American Athletics are Interesting Says Toshiro Tsubakawa, Jap Student

He Plans to Obtain a Masters Degree and Return to Tokyo as an Instructor at His Alma Mater

An interesting and pleasing personality has appeared upon the campus of McPherson College. This personality is Toshiro Tsubakawa, Japanese student, who has joined the ranks of the delvers of knowledge.

Toshiro is a graduate of Meiji Gakuen College of Tokyo. He first touched American soil in September, 1935, when he attended the International Relations Conference at Chicago. From a brief stop at Chicago, he journeyed to Hope College at Holland, Michigan, where he spent his first semester.

It was through the efforts of the World Service group that Toshiro Tsubakawa was influenced to come to McPherson College. He has, this semester, entered our midst as a friend and as an influence toward favorable international relationship and understanding. Toshiro intends to make McPherson College his home for several years until he has obtained his A. B. degree. He plans to extend his stay in America until he receives his masters degree and then return to his Alma Mater in Tokyo as an instructor.

Brethren Church Observes College Day with Program

McPherson College Day was observed by the College Hill Brethren Church this last Sunday. The program for both the morning and evening services were given by McPherson College and its friends.

An offering of $332.80 was raised Sunday morning for the benefit of the college. This sum is well over the quota for the McPherson church and will be used for the college needs.

The Student Choir sang the anthem, "Lift Up Your Heads." The college male quartette, Charles Netleton, Ernest Sweetland, Oliver Andrews, and Chris Johansson, gave two numbers, "Thanks Be to God," and "The First Psalm."

The addresses of the morning were given by Leonard Crumpacker and Dr. V. F. Schwalm, President of McPherson College. Mr. Crumpacker spoke on the desirability and the benefits derived to individuals from McPherson College. Dr. Schwalm gave a comparative critique of the Brethren Colleges of the United States.

Kawaga and His Works is Topic of World Service Discussions

Kawaga and the world movement of cooperatives were the subjects of the World Service Tuesday evening.

The devotions consisted of a group song "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" and responsive reading on the general theme of "God is a Shepherd." The opening prayer was the Lord's Prayer.

Willard Flaming gave a talk based upon Kawaga and the ideas of Kawaga on cooperatives. Toshiro Tsubakawa who is a friend of Kawaga gave a few brief comments upon the work of Kawaga.

A general discussion of cooperatives was given by Clarence Sink, Leonard Lowe, Ralph Sherry, and Jay Hertzler.

Any others who desire to enter should see the coach, Professor Hess, at once.

Another local oratorical contest will be the peace oratorical contest to be held Sunday evening, March 29, at the Brethren Church. Those who expect to enter should begin preparation at once. Local prizes for the peace contest will be $7.50, $5.00, and $2.50.

Carnegie Endowment Gives Recent Books

They Deal with World Peace and International Relations

Each school semester the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace sends a group of books to the International Relations club. The shipment of books for this semester arrived a few days ago. There were seven books and five pamphlets included. The names of the books and the remarks made concerning them by the Carnegie Endowment follow:

"The Strategy of Raw Materials," by Brooks Emeny—No intelligent arguments regarding the possible isolation of the United States can take place without authoritative information as to the problem of access to raw materials. This book, with its numerous maps and charts, furnishes just such information.

"Population Theories and Their Application," by E. F. Penrose—In the discussions at the round tables of the International Relations Club Conferences held this fall, population problems came up so frequently that there was no hesitancy in selecting this book as one of the spring installments.

"American Neutrality," by Charles Seymour—While by no means a complete study of American neutrality 1914-1917 this book, written by an eminent historian, deserves serious and careful consideration.

"By Pacific Means," by Manley O. Hudson—This book is of especial interest just now when the use of pacific means in the settlement of disputes is being put to so severe a test. The author is a well-known authority on the subject discussed and has recently been nominated by the American Group as Judge on the World Court.

"Peace in the Balkans," by Norman J. Paeteloff—This is the only work in the English language on the Balkan Conferences, and the development of the Balkan Entente. It is well documented and contains important texts such as the Statute of the Balkan Entente and the text of the Little Entente Treaties of Alliance.

"A Tender of Peace," by John Bates Clark—The author of this book is internationally known as a political economist and has had unusual opportunity during his long life to study and reflect upon the problems set forth in these brief pages.

"International Delusions," by George Malcolm Stratton—This is a discussion of war, its causes and possible cure from the psychological point of view, by a well-known psychologist.

The names and authors of the pamphlets are: "Federal States and Labor Treaties," William L. Tindall Taylor; "Sanctions," The Royal Institute of International Affairs, London; "America Must Act," Francis Bowes Sayre; Reprint from "Fortune"; "Economic Progress Without Economic Revolution," Harold G. Moulton; "Students Against War," two addresses by Ernest Hatch Wilkins.

These books are in the library and any one who wishes to do so may use them.

Happy Birthday!

A Cappella Concert Offers Good Variety

Program Has Nursery Rime, Songs of Palestino, Noble Cain, Rubenstein, Kashetz

Many New Members

Catherine Penner Barton Will Sing as Guest Soloist—She Is Former M. C. Instructor

If there has been a prevailing belief that the purpose of the A Cappella Choir concert is merely to provide an evening's entertainment, that belief should be dispelled immediately, because were this to be the sole end of the many tedious weeks of practice, the achievement of that group of singers would be slight indeed.

Rather, in the minds of "Cheesy" and his singers is a desire to provide a cultural stimulation for their audience.

One may turn to his radio any evening for entertainment, but where will he find, on the same program, the variety that will be presented by the Choir? That long cherished nursery rhyme "Hi Diddle Diddle," put to a clever choral arrangement, along with some of the fine musical literature composed by such masters as Palestino, Kashetz, Rubenstein, Noble Cain, and many other noted authors of music.

At the beginning of the year the instructor found it necessary to introduce, as new members into the Choir, seven sopranos, four tenors, four altos, and one bass. This made a total of sixteen new members in organization of thirty-eight. The installing of these new members revealed a season of hard practice ahead, and induced "Cheesy" to drill into the minds of his singers the idea of attaining the goal set up by previous choirs, and even pushing on to higher levels, although they were handicapped with so many new members being initiated into the system new to them.

An innovation has been made in the presentation of the annual concert, by introducing a guest soloist, Catherine Penner Barton, a former instructor of music in this school. Mrs. Barton has made a fine reputation for herself as a soloist, and her appearance with the Choir is being regarded with a great amount of interest by those who have heard her sing.

With Catherine Penner Barton as the guest soloist of one of the finest musical organizations in the Middle West, the program tonight is to be the type of program that the student body has been asking for.

Mohler Attends Christian Education Meeting in Chicago

Professor Mohler attended a National Board of Christian Education meeting at Chicago, Illinois, Feb. 7. The executive board called a meeting for the purpose of electing two new secretaries to help in the adult department. This board plans programs of Sunday school, young people's societies, peace education, and temperance. Professor Mohler holds the position of vice-chairman on this board.

The International Council of Christian Education also held a meeting during Professor Mohler's stay in Chicago.

Schedule Adjusted to Conference

Next week the Monday and Thursday 10 o'clock classes will meet at 11 o'clock. The 10 o'clock class on Wednesday will be entirely omitted from the schedule next week. The reason for these changes is that chapel will be held every day. Next week's chapels will be very much worthwhile with speeches made by persons who are here to speak at Regional Conference.

Here's Your Chance for Library Browsing

NO DOUBT there are many students who at times have felt a desire to sit down in the library, forget studies, and worries, and just browse. There are any number of books which we have wanted to look into, but never have felt that we had time to take off—books of all sorts, some fiction, some of a historical nature, some biography, some source material, and even some encyclopedic matter.

Again, we never seem to get time to catch up on our intellectual and cultural pursuits, such as current magazine reading. The months go by and although we promise ourselves that this particular month we will try and read some in each of our favorite periodicals, we always find ourselves sans at the end of the period.

The creative leisure commission has recognized this deficiency in student life and has devised a plan by which it is hoped that students may be given more opportunity for the diversions mentioned above. Beginning this Saturday night, the library will be opened each Saturday night for an hour and a half for the sole purpose of allowing students to browse at their leisure. An attendant will be in charge from 7:30 till 9 o'clock, and all students who desire to do so may come and read whatsoever they please at their convenience, without thought of study or work.

Although the intention of the committee is that no study will be carried on, this particular pursuit will not be forbidden. However the attendant is not to be provided to check out reference books, but rather to keep order and supply any reading desired for sheer entertainment.

The continuation of this plan is dependent upon two things: first, upon the "preservation" of a decent amount of order in the library; this project is not designed to make a playroom of that building; second, very definitely upon the expression of interest as evidenced by active use of the new facilities.

It is hoped that the "browsing privilege" will be used and not abused, and that cultural stimulation will be aroused and afforded by this unusual plan. If students take advantage of such opportunities they will at once take care of the problem of dead Saturday nights and also the problem of doing the leisure reading which has so consistently been postponed.—K. W.

The Biggest Room is the Room for Improvement

WHILE on the subject of improvements for the campus, here are a few which impress us as being worthy of attention:

1. First of all, we suggest that there be placed a bell on second floor of the boys' dormitory to announce dinner and the rest of the meals. After all, the fellows will get to dinner somehow, and Pries won't save any more on food bills; therefore, things might just as well be arranged for the convenience of the gentlemen. The digestive process would work better, we feel, if they were not subjected to the annoyance of having to run like—— to get there on time.

2. We suggest as an economy measure that, during the winter months, the boys' dormitory be rented to Wilson Bros. or Cudahy & Co. for purposes of cold storage. There is perhaps no place in the country which approximates the approach to absolute zero experienced within dormitory walls on cold nights and during frigid days. Well, one conclusion: it is said that cold weather stirs the enterprise and initiative of the individual.

3. Again, we nominate for extinction those individuals who turn out the lights and lock the door of the Y. W. room, in a misguided attempt to monopolize the only decent social center on the campus. 'Nuff said.

4. That is enough said except to mention that it would probably be a good idea to award a nickel plated medal to Forney, commonly known as chief janitor and horn squawker on the campus, for his valiant defense of the chastity of the Y. W. room on week nights. Poor man; he might get into trouble if some one set foot in that particular room on a Thursday evening.

5. And finally, we propose that there be passed a law making all horns on the campus forbidden, and the squawking thereof a capital offense. Then we could return to the good old days of the silver toned whistle, and the misbegotten offspring of perdition which now exerts its blatant appeal abroad could be relegated to the museum of fourth floor, Harsley, for the observance of amused posterity.—K. W.

As It Seems To Me

Revolution or Evolution?

Today we have some selfish minorities which organize very powerfully to intimidate our law makers. Thus, they are able to put anything into effect that helps their interests. Many times these privileges are identical to the interests of the people as a whole.

Right now the bonus racketeers are doing this very thing.

They use their power by means of lobbying to put across their measures. Speaking of lobbying brings up the thought that even some of our educators' hands are not entirely ly spotless of this very thing. This is well shown by the tactics used by some teachers to get federal aid. We must admit that ex-soldiers do have some hidden prestige. Any man such as these who have taken their life into their own hands and come out alive are to a certain extent held in awe and reverence and may be one reason for their power. But still they are a minority group with excess power and prestige.

Lord Macaulay writing in 1848 about the U. S. says that a pure democracy like ours could not help but run down until destruction would come to liberty or civilization or even come to both.

You can see that he has a strong point. If people have faith in a certain dictator, they will go for him in time of distress. Europe has many excellent examples. In time of stress, the men who are interested and far sighted, are voted out of office. Thus prosperity is hindered instead of aided. In time of scarcity people will eat up all the corn and the seed corn besides. The next year we have an absolutely distressing result. The government is doing this very thing today. They are going farther into debt and using up all of the seed. We in turn are getting into a worse position than what we should be. Now don't get me wrong; we must have relief. We can not allow people to starve if it can be prevented, regardless of what happens.

Macaulay also stated that we must in time have a Caesar or Napoleon or be plundered by Huns and Vandals just as Rome was.

May be our only difference is that we could produce our own Huns and Vandals right in our own country. You allow our powerful minorities to have power like the bonus and other uprisings point that way.

We have the peculiar set-up of having England balancing her budget in these same times that we are running into debt. We had better discover the reason and correct the difficulty before we produce Huns and Vandals of our own to overwhelm us. Thus the proper evolution of our country can take place without revolution.

Maybe the picture has been painted too black, but there is a chance that violent revolt could break out and upset the proper balance as it has in other countries with devastating results. I have enough faith that we will not fall into this thing. However, the faith is not enough to overcome it; we must take action against it. The choice is before you, either evolution or revolution. The former is far more constructive if properly done. Which do you prefer?—An Interested Observer.

Commemoration of Lincoln's Birthday is C. E. Program

The regular McPherson College Christian Endeavor was held in honor of the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birthday Sunday night. The services were opened by singing two group hymns which were led by Paul Miller and accompanied by Lillys Frantz. Dorothy Dell played a piano solo.

Wanda Hoover led devotionals by reading two poems, "Lincoln, Man of the People," and "The Master." Dorothy Miller also read several poems on the worth of Lincoln. A group of three talks were given upon the life of Lincoln. The first of which was on the subject, "Lincoln's Devotion to His Ideals" given by Lowell Heiny. Many people think that because Lincoln did not join any church that he was not religious but his ideals were a great deal higher than many of our most religious persons today.

Corwin Bare told of the love affairs of Lincoln and some of the side lines that we seldom hear. Mr. Bare told us that while Lincoln made love quite at random he seemed less bold when the eventful wedding day was to come.

Junior Lichy gave a paper on "Lincoln's Near Tragedies" telling of some of Lincoln's life disappointments and difficulties.

Beard Gives Academic Advantage, Says Student

Losing an inferiority complex, finding a broadminded, intelligent girl or impersonating a faculty member are all as easy as growing whiskers, in the opinion of Herbert Jensen, University of Minnesota senior, who is the owner of the school's only undergraduate beard.

"Everyone I meet suggests a reason for my beard," he says. "Just to clarify the situation, let me say that I have not been disappointed in love. I am not trying to establish myself as a campus personality, and I am not mentally deficient."

"To me my beard has been more than just whiskers. Psychologically speaking, it has been a boon to me in getting rid of an inferiority complex; it gives me that virile feeling."

"I admit, though, that it doesn't exactly please most girls. But at least I have the assurance that any girl who goes out with me is broadminded and intelligent," say the bearded man, who has not revealed the number of such girls at Minnesota.

"My beard also gives me an academic advantage over the smooth-shaven student," Jensen argues. "Members of the faculty are extraordinarily cordial to me. They nod at me on the street and shake hands with me in the classroom. They treat me as a colleague. My beard gets the credit."

Cultivation of the beard has been a matter of perseverance, explains Jensen. It received a sever set-back when only two weeks old—a member of his fraternity brothers, doubtless motivated by petty jealousy, forcibly removed a considerable portion of it.—(A. C. P.)

Average University Professor Is One of World's Busiest Men

Instead of being a lazy individual who sticks to the campus because "it's a nice, easy life" the average university professor is one of the nation's busiest professional men, says Northwestern University, where a little study has been made. They found that the average teacher spent 9 hours a day in work connected with his classes and research, delivered 4.8 lectures during the year, traveled 1,213 miles, wrote two articles for publication, published a fifth of a book, taught evening classes, gave radio speeches and served as official for some learned society.

Girl is a Moving Force Behind Nye Munitions Investigations

A sharp-eyed, indefatigable 25-year-old girl has been revealed as the moving force behind the sensational discoveries of the Nye munitions committee. She is Miss Josephine Burns, former instructor in the department of history and political science at Mount Holyoke.

Miss Burns put in a solid year of research before the munitions investigating committee began its work. Tireless, she spent 15 hours a day in digging into forgotten documents, letters, pamphlets and state papers, and the data she amassed shocked the nation when it was presented by the Nye committee.

It was due mainly to Miss Burns' efforts that the senate investigation was able to prove that neither President Wilson nor Secretary of State Lansing were motivated in their negotiations by a sincere desire for neutrality.

Columnist at Ohio State University re-quotes the Cornell paper which relates how a professor of English received an essay which had been copied directly from a book. The professor announced that if the student guilty of plagiarism would see him after class, his name would not be divulgued.

When the class was over, he found five fidgety students waiting for him!

A national essay contest to encourage youth to express itself on matters of government, education and business is being urged on President Roosevelt.

Privately endowed universities and preparatory schools might be wiped out by "tax the rich" legislation, says Dr. James Rowland Angell of Yale.

Ten Harvard students, intrigued with nude snow bathing, have formed the Polar "Bare" club at Cambridge.

A national academy of public affairs, government-controlled along the lines of West Point and Annapolis, is proposed in a bill now before Congress.

Twenty-one professors and other experts have issued a booklet condemning the Townsend Plan as a "delusion."

Women Doctors Can Succeed

Women doctors have not only accomplished some of the best research work in America, but they are doing well in both institutional work and general practice. Dr. W. T. Sanger, president of the Medical College of Virginia, said recently in response to a virulent attack on women doctors by Dr. Oliver Wendell, California specialist, published in a nationally circulated magazine.

Dr. Sanger emphatically denied the California man's assertion that few women ever succeed in becoming good doctors.—(A. C. P.)

Spec-Yu-La-Shuns

We had a good introduction to this sinful column but our esteemed librarian just interrupted us and we can't recall it.

The prize story for this week hails from the Chem. dept. From various sources we learn that most of the freshmen were caught up on the quiz Monday when they couldn't get access to their concealed notes. In fact, it seems that some of them were embarrassed when the assistants quietly removed the notes that were hidden among their papers. Even some of the prominent freshmen were caught in the muddle. Needless to say, but most of the papers would be upgraded if they were marked F according to the assistants. It only goes to show that your sins will find you out. Late News reports say that further developments are expected before the Dr. returns.

We always considered it a tough break to be locked out of the house, but to get locked out during a first class blizzard is much tougher. Such is the predicament to a couple of girls the other night. That ought to teach them a lesson to get in on time after this.

We would like to know what shade of red that Amos Miller's face turned when Mrs. Vaniman asked him an embarrassing question last Sunday?

To the alarm clock setters we suggest that you set the alarm next time for 10:40 so that it will not disturb one's peaceful sleep. Anyway, it would be nice to have an alarm wake us up near the close of chapel. We also wonder why the owners recognized their alarm and went to claim it immediately after chapel. The only statement that they make is that they had nothing to do with the incident. That sounds like a good story, but there is always a story behind the story you know.

Library Floor Being Covered with Linoleum—New Books In

New linoleum is now being laid in the reading rooms of the library as a direct and immediate result of the recent gift. Recent additions to the book list are Janet, "Major Symptoms of Hysteria;" 1936 "World Almanac;" Bastian, "Editing the Day's News;" Kittenback, "Artist's Dictionary of Pronunciation;" Garrett, "Great Experiments in Psychology;" Reuter and Runner, "The Family;" Butcher, "Some Aspects of the Greek Genius;" Nimkoft, "The Child;" Mamadou, "Outline of General Psychopathology;" and Garrett and Schneck, "Psychological Tests, Methods and Results."

The International Relations club has given a number of books to the library which they received from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Incorrect Verb Tenses Found On Diploma Causes Problem

Petite Mary Sanford, just graduated from the University of Minnesota, has the University administration overwrought with excitement.

Scanning her nice, crinkly new diploma Miss Sanford noticed something ghastly in such a document:

Immediately she wrote a letter to the president of the college, saying, "The document reads, 'Know all men by these presents that the Board of Regents by virtue of the authority vested in them by the state of Minnesota have conferred upon . . .' The pronoun 'them' and the auxiliary verb 'have,' both plural, refer to the subject, 'Board,' which is a collective noun and is considered singular. The correct form are 'it' and 'has'."

At the next Regents meeting, Miss Sanford's plaint will be the first item of new business, the President has assured her.

Dental Pain Killer Given Too Much Publicity Before Tests

Dr. Leroy Hartman of the school of oral surgery, Columbia University, recently was credited all over the country with developing a new chemical formula for killing pain in teeth that are being drilled.

But now a reaction is setting in, and the public is finding that maybe it isn't all the newspapers said it was. Said Dr. Paul Kitchin of Ohio State University:

"The publicity given the new desensitizer is unfortunate in that anything which gives hope or promises as much relief as this does should have been put in the hands of the profession for a tryout before it was put into the minds of the public."

Members of Y. W. C. A. Learn Estes Songs in Last Meeting

The learning of Estes songs was the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Monday morning. A group of students who were fortunate in attending Estes last summer led the group in the singing. The collection of five songs that were used included, "We Are Climbing Jacob's Ladder," "Holderidris," "Lavender's Green," "Green Grow the Rushes, Oh," and the Estes theme song.

Dorothy Matson reminded the Y members of the coming Bethel Conference which is to be held Feb. 21, 22, and 23. Newton is but thirty miles, and conference fees are very reasonable. The Y cabinets feel that McPherson College should send a large delegation if not the largest delegation present. All students who are interested in going to this conference should see Dorothy Matson or Letta Wine, President of the Y. W. The dead line for your registration is Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Y. M. Hears Reports on Kagawa and K. C. Cooperative Meeting

The McPherson College Y. M. C. A. met at the regular period this week. For devotions Paul Heckman read a theme entitled, "The Call for Men;" a scripture from I Chronicles 26:8; a poem; and a prayer.

Jay Hertzer and Ralph Sherly spoke to the group concerning the Consumers' Cooperative association's meeting which they attended at Kansas City, Missouri Feb. 3 and 4. Their discussion centered around the lectures given by Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, noted Japanese religious worker and promoter of cooperatives in Japan and America.

To close the meeting Mr. Heckman gave the benediction.

Beginning next year, M. I. T. will limit its freshman class to 600.

Presbyterians Take Game from Bulldogs

Score is 30-17—Canines are Unable to Get Warmed Up—Defeat Cuts M. C.'s Chance for Title.

With one team cold and the other one hot College of Emporia defeated the McPherson College Bulldogs Tuesday night by a count of 30 to 17. The Presbyterians were able to hit the hoop while the Bulldogs could not make the ball go through.

The game was rough throughout and this defeat for McPherson cut down her lead for second place in the conference. At the half way mark C. E. held an 18 to 8 lead and had little trouble in coasting the remainder of the way to victory.

Downing and Rock led the Emporians' attack. Downing made a total of 11 points while Rock made eight. Meyer led the Bulldogs with six points. The box score:

Sophomores A Team is Intramural Leader

Seniors Rate Second—Freshman B Next—Juniors Place Fourth

For the last week or two there has been very little action seen in the intramural basketball games. At the present time the Sophomore A and the Seniors are leading the flock. The Sophomore A team has won four and lost none, while the Seniors have played only one and won it. The Freshman B team comes next in that it has won three and lost only one. The Juniors are in fourth place and then comes the Sophomore B team. The What-Nots and the Freshman A teams have neither won a game thus far.

The Sophomore A team has piled up 124 points to their opponents' 51. The Seniors have made 36 to their opponents' 34. The Freshman B team has made 114 points while their opponents have made 111. Mohler is the captain of the Sophomore A. Reinecker is at the head of the Senior team, while Yoder is taking charge of the Freshman B team.

Intra-mural standings:

University Student Says Job of Morgue Custodian is O. K.

When Paul Schroeder's phone rings in the early morning hours, it isn't a prankish friend calling to ask if he's sleeping well, or news that someone's finally died, and left him a million. Nine times out of ten it's the police, or state troopers, or the emergency ward of a hospital, with a request that Schroeder drop around with the bearers and pick up a little business.

Schroeder, a liberal arts student at Syracuse University, is official custodian of the city morgue from 6 p. m. to 4 a. m. of every day. The work doesn't bother him, he says—he took the job a year ago—and he thinks it may prove to have been a useful experience. He plans to enter medical school next fall. (A. C. P.)

SPORT LIGHTS

We surely are sorry that Coach Binford is ill and we hope for a speedy recovery. Considering how cold it got when the team invaded the eastern part of the state it is a wonder that most of the team didn't come back sick.

The Bulldogs won one and lost one last week and then dropped a game to Emporia last Tuesday. This still leaves the Bulldogs in second place in the conference.

Baker is still undefeated and the chances are rather thin for any one but McPherson to beat them. But there are still several dark horses in the conference who might slip up and hand them a defeat. We can see that there is still a chance for the Bulldogs to win the conference title.

We all know that Baker had a good team last year and that with the same team back this year that there is no reason why they shouldn't win the title.

The Bulldogs play Ottawa on the local court Friday night. There is considerable doubt as to whether or not Coach Binford will be on the sideline to coach his team to a victory. The Bulldogs have met the Braves once this year and come out on top and we look for the boys to win.

Let's see every student down there in the cheering section and help those Bulldogs beat the Braves. Let's give the cheerleaders some real support. What do you say?

Annual Spring Banquet of W. A. A. Set Now for April 3

The Women's Athletic Association has set a date for the annual W. A. A. banquet which is held each spring. The date now in consideration is set for April 3. At this banquet it is the privilege of each W. A. A. member to invite her guest.

The theme for this year's banquet will be Leap Year.

Initiation of all the new W. A. A. members will be held the week preceding the week of the banquet in order that all freshmen may attend who are eligible for membership.

It was also decided that if finances permitted the association would buy the awards to be given in the spring. This has not been in practice in recent years but it is now felt that since the girls put their services into the association they also should receive the awards as a definite award.

COLLEGE DAZE . . .

(From "Gourde," Green's Diary)

Thurs. 6. Dixie Melody Masters put on good program tonight in community building. Them guys could really sing. I liked it finely only I did feel kinda sorry for that.

The Speck said they sang at pep chapel and I was there but didn't see them, guess I'll have to go have my eyes tested. Forney run somebody out of the YW room tonight. The Bulldogs have met the Braves once this year and come out on top and we look for the boys to win.

down at Brights to-night, had a lot of fun pulling taffy and playing with mississippi dominoes.

Sat. S. Cole as all outdoors to-day, and so Forney sent me out shoveling snow off the walks, and dust. It wouldn't be so bad if they'd let a guy do it after a warm rain some day. I got so cold I froze up about as tight as Newberg's car when they wanted to start to Hutch. Lucky my mom was on the side away from the wind and the heat all blown over to it and it was warm, only it was unlucky cos everybody come with it and tracked up my room something fierce. I didn't know it ever thundered when it was as cold as this, I sure heard a lot of thunder when I was trying to sleep a little bit after dinner. Jezebel must of caught cold, cos she has been horse ever since the cold weather struck.

Sun. 9. Glad I went to church today. I got a real lift. I don't think it was what doc Schwalm said so much as how he said it, but he sure made me want to help get other guys out to college to help them keep from getting shipwrecked on the pitfalls of life. Took Her to CE, she sure laughed about Abe Lincoln feeling bad whenever he got engaged. I don't see what so funny about that, that plenty to make a guy serious.

Mon. 10. Some ruckus to-night about mid-night, some nut busted the hot water pipe in our wash room and I thought we was going to half to man the pumps or take to the life boats. The main guy seemed to be the first floor preacher, he must of been pulling some monkey business somewhere.

Tues. 11. I thought it'd be funny to put that alarm clock in cheep, but it wasn't, I felt pert near as bad as C. F. Ceesey did. Mohler sure had toleration and love shining out of his eyes for a couple minutes. I like the new chapel hours cos they give a guy lots more time to sleep. I git asleep so tight I don't hear Jezebel half of the time, which isn't missing so much at that. You have time to git in a lot more trouble if you miss too. Shucks, our boys got beat by C of E whoever or whatever that is. Sure wish coach would git well quick.

Wed. 12. Theres one question I wish would git found out and that who wrote the letter to Lucile? If she don't find out pretty soon I'm going to turn Merlock Jones and uphold the long arm of the law and sniff out the trail of the shark what did it. Wish theyed git us a good dinner bell so we wouldn't so many laughs at table one tonight, I wonder what's so funny. Probably nothing, that's what's funny about it. Some weather we been having, you have to look out the windy before you say whether it's a nice day or not. The powers that be sent us a lot of cold and snow etc. to-day, walks got so slick it was hard to keep in right side down, hope it gets better by tomorrow-night, I don't want to slip in to the Ocappella roundabout, we got tickets.
