The busiest period of the entire school year is at hand during the next two weeks. Student organizations are making their final plans and students are busy preparing for three days of final examinations slightly less than two weeks distant.

This morning the junior class held its final meeting choosing officers for next year and showing some moving picture films taken on the recent junior sneak.

During the next week plans for the coming year will be outlined before the student body when the student council, the Y organizations, the M club, the W. A. A. and the faculty give programs in the three chapel periods for this purpose. Each organization head will set forth the aims and objectives of his organization.

On Wednesday the orchestra will picnic in the afternoon.

The sophomores will hold their final meeting on Thursday of May 24 at which the officers for next year will be elected. The freshmen have not made definite plans for their last meeting.

Also scheduled for May 24 is a piano recital by Ronald Vetter.

Dr. V. F. Schwalm will give the annual reception for the seniors at his home on Saturday, May 25. He will preach the Baccalaureate sermon the next evening.

Beginning on Monday and continuing for the remaining three days of school the final examinations will close the regular school term. On Tuesday Gulah Hoover will present a senior recital.

In the last chapel program of the year student awards for activities this year will be made. On the following day the seniors will give a class program in the chapel.

The Thespian club and the M Club are planning to hold their final meetings soon.

World Service Meets

An inspiring worship service was held by the World Service group last Tuesday evening. The meeting was opened by a short period of group singing after which Viola Holdender opened the meeting by reading a Bible passage and leading in prayer. Velma Ketter and Galen Orden gave talks on "What Christianity Means to Me."

A CAPPELLA CHOIR SINGS AT NEW GOTTLAND CHURCH

The A Cappella Choir gave a program at the New Gottland church, near McPherson last Tuesday. The choir, which has been very active during the year, has several engagements yet before the close of the College year. This organization will give a program in Lorraine, Kansas, Sunday, May 20; they will also give special numbers in the Baccalaureate service and Graduation exercises and will present an entire chapel program sometime in the near future.

INDUSTRIAL ART DEPT. HAS VARIETY OF WORK

Keene Cement and Metal Used In Projects; Women Take Regular Woodwork

Work in the Industrial Art department of McPherson College has been characterized this year by its variety. Projects of wood, metal, and Keene cement have been worked out, and a considerable amount of research work has been done by the young men and women in the department.

Besides the class in Home Mechanics, especially for the young women of the College, the regular Woodwork course has been taken by three young women along with the young men. Other classes in the department include Wood Finishing, Wood Turning, Mechanical Drawing, and Theory and Practice in Industrial Arts.

The value of design has been stressed in all classes. Some projects have been re-designed and a number of project designs are entirely original this year.

A vanity for use on top of a chest of drawers is one of the new projects made by the Home Mechanics class. Some of the other projects are foot stools, magazine racks, and corner shelves.

Clip boards, book ends, sewing cabinets, a powder table, a dining table, and walnut chests are among the projects made by the woodwork class in which both young men and young women participate. Inlay has been used on several pieces.

The class in Theory and Practice in Industrial Arts has been working recently with metal and Keene cement. The cement is turned something like wood, and when the article is finished it resembles mottled marble.

Some exceptional work has been done in Mechanical Drawing. Research has been made in fields of woodwork, wood finishing, and wood turning. Papers handed in by woodwork classes have been bound by the College library. A text in Wood Finishing has been compiled by the students of that class. Harry Prantz is the author of a Wood Turning text which will probably be revised next year.

There have been two exhibits of part of the work done in the Industrial Arts department. The first was in the shop during the Regional Conference; the second was in the window of the B. K. store on All Schools Day. There will be another exhibit, however, at which all the work done this year will be shown. It will be held in the woodwork rooms during the last week of school.

Clever Playlet Given

A short playlet was given last Friday in chapel, "All on a Summer's Day," by Colin Clements. The part of Number One, a pretty young girl, was played by Una Ring; Number Two, who verged on being an old maid, was cleverly portrayed by Ruth Tice; Number Three, a decided spinster, was well characterized by Modena Kauffman. A negro Mammy, a dark messenger of fate, was played by Dorothy Matson. The skit had a clever, though nonsensical plot, and was called by many students one of the best chapel programs of the year. It was coached by Una Ring with the help of Miss Della Lehman.

DELIVERY DATE FOR QUADRANGLE MAY 25

Completion of Book Set
Tentatively at This Date;
Nearly All Sold

The 1934 Quadrangle is rapidly nearing completion. The McPherson Republican, printers of the Quadrangle, has only a few days of work left and the printing will all be completed. After the printing has been done, a few days will be required for binding the books and then they will be ready for delivery. No exact date has been set by the staff for delivery due to some last minute hold-up that might take a little extra time. If nothing happens that will interfere with the staff's plans, the books will be ready for delivery about a week before commencement.

The business staff reports that the 22 books that they had for sale on Monday has been reduced to 10 and indications point to a complete sell out. Classes and organizations are making final settlement for their space in the "Quad" so as to be sure of getting their books when they come out.

OTTAWA U. TRACKMEN CONFERENCE CHAMPS

Ottawa, Kas., May 11—Ottawa university won the Kansas conference track and field meet with the highest total of many years, 73 1-5 points from eight firsts, two other victory ties and a mass of other places.

A crowd of 1,000 gathered under the Cook Field floodlights to witness the wrestling of the title Baker, Ottawa's rival, held for seven years.

The College of Emporia, a new conference member, was second with 52 points. Baker had 20 1-5; McPherson, 9 8-15, and Wesleyan, 8 8-15.

Jack Richardson, Ottawa, freshman, broke the furlong record by one-tenth second with his 21.5-second dash and tied the 10-second century time. Gene Farrow of Baker operated on for appendicitis two weeks ago, set both marks in 1932 at Ottawa. Kimble of Emporia set a new mark of 148 feet 8 inches in the discus. The old mark of 132 feet 2 inches was set by Lange of Baker in 1930.

Lee Allen Casida of Ottawa was high scorer with 14 points from firsts in low hurdles and broad jump and tied for first in high jump. Kimble, also tying in high jump and with first in discus and second in broad jump, had second place with 12 points.

McPherson had only a part of their track squad entered in the conference meet, but nearly all the men placed in some event. Haun tied for first with four others in the pole vault; Miles took third in the 100 yard dash; Custer took third in the high jump; Wiggins took a fourth in the javelin and tied for fourth in the high jump; Meyer took a third in the discus throw.

FACULTY MEMBERS SPEAK AT COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM

Dr. V. F. Schwalm gave the commencement address and Dr. Ray C. Petry was the principal speaker at the dinner for the county grade school graduates held in the community building yesterday.

The ladies of the Brethren Church prepared the meal.

Y Organizations at Bethel

Students of the Y organization gave an exchange program at a meeting of the Bethel organizations last Thursday.

The program included a piano solo by Gulah Hoover, short talks by Neva Root, Velma Keller, Paul Booz, and Elmer Staats, on the theme of higher loyalties, and a vocal duet by Lois Edwards and Wayne Carr.

The universe would not be rich enough to buy the vote of an honest man.—St. Gregory.

IN MOVE FOR STATE PEACE ORGANIZATION

Student peace leaders from the campuses of Kansas Colleges will meet on Tuesday, May 29, at Friends University.

Paul Harris of the National Council For Prevention of War will aid in the formation of the organization through which student peace leaders will work in the future. Conferences and speeches will make up the day's program.

STUDENTS HOLD DEBATE ON FRESHMAN HAZING

Affirmative Argument Wins in First Forensic Club Meeting

Freshman hazing would be abolished in McPherson College if the students in the Forensic Club were right in giving their decision to the affirmative in a debate held last Monday evening on the question, "Resolved: That freshman hazing should be abolished in McPherson College." It was the club's first meeting since its organization last week.

Upholding the affirmative side of the question were Victor Moorman and Marie Stover. The affirmative contended that hazing as it is carried on by the upperclassmen of McPherson College breaks the morale of the new student, frequently results in physical injury, decreases enrollment by driving away the student who does not sanction it and it cultivates hatred among the students on the "campus creating cliques and sets."

John Adrian and Gladys Riddell upholding the tradition on the campus stated that in addition to destroying an old custom the removal of hazing would leave no means to destroy the feeling of superiority that exists in the minds of many freshmen. Hazing, they believed, helps the student to become adjusted to the environment of college life, offers no injury, and should remain until something better can be arranged to replace it. Many of the students actually look forward to the hazing which every student receives in college.

Since this was the first meeting of the organization the new constitution which has been drawn up was read by Emma Schmidt. Geraldine Burdette gave a delightful reading entitled "Here Comes the Bride."

There will be no more meetings this year.

The geology and survey of science students at Southwestern College on a recent field trip gathered about thirty varieties of fossils. One of the requirements of the course in geology is to collect twenty-five different varieties of fossils.

Problem of Adjustment in Home Community Is Studied in World Service Group

(By Herbert McPegle)

The World Service Group recently presented a constructive program devoted to the analysis and solution of vital problems of the college student in his home. Y. P. D. The following is a brief condensation of a talk on the "Analysis of Problems."

Forewarned is forearmed, so a brief critical analysis of the problems should prepare students for the coming months. Our criticism is not fault finding as an end in itself but is a means to an end, for the ultimate objective of true criticism is always betterment, an ever beckoning goal. To effect this we must pierce directly to the heart of the problems which must be solved if we hope to have a vital growing organization.

Of major importance is that adjustment of the student to his old environment, working into the home group, without friction or an overbearing air of egotism, is absolutely essential, and is dependent entirely upon the tact and personality of the individual. The realization that such an adjustment is necessary leads to an evaluation of our educational advantage and we are accordingly careful in our speech and actions. Our old high school friends are handicapped, perhaps through no fault of their own. However that may be we can neither bring them up, suddenly, to the level of thinking on which we frolic nor can we draw the curtains of our minds and entirely obscure the realms in which our thinking lies.

It is planned to have the class song set to special music composed by Gulah Hoover and sung by the Women's Trio.

Members of the class, of which Newell Wine, of Enders, Nebraska, is president, are as follows:

The attendance is the basis of every organization. In numbers there is strength, not only physically but mentally, for added breadth of ideas is presented. Persons, absent because of conflicting interests, may be attracted by showing that such interests may be gratified, but must be subordinated to the group welfare. Disinterested persons can be roused from their lethargy by personal visits during which we set forth the objectives toward which we strive.

Capable leaders realize the necessity for efficient organization. Inter-action between various committees must be kept at a maximum, for co-operation is at a premium in securing well-coordinated activities.

The needs of the group must be determined to make the programs

Pledged to full cooperation in constructive campus projects.

To The Senior

The Senior who is leaving the sheltering wings of the campus within a few weeks has a new and interesting world to look forward to. No graduating class within the past five or six years has so many interesting experiences ahead of him. The vast changes—economic, social, and political—which have been brought about since the class of '33 will place the new graduate into a scene of different surroundings.

To the graduating senior there is the prospect of employment, to him there is a world of hope, to him there lies ahead a government of far-reaching social ideals, to him lies ahead a changed attitude toward public morals to him there rises the challenge of BRINGING ABOUT A NEW SOCIAL ORDER.

Youth today can be constructive by casting off the ideals of a selfish and greedy society, by disavowing the entire war system, by insuring a democratic government, by raising the moral standards of a decaying world, by bringing the new deal to a complete and satisfactory completion.

The class of '34 must assume its share of its burden in bringing about these changes.

In Retrospect

In this, the last issue, the Spectator Staff wishes to thank all of those who have made it possible to put out the "Spec" for thirty weeks of the school year.

The news organ of the modern college is necessarily a cooperative venture. Without the aid of every member on the staff the paper would have been impossible. Covering the campus each week involves a great amount of labor and time.

This year we have attempted to place before the students of McPherson College a paper which covered all of the news events of the week, make it interesting to the reader, and to provide emphasis upon those things which we deemed to be important.

Our task has been an enjoyable one. We hope that you have enjoyed reading the paper each week. The business and editorial staff take this means to thank each of you for your cooperation during this year.

vital and satisfying. This is extremely difficult when the variance in age is ten or fifteen years. Something stimulating to both extremes must be included in all programs. The younger ones can hardly comprehend the higher spiritual values and must be given something physical and tangible. The older ones must then be shown the relation between the secular and the religious, and how pertinent the physical and psychological phenomena are to the study and comprehension of man's relation to the cosmos. By this method programs can and must be made to solve practical problems. This problem is second to none for the programs are the food upon which our organization must live.

Lastly, financial problems may harass some groups. District membership dues must be paid. Voluntary local projects, though not absolutely necessary, lend a sense of satisfaction from having rendered service freely and cheerfully. Cooperation in overcoming a common obstacle gives unification, provides impetus not present initially, and instills confidence in our own power and ability. These problems present a formidable foe, but by diligent, ceaseless effort a vital worthwhile

They'll Sing Her Praise

A student who leaves our college walls this year after having been with us only two years is Corinne Suter. She received her college work in her freshman and sophomore years at Mt. Morris College. Miss Suter has been active in Y. W. C. A. while in college and was a member of the cabinet of this organization at both colleges. She was also a member of the deputation team at Mt. Morris. Miss Suter will receive her degree in education this spring.

Paul Sherfy will finish his fourth year in McPherson College and will receive his diploma in Biology. Paul has been a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet and has sung in the boys' glee club and school chorus. This year he was vice-president of his class and during his sophomore year was assistant advertising manager of the Spectator.

Una Ring, a very outstanding senior, will receive her diploma in English this spring. Una has been very prominent in the field of dramatics, being a member of the Thespian Club and the president of this organization this year. She has also taken part in numerous plays. She has been a Y. W. C. A. cabinet member too.

Alex Richards' life in college has not been merely the humdrum work of the classroom. He has been on several interesting trips; one which took him through Mexico with Professor H. H. Nininger. Collecting meteorites and fossils have also been a part of Richards' work. His major is Biology.

David Pearson, a highly experienced student, will receive his degree this spring. Pearson has attended Bethany for two years and taught school for eight years before coming to McPherson.

Wilbur Yoder, one of the popular seniors and owner of a red Chevrolet, will receive his degree in Commerce. He is a member of the M Club, having received two letters in basketball. His first two years at McPherson Yoder was president of his class. This year he is Business Manager for the Quadrangle.

Newell Wine is a great lover of Arnold Hall and is often seen thereabouts. Wine is president of his class this year and treasurer of the Student Council. He is a member of the "M" Club having played four years of football.

Lester Pote has earned two letters in track. This year he is president of the Y. M. C. A. and also a member of the Quadrangle staff. His major is in Biology.

Warner Nettleton, from Minnesota, a man with a popular tenor voice, will receive his degree in Biology. Nettleton has been active in the music organizations of the College, a member of the men's Quartet and A Cappella Choir.

The home economics' Home Management house at K. S. T. C., Pittsburg, recently observed an "International Week" by emphasizing Hungarian, Italian, Spanish, French, and Chinese foods.

organization is formed and is in itself a full ample reward for all our labor.

Campus Chaff

We hear that when one of our co-eds got extravagant and bought a coker, a reprimand from Mother Emmert was forthcoming. She wrote home about her finances, and in the next mail she received a quarter from her aunt telling her to buy the tallest drink she could find and not tell anyone about it.

Maxine Ring was eating a sandwich and she remarked that the peanut butter always stuck to the roof of her mouth. Our eminent jitterser suggested brightly, "Well, why don't you eat it upside down?"

The Y. M. and Y. W. cabinets had made all their plans to go on an all night retreat last week end, and the girls decided at the last minute that they would be unable to go. Nothing was keeping the boys from going, but they would not go without the girls. Almost looks as if the girls were more of an attraction than the retreat.

You can trust a girl to know her cosmetics even if she doesn't know her poets. The Victorian Poets class was studying "Enoch Arden", when we heard one girl ask, "I wonder if he was any relation to Elizabeth Arden."

When we were at a meeting the other night, a girl got up who was supposed to read the scripture. As she arose, she whispered to the person nearest, "Well, stop me if you have heard this one."

Dean Replogle (speaking about the work for the rest of the year): Now is everyone clear?
Student: Yeah, clear behind.

If you were at the Junior-Senior banquet you remember that Pearson sat at a table with three other boys. It is reported that he said that he was glad that he didn't have to sit beside any of the girls, because he wanted to be true to his fiancée back home. Well, this is news. So there's a woman in the case, eh?

Not to be outdone by the Juniors and seniors, the lower classmen went out and had a little picnic all by themselves at Twin Elms. Before they left, there were only 19 who wanted to go, but after they got out there, the number had mysteriously doubled. And while they were gone, the naughty upperclassmen plotted for revenge and stacked the rooms of the unsuspecting Freshies and Sophs. Tsk, Tsk. In Sunday School we were taught to return good for evil.

Glen has recently been appointed V.I. official guardian. Everybody found this out when he refused to leave her side at the picnic, even tho' everyone else was playing ball, swimming, etc.

And by the way, Galen Fields couldn't go in swimming because he did not have any suit, so he proceeded to fall into the river and get himself all wet instead. We would advise him to take off his shoes at least next time.

They say it's an ill wind that blows nobody good. Some of the members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet backed out of going on the Joint Y. cabinet retreat last week end. This is one time when the indecisiveness of women came in handy, for everybody would have got a good soaking Saturday night if they had gone.

Too bad, too bad. Columbus is wrecked and can't discover America. (In case you didn't know, Columbus is the tin lizzie belonging to the Fields brothers. They had a little wreck in it a few days ago, and now it is in the shed for repairs.)

Since it's E. Sunday night, everybody is contagious, and there are all sorts of tales abroad about babbling mountains, twittering brooks, glistening birds, etc. The spring air is also providing a great deal of love for the various fellow women available. And in conclusion I wish to say . . .

It's come to the point that couples can't go week-ending without all sorts of gossip flying around them when they don't get home until late Monday afternoon. We were sure relieved when Tuffy and Fathe came back still two people.

Do you remember a sly rumor a month or so ago to the effect that one of the girls in the dorm was secretly engaged? Well, we got it on pretty good authority that that story was just so much poppycock, so if you had any pet theories on the matter, just put your minds at rest and forget the matter.

We have heard the Y. M. lounge room called everything from the dungoon to the underworld, but the best cognomen yet comes from Rev. Evans. He was looking for someone the other day when he stuck his head in the door of this particular room. "Is this Hades?", he asked.

Since chapel the other day, we all know where Una keeps those love letters she gets from Wilbur. Oh dear, oh dear!

SUCCESSFUL YEAR IN M. C. ATHLETICS

Hold Good Records in Football, Basketball, Track, and Tennis

McPherson College, under the direction of Coach Melvin J. Binford, is now completing what is probably the best all round year in intercollegiate athletics in the history of the college.

Coach Binford, ably assisted by Coach Lester E. "Bud" Selves turned out a football team last fall that won more games than any McPherson College team had ever won previously. The Binford-Selves team won seven games and lost two during the season. In conference play the Bulldogs won three and lost one to finish second in the Conference. McPherson's only defeat in the conference was to Ottawa, the title holders.

In basketball the Bulldogs played good ball all season and were noted for their ability to overcome a lead. Coach Binford's basketballers won 13 games and lost four in conference and non-conference competition. Within the Conference McPherson won eight and lost two to tie with College of Emporia for the Kansas Conference championship.

The Bulldog athletes have fared equally well in the spring sports, track and tennis. The track men competed in four meets prior to the conference meet and won first place in three out of the four meets. At the conference meet, with only a limited number of the squad competing, McPherson took fourth place.

Coach Binford's tennis squad has an enviable record for the past season. In match play the Bulldogs are undefeated for the year. During the season the McPherson tennis players played to a tie with Bethany and won all other matches whether it was a dual meet or triangular. At the recent conference meet the McPherson doubles team won the championship and took third and fourth in the conference in singles which gave them a better record than any of the other conference schools.

All in all it has been a great year for the Bulldog athletes and Coach Binford and his assistant, Selves. But, still better than that the prospects for next year look exceedingly bright with most of the lettermen in each sport eligible for further competition.

SPECTATOR MAKING SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION OFFER OF 75c

The Spectator of 1934-'35 is now making a special offer of a year's subscription for 75c. This makes it possible for students to send the Spectator home for a full year at a worth-while saving, the regular subscription price being $1. Seniors and alumni can have it sent to them also at this price and thus keep in touch with school activities after graduation. This special offer is being made only until the opening of school next fall. After that time the regular rate of $1 will again be in effect. Subscriptions can be handed to Robert Booz, the business manager, or mailed to The Spectator.

MERITS VALUE OF MARKS GIVEN BY INSTRUCTORS

An interesting statistical research study of marks given by teachers is being made by Mr. David Pearson. The study includes:

- A study of the distribution of marks by teachers, departments, and a correlation of marks in various schools.
- Relation between marks and withdrawal from college.
- Relation between marks and ability such as mental ability tests, personality tests, socio-economic tests, vocational success or part taken in non-vocational student enterprises.

It is planned to extend the study to include also experimentation with the development and use of the more objective forms of tests and examinations, also a study of the number of students making grades commensurate with their mental ability and a special study of the gifted students i. e. what sort of homes they come from, high school records, social ability, etc.

Principles Class Has Breakfast

The Principles of Speech class gave a breakfast in Harnly Hall last week with each member speaking as a representative of some country. Miss Della Lehman, instructor of the class, acted as toastmaster. The meal was served by the students of the Home Economics class.

Departments Have Displays

Three departments of McPherson College presented displays downtown yesterday as a part of the All-Schools' program. The art, home economics, and industrial arts departments work was displayed in Anthony's, Penney's, and the B. K. stores respectively.

Nature Program Presented In C. E. Sunday Night

A nature program was given by the C. E. organization last Sunday evening in the church basement in place of the vesper service which had been planned.

The ladies' trio sang a number after the opening scripture reading by Dorothy Dresher. Edith Richards talked on "Seeing God in Nature" and Modena Kauffman gave a reading. Mildred Wagoner was accompanied in a chalk talk by Corrine Bowers, violinist, and Bernice Dresher, pianist. Melvin Landes spoke on "The Challenge of Nature to Active Christian Living."

Eates Program in Y Meeting

In an effort to arouse interest in the Estes Park conference at Estes Park, Colorado, this summer, a program dealing with this subject was given at a joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. Tuesday morning. Royal Yoder and Mildred Stutzman, who attended the Y. camp at Estes last summer, each spoke on the various phases of the conference. Yoder spoke of the morning programs, and dwelt especially on the leaders of the various programs and of the camp in general. Miss Stutzman told in her impressions of the camp about the hikes, and other amusements and entertainment. A vocal duet was given by Lois Edwards and Wayne Carr, and vocal solos by Loyal Miles and Ernest Sweetland.
