A STUDENT'S CHRISTMAS

Christmas time is a happy time for the student. It brings home, mother and father, brother and sisters, friends—and the student is once more re-vitalized for the great tasks and opportunities that are his.

Christmas is a happy time, for it brings a holiday season. The value of rest—a period of relaxation from the routine of one's weekly schedule, is inestimable. The student not only rests and visits during vacation, he becomes rejuvenated so that he may again enjoy that daily and weekly routine of classes, activities, and studies during the period of school following vacation.

Christmas brings to the student a time of elevation and benefit, for the student has time to stand apart from his erstwhile student life, and weigh and measure the values that are presented to him. He has a "time out" period in which he may stop and estimate the value of the growth he is making in his personal development.

Christmas probably means more to the student than to most of the other large social groups. Christmas is a time of bountiful giving and grateful receiving; it should be also a time for renewing mutual friendships, and a time of peace and goodwill to all, for it is the annual celebration of the birth of the Prince of Peace—the Son of God, who came to raise man to a richer and fuller understanding and appreciation of God and fellowman.—E. F.

THE IDEAL COLLEGIAN

Ten cardinal commandments that go to make up the ideal college man have been outlined by the Rev. John A. Berens, S. J., dean of men at Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He has been adviser and instructor of boys for twenty years.

1. Father Beren's commandments are:
  1. He should have a strong ambition to succeed, together with the determination to overcome obstacles.
  2. He should take part in the normal activities of extra-curricular affairs, but without excess in them.
  3. He should possess qualities of leadership, but this does not imply that he must be a class officer or hold office in campus organizations.
  4. He may do outside work if he must, but it is better to save money for one or two years after preparatory school and then enter college.
  5. As to character he must possess the qualities of honesty, upright-ness, courage, and fidelity.
  6. He must be temperate.
  7. Inasmuch as the countenance reflects the quality of the soul, he must give an outward appearance of pleasantness. He need not be good looking or a Beau Brummel.
  8. He must be neat in appearance and in habits.
  9. He must be mature. A boy who appears immature at 18 should delay entering college. A year or two of work would bring him into contact with difficulties of life; he would learn the value of money and develop a better outlook on education.
  10. He must conduct himself in such a manner as will give evidence of a sincere, Christian gentleman.
- "Give me the student who answers to these requirements," Father Berens said, "and I will show you the ideal young collegian. Now need he bend over backwards to approach these qualifications. Any normal growing boy is a candidate for the title."

CHRISTMAS CHEER FOR EVERYBODY

Short as it is this year, you may be sure that M. C. students will make the most of vacation.

Students who go home will take advantage of the opportunity to tell the ones they left behind that college doesn't hold anyone that can match up to them and that they have found no one they like better—or that they hate. They will meet old friends again, and attend family reunions, and family dinners, and wish it didn't have to end so soon. For the students who will be at home in McPherson very much the same round is in store. Those who are staying at Kline will probably find many new experiences in watching.

For one and all may there be happy days of Christmas cheer, plum pudding, presents, and even wedding bells.

A GREAT INSTITUTION

There is much to be said for our scheme of Christmas, as it has been developed, because it multiplies and intensifies the activities of a community during the weeks before the event.

The happy community is always the busy community and that is just as true in times of uncertainty like these as in times when everything is functioning normally. Pre-Christmas activity this year is, indeed, more ebullient than usual because it concentrates the community mind upon something specific to do at a time when the specifics are all too few.

That specific thing to do does not, fortunately, concern self. Most folks have been worrying about themselves too much. The all-pervasive spirit of Christmas concerns others. In their shopping excursions, their charitable enterprises, their planning of family reunions either here or elsewhere—in their general preparatory milling about with a focal point on Christmas Day people have more selfless minds and therefore happier minds than in many a month.

It is a great institution—Christmas—as America has evolved it. The proof of it is in the better spirit that always rules in this land at this season.—Wichita Eagle.

Last week saw a new drama between debtor and creditor. Next time your creditor sends you a statement send him a half dozen letters explaining why payment would hurt him. Try it and then if you cannot convince him—default.

Debtors are having a hard time deciding whether the war debts should be cancelled or paid. One consolation is that Congress is not bothered with this trouble.

A lot of hard luck comes from sitting around waiting for a soft snap.

QUIPS AND QUIBBLES

This writer who is writing this written writing has learned one thing this year: One never can know when someone wants his name in the paper. When a person says to be sure not to mention a certain thing in your column and then tells you all about the certain thing you may wonder if he may be subtly suggesting that you should put it in. But when he tells you relatives the same thing and repeatedly says to be careful that nothing about it is printed, you may be positive that he wants it in the paper. Especially when you haven't heard of it anyway.

When the German classes sang in a foreign language, the students applauded long and loudly. Possibly they were glad to relax once, since it did no good, anyway, to listen to the words.

Pity the poor librarian! Since the bell on the desk has been fixed, even the staff members have become enthusiastic over the use of it.—So much so, in fact, that some of them flag it for mere pleasure.

The depression is pretty bad when it even affects the flowers! It struck Miss Heckethorn's Christmas cactus that she had in the library last Friday. One girl said that was what made it so small. If that was true, don't you think the depression might be blamed for causing said cactus to fade so soon?

One girl who was turned down several times when she asked for leap year dates submitted the following:

Under the hanging mistletoe,
The homely co-ed stands,
And stands, and stands, and stands,
And stands, and stands, and stands,
And stands, and stands, and stands.

Someone who evidently wished to remain unknown wrote an answer in opposition to M. C.'s Lonesome Man, and left it in the Spec box. Since he didn't enclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope—nor even his name—we must print only excerpts from his message. "It's hard," he writes, "to turn down a shy and scared girl who musters courage enough to shoot the question, but my how it hurts when the girl you've been watching all year comes around just three hours too late. . . . Carry me on to 1933 when man can regain, barely supreme in the choosing of dates."

But why watch the girl all year? Why not ask her for a date yourself?

Imagine playing such a gentle game as ping pong and doing such a clumsy thing as falling down while playing the game. A girl whose name is mentioned elsewhere in this column did just that.

Did you know that Dorothy Fearey thinks the song "Pink Elephants" fits her—that is, when she wears her pink coat?

The leap year dates are about to break up some "happy families". One young man was approached by a fair co-ed who asked him for the pleasure of escorting him to the party; he flustered but gallantly accepted and felt flattered. Then his conscience began to prick, and he wondered what his regular girl would think about it—and say—and do. And what she thought—and said—and did was plenty. After a stormy session the youth's fury became aroused against the one who had caused all this, and the date was broken. Here is hoping that since the party is over conditions will return to normalcy and peace will reign once more with all severed diplomatic relations restored.

The other day Corinne Suter was wondering who might be the third Replogie in school. She said that his first name was Dean.

NO SPECTATOR NEXT TIME

Since there will be few happenings and comparatively little news over the Christmas vacation, the Spectator staff feels that it will be best to issue no number on the Wednesday immediately following vacation.

"Sir, I am in desperate straits. My wife wants food."

"Listen, brother, you don't know what trouble is. My wife wants a diamond ring."

FIRST PUBLICATION ISSUED BY TEACHERS

History of College Newspaper Reveals Background of Strict Censorship

One would find it impossible to picture present day college life without its weekly edition of the Spectator, but in early days of the institution students were not allowed to edit or publish a newspaper. Rather, the faculty furnished all of the printed literature issued from the college. This consisted of a sixteen page monthly magazine known as the "Teacher and Student." Such subjects as mormonism, lynching, national debts, arbitration, and free silver were discussed. The faculty, however, gave way in 1899 to a new publication called "Rays of Light" which was published by the students under strict supervision of the faculty. The cover of this magazine plainly stated it to be "an educational, literary, and news magazine."

After a life of sixteen years "Rays of Light" was replaced by a magazine called "The McColpa." The title was taken from the first letters of The McPherson (Mc) College (Col) Paper (Pa). The McColpa was a thirty-six page paper larger than the "Rays of Light" and published without strict faculty censorship.

Not until the advent of the Spectator in 1917 did the transition from magazine to newspaper take place. The first Spectator was a four-page weekly, half as large as the present paper. Simple headlines began to be used. Later a six-page newspaper was issued every two weeks, and in 1919 it became an eight page weekly. In 1921 the Spectator assumed the size that it has today, and gradually faculty censorship has become less.

ALL SCHOOL LEAP YEAR PARTY WELL ATTENDED

ABOUT 125 ARE PRESENT

Play Games and Listen to Program—Girls Entertain Boys

Chivalry reigned Monday night in the basement of the college church when the girls of the school took their turn at doing the honors. About 125 students and one faculty member attended the all school leap year party.

Lloyd Larsen was master of ceremonies. After all the dates and the few stags were seated, the program began with two harmonica numbers by Willard Brammell. Faltie Ketterman read "His Unlucky Day" and Mildred Dahlinger sang "The Elope-ment" by Bonds.

Then came the social. Those present were divided into four groups, and amid cheers from their backers a peckle relay was run. The different groups sent out representatives and proposals were made by the girls to the boys. The judges selected Oneta Boyer and Orval Eddy as the winners.

Two relays, singing led by Prof. Alvin Voran, and an impromptu tap dance by Wayne Carr and Glenn Lichty followed, after which the girls, especially those who brought steadies, were bled for their tees. Refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served and the party, but not the event, was over.

The girls were required to take the boys to and from the party, help them with their coats, find chairs, open doors, and get their refreshments for them.

Galah Hoover and Guy Hayes were the committee for arrangements. Lloyd Larsen, Loren Rock, and Maxine Ring planned the program, while Ada Brunk, Pearl Walker, and Martha Andes were responsible for the refreshments.

DR. E. L. CRAIK WRITES LETTER FROM SCOTLAND

Former Professor Says People There Feel We Will Have War Soon

Dr. E. L. Craik, former student and professor in McPherson College, now professor of history and government at Juniata college, Huntingdon, Penn., writes from Edinburgh, Scotland, where he is studying this winter:

"You have no idea how the idea prevails here that we are face to face with another war. The papers are full of it. I greatly fear some very bad feelings will come out of this war debt question with the U. S. The people here think we ought to extend the moratorium or cancel. They have little appreciation of our weight of taxes in America. Of course, their ARE very much heavier—as we all know—but they persist in thinking the Americans have an easy time of it. From what I hear and read I would not want to come to Europe a year, hence, I cannot conceal the fact that I am pretty much disheartened with the prospect."

Dr. Craik left McPherson in 1924 when he took the position he now holds. He has been attending the University of Edinburgh. During the holidays he will visit in Germany and after several weeks will resume his studies at Cambridge University. Mrs. Craik is living in Lawrence this winter, where Warren is attending the university. They expect Dr. Craik to join them in April.

EXCHANGE NOTES

"Horse Scholars" is the term given at K. U. to the brilliant scholar type of student who knows he's smart and tells everybody about it. He always does more than is assigned and smiles pityingly on those who aren't prepared to recite.

Here are ten commandments made up by some clever student at southwestern College, Winfield.

1. Thou shalt not "shhhhh" in the halls!
2. Honor thy matron that thy days may be long in Smith Hall.
3. Thou shalt not breathe heavily between 1:45 and 3:45.
4. Thou shalt not make noise on the sleeping porch.
5. Thou shalt not take the name of the Dean of Women in vain.

6. Thou shalt not stack thy neighbor's room; nor wear thy neighbor's coat nor his dress nor his tam.
7. Thou shalt not steal—down the fire-escape.
8. Thou shalt not kill—the mice and cockroaches that run over thy floor.
9. Thou shalt tattle all to the matron, e'en tho' all thy friends forsake thee.
10. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy washing and ironing, and on the seventh thou shalt sing classical songs.

The students at K. U., especially the girls, are trying to get the ruling that girls should be in by 10:30 changed. Imagine!

The first official Goethe film, which was made in Germany, was shown at Friends University recently. It showed the life and works of Karl Schurz, the celebrated German dramatist. The film was shown under the auspices of the modern language department.

An interesting exchange paper is the Farthest-North Collegian from Alaska. The names of the places are tongue-twisters, though.

Y. W. GIVES CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR CHILDREN

The Y. W. C. A. gave a Christmas party to twenty-one little needy children of the community yesterday afternoon at four o'clock. Newell Wine acted as Santa Claus and each child was given a toy, a practical gift, candy and nuts. Gretta Wilma Griffith told them a story and Galah Hoover taught them several little Christmas songs.

IN SYMPATHY

The Spectator staff wishes to express its sincere sympathy to Audrey and Mary Jane Groves at the death of their brother. —The Editor.

GIVES CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

At Y. W. C. A. this morning Ann Heckman played a medley of "Silent Night, Holy Night", and "Oh Come All Ye Faithful," as a prelude. Then an invisible trio sang several Christmas carols, which were introduced by short sketches read by Genevieve Crist. The trio consisted of Mildred Dahlinger, Galah Hoover, and Lois Edwards.

TELLS REMINISCENCES OF WINFIELD DEBATE

Strange Things Are Disclosed Which Were Heretofore Unknown

In the trip to Winfield the male varsity debaters and Ogden, scouter and alternate, showed extreme selfishness in regard to the second team. Going to Winfield, Gottmann, Williams and Ogden took charge of the Misses Riddell and Spilman while Coach Hess, Staats, and Hayes took care of the Misses Hobart and Dappen. They traded coming home and made the second team. Goering, Kaufman, Booz, Suttle, and the driver, Paul Heckman, go alone both ways.

Paul Booz had obtained a date for Saturday night before the second team men had been in Winfield fifteen minutes but he had to give her up in the end because the other members of his car didn't have such good luck and wouldn't stay Saturday night.

The non-decision rounds held on Friday gave the debaters many valuable ideas and the scouters Ogden and Heckman got many valuable points from teams like those put out by Oklahoma Women's college and Hutchinson's junior college team which were made up of women.

Hayes, Williams, and Hess drew the greatest applause given at the banquet Friday night when they led the McPherson college group in the Rolla Bolla yell. Gottmann had a unique way of getting more buns by having Spilman and Booz who sat next to him take buns and give them to him. Hayes almost drowned Miss Dappen when he gripped his paper drinking cup too hard. Ogden had great difficulty in refraining from eating his paper plate but Miss Hobart helped to keep him from doing this. Miss Riddell took care of Williams as best she could so the rest of the McPherson men focused their attention on the waiters. The M. C. group without a doubt took the best picture when the flashlight camera in the balcony went off and scared everybody but Staats, Goering, Kaufman, and Suttle to starvation.

In the evening after the banquet while Coach Hess was at a meeting the rest of the party went to the city library but of the second team carload only Kaufman and Goering who had debates the next day returned to their rooming house on time. The others saw Sherlock Holmes and barely missed taking some Winfield waiters but Booz was still loyal to his date which he didn't know he would have to break.

The tournament the next day was good even though the teams didn't go so far. The second team, after being eliminated in a hard fought word battle with Tonkawa, Oklahoma, visited the state home for the feeble minded at Winfield and then went to the high school where the varsity and women's teams were having it out; later they went through Winfield's fire department. The second team was just in time to hear the elimination of both M. C. teams and while no hard feelings are held, the verdict given by many capable listeners varied greatly with that given by a supposedly capable judge.

Dinner was taken at Wichita and before it was over Suttle disappeared. After the other teams had gone on to McPherson he appeared with a friend who knew how to get tickets to a twenty cent show for a dime. So they saw a double show for a dime. The "Gorilla" and "Sea Legs" were the shows seen. They ate a bit at Newton and after finally arguing Suttle out of going to a show there they came back to McPherson.

STUDENT PLANS FOR VACATION VARY WIDELY

Some Going Great Distances—Others Visiting Friends

Although school closes for only a short time, students and faculty of McPherson College are making plans to visit their homes or those of friends during the Christmas vacation. A few plan to continue their stay at the college during the holidays.

Some are traveling quite long distances during the respite from school. Ezra Feller is going to Texas to his home. Wheeler Kurtz, Professor Alvin Voran, Paul Heckman, and Chris Johansen are making Chicago their destination, but for vastly different reasons. Professor Voran is planning to acquire a wife while there, Wheeler Kurtz to visit his parents, and Chris Johansen to see his girl. Miss Della Lehman is visiting a friend in Louisiana, while Coach Binford and Professor J. H. Fries are going to attend a meeting in New York. Harry Frantz is going to Detroit to visit his brother.

The state of Iowa attracts many, including Lois Shelly, Wayne Carr, Corrine Suter, Galen Ogden, Ruth Deardorff, Ralph Buckingham, Price Brubaker, and Alberta Cornelius. Orval Eddy goes to his home in Minnesota. Harvey Shank, Libburn Gottmann and Milton Early are going to Missouri during vacation. Grace Heckman will accompany Gottmann to his home.

Rocky Ford, Colorado is Ann Heckman's home. Esther and Lester Pote and Hobart Hughey plan to visit their homes in Oklahoma. The old home in Nebraska calls both Clarence Sink and Pearl Walker.

The many students living in Kansas who plan to visit their homes are Melvin Landes, Gerald Meyers, and Norman Saylor at Morrill; Gerald Custer, Harold Reinecker, Galah Hoover, La Vere Flora, Elizabeth and Robert Bowman, Odessa and Genevieve Crist at Quinter; Faith Ketterman, Alice Eckert, John Kaufman, and Lloyd Larsen at Abilene; Esther Brown and Oneta Boyer at Hutchinson; Martha Hursh at Cassidy; Ruth Idhe, Lola Hawkins, Mildred Pray, and Esther Stegeman at Hope; Leone Shirk and Leona Benhardt at Romona.

Vernon Rhoades is going to entertain Louise Ikenberry at his home in Topeka during the vacation. Lois and Merland Edwards intend to visit relatives in southeastern Kansas.

Edith Boehlthelmer, Lois Luckey, and Merle Fisher are staying in Kline Hall. Bernice Fowler will occupy Miss Lehman's apartment. Others who are staying in McPherson are Royal Frantz, Mary Miller, Warner Nettleton, David Duncanson, Wilbur Yoder, Lola Richwine, Bernard Suttle, Charles Austin, Carrol Whiteher, Charles Landes, and Ronald Vetter, pianist.

GIVES PROGRAM ON PEACE

Participants Take Part Spontaneously—Williams Plans Program

The Y. M. C. A. presented a Christmas worship service in its Tuesday meeting this week. The service emphasized that part of the Christmas teaching that deals with peace. The program proceeded spontaneously from the start, each participant contributing his share in the program, unannounced.

Ward Williams, Y. M. program chairman, formulated and executed the program, with the assistance of Lester Pate, Clarence Sink, Gerald Meyers, Everett Fasnacht, Melvin Landes, Carrol Whiteher, and Ronald Vetter, pianist.

Binford and Fries to Attend National Meeting

Tomorrow morning Coach Melvin J. Binford and Prof. J. H. Fries will leave for New York City where they will attend the national athletic conference. They were chosen to represent the Kansas Conference at this national meeting when the coaches of our league met in November.

This meeting will start Tuesday and continue until Saturday. Many well known speakers will be present, including one who is the author of the text book the principles of physical education class is now using.

FORM NEW INTRA-MURAL TEAMS FOR BASKETBALL

Nine Teams Make Up Two Leagues—Varsity Players to Coach

TO PLAY VOLLEY BALL ALSO

No Games Are Stated Until After Christmas Vacation

This week marks the opening of official intra-mural relations. Teams have been organized into two classes A and B for basketball. There are five teams in class A competition and four in class B. A volley ball league has also been organized consisting of four teams. A challenge cup will be given to the winning teams. It will bear the names of the team which won in its class and will be kept in the trophy case. Varsity basketball men have been made coaches of the basketball teams and they will have charge of practices and lineups at games. In volley ball the captains will be managers of their teams.

The teams in class A make up the Big Five Conference. Team No. 1's color is white, its coach, Pauls, its captain, Minear, and it consists of Bowman, Early, Tice, Follmer, and Slink. Team 2's color is green; it is coached by Rock, captained by Harnly, and supported by Hayes, Gottmann, B. Kaufman, Wine, and Saylor. Team 3's color is red, its captain, Kraus, its coach, Wiggins, and its players are Lichty, Duncanson, Blume, Custer, and Buckingham. Team 4 has yellow for its color, Zinn for its coach, H. Replogle for its captain, and Hart, Meyers, Brubaker, Brooks, and Edwards for its players. Team 5 has purple for a color, Austin for a coach, Weddle for a captain and Larsen, Eddy, Sallee, Nettleton, and Taylor for a personnel.

The teams in class B make up the Little Four League. The color of team 1 is white, its coach is Walstrom, its captain is Brammel and its men are Sherry, Fasnacht, Evans, R. Frantz, and Whitcheer. Team 2's color is green, it is coached by Stoner, captained by Heckman, and supported by Kelly, Suttie, Lindholm, Hughey, and Vetter. Team 3 has red for its color, Reinecker for its coach, R. Sweetland for its captain and Abel, Booz, Mathes, E. Sweetland, and Friesen for its members. Yellow is the color of team 4, its coach is Yoder, its captain, Johanson, and its players are Landes, Webb, Pote, Flora, and J. Kaufman.

In the volley ball tournament Pote is captain of team 1 and his players are Edwards, Lindholm, H. Replogle, Suttie, Nace, Heitchecker, Gottmann, Williams, and Slink. Eddy will lead team 2 and his men are Bowman, Booz, Heckman, Rhoades, E. Sweetland, Lichty, Wine, and Hayes. Shank is captain of team 3 and he is supported by Larsen, Minear, Brudshaw, Webb, and Brubaker. Duncanson is captain of team 4 and his team will consist of Tice, Flora, Shorly, Zinn, and Whitcheer. Names are being thought of for both volley ball and basketball teams.

Schedules of all of these teams will consist of a triple round robin of play. Many interesting games may be expected during this plan of contests. Watch the bulletin board for schedules. No basketball games will be played before the Christmas holidays. However, volley ball games will probably begin this week.

REPRESENTS SCHOOL IN LETTER TO SANTA

Tells of Various Wants of Students and Organizations

Dearest Santa Claus:
 Gen-1 was glad to see you down town, the other day! Did you see Ollie and me wave to you? Well, I'm appointed chief scribbler of the whole bunch of Bulldogs and I write one letter for all to save postage and paper and also your time reading so many lists. We've cut our list down to things we absolutely need so as to help your pocketbook too.

First, I want to know if you've ever found that blond boy friend I asked for three years ago. If so, please place him on my Christmas tree this year.

The Y. W. C. A. has so many teas, they need a tea wagon. You see if the Y. W. had one, then Doc Bright's history-classes could borrow it for their affairs. That combination has been settled; so you see you'd save buying an extra wagon. The Y. W. could also make use of a new over-stuffed parlor suite for the "Y" room. If you could get one with window shades attached, the girls' time would be saved every Monday morning from having to screw light blinkers back in their sockets.

Max Ring wants a sleigh. Goodness knows, Una is busy enough without having to pull her little sis around on a sled. Then too, the Spec reporters would like a volume of those already-written-up news stories.

We hope you will be generous and send Willie Brammel a package or two of dates and enough boxes of chocolates for his girl friends.

You ought to give a fifty-seated non-pay-as-you-enter automobile to M. C. for transportation to and about town and other high spots. We would all be so happy. The athletic department could use it on long trips. Another combination, yes?

The pep leaders want the book, "One Hundred Thousand Snappy Yells," written by Ura Slacker. They want to start the basketball season off right. And Coach Binford asks for a tall basketball star for center position. We all want him to be seven feet tall, big, husky, and strong. If you can't get him down Forney's tall smoke stand, bring him in the window.

Santa, you'd be a regular old dear if you would put running elevators in every building in place of the stairways. An elevated train from building to building would save the side-walks from getting cracked, bumped up, and hurt, especially on these cold mornings.

Santa, please furnish the boys' dorm with 1000 bars of Palmolive soap in order that the boys may have that schoolgirl complexion at the next leap year party.

Galen, Paul, and I want a basket- affair attached to our song book rack by our chapel seats. We won't break the rack down then by our volumes of books. The basket ought to have some clothes hooks attached so we can hang up our caps, hats, and gloves.

Wheeler Kurtz wants a good hot pipeless furnace for his Pontiac so he can keep warm on his Chicago trip.

Dean Mohler would enjoy a non-collapsible Austin and the other faculty members want red pencils. They want these for marking sidewalks for hop scotch, not for grading papers. The Y. M. C. A. wants a radio, six new lounging chairs, and sixteen pairs of knitting needles. They want these needles so that those who can't play ping pong can have an enjoyable time also.

Well, I've come to the end of the paper they have given me and Maurine won't give me more; so we say "Merry Xmas, Santa," and don't forget to stop here.

Your faithful believer always,
 Nick.

PERSONALS

Gretta Wilma Griffiths entertained a few of her friends Friday evening with a Christmas party. The group attended the Christmas pageant at the College church and then went to the home of Miss Griffiths to a doughnut fry and a taffy pull. Those present were Mary Miller, Elsie Rump, Edith Richards, Dorothy Dresher, Grace Heckman, Genevieve Crist, Odessa Crist, Grace Lerow, and Elizabeth Bowman. Florence Dresher and Corinne Suter were unable to attend.

During the past few weeks a number of students have been out of school on account of "flu" or a cold. Among them were Robert Brooks, Elsie Rump, Corinne Suter, Florence Dresher, Charles Austin, Una Ring, Liburn Gottmann, Clarice Evans, Guy Hayes, Margaret Schwartz, Leona Benhardt, Margaret Olliver, and Maurine Stutzman.

Odessa and Genevieve Crist were guests over the week-end at Onelia Boyer's home in Hutchinson.

Miss Della Lehman has moved from her apartment on East Euclid to some rooms in Kline Hall.

John Friesen was absent from school last week because of an injury in his leg which he received from a fall.

While Dean R. E. Mohler was in Elgin, Illinois, last week attending church board meetings, students taught his different subjects. Those who held his classes were Dorothy Dresher, Genevieve Crist, Melvin Landes, and Edith Hechtelheimer.

John Kaufman, Lloyd Larsen and Loren Rock accompanied Dr. V. F. Schwalm to Abilene, Saturday. They returned to the campus Sunday night.

Esther Brown spent the week-end at her home near Hutchinson.

A waffle supper was given by Faltie Ketterman, Ruth Idhe, and Lola Hawkins, Friday night. The guests were Milton Early, Lloyd Larsen, and Loren Rock.

Lola Hawkins spent Monday night with Una Ring.

FORMER STUDENT SPEAKS

LeRoy Doty Tells in Chapel of Insurance Plan

Mr. LeRoy Doty, from Hutchinson, Kansas, former McPherson College student, spoke in chapel Monday on the insurance endowment plan which the alumni association is working up in order to give this college a larger endowment.

In this plan a person is to pay sixty dollars a year, varying some according to age, for ten years. At retirement age, sixty-five, this money will be returned or in case of death will be given to the estate.

Miss Lehman's German class sang the Christmas hymn, "Silent Night, Holy Night," in German.

FRIES IS CHAPEL SPEAKER

Henry Kittell Sings—Heckman Is In Charge

Last Friday Professor J. H. Fries talked to the students in chapel, giving a modern application of the Sermon on the Mount. Postmaster Henry Kittell sang "At Dawning" and "Mother Machree."

Professor J. Hugh Heckman had charge of the chapel service in the absence of Dr. V. F. Schwalm who was in Newton.

cluding the story of the first Christmas from the Bible. Edith Hechtelheimer and Merle Fisher hummed and sang Christmas carols at intervals during the program. Faltie Ketterman played a piano prelude and postlude. The Y. W. C. A. room was dimly lighted for the occasion.

LIBRARY WANTS MAGAZINE

Among the magazines missing from the College library are the American for October, 1932, and the Good Housekeeping, October, November, and December, 1932. We should appreciate the return of these or their replacement from the files of some subscriber who does not care to keep them.

ANOTHER CHARACTER CHOSEN

The Judges have announced that Maxine Ring will take the part of Miss Prism, the governess in the Thespian play, "The Importance of Being Earnest." This farce by Oscar Wilde will be given early next semester.

HOUSEPLANNING CLASS INSPECTS BUILDINGS

Last Thursday the houseplanning class, under the direction of Miss Helen Mellrath, went through several houses of the town. One of the most interesting visits was made at the Dan Kuns home where the owners took the students through every room including those in the basement. They explained how different colors had been obtained and why different tapestries had been used.

Following this they inspected houses which were under construction, and in some the contractor told the cost of the different materials.
