McPHERSON COLLEGE BASKETEERS DEFEAT BAKER UNIVERSITY 24-19 IN KANSAS CONFERENCE GAME

Wildcats Take Early Lead but Bulldogs Rally and Are Leading 11-8 at Half

MCPHERSON PLAYS WELL

Jamison, McPherson Freshman Center, Leads the Scoring with Seven Points

The McPherson College Bulldogs defeated the Baker University Wildcats 24-19 at the Convention Hall court in a Kansas conference game last Friday night. The game was a thriller from start to finish with one team in the lead and then the other, but the Bulldogs took a comfortable lead in the closing minutes and won by a five point margin.

The Bulldogs played good ball during most of the game and had the Wildcat quintet guessing as to how to penetrate the McPherson defense. Coach Binford's team played a very conservative game and especially in the last half the Bulldogs took few chances, but drove hard when the opportunity came.

Baker took the ball on the opening tip off and worked a fast play with Spear, a star forward, going in for a set up. Baker again got the ball from the tip and soon Cunningham rung up another field goal and Baker thus had a four point lead. Pauls was fouled and he made his free throw good to give the Bulldogs their first score. Brown fouled H. Johnston and Harold added another point to the McPherson score.

Chet Johnston went into the Bulldog line up at a forward position in place of Captain Rock. Chet soon received the ball on the side of the court, faked a shot, then made a quick pivot and dribbled under the basket for a neat set up.

LIBRARY GETS BOOKS

Physical Education and Child Psychology Texts Added

The college library has again had several new additions. Two books, "Tests and Measurements in Physical Education" by Bovard and Cozens, and "The Organization and Administration of Playgrounds and Recreation" by Nash will attract physical educationists. The former gives standards by which to judge students in this course, the latter what its title signifies. Students enrolled in the child psychology course will enjoy reading "The Management of Young Children" by Blatz and Rott. Another psychological study, Pratt's "The Religious Consciousness" will interest Bible students.

The Department of Highways of Quebec, Canada, has sent out a tourist guide for the province. It is illustrated by pictures and maps, and gives statistics and histories of the points of interest. It is good for general reference work on Quebec's history and geography.

DRAMATIC STUDENTS TO GIVE PLAY IN CHURCH

"At the Gate Beautiful" to Be Presented Sunday

Next Sunday during the evening church service members of the dramatic and principles of interpretation classes, which are taught by Miss Della Lehman, will present a play, "At the Gate Beautiful," a play by Harry Silverleaf Mason, being coached by Geneva Crist, a student of the advanced class.

The principle parts are played by Mary Miller, Leta Wise, Alex Richards, Willard Brammel, Milton Early, Donald Dresher, and Richard Mohler. Other players are Raymond Buskirk, Blanch Harris, Clarice Evans, Odessa Crist, Melvin Landes, and Corrine Suter.

Costumes are being provided by women of the college church. John Harnly and Harold Johnston are stage managers.

This group has been working hard under the supervision of Miss Lehman, and an unusual presentation is anticipated.

MEET SALINA TEAMS IN NON-DECISION DEBATE

The girls' affirmative team and the boys' negative second team took part in both debates on Monday afternoon on the stage in the dramatic art room. Ruth Spillman and Ruth Hobart met the Salina negative girls' team while John Goering and Bernard Suttle met the Salina boys' team.

The debates were non-decision, but were interesting and well-given. Prof. Maurice A. Hess served as chairman.

TRUSTEES OF COLLEGE SPEAKERS IN CHAPEL

Kinzie of Navarre and Brandt of Holmesville Visit McPherson Campus

The Rev. W. A. Kinzie of Navarre, Kansas, and Rev. Paul K. Brandt of Holmesville, Nebraska, two of the trustees of McPherson College, were the speakers for chapel on Friday morning. They were here making contacts with the faculty and student body in preparation for the general trustee meeting which is to be held on the twentieth of this month.

Devotions for the morning were led by Reverend Brandt following which he gave a short talk in which he pointed out the challenge which the present depression gives for the true evaluation of life. "All great characters of the past," he said, "have been forged in the hour of adversity."

The message of Reverend Kinzie also contained a bit of sound philosophy and encouragement. In summary he said, "Take courage; stay on the job; finish your training; and adjust yourself to the conditions of the times."

The college male quartet sang two numbers between the talks of the trustees.

ANDERSON IS SPEAKER IN WEDNESDAY CHAPEL

Tells of Opinions of Different Men on 1932

Wednesday, February 1, the Reverend J. H. Anderson of the Christian Church spoke to the assembly of college students.

Some of the attitudes as expressed by different men on their opinion of 1932 as a year were mentioned by Rev. Anderson. One man had said, "Let's forget it. It was a nightmare." Quite another likened the year to a crazy-quilt pattern. It possibly had order and purpose, but they were not discovered by the people.

The speaker took exception to such statements as these. One writer, who well remembers greater depressions which had more suffering than the one in 1932, says the present society is well-organized to meet the situation.

People have established a civilization based on stocks and bonds instead of the kingdom of God which is based on mercy and happiness. "God alone builds eternal habitations that will shelter us," Anderson said.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLASS GIVES STUNT

Some most intricate and clever tumbling stunts and pyramids were performed by the college girls' physical education classes between halves at the Baker game Friday night.

The program was opened by the girls' doing a leap frog over each other until they completely encircled the outside edge of the gymnasium. Eighteen girls participated and showed that the classes have been accomplishing much under the direction of Miss Audrey Groves.

BULLDOGS ARE TO PLAY OTTAWA TOMORROW EVE

Braves Have Practically Same Team as Last Year

OTTAWA DEFEATED SWEDES

Coach Binford and His Team Are Determined to Upset the Braves

Tomorrow night the Ottawa University Braves will be in McPherson to engage the Bulldogs in a Kansas Conference basketball game.

Ottawa finished in the runner-up position in the conference race last year and with practically the same team back this year, the Braves have been going at a fast pace. At the present time the Ottawa quintet is in second place in the conference race. Besides these games in the conference the Braves have won from some strong teams outside the conference circuit.

The Braves have loomed as one of the strong contenders since early in the season, but last week they emphasized the fact when they handed a 30-17 defeat to Bethany, the defending champions. This defeat ended a string of 28 consecutive victories that the Swedes had rolled up in the conference.

Included in the list of star performers on the year's Ottawa team is Captain Crilly, who last year received all conference recognition at a guard berth. Jack Knapper, probably more famous for his activities on the gridiron, is also a star on the Ottawa quintet. Knapper was placed on the second-all conference team last year at the center position. This year he jumps center and then drops back to a guard position. Senter, who plays the center position for the Braves is also considered a star performer, this being his fourth year with the Ottawa team. Dillon, a letterman from last year has been the leading scorer in most of the games for Ottawa this year and is considered a dangerous scoring threat.

Barker, a tall man has been playing most of the time at the forward position opposite Dillon and has been using his height to advantage. Coach Binford has been working on the team hard this week in preparation for the hard game that faces the Bulldogs tomorrow night. The team is in fairly good condition and several combinations can now be placed on the floor with very little difference in ability.

The speaker took exception to such statements as these. One writer, who well remembers greater depressions which had more suffering than the one in 1932, says the present society is well-organized to meet the situation.

People have established a civilization based on stocks and bonds instead of the kingdom of God which is based on mercy and happiness. "God alone builds eternal habitations that will shelter us," Anderson said.

Under the leadership of Professor Alvin C. Voran the McPherson College A Cappella Choir, assisted by the male quartette and the ladies' trio, will make its debut appearance tonight at the City Auditorium at eight o'clock.

This clever group of vocalists has made numerous appearances and has won an enviable name for itself. Its most recent concert was Sunday afternoon when the group broadcast from radio station KFBF at Abilene, Texas.

College students have had charge of the ticket sale and it is expected that a large audience will be out tonight to hear "Cheesy" and his songsters.

TWENTY-THREE STUDENTS ARE TAKING COURSE IN PRACTICE TEACHING SECOND SEMESTER

Teach in City Schools for Credit in Subject Required by State—Will Achieve High School and Elementary Certificates

LAST LYCEUM NUMBER IS GREATLY ENJOYED

GRADING BY CRITIC TEACHERS
Course Open Only to Prospective Teachers Who Are Sophomores and Seniors

Professor J. A. Blair, head of the department of education, reports that there are exactly the same number, twenty-three, students in practice teaching this semester as last.

Among Miss Taylor's representations were an Italian, an old Negro woman, a pantomime clown, a newly-rich woman from Oklahoma, and a New York "tough." Her characterizations of men were especially well done. A large group of college students attended.

Eight are working for high school certificates and fifteen for grade school certificates. Six of them go to the senior high school, three to junior high, nine to Park Grade School, four to Lincoln Grade School, and one to Roosevelt Grade School.

Each student spends one hour of each day teaching in the city schools under the supervision of the regular teacher. However, they haven't yet progressed as far as actual teaching, for the first third of the semester is spent in observation, the next third in participation, and the last third in teaching. They will receive their final grades and criticisms from their respective supervisors.

This practice course is required by law before a student may receive a teacher's certificate, and is open only to sophomores for elementary certificates and to seniors for high school certificates.

Those who teach in the high school are Hope Nickel, biology, under Miss Benson; John Harnly, physics, under Mr. Bell; Milton Early, American history, under Miss Kingsley; Lloyd Larsen, bookkeeping, under Miss Kuhn; George Zinn, commercial law, under Miss Lenneu; and Alex Richards, botany, under Mr. Schultz.

Those who go to junior high school are Luther Horn, general science, under Mr. Dreher; Odessa Crist, cooking, under Miss Jones; and Raymond Buskirk teaches in the secondary education classes in junior high.

The students who practice teach in Park Grade School are Lorene Morrison and Agnes Bean, sixth grade, under Miss Aspgren; Walter Pauls, fifth grade, under Miss Goson; Zelta Oaley, fourth grade, under Miss Feldt; Mildred Pray, third grade, under Miss Thomas; Jane McNally and Esther Pote, second grade, under Miss Roskam; and Vera Burkholder and Ruth Ihde, first grade, under Miss Robinson.

At Lincoln Grade School there are Marjorie Brown, sixth grade, under Miss Priest; Alice Unruh, fifth grade, under Miss Lingefelter; Elsie Lindholm, fourth grade, under Miss Johnson; and LaVera Flora, second grade, under Miss Collins.

Eita Nickel teaches in the first grade at Roosevelt, under the supervision of Miss Carns.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT BROADCASTS PROGRAM

Are Entertained at Kettnerman Home—Receive Telegrams

At a quarter till two last Sunday afternoon, the A Capella choir gathered together at station KFBF in Abilene, Kansas. By the time the hour was reached, everyone was in his place ready to begin. The program consisted of a talk by Dean Mohler, a vocal solo by Warner Nettleton, two piano solos by Ronald Vetter, and quartet, trio, and choir numbers.

After the broadcast, Faithie Kettnerman led the way to the Brown Memorial Home south of Abilene. The visitor's book now bears the name of each choir member. The choir and quartet sang, and Vetter played for the old people.

Returning to Abilene, the group again collected, this time at the Kettnerman home. After a pleasant hour, Faithie served delicious refreshments. Then, as it was becoming quite late for those who were on the evening program at the college church, all started back to McPherson.

A number of telephone calls and telegrams of congratulation were received during the broadcast.

NOT TOO MANY VICTORIES

After the game with Baker on Friday an unusual amount of jubilant enthusiasm was shown by the students. They paraded to cafés, or joyously skipped wildly for home or called up friends to tell them of a victory. Even the boys on the squad seemed reluctant to go home and get their required amount of sleep.

Would this have happened if the college had won every game? Might they not have missed the exhilarating feeling of a well-fought game well-won, and possibly have yawned "Ho hum! Another victory. Well, I guess we might as well go to bed." Of course the latter has some attraction, but fewer victories bring more joy when they do come than those which take place all the time.

GRADES

The object of much controversy of the past few weeks has been grades. One student is trying to pull an A in history. Another is trying to make the honor roll by amassing forty honor points. Then some are not so energetic and are willing to "get by." Others are influenced by the competition of his classmates. Each has as his object a grade; the benefit of the classroom is incidental.

To those whose object is the making of grades the grading system is detrimental. He will realize after graduation that it was not grades that he wanted, but something else. He will realize that the only object of a grading system is for record and to maintain a level of work which the student must satisfactorily do to complete his course.

In the ideal group the grading system would work differently. The institution from time to time would confer with the student and give him an estimate of his work and help him plan the course of study. He could warn the failing student.

To many such a system would be needless. Some get the real value of the course regardless of grades. But all are prone to look for grades to a certain extent. Our present system is not entirely wrong but grades cannot tell all. The student should have as his object the value of the course to him rather than the mark on record.

FOR BOYS ONLY

Of course you don't have any money; no one does. It isn't even the style anymore. And of course you can't take that girl to a show every night of the week, nor send her perfume, and flowers, and candy every time you think of her, but don't let a little thing like that bother you.

The problem then is what to do on these moneyless dates. Well, why don't you try walking? Exercise is good for one and besides you might learn really to enjoy the beauties of nature. Then too, you can learn to develop that fine old art of pleasing conversation. Reading helps a lot in developing this gift. It gives you something to talk about. Another thing that might assist in the entertainment of the girl friend is the Y. M. C. A. ping pong room. Ping pong is quite the rage now, and really a lot of fun. That's one place to spend the evening; and what about those inexpensive jigsaw puzzles? If there's anything entertaining it's working a jigsaw puzzle with your girl friend.

Then sometime when you want to dress up take your girl to church or Christian Endeavor or League. You can drop a shirt button in the collection plate if it embarrasses you not to put in any collection. And another thing, why not utilize the football and basketball games, and the school plays which are paid for with the incidental fees at the beginning of each new semester?

Anyway when you can't take your girl to a show don't let it bother you. Find something else to do. There are plenty of ways to entertain yourselves on a moneyless date.—Submitted.

WALKING THE PLANK

A writer in a business magazine illustrates the chances of achieving a "big success", in this manner: "Lay a plank eight inches wide on the sidewalk, and a million people will walk its entire length without a thought of losing their balance. Set it 25 feet high and hardly one in a thousand will venture upon it. Raise it 100 feet above the ground and not more than one in a million will dare to walk it from end to end. The difference is not in the plank, but in the people."

So it is with achievements in every "walk of life". The little, insignificant things are easily accomplished, because they arouse no thought of failure. But let the timorous one enter upon a seemingly difficult project, thinking failure and fearing failure, and he will get failure. The successful man—the man of a thousand—will walk the selfsame plank, looking straight ahead, dreaming success, working for success, never knowing a moment of failure to find a resting place in his mind, and success will be his.

It is just as easy to make a big success as a little one if we can maintain our mental equilibrium. The thing to do is to aim for the highest and look straight ahead all the time. Make it our ambition to attain something worth while, something into which we can put our best, then go after it, and keep on going until we get it. If we use all our mind, our will and energy, all the force of concentrated desire and determination, the desired result must come.—Selected.

I do the very best I know how; the very best I can; and I mean to keep on doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would not make it so.—Abraham Lincoln.

Blessed is that man, and beloved of all the gods, who is afraid of no man, and of whom no man is afraid.—Hindu Scriptures.

Those who tell us that winter began only today should be rated down-right pessimists. Anyhow they'll have a hard time convincing most of us.

PERSONALS

Prof. J. Hugh Heckman and Miss Wagner left Monday morning for Rocky Ford, Colorado, because of the illness of their brother.

Miss Leone Benhardt spent the week-end in Salina visiting friends.

Miss Leone Shirk visited relatives at Canton over Saturday and Sunday.

Guy Hayes, Vernon Rhoades, Delbert Kelly, and Loren Rock spent the week-end at Lloyd Larsen's home in Abilene.

Posey Jamison, who graduated last year, was visiting old friends on the campus Friday night and Saturday.

Faith Ketterman entertained the A Capella Choir at her home in Abilene Sunday afternoon after the broadcast.

Esther Brown left Sunday morning for her home in Hutchinson. She returned to the campus Sunday night.

Ann Heckman was called to her home in Rocky Ford, Colorado, because of her father's illness. She left Saturday noon.

Mother Emmert's daughter, Mrs. Violet Stone, has been taking care of Miss Lora Troutle since the beginning of the new year.

Miss Latrel Fields entertained Esther Stegeman, Ruth Deardorff, Alice Egbert, Ruth Tice, Dorothy Marion, and Pauline Stitzman at her home Sunday evening.

Margaret Schwartz entertained a group of six girls at her home with a tea. The time was spent in listening to the McPherson College broadcast, composing a telegram of congratulations, and working jigsaw puzzles before tasty refreshments were served.

A number of classes were not held yesterday because it was impossible to get the rooms heated.

Paul Heckman drove to Rocky Ford, Colorado, with his father to see his uncle who is ill.

Lester Lewis received word yesterday that his grandmother at Galva had died.

Luther Horn and Mildred Selberg spent Saturday evening in Hutchinson.

Last week Dorothy Bonham stayed all night with Alice Egbert.

A number of students have been eating at the dormitory or staying all night since cold weather set in.

Sunday noon Prof. Maurice A. Hess entertained Evelyn Fields, Helen Flory, and Grace Heckman at lunch. Miss Fields, who is attending Kansas University, and Miss Flory, who is teaching at Great Bend, are graduates of McPherson College.

Only three cars came out to the campus yesterday morning. They belonged to Miss Fern Lingenfelter, John Austin, and Leeland Emborg. Other students came in taxis, or were brought out by parents or friends. Many were unable to brave the winds to attend classes at all.

MUSICAL MEMBER WRITES OF BROADCASTING TRIP

Zit, zit, zit—three, six, nine, eighteen—white horses, white chicks, white-bearded men—well everything but pink elephants. Yes, we all enjoyed the scenery very much. In fact, I don't believe there was one white thing we missed all the way to Abilene. Who won? It was a non-decoration affair but Helen Holloway won in the front seat; so we gave her the credit.

There is one thing we just can't figure out. We passed that little green Lingenfelter car, lost them when we drove up to the cafe in Abilene there were waiting on us. Perhaps the chief motive was Tuffy's desire to wash the artistry off his face. S'pose? Ask Dolly and Margaret.

Did you ever lock your car and then leave the keys on the inside? And—did you know that Heckman had a little hole in the right hand corner of their windshield? What? We've been wondering about—is where on earth did Paul get that long piece of copper wire he used to open the door through that certain little hole.

Was the prof ever excited on that "Dedication" number? Whee-o-o, maybe that announcer estimated him time better than we did. Anyway, he found out that the intro could sing as well as act. (The announcer unexpectedly said that the number would be sung; so Cheesy made a mad scramble for music and filled in on the solo part.)

That good-looking young announcer said that he was trying to calm the ladies' trio by his acceptable flirtations. Ah!—we wonder. Then, were we glad to receive those telegram and phone calls? I ask you: You know the old saying, "Any old dog from home looks good"? Well, when we came out from under the "ether" there stood Larsen, Rock, Kelly, and Hayes!

Oh, yes! the Y. W. C. A. ought to buy some overstuffed lounges—et cetera—like those in Brown's Memorial Home for the aged; then maybe the members of our choir wouldn't try out every chair in the living room that we visit.

Leta Wine always had the last word, and—when we were all in our cars ready to leave, there she was on the third floor balcony being shown about by one of the interesting elderly gentlemen of the home. And what was his other name for the women's ward? Just question Leta!

The most enjoyable luncheon and favors received at Faith Ketterman's home were more than appreciated. Mr. Early should be congratulated. Did I say no?

By the way Charlie—old you ever take advantage of drivin' a good car? The Chevrolet it will be best—if you don't believe it, ask Bernice. All in all, we have been invited back and the next time we go—

"Oh, yeah?" growled the hardened pessimist. "And under the ocean there is plenty of land, but that doesn't help the guy who's fallen overboard."

INTERESTING ANSWERS ARE GIVEN BY STUDENTS WHEN QUESTIONED ON THEIR FAVORITE RECREATIONS

It is positively astounding the answers one gets to the question, "What is your favorite form of recreation?"—especially the answers of those people who reply before they discover the motive which prompted the question.

Alice Redie was the first one encountered. Alice is kept so busy working that she has very little time for recreation; so she said that she likes to sit and let her mind go blank. Upon further thought she said perhaps she liked to play cards better. Ruth Spillman reads "College Humor" one Sunday, "Time Magazine" the next. In between times she sleeps.

When Mary Miller was asked she laughingly said, "Oh, go on a spree every once in a while." She went on to explain that when she got tired of studying and sitting around she liked to get out and have a good time. She doesn't mean the term "spree" to have the usual interpretation. Narcella Severinson likes to read when she is not studying, which is most of the time.

Galen Orden likes to do lots of things: play ping pong, read newspapers, especially the "Spec," play basketball, and most of all does he like to talk—to good-looking girls. Corrine Suter enjoys outdoor sports, reading, and playing "pig" in the "Y" room.

Horseback riding, although impossible here at school, is the favorite hobby of Mabel Stryker. Gladys Ridell enjoys going to dances. Both Mildred Sehberg and Ruth Deardorff read in their spare time. Ruth also likes to play cards. Elizabeth Wakner said that embroidery was her favorite pastime.

In the reading room of the library Glenn Webb was found. He at first said he enjoyed sleeping more than anything else, then a few minutes later he amended this by saying he did research work for chemistry during his spare moments. Perhaps he realized why the question was asked. Ruth Christenson was also in the reading room. Her hobby is outdoor sports, but then while she was saying this she had a copy of "Scribbler's" in her hand. The article she was reading was entitled, "Boys are Bad". She seemed quite interested.

Grace Lefevre enjoys just "messing around" and Royal Frantz likes hiking—but is that all there is to it?

"Tuffy" Wine likes pitching horseshoe, playing bridge, and strolling with the girls—especially the good-looking ones. Isn't it odd how the good-looking ones are picked?

If all of these recreations were faithfully pursued here we would have a most interesting college life, full of variety. Variety is the "spice of life", you know.

SWEET THING GOES ON FIRST SNIPE HUNT

IS TAKEN IN TRUCK

Student Tells of Memorable Trip Taken by Guileless Girl

In this enlightened year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and thirty-three, you would think any self-possessed, sane-minded young college girl (especially of the female species) who hadn't heard of the aged, world-renowned "snipe-hunt" wasn't normally bright; now wouldn't you?

But will you believe me when I state in all sincerity, and with malice toward none, that we have the perfect example of such a back-number right here on our own campus? Why to this unenlightened little creature a snipe signified nothing more nor less, better nor worse than the common cigarette butt.

Well, when, in the course of the evening, snipes were incidentally mentioned, this unsuspecting young innocent blandy-questioned the other members of the party as to the origin and whereabouts of such. Soon several good snipe-hunting grounds had been suggested, and scrambling into the poorer quarters of a huge truck we dashed off to the northern edge of this fair city. On arriving at an orchard that had the pungent odor of one of those striped quadrupeds that was so thoroughly described by the male quartet last week, our young innocent grabbed the sack and we staked it out for her. Instructing her to grasp tightly the sack and call "Come Snyip, Snyip, Come Snyip" instead of "Sook, Snyip, syc, syc, syc" as she suggested, she did. And to close the sack when full, we climbed back into the four-wheeled vehicle and went back to town.

After about ten minutes we decided we had better go back to rescue our young colleague from the vicious anipe and on arriving at the spot we found her sitting on the sack racked by paroxysms of glee.

QUIPS AND QUODDLES

A girl who is taking foods declared after her first class that she had made the best coffee in the class. When she was asked if she was sure, she replied, "Oh, it didn't taste very good, but it was the prettiest."

Yes, we were wrong—we even admit it! Our suggestion of last week was destructive and not constructive. We refer to the idea that some couple should break up in order to make a little news. Evidently several caught the idea and decided that it would be much better to create new "studies" instead of going away with old ones. Did you witness the brand new dates at the lyceum course, and on the same evening the new crop at the Hethany game at Lindsborg?

And there was one blond couple at the lyceum—their date, we mean—which pleases us very much. They are of about the same temperament; he is quite a bit taller than she; both are quite intelligent; and both (we guess) have dated about the same amount. Sh! Sh! Did you say that this most eminent column has taken up matchmaking?

In trying to describe some sweatshirts Ruth Ihde started out with rat-tail-snake and got down to turtle dove, before it was finally surmised that she meant turtle-necked.

In Old Testament lit class Prof. Heckman asked what word the Bible describes the serpent in the Garden of Eden. The class dutifully answered, "Sulphur". Then with a puzzled glance Heckman asked of Bernard Suttle, "How did you get your name, Mr. Suttle?" Suttle looked at him in amazement and then replied, "I inherited it."—Better take good care of your heirloom, Bernard.

A request was passed from one end of the gym to the other at the Baker game in order to ask Lester Lewis to put on his derby for Zelta Oxley to see.

Pass—it's a secret, we think, but it has been rumored that members of the famous choir which will make its debut tonight, will appear in formal dress—tuxedos 'n' everything!

Quite a cheerful team we have! Teuton and Röbus were such grinning guys at the Swede game—We like that kind of an attitude.

Reverend Anderson forgot to mention in his chapel address about last year the optimistic fellow who said this of 1932, "Wasn't that depression awful?"

If Duncanson doesn't come to class, he creates so much noise that his fellow classmates' minds are diverted between Dr. Bright's words and the pounding that "Dunk" is doing.

You might think the League of Nations was holding an assembly in Miss Lehman's room if you should happen in there some time. It is only the principles of interpretation classes studying dialect. The Swedes, Italian, Irish, Scotch, and Negro are all present.

Wayne Carr's theme song might well be "Walking My Baby Back Home", at least from all evidences since the arrival of the diminutive eastern blonde.

My dears! (Especially the dears who drive cars.) Did you know that at most oil stations you can get free gas? Yes, sir—free gas! That is what a college education does for one. We might never have thought of it if we hadn't taken chemistry. Yet it is true that you can get free gas most any place. And isn't air a gas?

During a single noon hour in the Y. W. room the girls who eat there gave a gym exhibition, told the dumb things they did in "childhood", ate lunch, and had an expression recital. One would hardly expect so much to be accomplished in so short a time.

It is said that sometime we will revert to the habits of our ancestors. Mary Miller has already done it. Late she has been speaking in an Irish dialect. Perhaps this is partly due to having to learn an Irish poem in principles of interpretation class.

Scandal of scandals! Prof. Bowman's baby daughter is already breaking dorm rules by arriving here at 2:00 o'clock.

Yes, we were wrong—we even admit it! Our suggestion of last week was destructive and not constructive. We refer to the idea that some couple should break up in order to make a little news. Evidently several caught the idea and decided that it would be much better to create new "studies" instead of going away with old ones. Did you witness the brand new dates at the lyceum course, and on the same evening the new crop at the Hethany game at Lindsborg?

Doesn't it look funny to see all the space around the drive with no cars? Just snow and wind—and I believe you can really see the wind on these days.

Dr. V. F. Schwalm visited the "Y" room Sunday evening—much to the consternation of some of those present.

They say women talk a lot but actually two boys were able to talk more than a dozen girls, on the subject of "Dutch" dating. And suffice it to say they set their feet down against the idea. This subject was talked over in a discussion group Monday led by Miss Chalcea White.

Now, girls, you won't have to learn how to cook oatmeal. The boys' home economics class made that breakfast food yesterday.

Corrine Suter called for a taxi yesterday at 7:30 and got one at 10:30. Just a little matter of a three and one half hour's wait. At that, she wasucky to get one at all.

RECITAL GIVEN IN CHAPEL

Mrs. Roland Jones' People Give Dramatic Program

A stage setting of actual evergreen boughs and fragrant flowers formed a realistic garden background for a dramatic recital last Wednesday night. It was given in the college chapel by pupils of Mrs. Roland Jones, a graduate of McPherson College. A large number of college students attended and were exceedingly interested in the unusual spring setting.

The young students who participated in the recital were as follows: Phoebe Steel, Marilyn Rice, Melba Nininger, Dorothy Ann Kall, Eriele Hoggatt, Jean Cotterill, Joan Cotterill, Eugene Nininger, Caroline Peterson, Cathleen McFall, Ruth Mingenbeck, Sonny Boy Smith, Anita Joy Smith, Dorothy May Fillman, Faylene Stansel, Betty Jo Harper, Dona Joyce Stine, and Bud Holzworth.

McPHERSON COLLEGE BULLDOGS ARE TO PLAY BETHEL COLLEGE FRIDAY EVENING AT NEWTON

Bethel Defeated Bulldogs Last Year by One Point in Overtime Game After McPherson Led Most of the Time

BULLDOGS SEEK REVENGE

Team Has Been Improving and Is Eager for Victory

Friday night Coach Melvin J. Binford is going to take his Bulldog cagers to Newton for a battle with the Bethel College basketball quintet.

Although this is a non-conference game it will probably be one of the toughest teams that the Bulldogs will encounter as they are always set to beat McPherson when the two teams play.

Last year Bethel defeated McPherson in the only game between the two schools by the narrow margin of one point. The Bulldogs led most of the way in last year's game and in the extra period the Bethel cagers managed to win by one point.

The Newton team is probably little stronger this year and has been playing good consistent ball. The Graymaroons are led by Kennison, star center, who is considered a dangerous offensive threat.

A large number of students and local town people will probably follow the team to Newton to see this important game. The Bulldogs are a determined bunch of players and are set on getting revenge for last year's defeat at the hands of Bethel.

BETHANY IS LEADING IN CONFERENCE RACE

The Kansas conference basketball race turned into a wide open scramble between three teams last week when Ottawa handed the defending champion Bethany Swedes a defeat and left those two teams and Kansas Wesleyan tied for first place.

Ottawa pulled the Swedes down into the three-way tie Saturday night by winning from Bethany, 30-17, while Wesleyan beat Baker, 30-17, in Salina.

Baker dropped from a triple tie with Wesleyan and Ottawa for runner-up position to last place by losing to Wesleyan and earlier in the week to McPherson, 19 to 24. McPherson lost to Bethany, 29 to 27, but now holds the position below the tied leaders with one victory and two defeats compared with Baker's record of one and three.

Bethany pulled ahead of the other two leaders Monday night by defeating Baker in their game at Lindsborg. Ottawa is due for a tour to the western end of the circuit, meeting McPherson Thursday night and Bethany Friday night. If the Swedes and Ottawa are successful in their tests against Baker and McPherson, their game at Lindsborg will be of a crucial nature.

Wesleyan will go to Nebraska to play return engagements with the Kearney Teachers, Thursday, and Hastings college, Friday. The Coyotes beat Kearney and lost to Hastings in Salina.

Other exhibitions scheduled for this week are between Washburn and Baker at Baldwin and McPherson and Bethel at Newton, both on Friday night.

McPHERSON DEFEATS BAKER IN FRIDAY GAME

which tied the score. Again Chet got the ball and dribbled through the Baker defense for two more points to give the Bulldogs the lead. Baker tightened their defense, so Yoder shot one over the Baker front line that added two more points to McPherson's score.

Again McPherson got the tip from center and Jamison took a rebound two more points. In doing this Jamison was fouled and he added another off the basket and batted one in for point. Chet Johnston and Pauls each made fouls but neither of the free throws were made good. Wiggins went in for Pauls at guard. Brown, Baker guard went through the McPherson defense for a field goal. Cunningham soon added another field goal to bring Baker's score to eight. Reinecker went in at a guard position for McPherson. The half soon ended with McPherson leading 11-8.

Spear started the scoring in the second half on a fast play under the basket and Christ the other Baker forward soon followed with another two point score to give Baker a 12 to 11 lead. Christ was fouled by Yoder, but the Baker man missed his free throw and Cunningham fouled Jamison who also missed a free throw. Again Spear drove, in fact under the basket for a set up which gave the Wildcats a three point advantage over the Bulldogs.

At this point McPherson took time out to plan a method of stopping the Baker attack. Yoder scored on a long shot from the side that brought the Bulldogs to within one point of the Wildcats. Harold Johnston missed a free throw, but Jamison batted it in to give the Bulldogs the lead at 15 to 14. Christ added a point for Baker on Yoder's foul and Cunningham added a point on a foul by C. Johnston to give Baker a one point lead.

Pauls faked, and then dribbled through the Baker defense for a set up to put McPherson in the lead. Baker made a couple substitutions at this point. Yoder dropped in a basket from the side which brought the score to 19 to 16 for McPherson. Christ made a field goal which cut the McPherson lead to one point.

Jamison got the ball in the corner and went under for a set up. Rock was fouled while shooting and he made both of his free throws count. Spear fouled Pauls and "Teuton" made his free throw good. Christ added a point on a foul by C. Johnston and Yoder missed on a foul by Cunningham and the game ended with McPherson on the long end of a 24 to 19 score.

Coach Binford's cagers played a good brand of ball and most of all they showed that they had the ability to come back strong when they got in a pinch. The Bulldog defense held Baker for a minimum number of good shots and the Binford coached team took every opportunity to score and passed the ball until they got a good chance to score.

BULLDOGS FAIL TO STOP BETHANY SWEDES

McPherson Leads at Half but Bethany Comes Back Strong and Wins 27-20

The McPherson College Bulldogs lost a hard fought basketball game to the conference leading Bethany College Swedes at Lindsborg Wednesday, February 1, by a score of 27-20.

The Bulldogs started out nicely and took an early lead of a few points. McPherson showed a nice passing game during the early part of the game, but their shots were just missing by inches. The Bulldog defense also was functioning nicely and the Swedes were held to a minimum number of shots. McPherson continued to lead by a point or two during the first half and at the end of the first period the Bulldogs were on the long end of an 8-7 score.

At the start the second half the Swede quintet came back strong and went two nice blocks on the Bulldogs that were good for counters. With this slight lead the Bethany team played a very cautious game and made few attempts to penetrate the McPherson defense. Toward the close of the game the McPherson front line had to rush the Swedes and the Bethany team took advantage of this and drove in for a few more counters.

The Bulldogs seemed unable to work the ball through the zone defense that the Swedes placed in front of the McPherson team and when they did get open for shots were unable to hit consistently. During the latter part of the first half with Harold Johnston leading the offensive threat the Bulldogs worked in for some nice shots, but never seriously threatened the second half lead of the Swedes.

STELLA SCURLOCK IS VISITOR AT MCPHERSON

Speaks at Church on Sunday Holds Discussion Groups

Miss Stella Scurlock, national student secretary of the Y. W. C. A. honored McPherson campus with her presence Sunday evening and Monday morning. She is making plans for a conference on economic and social problems to be held at Emporia some week-end in March.

The stay was hurried but interesting and helpful for those who had opportunity to speak with her. Sunday evening she spoke at the Brethren Church on college students and their religious problems. Following the church service a small group of students met in the parlor of Arnold Hall for a discussion on current problems. She had time for only a few short conferences and gave a brief talk in chapel.

WEDDING GIVEN AS STUNT

W. A. A. Has Charge of Thursday Pep Chapel

During the pep chapel Thursday morning, February 2, an unusual double ring wedding ceremony was presented as the W. A. A. stunt. The young couple supposedly to have been married were Miss Victory and Mr. McPherson. After much opposition by Mr. Baker, the happy couple were finally announced to be "joined for life". The stunt proved to be quite a success putting the group into a peppy mood.

The cheerleaders then took charge of the meeting. Blanche Harris, last year's cheerleader, led the group in the pep songs.

His One Regret

She insisted on taking innumerable frocks with her, and they arrived at the station loaded with luggage.

"I wish," said the husband thoughtfully, "that we'd brought the piano."

"You needn't try to be sarcastic," came the frigid reply. "It's not a bit funny."

"I'm not trying to be funny," he explained, sadly. "I left the tickets on it." —Washington Labor.

The Village Cut-Up

Judge: "Well, here you are again, Rastus."

Rastus: "Yessuh, bos. Ise back afore you again, but dis time Ah got a cause."

Judge: "Well, what is it, Rastus?"

Rastus: "Judge, what would you do if someone steal your wife?"

Judge: "I'd cut her company, Rastus, and let it go at that."

Rastus: "Dat's jes' what Ah did—and Ah cut him deep."
