McPHERSON COLLEGE, McPHERSON KANSAS, FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1941

NUMBER THIRTY

Junior-Senior Banquet To Be Gala Affair; Many Expected

Dr. Bright Former McPherson College Education Head, Will Speak

One of the highlights of the Junior-Senior banquet is the fact that the Juniors have secured Dr. J. D. Bright, former McPherson college education head, as main speaker for the evening. The faculty and many students will remember this genial speaker as being a personality not lightly to be reckoned with, either on the speaker's bench or behind the teacher's desk.

This evening, May 16, at 7:00 P. M., in the McCourt Hotel the Junior class will entertain the senior class at the annual Junior-Senior banquet. The main theme of this gala occasion is, as runs the tide of all themes of such occasions at this particular season, a Mexican theme. Coronado will ride high once again as the Juniors pay their last honors to Macollege seniors. Although the exact nature of the program could not be revealed, it promises to be a very interesting and attractive event.

The main speaker of the evening was also kept a secret and consequently his name cannot be told here. The program committee promises that the speaker is a very interesting lecturer and is very well liked by all who have learned to know him. "As an educator he stands very prominently among the other educators of the state of Kansas," says Mr. Thomas Walter Doepner, a Junior at McPherson college.

The program committee is made up of Lucile Horner and Ruby Peterson. Working on the invitations committee are Orville Long and Tom Doepner, Alice Lindgrin, Doris Voshell, and Robert Brust have charge of decorations while Shirley Spohn and Bernetta Denny compose the foods committee.

Since this is all the information that was released, the main program can not be given here. The committees report that plans are progressing and developing rapidly and that the seniors will truly receive their due honor.

Crillosophical Cogitations

These days we hear a lot about a tragedy approaching. According to some speakers, the approaching catastrophe and holocaust will mean the end of organized government, and will mean the beginning of a period of anarchy and terror that has been equaled only by the reign of terror that followed the collapse of the Roman Empire in Europe. All of the mechanics of economics such as railroads, cars, ships, trade routes will disappear, and in their stead will be a period of famine and starvation, of people fighting over scraps of food like beasts. Disease and filth will be the rule rather than the exception. Every person will carry his weapon with him, be it a club, a knife, or a gun, and the rule will not be right but the will of the strongest. Cities will be reduced to rubble; their fate will be that of Carthage, Troy, Babylon, and others.

But, here, and there long faces shorten, and they tell us to take heart, for right will ultimately triumph. Christianity was born on a briar patch. The mill of the Gods grinds slowly, but it grinds exceedingly fine. Even though the forces of evil gain temporary ascendancy, things will again be sane, and right will again prevail over the face of the earth. Some say that even if all of the people in the world were to be killed, the planet would keep on swinging along in its orbit, and perhaps in another hundred thousand years another human race would evolve. What is time to God? In any event they say that Christianity would not perish. But I would like to point out the fact that I haven't any two

Weary Choristers Return To Campus From Five-Day Tour

Returning from its ninth annual spring tour, the McPherson college A Cappella Choir last Wednesday night presented a spirited and enthusiastic appearance to Macollegians who happened to be abroad at midnight. On the steps of Arnold Hall, the choir, as per custom, gathered together and reverently sang the college song, "I Sacred Truth." Then weary but happy, the choir dispersed, its various members trudging sadly to their trundle beds. Some were thinking that another choir trip was over, but that next year would bring another such experience. Others, such as Lucile Wade, Mamie Wolfe, Elizabeth Mohler, Esther Sherry, and Kieth Pierce, were reflecting that they had just completed the last McPherson college A Cappella choir trip which it would ever be their privilege to attend. . . for these veteran choir members are seniors, and are soon to graduate from school.

Covering approximately five hundred and fifty miles during its five-day tour, the A Cappella culminated its nine-concert schedule with a final concert at the Wichita Church of the Brethren last Wednesday night. Including a thirty minute radio broadcast from KPBI, Wichita, Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, this rigorous nine-concert schedule left its trouper with little energy but many pleasant memories.

During the five-day trip, members of the choir met many friends and former graduates of the college. Melba Morrison and Evelyn Amos, former A Cappella choir members, attended some of the concerts which the group gave while on tour. One of the little "slips which pass in the night" was the remark made by Professor Fisher to the Fredonia concert audience when he was thanking them for their hospitality, attention and so forth. Said Professor Fisher: "We wish to thank you for our hospitality to you."

Good luck followed the choir throughout the whole of the journey, choir members everywhere meeting with whole-hearted welcome and friendliness.

Driver of the thirty-six passenger stream-lined, air-conditioned Santa Fe bus was William Donahoe, known affectionately to the choir members as "Donny."

Heard In Chapel

Friday Chapel

Dr. Bittinger spoke in chapel Friday on encouragements. "Even in the midst of encouragements, discouragements still abound", stated Dr. Bittinger.

Dr. Bittinger gave an example of one of his discouragements while he was in Africa. A deputation team from England was coming to evaluate the work of the missionaries. A program was usually presented for their benefit, so on this occasion, the Africans were left to choose the type of program which was suitable for this group of visitors and they were asked to present it in their own way. After the usual calisthenics, the visitors were taken to the church where one of the natives told how the white people had brought them something that they loved and that they now felt that they had that which the white men were trying to give them.

Just recently Dr. Bittinger has received a letter from one of the natives asking him to advise them how to conduct themselves in their bitter competition. "I see weakness in our civilization but I see other races and people who catch encouragements from our people. Civilizations shall not perish from the earth."

Students Await Quadrangle With Enthusiasm and Anticipation

Speculation are rife as to the identity of this year's Quad Queen, but none will know (besides the Quadrangle powers-that-be) until Monday. "Say Bill, lend me fifty cents to finish paying my class dues, will you?" "Tom, could you pay me that thirty five cents you owe me?" I want to pay up my pay club dues." Such questions are not infrequent as the notice is posted on the bulletin board that the Quads are out.

As the 1941 Quadrangle makes its debut, autographs become necessary. Students sit on the dorm steps by the hour autographing quads, taking time out only for such minor things as semester exams or meals. As soon as one is asked to autograph a Quad, he immediately finds a problem—that of what to write. Some merely take time to practice writing their names. Others find it hard to quit writing. On the former, a smiling is as follows, "Dear Johnny, I hope that you have enjoyed this school term as much as I have. I hope to see you again next fall." Of the latter, time and space demands that it be omitted.

Nevertheless, it does seem desirable to get all of those dues paid before the Quads come out on May 15, the date set for their return from the book binders, as planned by Virginia Kerlin, Editor of the Quadrangle.

This year's Quadrangle has an exceptionally large number of snapshots taken of campus activities, students and faculty. Of particular note should be the three color printing scheme rather than the two color design of former years. This Quadrangle will represent one year's work by the editor, Virginia Kerlin, in the composition, and a year's work by Ernest Peterson, business manager for the Quad, as well as a great deal of time and effort on the part of the engravers and printers.

Sixteen Students Are In Cavalcade

Entire Indian Troupe Selected From Macollege

Indians had a prominent part in the "Coronado Cavalcade", which was given on May 14 and 15 and will be given for the final time on the football field tonight. The casting of these aforementioned Indians, completed some weeks ago, was confined to students of McPherson college.

The Indians appear in four different scenes, including the colorful and picturesque scene of the worship of the sun; the interesting story of the kidnapping of Mrs. Bassett; the treaty with the Kaw Indians and the Indian village episode. The Indians dress in the costumes of the Indians who lived on the Kansas plains in 1541.

Following are the college students who are cast as Indians: Richard Prentice and Roy McAuley are the two Indian chiefs, and the brave in scene one include Robert Burkholder, Russell Eisenstein, Earl Brunsaker, Ralph Schlicht, Wilbur Linker, Russell Lowberg, Merrill Knackstedt, Jim Harger, Alvin Klutz, Dean Stucky, George Voth, William Gahn, Albert Miller, and Clarence Bunyan.

Under Classmen To Bury Hatchet At Black Canyon

Classes Collaborate On Picnic To Be Given At Black Canyon May 20

Freshmen and sophomores of Macollege will bury the hatchet and have a picnic Tuesday, May 20, at Black Canyon, northeast of town. The group plans to leave from Sharp Hall around 2:30.

Paul Peterson, chairman, Isabel Crumpacker, and Don Misher are in charge of transportation. Anyone having a car available is asked to get in touch with this committee.

Entertainment for the picnic will be led by Roy McAuley and Harriett Pratt.

Arline Seidel, chairman, will be responsible for the food.

Every freshman and sophomore is urged to take part in the fun, and to come prepared for a good time.

Juniors Elect Officers For Coming Year

Last Thursday the seniors-to-be of McPherson college elected their officers for next year. Student council members will be Lena Belle Olin and Paul Dannelley; treasurer is Lyle Albright; secretary is Bernetta Denny; vice-president is Ronald Orr; and President is Shirley Spohn.

Santa Fe Lake, near Augusta, Kansas, has been chosen as the site for the junior retreat of May 19 and 20. It was announced by Ethel Kenberry, president of the junior class.

This site has been selected because of the excellent entertainment facilities offered there. Such recreations as swimming, boating, baseball, hiking, shuffle-board, and horsehoe are provided at Santa Fe Lake. The forty-three juniors who will go on this annual highspot of the junior's year will have practically unlimited entertainment facilities.

Accompanied by sponsors, this group will leave Macampus about 4:00 p. m. Monday, May 19, and return Tuesday evening. The trip will be made in cars.

Committees for the retreat have been appointed. The committee which chose the site for the retreat consisted of Jack Vetter, chairman, and Doris Voshell and Robert Kingsley; transportation committee was made up of chairman Brust, and Lyle Albright and Ray Juhake; food committee consisted of Lena Belle Olin, chairman, and Ronald Orr and Helen Davis; recreation committee was made up of chairman S. G. Hoover, and Bob Frantz and Rowena Wampler. General chairman of all committees was Ethel Kenberry, president of the junior class.

Twelve McPherson Pupils Hear Jones

E. Stanley Jones Spoke To Capacity Crowd in Topeka

McPherson college was well represented by two car loads of students, twelve in all, who attended Dr. E. Stanley Jones' address at Topeka Wednesday night. Dr. Jones spoke to a capacity crowd at the large Topeka High School auditorium where he presented his plan for world peace. Dr. Jones points out that a victory on either side in the present war would only lay the foundation for another war because the grievances would still exist. It is Dr. Jones' belief that the United States should play the role of mediator in the situation. If we attempted to play the role of arbitrator we would surely be drawn into the conflict, but as a mediator we could possibly get each side to change and come to a third position beyond each. "This, he said, "is the role for America."

Dr. Jones referred to the principle used by Paul in settling the dispute between the Jews and the Gentiles in which Paul saw that if either the Jews or the Gentiles were victorious, the seeds of a new struggle would be sown in the hearts of the defeated side. On the other hand, if neither conquered the other, but God conquered both, then out of the two would spring forth a new man, embodying the good of each, thus a true and lasting peace would be insured.

It was Dr. Jones' optimistic philosophy that eventually right will triumph over might, and by following the teachings of Christ and not the way of the sword, the conflict will be settled and the kingdom of God shall reign the earth.

HOT? YES, IT WAS 96

So you thought it was hot yesterday. Well, it was. The mercury climbed to a high yesterday of 96 degrees, top spot for 1941 and eight degrees higher than any day during May of last year. A year ago yesterday the high was only 87.

The Spectator Sees-- Useless Fear-Mongering

A few editors have commented on the theories which were advanced over at South Bend, Indiana, regarding the future trend of affairs in the United States. The entire matter would have died a normal death had not a reporter written the following story:

A strange new banner has been hoisted to the philosophical breezes which may in time shatter everything that Nicholai Lenin now advocates for it holds that the greater portion of all social problems are basically psychological and not economic or political.

In one sense of the word this is rank heresy and the eyebrows of the Notre Dame University professor who corrected the paper must have lifted as he read on; "We are permitting materialistic factors to influence our social thinking and are paying too little attention to the important and fundamental question of developing and preserving the mental well-being of our one hundred and five million citizens."

"If we are not to see an enormous increase in the size of our penitentiaries and asylums," the paper continued, "We must start with home and train prospective parents to give as much attention to the mental side of the children's lives as to their bodies."

Strange doctrines, these. But listen to the next paragraph. "In neglecting the spiritual side of life and emphasizing the acquiring of material wealth we are slowly but surely forging a new kind of society. If enormous quantities of goods are to be produced they should be consumed by the masses we have taught to desire them."

Under our present plan we stress the matter of production but leave the question of consumption unsolved. Unless we return to psychology, science, religious, economics and sociology for the answer to their problem we may in time see a repetition of what happened four years ago in Russia."

A warning note was struck when the writer towards the end of his dissertation said: "What has happened to that spirit of mutual assistance which motivated our grandparents in their daily lives? Greed for things material and the lessening of spiritual values is so undermining the basic security of the individual that government may be forced to intervene. Here again, a dangerous new factor is rearing its head for we must not forget that such supervision is costly. Good government is always the government that is required to govern least."

While space does not permit us to reprint more of the story which was written regarding the theories of Malcom Hatfield, the Notre Dame student who hails from Milford, Indiana, it can readily be observed that the embryonic Hoosier Philosopher is even more of a dreamer than Nicholai Lenin.

The University of Notre Dame, instead of encouraging its students in flights of unrealistic fancy, would do well were it to limit its teaching to more practical matters. Colleges should inculcate in young men and women a spirit of hope for the future instead of sowing seeds of doubt and discontentment in their plastic and easily moulded youthful minds. As for Malcom Hatfield and his doleful theories the harm has already been done. We prophesy that he, like many others whose minds were warped in college will end up by becoming a janitor.

Seniors Exeunt

There are two issues of the Spectator left in which to give space to the doings of our transient—the seniors. In each issue many senior students will be featured.

Bob Nance

Bob Nance, whose home is in Iler, Kansas, but who himself is certainly not reserved, is a major in economics and business administration. Having spent all four years of his college career at McPherson, Bob has been one of the outstanding students in the economics department.

He has been a valuable member of the International Relations Club for several years, this year serving on the program committee. He has been active in S. C. M. and was influential in

Local News

At the final meeting of the I.R.C., Dr. Lohan of Bethany college gave a lecture entitled, "How He Got Them". In addition, an election was held for the purpose of choosing the officers for next year. The officers chosen were Lucile Horner, president; Wayne Crist, vice-president and program chairman; and William Gahm, secretary-treasurer.

The World At Large

What is to be the outcome of the latest developments of the desertion by Rudolph Hess from the Nazi party? The new victim, if he will talk, may be instrumental in revealing the complete plans and organization of the entire framework of Britain's chief enemy. Many mysteries lie back of this act which will probably be unraveled only by time.

Nazis again are plundering and destroying ancient and historical buildings of London. Some of the most costly structures of architecture have been badly damaged. Perhaps Dr. Page's "rumored pessimism" will be actual facts unless the tide is changed somewhat in the future.

Strikes in defense industries have arisen again to plague the administration. The General Motors walk-out which was scheduled for Thursday morning shows that the President's mediation board has failed thus far to be a cure-all for the strikes in the national emergency.

Kampus Kapers—

By Isabel "Crummy" Crumpacker

So that he would have some money to spend May Day, Doyle Brasher helped the carnival people take down their equipment last Saturday night. He was paid by the hour, and since he worked until four-thirty Sunday morning, he must have made quite a bit. Doyle even got up in time to come to Sunday school, presumably to tell of his good fortune.

Miss Atkinson was very much surprised and chagrined recently when she unlocked her door in Harnly Hall. As she pulled it open, the whole door came off in her hand. Some tumbler-makers had pulled the pins at the side which caused the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Groff now have their faces set in a wider grin since baby has cut his first tooth. Incidentally, Thayne Lowell was nine months old this week.

Arnold Hall recently received a long-dance call collect. Miss Neher was a little bit dubious about accepting the collect call since the voice at the other end of the line did not seem to care to whom he talked. The party finally found that it was the girls' dorm to which they were talking instead of a gas station as they thought.

Things look mighty bad for Sally Olwin. She has begun her silverware set! She has picked out her pattern and now wears a tiny spoon to show everyone what it looks like. Just in case anyone wishes to give her a graduation gift.

Russel Eisenbise has recently abandoned his extremely loud shirt. When asked why, he answered, "It looks so pretty hanging in the closet. It just brightens up the whole surroundings."

One can imagine what a picnic hooked rug fans will have when the bright shirts, dresses, and clothing that people have been wearing go out of style.

Vena Flory has been compassed which is going to be pretty hard on her. Vena's folks are going to get her a new wrist watch for graduation, but sister Vera thinks that an alarm clock for getting her into the dorm earlier would be a much better gift.

Betty Berger and some other students were walking on a railroad trestle in the park when someone shouted, "Here comes a train!" Immediately Betty started running, but she slipped and fell almost through the trestle. Roommate, Petefish, had to go beneath the bridge, pick up Berger's shoe, and push her back through. Betty spent the next day in bed and got out of giving a speech in Professor Hess' English class.

The two biggest clowns at the all school picnic at the sand pit were Professor Mohler and Dr. Schwalm. Mohler had a large block of ice and when ever one of the girls wasn't looking, he sneaked up behind her and put the cold block against her bare arm. Dr. Schwalm also had the time of his life when he took small pieces of ice and dropped them down students' necks. Jean McNeil had to wash her hair when she returned home since one of the boys accidentally dropped a roasted marshmallow in it.

When roommates Juanita Weaver and Arlene Nicholson came into their room this week, a cloud of tobacco smoke greeted their nostrils. Arlene thought there was a man inside, but upon further investigation, a strong lighted cigar was found beneath the bed. The two girls suspect a neighbor, Kimmel, but Maxine declares that they must have done it themselves as anyone can tell by circumstantial evidence.

Wise saying of the week—"The fellow who spends his life climbing fences just because the grass looks greener on the other side usually ends up realizing that it wasn't the grass that was green."

Eavesay Opperdray

Once again we near the end of a year of concentrated (Ha Ha!) endeavor in the fields of higher education and culture. Once again the trees have budded, the buds have bursted, and leaves and blossoms have sprung forth to encloak the earth in the gay garment of spring. We, the students, have witnessed it all, eager to see the world in its Sunday suit again, eager for the rebirth of nature and the return of its winged muscians and leafy artists, but with an undertone of dread deep down in our hearts, a lump in our throats that was easy to swallow at first, but grew larger and larger until it choked us and brought tears in our eyes, for with each bursting bud another second of our college career was fleeting away, never to be recaptured except in memories. Each passing day was drawing us nearer and nearer to the time when we must each say good-by to friends dear and true, and go on our respective ways.

To many it will mean the completion of their college career; they will not go out into life or out to face the world—as the commencement speakers would put it, for they have long been in the world and at the same time, but they will leave college to make the world a better place in which to live, to teach and to preach, for it is only through the teachings of God and the textbook that progress is made and true democracy survives.

The staging of the F. O. R. Conference on Macampus this past winter. After teaching in his major field for several years, Mr. Nance plans to attend Bethany Biblical Seminary of Chicago, where he will take graduate work for the ministry.

Geneva Schlehauer

Geneva Schlehauer, in spite of having driven ten miles to and from every day in her car, has been active in affairs of MacCollege during her four-year stay here. Her pet peeve occurs when her Studebaker refuses to start or to plow through the muddy roads.

An English major, Geneva has been interested in dramas and was a member of the senior play cast this year. She has been an active sports enthusiast of W. A. A. for three years and during her freshman and sophomore years belonged to S. C. M. Geneva has been active in young people's work in the Baptist church, having been a commission leader in their B. Y. P. U. and has served as Sunday School secretary.

Her favorite hobby being art work, she has taken art as a course for four years in college and is always willing to display her ability by giving special chalk talks.

Next year Miss Schlehauer will teach English, history and art in the junior high school at Preston, Kansas. After teaching a while Geneva hopes to get her master's degree.

Forest Stern

Black curly hair, dark, mischievous eyes, and a manner all his own—and you have Forrest Stern from Barrin, Minnesota.

Forrest is majoring in history and his minors are English and commerce. He plans to teach in the field of social science next year.

In high school, his interests were dramatics and oratory. In college he has been an enthusiastic member of the Theatrical Club. He also has been in the chemistry club, S. C. M., and the I. R. C.

Forrest's unusual hobby is hitchhiking. His longest trip was a 3,000 mile "tour" of the western part of the United States.

His pet peeve is the draft. In general, he takes a great interest in sports, by way of being a spectator. His favorite song is "Italian Street Song."

He likes MacCollege because "it is far from home; in a nice town; and has a nice faculty."

Maurine Anderson

Maurine Anderson, that sweet, brunette senior girl with the low, slow droll, is a home economics major from Burdick, Kansas. Maurine will be remembered for the sincerity and kindness which she displayed at all times.

Miss Anderson has ranked highest scholastically, in her class of forty-eight members during her four-year stay at MacCollege and during her senior year rated the Who's Who of American Colleges. She has also been active in numerous activities.

She has been a member of the S. C. M. for four years, serving as secretary during her senior year. Maurine has been active in W. A. A. for two years, in Chemistry Club, in Forensics Club, and in I. R. C.

Being interested in the publications of Macampus, she has been a member of the Spectator Staff for two years and of the Circulation staff during the past year.

Maurine served as president of Kline Hall for one year. She has also been active in church and league affairs of the Methodist church.

Next year Maurine will teach home economics and English in the Walton High School.

Ruth Stump

Ruth Stump, that demure lassie who has served, according to Mr. C. Rock, as "assistant treasurer of the Student Council during the past year," is a major in the English department.

After spending her freshman year at West Texas State University, Ruth has been active on Macampus the past three years as a leader in recreational affairs.

As a member of the Recreational Council for two years, she has been especially interested in recreational activities. Ruth has also been a member of the S. C. M. as a Student Volunteer for three years and will be remembered as a faithful member of the chapel choir. She has belonged to the Choral Club during the past year.

Ruth seems somewhat uncertain concerning her plans for the future, but it has been suggested that her interest may be concentrated on Missouri Agricultural College during the coming school year. Maybe she plans to be a farmer!

Edith Spengler

Edith Spengler, a mathematica major from Wichita, Kansas, will be remembered for her athletic prowess and for her activity in the W. A. A. Her favorite sport is swimming.

Edith has been a member of this women's athletic club for four years, three of those years she was a member of the W. A. A. cabinet, serving as vice-president, and head of the volleyball and badminton clubs.

During her four-year stay at McPherson, Edith has moved about considerably. She has been a resident at Dr. Schwalm's, Horner Hall, the Nickey domain, and this year has lived at Kline Hall.

She has been active in S. C. M. for four years, in Forensics, and in I. R. C., having acted as secretary of that organization this year.

A girl with a truly wonderful disposition, Edith will be remembered for her good nature and cheerfulness. Miss Spengler plans to teach mathematics and physical education next year.

Mildred Morrison

Mildred Morrison another Macampus "Mickey," is a major in the chemistry department of the college. Mickey, a demure lassie with big, blue eyes, hails from one of McPherson's suburbs, Roxbury.

She has been active in Chemistry Club, having been a member of that organization for four years. Mickey has also been a member of the W. A. A. Although she is rather quiet, Miss Morrison has a great deal of ability, some of which will be displayed by characterization in this year's senior play, "Dear Brutus."

Mickey's pet peeves include mice, H₂S (hydrogen sulphide to you)—ask Mickey about it some time; she also seems to dislike "dorm" food, for invariably she and her cohort, Marjorie Anderson, journey to town to eat their dinners at a down town restaurant.

One of the outstanding male members of the senior class has this to say concerning Miss Morrison: "Mickey is really very intellectual, but she wouldn't want anyone to know it, because she thinks that to display her intellect would be unfeminine!"

Norman Krueger

Norman Krueger, a chemistry major from Bagley, Iowa, ambitious lad that he is, has finished his college work in seven semesters.

He has been active in Chemistry Club and S. C. M. during his 3 1/2 years here on Macampus. He has been a member of I. R. C. during his senior year and has been active in intramural sports.

A man of few words, Norman always says something worthwhile when he does speak. He is known as "one of the swiftest fellows on the campus" by all of his friends. He likes to listen to good music; he likes to garden when he is home; and he likes to collect stamps.

After a year in a training camp, Mr. Krueger plans to go to graduate school where he will specialize in biology.

La Rue Owens

La Rue Owens, a biology major from Nashville, Kansas, is considered by some as "bugs on bugs," but by others, especially some of the coeds of Macampus, is thought to be one of the most handsome "gents" in the "School of Quality."

Among the more dignified of the illustrious senior class, Mr. Owens has been active in Pop Club and in the social life of MacCollege, serving as a member of the school social committee during his junior year.

This suave devotee to the art of social culture has also been active in the chemistry club during his four years in college, serving as an officer of that club for three years; he was program chairman as a sophomore and a junior, and during his senior year has been vice-president.

When one of the more enthusiastic and frank of the freshman girls was informed that LaRue planned to go into medical school in a year or two, she immediately exclaimed, "It would be a pleasure to be ill if LaRue were the doctor!"

Raymond Goering

"Dutch" Goering, whose real name is Raymond Leonard Goering, is the well-known senior who once said he has obeyed all of the rules of the college and in that way never gets into trouble.

Dutch was honorary captain of his high school football squad and in his senior year made All-conference. In college Dutch continued in his football ability and was elected as football captain of MacCollege. He was elected to the National "Honoray Society and was an active member in the H-Y club during high school. Last year Dutch was the business manager of the Spectator and this year is treasurer of his class and is on the Men's Council.

Dutch's hobby is studying and he says he spends most of his time doing it and enjoys it. He plans to teach next year in the field of mathematics and in a few years would like to go into the medical profession.

He will be greatly missed next year for he has made many friends and has contributed much to the betterment of the school both in athletics and scholastic achievement.

Wilbur Lewallen

Wilbur Lewallen, the studious senior from Bisbee, North Dakota, is majoring in biology. In high school Wilbur was an active member in the Future Farmers of America's association.

Wilbur has taken an active part in many different clubs. He has been in the Forensics club, and entered into debating.

Being an active supporter of the S. C. M. Mr. Lewallen has been treasurer and program chairman of the club. His most outstanding achievement in his college career has been his success in oratory on the anti-tobacco question. He won in this oratorical contest, which was held here on Macampus, and has been elected vice-president of the Anti-tobacco Association of the state.

He plans to teach next year. His unique hobby is collecting rocks and bugs. Wilbur, who is minorning in English, disclosed that his favorite "pet peeve" was poor English.

He will be greatly missed next year, especially in the biology department, in which he is always willing to lend a helping hand.

Hubert Shelley

Hubert Shelley who lives about a mile northeast of McPherson college, is a major in the history department. In spite of physical handicaps Hubert has made good use of his mental capacities and has been a successful student of MacCollege.

He has been a member of the S. C. M. for four years, of the I. R. C. for three years, of the Spectator staff for four years, and of the debate squad during his senior year.

Hubert has been an active worker in the Presbyterian church and C. E. This summer Shelley plans to work in the local Red Cross office, and his ambition is to do "free-lance writing for various magazines."

Just Around

Ellen Dale of Geneseo spent Monday and Tuesday visiting with Alice Lindgren and other friends on the campus.

Betty Clark spent the week end at her home in Conway Springs. Dick Prentice went to Aline, Oklahoma, to spend the week end.

Lena Belle Olwin spent Sunday with Bernetta Denny at her home in Hope.

Virginia Libby of Little River, and Carolyn Welton of Lyons, spent Wednesday visiting friends on the campus.

Luella Harris spent Sunday visiting Orville Long at her home in Hope. Rachel Hamm was honored at a birthday dinner on Thursday evening.

May S. Miss Dessa Clum and Barbara Hamm acted as hostesses. The guests included: Betty Casey, Dorothy Gale Barrett, Ojulta Stephenson, Martha Forney, Luella Harris, Margaret Hamill, and Mrs. Sadie Dresher.

Rev. and Mrs. Alvin J. Lindgren, graduates of McPherson college, are the proud parents of a baby girl, Patricia Ann, born May 10. Alvin is at present attending Duke University at Durham, North Carolina; however he has accepted a charge at Manawa, Wisconsin, after the first of June.

Margaret Hamm visited Edith Spengler at her home in Wichita over the week end.

Doris Coulson, Louise Engelman, Dorothy Samuelson, and Kathryn Kindscher of Abilene visited Mary Ruth Herr on Sunday.

Glen Funk spent the weekend at his home in Conway Springs. Dessa Clum spent the weekend at her home in Conway Springs.

John Kirwin, 6-foot, 6-inch, 230-pound freshman at Ohio State University, wears size 20 shoes that are 16 inches long and nearly 6 inches wide.

University of New Mexico student employment director recently sent out a call for an experienced egg candier.

Jack Oliver

Riddell Cobb

Above are two former McPherson college students who are learning to be pilots in Uncle Sam's army air corps. They are now stationed at Randolph Field, Texas, known as the "West Point of the Air."

Jack Oliver, last year's senior class president and second lead in the senior class play, "Tovarich," is still remembered by Maccolleagues for his ever-sunny smile and jovial disposition.

Riddell Cobb, former student and McPherson amateur boxer, was the quiet unassuming mathematics major from Galva.

Both of these boys are evidently doing well, holding up under the rigorous training which comes under a Randolph Field flying course.

All-School Picnic Finale
Of Year's Social Events

MacCollege's last all-school affair was the all-school picnic, held May 10 at the sand pits. Students and faculty together played softball, horse-shoe, croquet, and catch. Some of the students took walks over the hills, saying they must gather flowers for biology class. The entertainment was planned by Russell Eisenble, Twila Peck, Max Brunton, Bernetta Denton, James Mason, and Bob Burkholder.

Around a welcoming council fire the group gathered and ate the picnic lunch planned by Mary Spessard, Maxine Kimmel, Eleanor Macklin, Harold Wagon, and Finley Taylor. Orchids go to Miss Shockley, head of MacCollege social life, and Vena Flory, Donna Jean Johnson, Robert Brust, and Donald Newkirk, social committee, for supervising and planning the variety of all-school events of this year.

COMMODITIES IN INDUSTRY, the 1940 Commodity yearbook, is prepared and published by the Commodity Research Bureau in New York. The volume contains up-to-date, essential information on the raw materials of industry.

Seventy-five basic raw materials are treated in as many chapters, giving a step by step description of the modern methods whereby each is converted into its finished form.

Nordling Gains Singles Finals In Regionals

Nordling, Jones Qualify In Doubles; Olson, Bethany Ace, Qualifies

After being rained out Friday, the western regionals of the conference tennis tourney were played on the local courts Saturday. Kenneth Nordling, McPherson, and Birger Olson, Bethany, went to the finals in singles and thus won the right to play in the final playoffs at Baker this week.

Nordling and Cal Jones, McPherson, and Olson and Johnny Peterson, Bethany, went to the doubles finals and also went to the conference playoffs. Nordling and Jones lost only one game in reaching the finals. They trounced Weber and Welbe, Bethel, 6-0, 6-0, and beat Hanson and Erickson, Bethany, 6-0, 6-1.

In singles, Nordling went through the first round on a bye, but was slowed down a little by Peterson, Bethany, in the second round. Nordling won, 1-6, 6-1, 6-2. Then Nordling beat Reed, McPherson, in the semi-finals, 6-2, 6-3. Olson, Bethany, defeated Whitmore, McPherson, in the semi-finals of the other bracket, and thus all three McPherson singles entrants went to the semi-finals.

Mac Netmen Reach Semi-Finals
Reed, seeded the No. 3 spot, coasted to the semi-finals with a bye and a 6-0, 6-3 triumph over Licht, Bethel. Whitmore defeated Hanson, Bethany, 6-2, 6-1, in the first round and upset Carl Voth, Bethel, who was seeded No. 4, 6-4, 6-4. Then Whitmore lost to Olson, Bethany, in the qualifying round, 6-2, 6-3.

McPherson's other doubles team of Whitmore and Reed, although highly touted, lost to Olson and Peterson of Bethany, 6-2, 6-0 in the first round.

Three Chem Majors Receive Positions

Chemistry majors and chemistry assistants of McPherson college have in the past received many desirable positions in the world of chemistry. Of a recent date are three appointments to chemistry majors.

Sarah Jane Otwin received an appointment for next year in the Cook county hospital in Chicago in dietetics. The Cook county hospital is one of the largest hospitals in the United States.

Jonathan Hammersley, of the class of 1940, received an appointment for half-time assistantship in the chemistry department of the University of Kansas. He will receive $450 from this appointment. For this semester Hammersley has a fellowship of two hundred dollars and is devoting all of his time to experiments on synthetic diamonds.

Glenn Webb of the class of 1938 last week received a chemistry position with the Sherman Williams Paint Co., located in Jamestown, Missouri at one of their mines.

Labor Day was inaugurated by the Knights of Labor in 1882.

W-A-A-Hoo Athletes Play

Let's follow Mary through the week of sports in the W.A.A. clubs. Here it is Monday and Mary goes out onto the athletic field where a softball diamond is marked off. Yes, this must be the softball club, that's under Helen Davis' able direction. We've played from four until five today.

Tuesday—and we are again out for softball. Harriett Pratt and Jane Brooks are captaining the two teams. There certainly are a lot of good hitters, and catchers, and pitchers, and fielders—say ho, this looks like real ball playing!

did not fare well in the dashes, but provided plenty of competition for the Coyotes in the field and long run divisions. Coach Johnson's highly-touted milers and two-milers fell easy prey to McPherson's stalwarts, Holmes and Burger.

The Bulldogs won only three firsts in the meet, which was held under fairly good weather conditions. Time in the various events was good. A new record was set for Wesleyan in the javelin, when the spear was tossed 192 ft., 9 inches.

Golfers Qualify For Conference Meet

Chet Nordling, Max Brunton, and Harry Reeves qualified last Tuesday afternoon for the conference meet to be held at Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas. The boys had to be able to keep their score down to an 80 in order to qualify. The tournament is to be played Thursday and Friday. 54 holes are to be completed, 36 of which will be played on Thursday, and the remaining 18 holes will be played on Friday.

Bulldogs Joust In Conference Meet Today

Six Track Men And Four Golfers Uphold McPherson At Baker

Yesterday afternoon Coach Hayden and six track men, together with four golf representatives left for Baker where they are competing today for conference laurels. Much is expected of the small but capable squad which is entered in the meet, and undoubtedly the Bulldogs will win their share of honors. Canine fans look for a victory in the one and Wednesday: Now we go with Mary over to the tennis courts, where we can either play doubles or singles. Mary says some of the girls stayed in the gymnasium to play badminton. She also tells us this is the yearly Recreational club and is headed by a bird hike. After this outing, we ate our breakfast in the park at the Girl Scout ovens. Lois Lawson is the head of this club, which is called the Outing Club. Mary said that this club is always doing something. If it isn't a hike, they go skating or bicycling or do something else.

two mile races in view of the previous performances of Holmes and Burger. Holmes won the mile affair at the Ottawa Relays and is considered to have a good chance of repeating in this meet. Burger, the two-miler, as well as Holmes, has never been beaten in competition this season and is given a good chance to take first today.

The Canines who are at the track meet at Baker today include "Duke" Holmes, Milford Voth, Jack Vetter, Dick Burger, Rollin Wanamaker, and Mike Unruh. All have done well in track meets thus far this season.

Monday the Bulldogs travel to Newton to meet Bethel in a dual meet. The two teams were scheduled to meet last week but because of poor weather conditions the meet was postponed. Since it will be the first meet between the two teams, the strength of the Graymaroons is not fully known.

Nordling, Jones In Finals

For the first time in many years, McPherson college won the conference tennis championship in both singles and doubles. Kenneth Nordling won the singles, and he teamed up with Calvin Jones to win the doubles in the matches played at Ottawa yesterday.

None of the match scores could yet be learned, but they will be published in a later issue of the Spectator.

Greensters Defeat Bethany Saturday

Last Saturday afternoon the local Greensters became the undoubted victors over Bethany college. The Swedes brought only their first team; thus their second team had to forfeit to the Brunton brothers. Chet Nordling was low man for the day with a 78. Harry Peterson of Bethany shot and 81. Harry Reeves just edged in under his opponent with a 92 and Tom Loberg of Bethany carded a 93.

Crillosophical

Thousand year old tradition of surviving through all sorts of hardships and adverse conditions. According to the American Mortality Table, I will die at least by the time I am 95. Christianity will undoubtedly survive, but that doesn't help me. I wasn't born in the briar patch, and if I don't fight for what I have and defend myself against the lawless, my suffering will be greater by far. How can one reconcile this with the santly "Christianity will survive anyhow. Don't worry."

The answer is simple. There is bound to be a lot of suffering by either path, there will be less suffering if I don't inflict any. And what if my path is a little more difficult. It will save someone else a little suffering. The path of non-violence is still indicated.

To Whom It May Concern

By Bob Burkholder

Winding up of the Conference track, tennis, and golf meet this weekend also winds up the athletic schedule and competition for the McPherson college department of athletics.

Again in track the familiar faces of Wanamaker and Funk will be missing, but Mac will still have such men as Vetter, Holmes, and Burger striving for coveted "firsts."

As one looks back on the year's record, it is evident to him that the athletic stock of McPherson college has jumped up several points during the past year. But that is all behind now and we have to look ahead to see what next year has in store for us: First we'll take football.

The football team will be minus four key-men of this year's team: namely: Goering, Keck, Funk, and Wanamaker. Coach Tom Hayden will have a hard time in replacing these men. But many reserves of this year's team will be trying to step up into a first-string berth. Indications are that beside the usual crop of freshmen athletes, Buck Reinecker, Dick Callen, and Andy Collett will be back in school. Also "Honey" Jake Cramer, former McPherson college football star, may take another fling at football.

Next year should be the best year in Mac Basketball since 1938, when the Bulldogs tied for the championship. There will be eight letter-men reporting for basketball next year besides several strong reserves. Wanamaker is the only graduating letterman.

Next year's tennis team will be minus Reed, a four year letter-man.
