

Crowd Enjoys Strange Drama

"Rossum's Universal Robots Presented To Large Audience

Leads Well Played

Philip Davis and Estelle Balle Impresario In Roles

Crowds of enthusiastic people thronged the halls of Sharp Hall in order to see the "hit-of-the-year" in drama. "R. U. R.", a drama in three acts and an epilogue was presented by the Dramatic Club last night in the college chapel.

The play was laid somewhere on our planet, and on this island was the central office of the factory of Rossum's Universal Robots. The unusual plot opened a few decades beyond the present time. At that time the factory had already turned out, following a secret formula, millions of manufactured workmen, living automats, without souls, desires or feelings, Robots. They were high-gear laborers, good for nothing but work.

Leads Introduced
Harry Domin, played by Philip Davis, was general manager of Rossum's Universal Robots. His secretary was Sullia, a Robotess, played by Gladys Shank. Domin's butler, Dean Franz, a Robot announced the arrival of Miss Helena Glory, President Glory's daughter. Estelle Balle played this role. She had come as a representative of the Human Society, and was trying to secure better treatment for the Robots.

As Dr. Fabry, played by Harold Mohler, and Dr. Gall, played by Fred Nace, enter the room, they are immediately interested in Miss Glory as was Dr. Haltemier, Dwight Horner, and Donat Bismar, Raymond Flory, Mr. Alquist, "Just a builder", carried by George Toland was a very effective character. The better attitude toward life in general was brought out by Mr. Alquist. Everyone of these managers fell in love with Helena and all intend to propose to her providing she does not accept Domin's proposal. After much persuading, she does, however, and the curtain falls on the first act.

Second Act
The second act opens exactly ten years later to the day. It was the Domin's wedding anniversary. At this time the Robots were revolting and the leader of the them, Rajdiss, Lowell Brubaker, was becoming uncontrollable. Nana, portrayed by Frances Campbell, Helena's maid and very skeptical of every Robot for which she had reason. Glen McGonigle, Harold Larsen, Robert Frantz, and Tony Voshell all took the part of these mechanical men.

In the last act the Robots attacked and closed in on Man. No one was alive but Mr. Alquist when the play ended. Helena Glory, the perfect lady and much loved by all, was the sole instigator of the rebellion although she was not aware of it. She was trying to "return good for evil".

In the epilogue the Robots demand that their race continue; but such to their disappointment, Mr. Alquist cannot make Robots. Helena, a robotess played by Margaret Davis, and Primus, a Robot played by Charles Pray, enter on the epilogue scene, and Alquist finds that Robots have been made by Dr. Gall to equal man, to have souls, desires and feelings. His last words to them were, "Go Adam; go Eve!" And we find that Nature won out after all.

Eighty To Chemistry Party

The Chemistry club had its annual party in the Student Union room on Friday evening. The party was sponsored by Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Hershey and appointed committees.

The evening was spent by playing various games. There were eighty members and guests present which is the largest number that ever attended one of these parties.

College Day Observed

A number of the Brethren churches throughout McPherson College territory observed December 5 as McPherson College Day in their churches. The purpose of the Christian Education and in the College and to raise funds for the future development of the college.

Dr. Schwalm reported a hearty response in the Iveser church in Iowa where he spoke on McPherson College Day. Dr. Bright, who attended the meeting at Morrill, and Dr. Metzler, who spoke at Wichita, first church, also reported interesting and worthwhile meetings.

Deputation Team Presents Service

La-Mar Bollinger Speaks To Sunday Evening Church Assembly

The deputation team that visited several churches during the Thanksgiving vacation was in charge of the Sunday evening program at the Brethren church, December 12.

Dorothy Dell, Opal Hoffman, Delbert Barley and Charles Wagner, composed a quartet, accompanied by Mildred Davis. La Mar Bollinger was the speaker who attended the team.

Sunday evening Mr. Bollinger spoke on "Elements of Power". Three principle elements of power were brought out. The first is faith, of which there is little in modern Christian living, for the people of today require concrete examples rather than explanations by way of the soul and faith. "Faith," said Mr. Bollinger, "is decision not discussion."

The second element of power mentioned was love. The love of God will make a distinct difference in our lives. In the last place, it was suggested that prayer is an important element of power. All around us we see the energy of physical matter and we can contact the power that controls our universe, through prayer. In conclusion Mr. Bollinger declared that each of us are to be witnesses of Christ both here and in the foreign field. Our commission is to find and aid those in human need.

Regional Conference Dates

February 21-22 has been set as the date for the Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees. Regional Conference will convene during the week of February 20 to 25. Make plans now to attend the Conference. Among the speakers at the Conference will be M. R. Ziegler who attended the Oxford Conference and who has visited Spain.

President Busy

President Schwalm has spent several days of the fall semester in Topeka in service as a member of the State Board of Education. Teachers' certification requirements have been revised and considerable time and thought is being given to new standards for teacher training.

The State Board has also been assigned the former responsibilities of the Textbook Commission. On November 22 and 23, textbooks were adopted for elementary, junior high, and high schools in about six or seven subjects. There is to be another meeting on December 20.

A CHRISTMAS PRAYER

O Father God, who leadeest the races of men by thy marvelous hand, we thank Thee that two thousand years ago, thou didst send Thy Son to this earth, giving a thrill of glory to this worn and weary world, and that Thou didst reveal the way of salvation through Love and the Cross. But we have failed to understand this great mystery and are driven mad with our struggles and dissensions. From the depths of our hearts we repent, and like the Wise Men of old, we press forward, with our eyes fixed on the Radiant Star!—By Toyohiko Kagawa.

Plans Complete For Gymnasium

McPherson College To Begin Structure Within Next Two Months

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees held December 1, it was decided that immediate steps would be taken toward the construction of the new physical education and health building. Completed plans and specifications have been submitted to the Board by the architects and in a short time the contracts for the building will be let. Construction is to start soon after the first of the year, with the plan that the structure will be completed by Commencement time of 1938.

The new building, as it is now planned, includes a large gymnasium, showers, and locker rooms, offices for athletic directors, class rooms, and first aid rooms. The gymnasium will be large enough for a full sized basketball court.

The structure as proposed, including the swimming pool, will be 153 feet long and 102 feet wide. The center section of the gymnasium will be two stories high. Class rooms and other departments will be on the ends and front in a one-story section. The swimming pool will be at the right end of the building.

The drawings were submitted by A. R. Mann Company, Hutchinson architects. This gymnasium is to be one of the finest in the state of Kansas with modern equipment.

College Hopes To Raise Conference Budget Quota

McPherson College is interested in the raising in full of the Annual Conference Budget for the present fiscal year which closes February 28, 1938. The amount needed for our brotherhood work is $275,000. Last year we raised $214,918. On November 30 the giving for the nine months period was 3 per cent ahead of last year. Our college area is very slightly above the general brotherhood average.

Each congregation should consider the matter and, if possible, arrange to give more than last year in order that our mission program may advance.

Kline Hall Christmas Spirit

"Ooh! Look at my pretty dollie!" "See my little car!" "Isn't this fun?"

Such were the gleeful shouts you may have heard from the Student Union Room on Wednesday afternoon when the Kline Hall residents entertained College Hill kiddies at a gay Christmas party. The children entered whole-heartedly into the fun of running the entire length of the room, and of seeing who would win when they played this game or that.

But the fun came for the girls who sponsored them when it was announced that Santa Claus had left lots of packages on the tree for all of them. They were all eyes, and ears. Then they received their refreshments and sang Christmas carols like little veterans.

There's something extremely thrilling about seeing youngsters enjoying a treat like that. Everyone really ought to try it sometime, and Kline Hall girls are very sure everyone will be well rewarded when they see happiness shine in their eyes.

Faculty Party Renew Spirit

Christmas cheer was very much in evidence Wednesday night when the gentlemen of the faculty and trustee board were entertained by the lady members of the faculty and wives of teachers and trustees.

If you should have happened to wander into the Student Union Room about 8:00 o'clock you might have seen our dignified professors, with dignity safe at home in bed and their childish instincts ruling all talk and actions. There was, for instance, that jargoned game, lead by Mr. Davis in which Professor Hess portrayed all too realistically the voice and ear movements of a Missouri mule. Then there was Dr. Metzler, imagine if you can, his quiet, soothing voice, barking like a mad dog.

We're told that the party was a big success and we're glad our professors could relax, for a time, and really enjoy themselves. We truly think there should be more of a similar kind for they reveal hidden talents and abilities of a most remarkable nature.

Christmas Theme For C. E.

A Christmas theme was carried out in the C. E. program at the Brethren church, Sunday evening, December 12.

Eugenia Hogan had charge of the program and led in devotionals. Charles Warner led the group in singing Christmas carols, Genevieve Sandy accompanied at the piano.

As special music Opal Hoffman sang a beautiful inspirational Christmas song with piano and violin background music. The feature and concluding number of the program was the reading of Henry Van Dyke's, "The Other Wise Man", by Miss Della Lehman.

Yuletide Program Feature of S.C.M.

White Gift Program Successful In Drive For Needy of This City

The S. C. M. general meeting Tuesday, December 14, was in the form of a Christmas program. For devotionals Antumo Fields read the Christmas story. Glen McGonigle sang a response for prayer.

The first number of the program was a delightful reading "Christmas Rose", the story of a poor boy who gave his Christmas rose for those in the hospital, read by Donna Jean Johnson.

Marjorie Flory drew a chalk picture of a winter scene framed with a Christmas wreath. During the drawing of the picture effective music was played by Marjorie Fairchild, violinist and Miriam Kimmel, pianist. The concluding number was the telling of the well-known Christmas story, "Why the Chimes Rang", by Josephine Shirar.

Following the program, each person passed by the Christmas tree and left a white gift of non-perishable food to be given to the needy of the city. The male quartet accompanied by chimes sang "Silent Night" during the giving of the white gifts.

Fries To New Orleans

J. H. Fries, business manager of McPherson College, has been elected by the Kansas Conference to represent the conference at a meeting at New Orleans during the holidays. Fries expects to take in the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans on New Year's Day.

Fahnstock Hall Party

Last night the men of Fahnstock Hall held a Christmas party in the parlors. Christmas presents were given out and a general good-time was enjoyed by everyone.

Sweden's Experiment

Dr. Ernest Philblad, President of Bethany College at Lindsborg and state senator from the McPherson-Harvey district, was the guest speaker Monday morning before the chapel assembly. "Experiments in Democracy" was the subject of his address, which depicted the democratic spirit of Sweden, the great experiment.

Ernst Philblad Guest Speaker

President Of Bethany College Speaks On "Experiments In Democracy"

Sweden Described

Country Most Economical Place To Live In World

Dr. Ernest F. Philblad, president of Bethany College, Lindsborg and state senator from the McPherson-Harvey district, was the guest speaker in the chapel program, Monday, December 13.

Dr. Philblad spoke on "Experiments in Democracy", which were personal observations made while traveling in Sweden during the past summer. Democracy in Sweden goes back as far as the Middle Ages when the government was controlled by a sort of parliament. Today Sweden has a very brief constitution, which states who will be king and who will be members of the state assembly and there is a short paragraph on the freedom of the press. Sweden has a simple judicial system, based on evidence and law.

Sweden has been most fortunate economically because they have had no war for a long while; therefore they have no war debt and no war veterans to care for. No raw materials are exported from Sweden, just the finished product. They do not try to compete with America in the manufacture of automobiles, but they do make a strong machine for backward roads, that sells well in small mountainous countries.

In conclusion Dr. Philblad declared the result of his observations was that democracy actually works and the cheapest place in the world to be safe is Sweden.

A Sincere Christmas Wish

Is not a fine tribute we pay to Jesus that we celebrate his birthday by giving gifts, by remembering friends, by exposing appreciation? Christmas is the time of music and laughter, of kindness and well-wishing. Everything connected with Christmas time makes for beauty and happiness. Wouldn't it be fine if our lives too were suggestive of these things? How happy a world it would be if all the year were like Christmas time!

McPherson College has plentiful reasons for gratitude to all the year. Our friends have been gracious and generous during the past year. A host of friends have contributed to the College during the year in amounts varying from the least to the very great. There has been manifest the keenest interest on the part of many and the warmest sympathy toward the work. The Anniversary Celebration was an event long to be remembered. The spirit of cooperation on the part of many friends of the College has been most gratifying.

We want to extend to every friend of the College our very best Christmas wishes. Your support has given us encouragement and has promoted the work of the College. For all these favors we are mindful and grateful at this happy time of year. We hope that returning Prosperity has come your way and that you can enter the happiness of the Christmas season wholeheartedly. If hardship and adversity are still a part of your lot, we extend our sympathy and hope that the New Year may bring you happiness and prosperity.

Most of all we trust that you may share in full measure in the blessing announced on the first Christmas morning—the blessing of Peace and Good Will.

V. F. Schwalm.

Are You Sitting Through College?

Are you sitting through college? This pertinent question is quite convincingly answered by Kenneth Irving Brown in the current issue of "The Journal of Higher Education."

When a student sits long enough in his classes in spite of sedentaryness, he is given a diploma "to cover his intellectual nakedness." Some profs have tried to remedy this situation by giving comprehensive examinations. But this has failed in that students merely check these subjects off their list. Brown says that as long as the public demands the tangible evidences of success—diplomas, certificates, credits,—counting them of greater importance than the intellectual qualities they are expected to represent, so long will colleges be forced to maximize the importance of the "Golden Book" of the registrar.

For some students those academic credits were laboriously accumulated and carefully recorded in the registrar's files, represent honest endeavor and achievement. But for others those self-same credits of equal value in the coinage of the educational realm, represents little more than hours of painful but patient sitting "in the name of education."

The following are the requisites of Brown's for a college diploma:

1. A reasonable faculty and correctness in use of one's mother tongue
2. Decent ability to speak in public.
3. A familiarity with the major social, economic, literary, and philosophical problems of one's day.
4. A broad acquaintance with the windings of science in its larger fields and some first hand acquaintance with the scientific method.
5. Mastery of a chosen field of knowledge.
6. An enthusiasm for books, a knowledge of where they can be found.
7. Thoughtful determination of one's vocation after a sound and impersonal appraisal of one's capacities.

.. COLLEGE DAZE ..

Here's prof. Mohler breaking into my column again. This time by trying to tell an intelligent class of mostly agricultural origin he could see no special reason for Missouri to stand at the head in mule production. He must not know mules as well as he does biology, or he would know that is the only safe place to stand. He isn't like the schoolboy who, told to correct the sentence, "Johnny can rode the mule," wrote, "Johnny can rode the mule if the mule wants him to."

Boy! If this cold weather keeps on, I am going to have to have Ma get out my baby chick underwear—the kind that hasn't scratched yet.

Hearing rumors that Russel Kingsley is about to transfer to C. of E., your correspondent proceeded at once to contact him and secure a statement of his future aims and plans, together with his reasons for the same. The statement follows: "

"Thank you, Mr. Kingsley. (The room was so still you could have heard a spider spin).

Somehow the report persists that two girls cooperated to secure the required nerve to date the Longfellow on our faculty. I saw Verda all right, but Helen must have gone along disguised as a Jeep. . . . I like your column, Betty. It isn't quite as sophisticated as Jane's was, but it is certainly friendly and refreshing. . . . But I must cease this rambling; here it is past my bedtime.

Wednesday's Chapel

Dr. V. F. Schwalm was in charge of a very impressive chapel program held in the McPherson Chapel, Wednesday morning. The student body sang "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" and "The First Noel". The group singing was followed by "Silent Night, Holy Night", which was sung by the McPherson College male quartette.

The student body was divided into two divisions and they read respectively from especially prepared sheets, quotations, from men of note, concerning the Christ. Miss Hella Lehman, Mr. R. E. Mohler, Rev. C. E. Davis and Dean J. D. Bright lead the students in the reading.

Mustings from the Ethics class as related by Dr. Metzler: "Some people take so many pills that their joints become roller-bearings." "College is an athletic club where the opportunity to study is given to the physically unfit."

Elma. Has the cake had any influence yet? To you who are in the dark, I will explain. Bob's sister was married last week-end and he brought Elma back a piece of the wedding cake. She put it under her pillow and slept on it the following night. This reminds me of Sally's remark. After receiving some holly she said she wished she had some mistletoe—"It might help some who are terribly bashful."

Astles new "swing system" is quite a novelty. Don't apply the call to "swing it" too personally when the boys yell the play to each other. If our boys, this year, seem rather scattered in their playing and a little harder to follow in their plays, remember that this year they are using the fast break instead of the previous set play offense. We're going to have a real basketball team.

Elizabeth Mohler made use of all the oddities of dress she had Monday night at the A Cappella party. Her red bedroom slippers and hat to match were very suitable for the party—at last to the judges. Lucille looked "ducky" in that cute little hat and checkered smock. You old farmers in those striped overalls and plow shoes were really a sight to behold. From all reports a hilarious time was had by one and all.

Remember to come back from vacation on the starting date—the same rule holds true. Eat all the goodies you can while you're at home because such food will not be placed before you again for five months. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year! I'll see you all again next year. May your vacation be one of pleasure and relaxation; your studying to be done left at McPherson to greet you on your return.

A Cappella Choir Members Wear Strange Garb To Backward Party

Say! what is this? Monday night every A Cappella Choir member came to practice with their clothes on backwards—a most inconvenient and uncomfortable situation to be sure.

After their regular practice, they backed into the student union room and were bid sincere farewells and 'so glad you came' by the host and hostess, Yoder and Kimmell. A screwy bunch, everyone calls 'em, the party is just begun!

Well, of all the—refreshments first! Something new and different, however—cold chocolate milk, glazed doughnuts, and Santa Claus gum drops.

Estelle then gathered the little boys and girls around the fireplace to tell them a Christmas story. And while she was telling it—Jingle, jingle! stamp, stamp! Santa Claus! Oh soody! But look again—he doesn't have any whiskers. Oh, oh! it's Mrs. Santa Claus (Rilla Hubbard to you)—short, fat, chubby, and rosy cheeked. This calls for an explanation, yes sir. What do you say, Mrs. Santa? "Well, the other day, Santy went out into the cold, deep snow without his rubbers, and he caught an awful cold. So I told him to stay home and doctor that cold, and I would come down to McPherson tonight." And then she opened her bulging pack and gave each one a toy or some kind of gift.

I may be dumb, but this party is going backwards—Oh, now I catch it—it's a Backwards party, cause after they played a few games and gave the prize for the most backward person to Elizabeth Mohler, the host and hostess said "hello" and everyone left.

Statistics at the University of Wisconsin extension division show that persons from 40 to 49 years of age are better students than youths of 15 to 19. The older students received 24A's and three D's in college courses, compared to 17A's and 12D's for the younger group.

Three Neighboring Colleges Here For Volley Ball

The W. A. A. Cabinet met last Monday and made plans for a Sports Day to be held Saturday, January 29. Three neighboring colleges, namely, Bethany, Kansas Wesleyan, and Bethel are being invited to send a girls volley-ball team to participate, with our W. A. A. team, in a round-robin volley ball tournament.

The various committees have been appointed and will start to work immediately after vacation on the plans. This is a new project started by the W. A. A. this year. It is the hope and desire of the organization that this be carried out frequently and that other colleges will take it up and invite teams to their schools for a Sports Day.

The volley ball club has been organized under the leadership of Julia Frick, and started playing last week. The regular practice nights are on Wednesday and Thursday at 7 o'clock.

Canine "Swing" Downs Quakers

Capturing Early Lead Astle's Bulldogs Defeat Friends By Score 38-28

Capturing an early lead and holding it throughout the game, Coach "Buck" Astle's Bulldogs whipped the Friends Quakers 38-28 in the initial non-conference battle of the season Wednesday evening, at Wichita. Both teams played a tight defense and McPherson allowed only one set up for the opponents.

In the first eight minutes of play, all the scores came via the free throw route. Then the "swing system" began clicking and Robertson and Johnston dumped in five successive field goals. With 11 points to his credit, Johnston was high scorer of the game.

Early in the second half, Teschep and Woodward began a long rally, but McGill, Wiegand, and others connected with shots to gradually increase the lead. Because of two injured players, the Quakers were not quite up to par. McPherson hustled all the time, but a few missed setups and the passing needed "improving." With one game under their belt and a willingness to correct mistakes, the Canines show encouraging possibilities.

Following is the box score:

McPherson (38)	FG	FT	F
Johnston, J.	4	3	2
Naylor, J.	1	2	4
Jaragrovner, C.	1	1	2
McGill, G.	2	0	2

Hoop Swishers

By The Colonel

Sunflower Seeds—

Coach Astle and student basketball officials have been discussing the new rules and they are convinced that elimination of the center jump will speed up the game considerably. Chet Johnston, Bruce Wood, Kirk and Kurt Naylor are some who do a little whistle blowing as a sideline.

Helme and Belser, Baker stars last year, are playing with Phillips "66" Naismith team and Kansas City Healers, respectively. Frances Johnson, former Globe player and brother of Coach Gene Johnson, is playing now with the Healers. Gene Johnson and Coach Astle played on the same team at Emporia Teachers quite awhile ago.

Ottawa and Baker received early-season soakings from K. J. Southwestern Mohndbuilders, coached by George Gardner, former Bulldog tuler, will take another turn against the Jayhawks Tuesday.

By some stroke of luck, Kansas Wesleyan's Coyotes actually downed Hastings college in one of their early-season encounters. Mackie's puppets may have a few tricks up their sleeves to dish out to conference foes.

Astle's Canines To Emporia

Emporia Hornets Strong This Year With Six Lettermen Returning

Tomorrow night Coach "Buck" Astle's McPherson college Bulldogs will clash with their second non-conference opponent, Emporia Teachers, at Emporia. Only the "first string" has been scheduled for the exhibition affair and Coach Astle will probably take twelve players.

This particular game revives old memories for Coach Astle. In the first place, "Helme" Kutlink, Hornet mentor, was a former teammate of Astle. To top it all, Referee Bill Hargis formerly coached both men in basketball. Naturally, both coaches will spur their teams to make a good impression on their erstwhile tutor.

Six lettermen returned to the Hornets' nest this year. They are Emrich, Fiss, and Conroy, forwards; Parris, center; Miller and Pipkin, guards. Although deprived of their aces of last year, the Teachers will undoubtedly make it a close contest.

are Bethany lettermen who form the nucleus of Coach Schaake's team. Chet Mitchell, De Loyd Mitchell, Leas, Johnson, Thurlow, McGrath, Hinkle, and Motley constitute the veteran category of the Ft. Hays Tigers.

Hanger-outs at the gym and football players have reviewed the moves of the Turkey Day game to their heart's content. Coach Astle has been projecting them on his office wall and they really show up the good and bad points of a team.

Hurry back for the tournament! It's worth it!

Tournament Warmup

During the Christmas vacation, McPherson college will be host to a feature basketball attraction, the college invitation tournament, on Tuesday, December 28. A two round elimination schedule will be played in the afternoon and night sessions.

College of Emporia, Bethany, and Bethel accepted Coach "Buck" Astle's invitation to this "season warmup" affair. Moffat Eaves, Gene Johnson, R. R. Uhrlaub, and Carl Kopeck will be the officials.

Coaches Selves, Schaake, and Unruh will bring strong aggregations for the new event and students who are here for the tournament will probably see four thrilling games.

It's simple arithmetic that the more cars General Motors sells the greater this organization grows. And the solid fact back of that growth is this: General Motors cars must continually offer more in terms of extra value to win those sales. It is only because General Motors is great that it can maintain the research and improvement program responsible for such modern betterments as the Turret Top, the Unisteel Body, No Draft Ventilation, Knee-Action and advanced Hydraulic Brakes.
