Crilosophical Cogitations

The illustrious author of that journalistic work of art, "Crilosophical Cogitations," has succeeded in bringing his collegiate inductive ramblings to an end. This week the Spectator staff wishes to pay tribute to Jim for the awe-inspiring "vocal-ularic" displays which have appeared weekly in his column.—No kiddin', Jim, we've gotten as big a kick out of it as you have!

James Harold Crill, better known as Jimmy, or merely Jim, is not certain from whence he has come. He formerly hailed from Nampa, Idaho, but his home, or at least his parents' home, is now at Potter Valley, California. After having majored in mathematics, Jim is now looking for a school in which he might act as teacher. And so sayeth Jim, "If any school board is interested in a fine, upstanding, young teacher, look for Crill of McPherson College." (Only he used much more auspicious terminology!)

Jim really is a talented and capable fellow. Besides "hatching" during all but one semester of his college career, he has served as a physics laboratory assistant for three years.

His journalistic activities have been carried to Maccollegians in sundry ways. Jim was editor of the Quadrangle during his junior year. He has been an outstanding reporter and columnist for the Spectator. He is rather proud that he has contributed to the "Free thought of the campus" by means of his letters to the editor.

Crill has been active in extra-curricular activities having belonged to I. R. C., the Student Council, S. C. M., and the Thespian Club. He had a lead in the recent senior class play and was a member of the debate squad this year. Jim was honored by election into the Who's Who of American Colleges during his senior year.

It is Crill's ambition and secret hope that someday he may do his

Arrival of Quads Occasions Furor; Seniors Are Supplied

The "Quads" have arrived! They're devoted to distribution to all who have so far payed their dues entirely and are members of a class having all its membership dues paid.

Just exactly what the consensus of opinion is throughout all the college channels will not be known for some time to come, but so far many, who have any knowledge for a basis of comparison with annuals of a few years past, say that this year's annual is just about "tops" in their estimation.

Included among several features of the 1941 annual is the three-color idea carried throughout the book, especially on the division pages. The colorful blue pioneer setting and the red and black print set off an appealing page.

Heard In Chapel

Music Featured In Chapel

After Professor Fisher's appraisal of the varsity women's quartette, in chapel Friday, the entire program consisted of musical numbers by the four girls.

As the curtain opened, the girls hummed "God Who Touches Earth With Beauty" with Esther Sheffy as the reader of the poem. God of the Open Air. The remainder of the program consisted of the following numbers: In My Garden, by Mrs. Firestone; Two Clocks, by Rogers; Oh These Men, an old Irish Melody; When a Maid Comes Knocking, by Fredrick; and I Can't Do The Sun, by Victor Herbert.

"One entire page of cuts has been devoted to campus personalities, snapped while they were in a fanciful mood. Informal scenes of Maccollege life fill out a section of the diversion pages also. The entire annual centers about an informal atmosphere. Thus far, only the seniors have received their annuals, being the only class with all membership dues paid to date. Other classes will soon be under the line, however.

For the first time in Maccollege history, so far as annuals are concerned, a cloth cover had been used, which is a beige tone with red lettering for the name and date of the publication. The new "Quad" has a dainty, artistic air about it which appeals to anyone with a sense of refinement and culture. It epitomizes the aesthetic in print.

As encore numbers the girls sang Three Blind Mice and Love is Like a Firefly.

Dr. Metzler was assisted through the reading of three poems by Leta Becker, Edith Spengler, and Eugene Lichty. The reference for Dr. Metzler's was taken from the fourteenth chapter of Acts. Dr. Metzler carried the people of today with Robinson Crusoe on his island. "We are not alone here on our island planet. Someone else has been here and provided for us. A man's highest privilege is to make an acquaintance with the highest one and build a friendship with him who has provided for us. We should be willing to expose ourselves to God, this great other one."

Dr. Schwalm Makes Final Appearance In Spectator

By Jim Crill

We are genuinely happy that to Dr. Schwalm has come the supreme moment in a man's life when he can return in honor to his home—where honor is cherished the most, and we feel deeply indebted to him for the fourteen years of his life that he has devoted to the cause of McPherson College and to us, his children.

Crowning the many honors of thirty years of busy teaching and productive scholarship, has come to Dr. Schwalm the deserved honor of the presidency of our sister college, Manchester. As it is a larger college in an older, more settled community, it will afford to Dr. Schwalm greater opportunities of scholarship, travel, and productivity.

"He that wishes to be counted among the benefactors of posterity, must add, by his own toil, to the acquisitions of his ancestors," and realizing this Dr. Schwalm has consistently labored to provide in McPherson College the atmosphere, the ideals, faculty, and physical equipment necessary to educate for lives of productivity and service.

Since accepting the presidency of our school in 1927, he has spurred our school to constituency into improving the school plant by the enlargement of the chapel, by building the stadium and modernizing the athletic field, the erection of the Physical Education and Health Building, the readmission of the college into accredited standing with the North Central Association of Colleges, and he has been instrumental in raising money for a new dormitory, the construction of which is contemplated next summer.

Since he became a teacher in 1911, Dr. Schwalm has been devoted to the teaching profession as a way of raising society to higher standards. He has said with Webster that this profession "is one of the noblest which can occupy the attention and claim the contributions of the Christian Public. It is to second the efforts of the Apostles themselves in establishing and extending the empire of truth."

Seniors Observe Baccalaureate Services Sunday

Schwalm To Deliver Sermon At Services At College Church

On Sunday-week, June 1, at 10:45 a. m., the seniors of the McPherson College class of 1941 will begin their last long trek from the college to the college church.

Attired in caps and gowns, the seniors will repair to the college church for the fifty-third session of baccalaureate exercises to be observed by graduating classes of McPherson College.

At this service, Dr. V. F. Schwalm, president of McPherson College, and president-elect of Manchester College in North Manchester, Indiana, will deliver the sermon.

After and during the service, a musical program will be given. To inaugurate the baccalaureate exercises for the senior class of 1941, Professor Ralph Stutzman of the McPherson college Music Department, will play an organ prelude. On the musical part of the service, the A Cappella Choir of the college will sing "O Watchers of the Stars," one of their outstanding numbers by Noble Cain. Following this number, the McPherson College Ladies' Quartette will sing "O Divine Redeemer," by Charles Gounod.

Manual Arts Department To Have Open House

Starting at 6:30 p. m. tonight, the manual arts department will be open for inspection. On display will be a few of the products made by the manual arts department during this school term. The display will consist of metal work of various sorts, foundry, sheet metal, and welding, as well as a large variety of woodworking, desks, chests, tables, and various types of lathe work. Smaller displays of concrete and work will be shown. Anyone may come who desires to do so.

"This display does not represent the year's work in the manual arts department, but merely samplings to show the type of work done here," said Professor S. M. Dell, instructor of industrial arts. "We are not trying to train skilled metal workers or anything of the sort, but are trying to get the students to keep a balance of skillful hands and cultured minds. Here we try to combine the hands and the mind."

On Monday, June 2, 1941, the fifty-third annual commencement exercises of McPherson college will be held in the First Church of the Brethren. At that time 49 seniors will graduate, and the address of the service will be delivered by Dean Claude W. Sprouse of the Grace Holy Trinity Cathedral of Kansas City, Missouri.

Commencement exercises begin on Monday with an organ prelude by Professor Ralph Stutzman, of the college music department. Miss Lucile Wade, a senior, will sing "Ave Maria," after which the invocation will be given. Miss Vena Flory will play "Dance of the Gnomes," a song "Woodland Morning," by the varsity male quartette will follow the address by Dean W. Sprouse.

Dean John W. Boltrott will present the candidates for graduation and Dr. V. F. Schwalm will confer the degrees. Confering of an honorary degree followed by the benediction and the organ postlude will conclude the commencement exercises.

These commencement exercises will also conclude four years of college work for the forty-nine seniors who are looking forward to continuing their education in the practical school of everyday experiences. Their four years of school work in McPherson college will act as a background for them as they go out into the present day world.

Various activities for the graduating seniors will begin Saturday evening, May 24, at 8:00 p. m. At this time the seniors will be guests of President and Mrs. Schwalm at a reception. On Saturday, May 31, the proverbial class day program will be given. Seniors will learn of their futures and many under-classes will find themselves heirs of strange things left to them in the wills of the seniors.

Baccalaureate services will be at 10:45 p. m. on Sunday, June 1. On the same day from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. vesper worship services will be conducted by Rev. B. N. King. The program will be given by the McPherson College A Cappella Choir. At 7:30 p. m., there will be an organ recital in the college church by Professor Ralph Stutzman. At this time the new Reuter Pipe Organ will be dedicated.

Kerlin, Orr In Joint Recital

To Be Given Sunday In College Chapel

On Sunday afternoon, May 25, in the college chapel at 4:00 o'clock, there will be a joint recital by Miss Virginia Kerlin, soprano and Ronald Orr, baritone. Both are students under Professor Nevin W. Fisher.

Miss Kerlin, whose home is in Twin Falls, Idaho, has taken an active part in the musical programs of the year. This marks her second year as a member of the A Cappella Choir.

Mr. Orr is a native of Holmesville, Nebraska and a junior this year. He likewise is an important member of the A Cappella Choir in the baritone section as well as holding the office of co-librarian this year.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Both singers have become well known soloists through their many appearances locally as well as in college programs.

The program is as follows:

- I. F. Mendelssohn
- Aria from the Oratorio, "Elijah," The First Primrose
- Edvard Grieg
- My Queen
- Johannes Brahms
- My Abode
- Franz Schubert
- Mr. Orr
- II
- My Rosary
- Nevin W. Fisher
- I'll Not Complain
- Robert Schumann

The Spectator Sees---

Seniors, We Salute You

In less than a week, students all over the nation will leave school for a period of vacation, money-earning, and leisure. Seniors especially will be faced with the problem of re-orientation; of regaining mental composure in a world different from that in which they have been privileged to live for the past four years.

Some of us will be sorry to see the McPherson College seniors graduated. For some of us, their graduation will mean a final farewell; a last goodbye. Many of the seniors have befriended and comforted various ones of us underclassmen.

Older ones of us will remember always the brutal efficiency of Stucky; the suavity of Newkirk; the kindness of Naylor. Few among us can ever forget the sparkle of Marianne Kruger's smile, or the generous, free-hearted dictionary-dabbler Crill.

Who among us can offend the memory of Lucille Wade, endeared to all by her genuine friendliness and personality, or the verve and vivacity of Mamie Wolfe? Who can forget the bulldog tenacity of "Dutch" Goering, or the quiet likability of Kieth Pierce?

Regardless of how much we hate to lose these seniors, lose them we must, just as next year some of the students will lose us. Anyway, all of us join in wishing the seniors of the class of 1941 of McPherson College the best of success; the ultimate in happiness; and the quietness of enjoyment.

Good bye, Mr. Chips!

Orchids To Quadrangle

Quadrangles (for the paid-up seniors) came out last Monday. Although the opinion of the student body in general is a trifle difficult to gauge, particularly at this early date, and inasmuch as Quads have not yet been issued to the entire student body, it would appear that those who have examined the 1941 Quadrangle proclaim it a success.

From one publication to another, the Spectator offers congratulations to the 1941 Quadrangle staff for its fine work in getting the 1941 Quads out before the last week of school.

Parting Is Such Sweet Sorrow

This issue marks the close of the publication year for the Spectator. Although misfortune, taking the form of resignation and general staff upheaval, caused considerable furor in the otherwise placid lives of those concerned with publications, the year on the whole has been a good one.

Anyway, the Spectator staff thanks heartily all who have supported the Spectator. With this issue we will cease publishing for the summer, but we will be back next fall with the same Spec, same staff, and same editorial policy. We will see you then!

Small Church Schools

Having come to the end of the school year, one is reminded that of some of the many advantages which are his in attending a small church school. In the first place, small schools are helpful to one in that he is allowed in cases a closer communication with the department heads.

Another point in favor of the small colleges is that most of them are parochial. Although the name "parochial school" has come to have a bad connotation in some circles, there are manifold advantages in such a school system.

Eavesay Opperdray

It is exceedingly doubtful that I, being a mediocre sort of fellow, shall ever be called upon to deliver a commencement address. In fact, I have never been so totally disgruntled with the world and my fellow man as to imagine myself inflicting such rash punishment upon an audience that is forced by the social approval drive to attend such an address.

Not that I dislike commencement addresses, especially the long ones in which the speaker says, "and in conclusion," fifteen minutes before he finishes, and keeps his audience's attention that much longer only because they don't want to be asleep when they are asked to rise for prayer. No, I do not say that I dislike that type of address. I will, however, blushing admit that to see them strung up by the large digit of both feet and forced to listen to misplaced "and inconclusions," and "You are about to go out into a world of strife and turmoil," until dead would not distress me greatly.

True enough, things are in bad shape, but what of it? Haven't they been before? Our fathers and grandfathers have faced the same old world and similar situations with not half the education and preparation that we have. We are, perhaps, the best educated generation that the world has ever seen! The class of '41 of the universities and colleges of America is better equipped to meet and cope with the present situation with level headed deliberation than any other group of persons.

they do have something which larger schools do not have—a Christian outlook.

Proof of the fact that education gained in small denominational schools is evidenced by the fact that the graduating class of 1941 is already fifty per cent settled in private life, as regards future plans. Many seniors have received good positions which are open to them this summer or at the beginning of next school year, and there are some who will be going to graduate school next year, either on their own financially or on scholarship.

Give us a small denominational school every time!

To The Seniors

This week in its last issue for the school year 1940-41, the Spectator is sponsoring special senior write-ups and applauding the senior class of 1941.

Seniors, the Spectator hereby offers best wishes and hearty congratulations.

Henry Speaks For I.R.C.

By Thomas Doeppner

By Robert Nance Cooper's statement sometime ago that the administration is trying to keep their promise not to lead us into war but are willing to be "pushed" in is well supplemented by Mrs. Roosevelt's statement that there "is a growing sentiment that there are certain things we cannot have happen here" and "we can be driven to war" to prevent them.

First Committee and the Isolationists are having a telling effect on the people and indirectly on the Administration; Roosevelt is receiving letters by the truckloads urging him not to put convoys into action and these letters are having an effect on him, as it is for a large part because of them that he postponed his speech. Other indications that we are not ready for war is the continued labor trouble and also the very small excitement over the sinking of the Zanzam with Americans aboard.

Campus Comment

So long Prexy! So long to a regular fellow, a swell guy! So long to the man who, through thirteen years of unprecedented endeavor, has put MacCollege on the map. So long to one who has exerted inexhaustible energies and untiring effort toward the betterment of our college, to the man whose devout Christianity and unswerving adherence to the highest ideals of teaching and living have been an inspiration, yes, an aspiration to all who have known him.

Yes, it's so long Prexy. Our loss is Manchester's gain. We wish you all the success and happiness that we know your undying enthusiasm and conscientious endeavor assures you. So long Prexy!

At Brown university there's a student named Foist. Intrigued, someone started a checkup. It developed he was the son of immigrant parents who had Anglicized their name, presumably in Nyawk, Nyawk.

Kenny Nordling Wins Singles Championship

Acc Rookie Remains Unbeaten In All His Collegiate Competition

Kenneth Nordling, freshman ace of the Bulldog netsters, won the Kansas Conference championship at the meet at Ottawa last week. In the first round played there he defeated Jewell, Baker, 2-6, 6-1, 7-5. Olson, Bethany, beat Austin, Baker, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

In the conference finals, Nordling beat Olson in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. Nordling finished up his freshman year in grand style, by going through the season undefeated in singles and by gaining the conference tennis crown for Macollege's first time in several years.

"Kenny" Nordling, thrice Central Kansas League champion while playing tennis for McPherson High School, has gained quite a little respect from other tennis players in this section of the country.

be held outside in the open air. Play is scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock, and later in the evening folk games will be held for everyone's enjoyment. If present plans are carried out, the games will be held on the athletic field with the aid of the flood lights. Student and faculty members are being urged to participate.

Holmes, Burger Win Firsts

The Bulldogs were winners in the mile and two mile conference events when "Duke" Holmes finished first in a dead heat in the mile and Dick Burger won by nearly fifty yards in the two mile event. Both were winners over last year's champions and ran their respective races in good time.

Netsters Win Conference Doubles Finals

Nordling, Jones Go Through Entire Season Unbeaten

Kenneth Nordling and Calvin Jones, Macollege's top doubles team, won the conference tennis championship in doubles last week. The victory enabled McPherson to make a clean sweep of tennis honors in the conference, and enabled the top doubles team to go through the season unbeaten.

In the first round Nordling and Jones beat Jewell and Austin, Baker, 6-8; 6-4, 6-1. Olson and Peterson, Bethany, beat Ottawa's top doubles team, 6-1, 6-2.

In the finals, Nordling and Jones came from way behind to win from Bethany's team of Olson and Peterson 5-7, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1. The match was halted the first day by darkness and had to be finished the last day of the meet.

Chester Nordling Wins League Golf Title

Pairs With Reeves To Take Team Honors At Tourney

McPherson college won the individual and the team championships in the conference golf tournament. Chester Nordling, after having a little trouble with putting the first day, was able to display his true form to come through the last round and win the individual championship. Nordling's championship scores were paired with Harry Reeves's fifth place scores to bring the team championship to Macollege, a margin of 53 strokes over the second place Ottawa team.

Max Brunton had trouble the first day with the course, but came through in spite of it to win sixth place. Malone of Baker won second place and Harry Peterson of Bethany won third.

Freshmen And Sophomores Collaborate In Picnic

Plung Tuesday evening at Black Canyon, the annual Fresh-Sophomore fling was a glowing success. The seemingly inevitable rain that threatened to dampen the spirits of the picnickers and, fortunately, withheld its deluge until the picnic was over. Entertainment consisted of a rousing soft ball game in which the flashy freshman team outdid the sophomores. Russell "Scott" Stern officiated with all the pomp and proficiency of a big league ump. Those preferring a less strenuous form of exercise chose to play croquet, while some of the more adventurous picnickers set about to conquer the surrounding hills. This was usually done in couples, probably to keep from getting lost.

After the games a weiner roast ensued at which there were almost enough weiners to go around. The hot dogs were washed down with orangeade and fudgecakes completed the menu.

Among the highlights of the picnic were the jovial, good-natured sportsmanship displayed by all participants in the softball game. Willy Linville fielding the ball with his head. Dwayne Knackstedt standing under a tree with outstretched arms and gnashing teeth waiting for the ball to come down, and Chip Eisenblise's flying trip to Galva after many weiners.

After the picnic two carloads of the picnickers went to Coronado Heights.

W-A-A-Hoo Athletes Play

It's been a grand year, every W. A. A. girl has had fun, and each one is looking forward to next year.

Doris Voshell, Doris Doane, Ruby Peterson, and Helen Davis were approved by the executive committee and will receive their W. A. A. letters. All other girls who have been active in one yearly or two seasonal clubs this year will receive the small letters.

Officers of the Outing Club unanimously report that the over-night hike last Friday was the best ever. Lois Lawson, head of the club, Muriel Laine, Alta Gross, Lucille Harris, Harriet Pratt, Lu Luanda Larson, Anna Mae Nickay, Lillian Fulkerson, Mrs. Nickay and Mrs. Fulkerson camped out at Black Canyon. Friday night the girls sang around a huge campfire. Saturday they went boating and most of the girls ended up, tired, sleepy, and wet, but happy!

With the W. A. A. council fire and installation service for the new officers last Thursday, the clubs disbanded for another year. Three cheers to Miss Warner, the officers and club heads.

Everybody keep up the good spirit and enthusiasm and we'll see you all next year!

To Whom It May Concern

Perhaps a more fitting head for this last sports column of the 1940-41 school year should be called "Retrospect"—or in simple words "looking back" over the happenings of the past school year.

There are always a few happenings that you remember longer than others and like to think back over in some minute of reflection. Among the events I will remember the longest is the spontaneous pep of the Snake Dance before the first home football game; Vetter plugging and Callen's catch of Vetter's pass in the Ottawa game, also the impromptu celebration afterwards. Also it is hard to forget the last play of "Red" Keckles college football career as he broke his arm tackling an Ottawa ball carrier. Then it is hard to forget how Funk time and time again went into the game with a crippled knee in an effort to help win the game for the Bulldogs.

Perhaps one of the most heart-breaking events happened in the Bethany football game when McPherson down in Bethany territory threw a pass which big Harry Peterson intercepted and raced to the only touchdown of the game. And then one can't forget how "Dutch" Goering,

Albert Whitmore

Albert Whitmore, Macollege's tennis playing preacher, comes from Chicago and is majoring in philosophy and religion.

"Al", as he is known to many, has lettered two years in tennis and has been an asset to the squad in the intercollegiate meets. This summer Albert will keep the city tennis courts in condition.

This year "Al" has been preaching in West, Wichita and next year he plans to go to Bethany Seminary at Chicago.

"Al" has been a member of the chemistry club, debate, S. C. M. choral club and has played in the band. He has been active in the Student Minister movement.

Al is married and has two fine girls. He will be greatly missed next year, for Al always has a smile for anyone anytime.

Students Welcome

with one arm strapped to his side spent most of his time one night in the Bethel game in the Gray Maroon's backfield nailing the ball carrier before he ever got started.

In basketball how can anyone forget the close games—especially the three overtime games. Then the Bethany game at Lindsay where both teams played near perfect basketball. Also there was the Kansas Wesleyan game at McPherson when the Bulldogs set the Coyotes back on their heels the first half only to lose in the last half. But the incident that stands out in my mind more clearly than any other is Junior French's long arching sideshot that tied up the Baker game with less than 19 seconds to go. Then there was the determined drive of Brust's, the Methodical Jones, excited Benny, the clever "Duke" Holmes, the swishing baskets of French and Schubert and others.

There are also many other events that will linger in our minds for a long time but another year will bring more and perhaps even happier happenings but such stalwarts as Goering, Funk, Wanamaker, Keck, and others have donated a Bulldog suit for the last time.

See you all next year.

in Elmo on Tuesday.

Ether Shery, Shirley Spohn, Lucile Wade, Lucy Blough sang at the Monitor church on Sunday. Sally and Lena Belle Olwin went with these girls after which they all enjoyed a dinner at the home of Shirley Spohn's parents in Conway.

Calvin Jones and Alice Lindgren were visitors at the G. T. Jones home in Pretty Prairie on Sunday.

What Will The Seniors Do Then, Poor Things?

Next year the seniors of 1941 will not disturb the peaceful campus of McPherson college. Frederick Wiley is to teach science in Turon, Kansas, and Geneva Schiehuber will try her hand at social science at Preston. Those teaching home economics are Geraldine Spohn at Lorraine, Maurine Anderson at Waitou, and Elizabeth Mohler at Delavan. Music will be included in Elizabeth's curricular schedule next year. Donna Jean Johnson will work in the city library, and Kirk Naylor will fulfill his appointment with Montgomery Wards in Kansas City. At Alexander, Elmer Ratzlaff will teach manual training besides coaching athletics.

Most likely a generous share of the other seniors will remain at home or collect silver. Marjorie Anderson, Mildred Morrison, and Ramona Fries, who may take organ lessons, will be at home. Ruth Stump may collect furniture and various homey odds and ends. Venus Flory will be headed for Kansas University for graduate work, and the other half of this duo, Dale Stucky, will attend Chicago University, where another senior, Sarah Jane Olwin, will also be in attendance. Lee Nelson will attend Bethany Biblical Seminary in Chicago for graduate work in the ministry, and Hubert Shelby has work in the McPherson County NYA office. Avis Elliott will soon use her pre-collected hope-chest fillers instead of having them for ornamental purposes. Paul Thompson has a pastorate at Conway Springs and Albert Whitmore will preach at Wichita.

ating class of 1928 and Samuel Stoner of Murrie, Indiana, were married on April 6, 1941. Mr. Stoner graduated with the class of '35.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Trostle are the parents of a son, Ronald Dean, born April 11, 1941. Mr. Trostle was a member of the class of '32.

Garen William Lee is the name of the new son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lee. Mrs. Lee was formerly Miss Mary Weddle.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Minear of Enterprise, Kansas, are the parents of a baby born on April 6, 1941. Mr. Minear is a graduate of the class of '34.

McPHERSON REPUBLICAN

We Extend

Congratulations to The CLASS of 1941

"My country 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty—" ¶Thousands of young men and women are graduating today in colleges all over the country. Some look forward to more education—some will take up tools—others start careers and professions. Each is turning a page in the book of life . . . what will be written on the new page?

"We, the people of the United States in order to form a more perfect union," . . . ¶George Washington was a well educated man—but students of today are presented with vaster fields of learning than were available to anyone in Washington's time. But Washington was great then—and would be great today—because he could think, perceive, evaluate and act! He learned more from life than he did from books. So did Abraham Lincoln . . . a great man without formal education. So can today's graduates . . . that from which they graduate—a school—is intended to prepare them for learning from life.

World conditions necessitate and produce action and reaction, defense and offense, war and peace, prosperity and depression . . . ¶Great problems lie before the graduates of 1941. To some, further preparation is necessary before tackling them . . . others find themselves on the long road that leads to future responsibility . . . in business . . . in government . . . in social activities. There's a challenge for every student . . . a problem to be solved . . . mistakes to be corrected . . . errors to be avoided. There's something that needs licking . . . something that only one person can lick. It may be a personal problem . . . but each personal problem affects a national problem—this is a big country.

" . . . testing whether this nation, or any nation, so conceived and so dedicated can long endure . . . so that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth . . ." ¶Graduates—the book of life is open before you. May it become a history of continued success for you, for McPherson, for the United States of America which is you!
