school will be participating in some sport soon. The College is going to become a College in which Athletics for all will be the thing instead of just for the few.

HUTCHINSON HERE FOR TENNIS MATCH APRIL 8

Binford and Gottmann Are Returning Lettermen For Sport

The first tennis match for the Bulldogs has been scheduled with the Hutchinson Junior College playing here on April 8. The match will be played in connection with the track meet here with the Junior College on the same day.

Several of the tennis men have been taking advantage of the nice weather and have been getting into condition for spring sport. Harold Binford and Liburn Gottmann are the only returning lettermen, but several of the freshmen are expected to show up well in the outdoor court game this Spring. Coach Binford will soon have his varsity squad picked and then intensive training will begin.

PUPILS OF M. C. MUSIC FACULTY WIN PRIZES

4 Contestants Place in Events at Lindsborg, Wichita

Several pupils of the McPherson college music faculty made good records last week in music contests held at Lindsborg and Wichita. In the annual Mesplah Music Festival held at Lindsborg Mildred Dahlinger, a sophomore and voice pupil of Mrs. Anna C. Tate, took second place in voice in Class A, thereby winning a fifty-dollar tuition scholarship to Bethany College. Miss Joyce Vetter of Moundridge, a pupil of Miss Jessie Brown, won third place in piano in the same contest. She was the youngest of the eleven contestants entered in this department.

In the music contest sponsored by the State Federation of Women's Clubs held at Wichita last Saturday, Miss Julia Mingenbeck of McPherson won second place in piano. She is a pupil of Miss Fern Lingenfelter. Mr. Lloyd Spear of Windom, one of Miss Margaret Shelley's violin pupils, won first place in violin in the same contest, and a prize of five dollars.

INTRAMURAL TEAMS START BASEBALL PLAY

New Faculty Team Adds to Interest—Others Same As Basketball Aggregations

Intra-mural basketball has been completed and baseball teams have been organized with the same captains managing the teams that had charge for basketball. An addition of one team has been made which will undoubtedly add much interest to the league. This is a team representing the faculty. The schedule for this week is as follows:

- Williams vs. Kraus
- Minear vs. Faculty
- Whiteneck vs. Carpenter
- Yoder vs. McGill
- Williams vs. Faculty
- Whiteneck vs. Kraus
- Yoder vs. Carpenter
- Minear vs. McGill
- Posay Jamison and Loren Rock will umpire these games.

G. Guthmann.

BALLYHOO CONVENTION TO OCCUR TOMORROW

(Continued from Page One) at this time. This will narrow the race down to two for each position. The final election will take place following the chapel period on Friday of next week, April 8.

Milo Stucky and Vernon Rhoades, both juniors, will fight it out with Blanch Harris, sophomore, for nomination for president of the Student Council in the primary tomorrow. The two surviving will be placed on the final ballot next week.

Three freshmen, Gordon Kraus, Hobart Hughey, and Tommy Taylor, are now in the running for the office of men's cheer leader. One of these will be eliminated by the primary tomorrow, while the remaining two go into the home stretch for election.

The important position as editor of the Spectator has developed into a dual race between Una Ring, sophomore, and Everett Fasnacht, also a sophomore. Both are among the outstanding members on the present staff of the paper. Delbert Kelly, junior, stands unopposed for editor of the 1933 Quadrangle. Kelly is a member of the 1932 Quadrangle staff, having the position of snapshot editor. Wilbur Yoder, sophomore, and J. T. Williams, sophomore, each will receive complimentary votes for the positions of business managers respectively of the Quadrangle and the Spectator.

Othetta Clark and Etta Nickel, both freshmen, are the candidates for women's cheer leader. The remaining contest, that for treasurer of the Student Council, will be

(Continued from Page One) tegritly, after thoroughly digging out the facts and asking of every statement or idea, "Is it true?"

Monday afternoon the speaker spoke in the Y. C. A. room at 4:30 o'clock, and again in the same place at 6:30 p. m., with an interesting and profitable discussion on "The Relations of Men and Women." His subject Tuesday morning at the combined meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. was "Developing Christian Personality." The last meeting by Dr. Chubb was an open discussion forum held in the Y. W. C. A. room Tuesday afternoon, when numerous personal and social problems suggested by students were discussed.

Immediately after the last meeting Dr. Chubb departed for his home at Winfield.

CATALOGUE SOON OUT FOR FORTY-FIFTH YEAR

Will Contain Outline of Reorganized M. C. Curriculum

The catalogue number of the McPherson College Bulletin for 1932-33, the forty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the college, will soon be back from the printer and ready for distribution. All of the copy for the book has been prepared, under the direction of Prof. F. A. Replogle, dean and registrar, and within a short time the new catalogues should be printed.

The innovation of chief interest this year in the catalogue will be a reorganized division of the curriculum worked out by the faculty committee on classification and curriculum. All subjects have been placed under three divisions, instead of the ten groups which exist at present. The departments grouped under each of these major divisions will be catalogued as a unit under each division, while at the same time departmental identity remains the same. Required courses, instead of being selected from ten narrower groups, may be selected with considerably more freedom from the three new divisions: natural sciences, social sciences, and the group designated as language, literature, and arts.

A new department offering a major next year is the department of physical education. Numerous new courses have been added to the curriculum and some old ones no longer offered will be removed from the catalogue.

One item in which the dormitory students will be interested is a reduction of ten dollars per semester in the price of room and board at the dormitory.

W. A. A. PLANS FOR ELECTION NEXT MONTH

The Women's Athletic Association election slate for next year is to be made up at the meeting on Monday evening, April 13. The annual election will be held on May 2.

At present plans are being made for the annual W. A. A. Play Day April 29, when the local association will be host to other members of the W. A. A. from Hays State College, Sterling college, Hutchinson junior college, and Kansas Wesleyan university at Salina. Velma Bean is head of the committee in charge of arrangements for the Play Day.

NININGER CONTINUES SEARCH FOR METEORS

H. H. Nininger, '14 (formerly a professor in McPherson college), is still collecting and studying meteorites. He now has the largest private collection in America. During the past year he has collected more meteorites than all other American collectors combined. But collecting and lecturing that Mr. Nininger engages in do not take all his time. He has written twelve scientific papers during the past year and a 350-page book. The Niningers live at present in Denver where Mr. Nininger is associated with the Denver Museum. He continues his hunt for meteors with his characteristic success.

NEW TREE TO REPLACE ONE PLANTED LAST YEAR

The Prairie Gardens Nursery Company of McPherson has very graciously furnished another Chinese Elm tree to replace the one planted last spring by the class of 1931. The tree, which was located on the campus west of Harnly Hall, either because of disease or of improper care before and after planting, failed to grow and become the class memorial for which it was intended. It will be replaced by a similar tree at the same place, and the glass bottle containing the history of the class, formerly buried at the roots of the old tree, will be reburied. The tree planting ceremony was held last spring during Commencement Week.
