Report On Our College UN

Determined to learn in a practical way, the mechanisms and workings of the UN, the World Problems Commission of the SCA is preparing a campus model of UN. The executive body has already been set up under Jack Kough, President; Max McAuley, Secretary-General; and Catharine Little, Executive-Assistant.

To represent the various countries in the general assembly, several persons are studying countries they have chosen. The following list of countries and their representatives has been compiled: Argentina—Eather Miller; Belgium—Helen Howe; Brazil—Marvin Reeves; Canada—Don Stern; China—Lois Yoder; Czechoslovakia—Bob Simonton; France—Clifford Shultz; Greece—John Burkholder; India—Marvin Blough; Iran—Donna Bowman; Mexico—Catharine Little; Pakistan—Dorris Murdoch; Poland—Dean Neher; Turkey—Russell Jarboe; U. S. S. R.—Ted Geisert and Don Keim; United Kingdom—Paul Haworth; U. S. A.—Bill Daggett, Marvin Krehbiel.

To add to the interest and completeness of the discussion more delegates and representatives are needed and are welcomed to join the group. Interested persons should contact John Burkholder, Russell Jarboe, or Theodore Geisert.

Germany A Hope For World Peace

Today as never before, the world is in need of peace for the protection of the peoples of the world, so that they may carry on the work of reconstructing their world without fear that it will be torn down again. Our representatives in the legislative bodies are debating on the amount of money to be sent to Europe for the purpose of recovery. Unfortunately they—and we—are missing something which would aid materially in the building of a lasting peace, Germany.

Her people vanquished, her industrial machines—mostly to Russia—in reparations. Again we are punishing the entire population of a country for the mistakes of her erstwhile leaders. It would not be so bad were it not for the fact that the current population is not going to bear the brunt of the punishment. It is the future generation. Blessed are the young.

The economic future of Europe lies not in the donation of billions upon billions of dollars by the United States. It lies in the industrial section of the Ruhr Valley. What the allies do with it will determine the speed with which European economic stability is attained, for the economic

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of McPherson College began the Regional Conference activities this morning at 10 a. m., with Dr. W. W. Peters presiding.

First on the agenda of business was the seating of the new members of the Board. Then followed the election of the members of the standing committee. The various annual reports were given, or read in the absence of the writer. Reports given were as follows: Report of the Dean-Registrar, Dean L. Avery Fleming; Treasurer's report, J. H. The next issue of the Spectator will contain a more detailed account of the business discussed and decisions made in the annual meeting of McPherson College's Board of Trustees.

Formal Dinner And Recital Last Week

Last Friday evening at 6:00 p. m. the college dining hall was the scene of a formal Valentine's dinner for the college students. The dining hall had been somewhat rehabilitated; huge hearts as well as red and white streamers added to the motif. After consuming the delicious meal by soft candlelight, the students and guests enjoyed a short program with Catharine Little as toastmistress. Bonnie Alexander and Colleen Draper rendered a piano duet, after which Leroy Doty gave a reading. Concluding the program and the dinner, a quintet composed of Avis Erb, Eloise Brooks, Doris Coppock, Paul Wagner and Kenneth Jarboe sang, a number arranged for them by Helen Stover.

Following the formal dinner, the McPherson College Music Department presented several students in a vocal, piano, and instrumental recital. The recital began at 8:00 p. m. in the college chapel.

Gene Bechtel, student of Professor Crabb was featured initially in a cornet solo. The voice students of Professor Frederick and Miss Turk who rendered vocal solos were Leona Flory, Iren Stern, Albert Rogers, Kenneth Graham, Wilma Smith, and Eula Witmore. Piano solos were given by the following students of Miss Howe and Miss Brown: Martha Franz, Marvin Hanson, Leona Richards, and Esther Miller. The terminal item on the program consisted of two piano duets by Max Shank and Gordon Stutzman, students of Miss Brown.

Group Gives Play At Bankers Meeting

On Wednesday afternoon Miss Esther Sherfy, Mr. Stanley Sargent, and Mr. Max McAuley along with several downtown McPhersonites journeyed to Colby and Stockton, Kansas, where they presented a version of the incorrect and the correct way to do banking. The small play was presented to the Kansas Bankers Association. The members of the play were treated to a dinner and were able to sit in on several interesting seminars on banking.

The cast and the directors were introduced to the group after the play was given.

Our Fine Weather

"The weather's fine for flying"—as the proverb of a poet—but we can truthfully say the weather has changed. We'll not venture so far as to say that this beautiful Indian Summer weather will last, for we know Kansas' weather... why, it's almost as unpredictable as college life! Sun shines overhead, while a few robins flutter around singing merry little tunes; yet under foot, there are great puddles of water standing on the sidewalks, and slushing mud oozes up around the shoes.

Perhaps before this story goes to press we will be out once more in white flurries of snow and teakating and snow-balling will be in order. Instead of changing slowly and peacefully, the Kansas weather changes so rapidly that inhabitants are left often in a dither. Change from snow to "spring-like" weather, is just one example of the changeability of the Kansas weather. In other words, if you do not like the weather as it is, just wait a minute—

Executive Secretary of Ministry & Home Missions

Ruth Shriver
Director of Women's Work

The faculty and trustees of the college will be honored at a dinner at 6:30. Later, Dr. W. W. Peters and Don Snider will give an address particularly directed to the youth.

Tomorrow, there will be three seminars held and the day will be climaxed with the annual Youth Banquet at 6:30 p. m. in the basement of the Church.

Bayard Rustin will speak to the youth Saturday and on Sunday at 2 p. m. Don Snider will give a report on the peace conference he attended in Oslo, Norway.

Sunday night, Raymond R. Peters will give an address entitled "Attaining Emotional Maturity."

Each morning of the conference, breakfast will be served promptly at 7 a. m. in the church basement to all the guests.

From 8 until 8:50 a. m., the District Directors of Advance and District Board will meet, with Raymond Peters as speaker.

Dr. Burton Metzler will conduct a Bible Hour beginning Monday Feb. 23 at 8:15 and terminating on Thursday morning, Feb. 26.

We Welcome You

Today marks the beginning of the annual Regional Conference of the Western Region of the Church of the Brethren. McPherson College opens its doors to all visitors and extends to you its most cordial welcome. We hope you enjoy every minute of this meeting, planned to prepare all to advance with Christ.

With your help, this can be the most beneficial conference we have ever had. The programs that have been planned can be helpful to all those who attend. Each of the speakers for the conference has a message to present to you. Accept this message, and apply it in your own daily life. Keep in mind the evangelism that is so closely connected with this Lenten season, as well as with our Regional Conference. "Be Ye Doers of the Word, and Not Hearers Only."

McPherson College is primarily a Christian College, and its aims are to lead students into a Christian outlook on the world, to develop a Christian philosophy of life, and to inspire them to live as Christians. Through your support in the past, this institution has adopted and maintained these goals, and with your support in the future we can climb even higher on the ladder of Christianity. We can help create a new world that is so much needed—a new world in which education and religion are synonymous.

McPherson College is honored to be the host to the trustees and friends of the college throughout Regional Conference week. We sincerely hope that you will feel we are maintaining our established reputation of being a college with a great future. We also hope you enjoy sharing with us some of our religious and intellectual atmosphere.

We Welcome You!

Together We Build

Perhaps there is nothing more important now than educating the youth of today to be Christian leaders in the world of tomorrow.

In order for them to be leaders, however, the youth must receive training for their leadership and for a good, wholesome life. They must be taught to live well in all their relationships and to have a complete understanding of Christian ethics. In this manner, they may build high the Kingdom of God.

McPherson College is the type of educational institution that can supply all of these needs to a youth preparing to help build a supernal Kingdom for God. But the college is useful also. Its need is expansion.

Such an expansion program has been authorized by the trustees and the work is to begin sometime in the near future.

Contributions to this worthy project are being accepted by the college. Have you thought of contributing? If not, consider it very thoroughly. No matter how small your contribution is, it will be appreciated. Remember the slogan for the erection of Sharp Hall? "A penny per brick—result Sharp Hall." It can happen again on a much larger scale.

"So built we the walls—for the people had a mind to work."

A Magnetic Christ

by Glen Hillen

"And I when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself." John 12:32 (R. S. V.)
Does Christ have the power to draw all men to himself? Does he challenge you to live a better life?

At the beginning of this war the phrase "alone in a hostile world" was used often in inducing the United States to enter the war. But why should the United States, or any other country, for that matter, fear being alone in a hostile world.

Two thousand years ago Jesus started the greatest movement the world has ever known. It was established by twelve men who were sent out alone in a hostile world. Their only protection lay in the fact that their aim was to "draw" men not to alienate, conquer, or control them. They had behind them a Power who was able to draw all men to himself. What does such a challenge mean to you? The name of Christianity is taken and professed by nearly one third of the world's population, and yet we fear being alone in a hostile world. Could it be because we lack the support of faith in a magnetic Christ?

In this Lenten season we need to examine our relationship to God. We need to ask ourselves whether or not we are obeying the call and challenge of a magnetic Christ. If we are properly attuned to the voice of God we will be drawn toward a closer fellowship with Christ just as iron is drawn toward a lodestone.

Let us listen for the voice of God and let us seek the leading and calling of the Magnetic Christ.

Idea for the betterment of the college. We cordially invite him to attend our regular meetings every Tuesday at 9:50 a. m. in the SUH.

Signed: Thad Jones and Beryl McCann.

Dear Editor

In a recent issue of the Spectator there was an article by Van Dunahoo which was entitled "What Lent Means to Me." The article failed to fulfill the impression given by the title. Some of his remarks were very well put, but others were too critical with a lack of support.

We will grant him that there is some noise in the dining hall which doesn't show reverence, but with 200 college students, it takes only a few movements to make a disturbance. In any college there are a few students who do not meet the requirements of a Christian.

We wish to disagree with his statement, and we quote, "That you can attend a forty-five minute B. Y. meeting without even a thought of prayer included." In the B. Y. meetings there is enough inspirational material given, that if one were in a prayerful attitude, he would have the thought of prayer within himself. Since he has been in McPherson College such a short length of time, we suggest that he refrain from passing such critical judgment until he is more acquainted with the school.

We wish to call to his attention that the Christian believes in prayer to God and not to man, and that, "Still water runs deepest." The scriptures teach that we should not pray in the streets as the publicans do, but to pray in secret to our Heavenly Father.

We do not wish to condemn his attitude, which had some fine points in it; however, we suggest to him that he do some deeper thinking and closer observing before publishing such strong statements.

The President Speaks

Beginning this week, three great events are in evidence on the campus of McPherson College:

- The Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees.
- The Youth Conference of the Western Region.
- The Annual Regional Conference.

I am certain I speak for the students and faculty of the College when I say, greetings to all who are in attendance. We hope you will feel welcome and that our hospitality will be in evidence. Our homes, the Church and the College are at your service.

In extending a welcome, however, I am reminded of how hollow are words unless they express themselves in action. "Actions speak louder than words." "How you act speaks so loud, I cannot hear what you say."

The above paragraph is intended only for the students, the faculty, and the residents of McPherson to read.

Architects Drawing of New Dining Hall

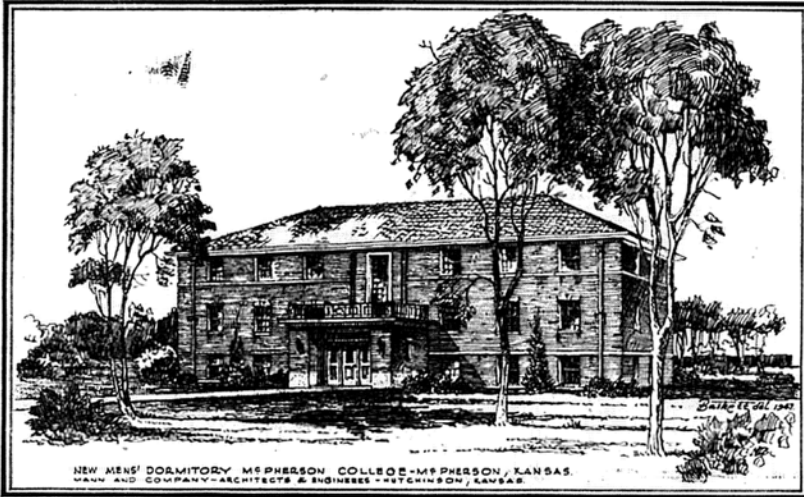

Recently the trustees of McPherson College voted unanimously to promote an expansion program designed to meet the needs of the near future. The increased enrollment in McPherson College made this moderate expansion imperative.

New buildings for the campus are to be a men's dormitory and a kitchen and dining hall. The cost of these two, along with the enlargement of Carnegie Library and Physical Education Building will be approximately $300,000. The Mann Company, of Hutchinson, Kansas, architects and engineers, have drawn the pictured plans for the proposed new buildings. The commencement will take place when the needed materials can be had.

The goal of $200,000 additional endowment is in keeping with other advancements of the College. With every increase in student body, faculty and buildings, it is necessary to add to the productive endowment of the college.

The present kitchen and dining hall at McPherson College was built to accommodate a student body much smaller than the present group. In order to serve the students efficiently, it is necessary that enlargement be made in this facility. The building of the new men's dormitory is to take care of the over-load of students.

McPherson College, in proposing this enlargement program, strives to give to youth every advantage for Christian growth and development.

The History Of Regional Conference

In 1891, a Standing Committee, by the approval of the Annual Meeting, appointed a committee of three Elders for each of the Brethren schools, whose duty it was to watch over the moral and religious influence of the schools and to report annually to the Annual Meeting the condition of the schools. The first report of this committee concerning McPherson College included this statement: "We are happy to state that both attendance and the work done come up to all that can reasonably be expected, considering the age and facilities of the school."

Eighteen years later, in 1909, the meetings acquired the name of Bible Normal and guests were invited to the annual affairs.

In 1924, the Regional Ministerial Conference petitioned an annual Meeting to provide for regional ministerial conferences in the various school regions to stimulate evangelistic efforts throughout the Church, to facilitate better regional organization, to study problems of the schools, etc.

The Standing Committee, in their annual report in 1931, encouraged the idea of the leaders of Districts getting together in Conferences by regions to assist each other in promoting the work of the District and to train leaders.

In 1937, the Regional Conference was organized and it became the total program of the Church. The committee requested the development of a regional advisory council in each of the five administrative regions of the brotherhood for the correlation of the entire general and district programs of the Church, including Home Missions.

About Alumni

By Ira N. H. Brammell

Regional Conference week is one of the highlights of inspiration experienced on the campus during the school year. Many visitors come from over the region, including prospective students, alumni, pastors, church leaders, and spiritually hungry people.

It is during this conference that the annual trustee meeting is held. This brings to the campus the full Board of twenty-three Trustees who are the controlling body of the college.

These trustees are elected as follows: sixteen are elected by as many state districts of the Church; one is elected by the Alumni Association, the General Trustee Board elects five from McPherson, who along with the President of the College is a trustee ex-officio. The alumni trustee and the trustee elected from the citizenship of McPherson need not be members of the Church of the Brethren.

Of these twenty-three trustees, twelve are alumni of the college. Representation of Alumni on the Trustee Board is as follows: Alumni association by Mrs. J. D. Bright '18 of Topeka; Southwestern Kansas by Roy C. Frantz '20 Conway Springs, Kansas; Texas and Louisiana by Glenn Harris '30, Jennings, La.; Idaho kid "Western Montana by Richard V. Keim '25, Nampa, Idaho; Southeastern Kansas by Ralph E. Loshbaugh '27, Westphalia, Kansas; Northeastern Kansas by Wray E. Whitenack '30, Hamlin, Kansas; Northern Iowa, Minnesota, and South Dakota by W. H. Yoder '15, Waterloo, Iowa; and McPherson by Harold Beam '22, Jay Crumacker '10, Homer Ferguson '12, Paul E. Sargent '24, and J. J. Yoder '13.

Representation on the board by trustees who did not graduate from the College include: Southern Iowa by Charles A. Albin, Ottumwa, Iowa; Northwestern Kansas by D. Floyd Crist, Quinter, Kansas; Southern Missouri and Arkansas by P. L. Fike, West Plains, Missouri; Middle Missouri by R. J. Gibbs, Kansas City, Missouri; Middle Iowa by W. E. Ickes, Dallas Center, Iowa; Northern Missouri by Walter Mason, Norburne, Missouri; North Dakota and Eastern Montana by Walter Miller, Sawyer, North Dakota; Nebraska by Harvey Rasp, Omaha, Nebraska; Colorado by H. F. Stauffer, Rocky Ford; Oklahoma, Bandhandle of Texas, and New Mexico by B. F. Stutzman, Thomas, Oklahoma; and McPherson by E. A. Wall of McPherson.

These trustees of McPherson College have tremendous responsibility, and the best wishes of more than two thousand alumni are with them as they plan for the welfare of our college.

We are informed the next bomb to be made is the sub-atomic fission bomb, which physicists say will be a thousand times more powerful than the A bomb. (We always like to pass cheerful little items along.)

Fuchs Concludes Concert Series

Last night at 8:15 Joseph Fuchs appeared at the High School Auditorium as the terminal feature of McPherson's Community Concert Series. Mr. Fuchs, a world famous violinist, proved his merit in a very entertaining program.

Fuchs' family learned while he was quite young that he was musically talented. By a mere coincidence, Joseph began studying violin in order to strengthen the muscles in his left arm which had been hurt in a serious fall. At the age of six, Mr. Fuchs began violin study under Franz Kneisel, a prominent violin teacher. He is known as one of the few musicians exclusively American trained.

The program that Mr. Fuchs presented was very well chosen, including both classical and semi-classical numbers. His excellent interpretation of the numbers he rendered was outstanding; he drew several encores.

The Community Concert Series this year has been a high point of interest to the college students and citizens of McPherson. It is the sincere hope of many people that McPherson will be as equally fortunate next year in securing some form of cultural entertainment.

Late Recordings

If things around the dorm are pretty dull and you're tired of the canned jokes and corny commercials on the radio, why not look for a phonograph and listen to the latest records. Pull up a turntable and listen to—

After a decade as a second-rater, Art Mooney finally hits the top with his banjo version of the 1937 ditty, "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover." Neither the song nor the arrangement will ever get to Carnegie Hall, but the platter has already hit the one million sales mark.

Just about the hottest thing in the industry right now, Vaughn Monroe follows up his "Ballarina" smash with a mellow waxing of "How Soon?" Another fine recording of the same song is by its writer, Jack Owens, the Breakfast Club troubadour.

Francis Craig, who set the Petrillo group on its ear with his December debut, has another fine release, "Beg Your Pardon," in the same keyboard and croon style of "Near You."

Eddie Howard, the big discovery of '46 who coasted on his reputation through most of the past year, creates some good listening with his re-recording of the New Zealand importation, "Now is the Hour." It's every bit as good as his first hits, "To Each His Own," and "The Ricketty Rickshaw."

Since Al Jolson made his bend-knee comeback there has been a definite trend toward off-key singers such as Vaughn Monroe, Doris Day, Johnny Mercer, and Peggy Lee, whose sense of rhythm is far out of proportion to their sense of melody. If they get much farther off-key, we're going into the racket ourselves.

Remedies For "Menitis"

Girls, have you been suffering from "menitis"? This is the very common disease that unattached girls develop during leap year. Here are a few hints taken from the very latest edition of Monkey's Wear catalog. Take a look at the following examples for ideas to become bewitching, enchanting, and to acquire the seemingly necessary charm to ensnare a man.

"Do you have curves in the wrong places? Try our speciality to smooth out those bumpy roads. We have an extra special road grader for only $3.00. It is simply the lowest priced find of its kind. Buy now. The stock is limited."

"This gooey little item is only for those who have peaches and cream skins. It is guaranteed to put freckles, blemishes, and crows feet into your gardenia fresh pines. This secret formula is made of 92 percent mud, 2 percent concrete, 1 percent stinkweed, and the rest is the basic cream of essence of lard."

"Have you seen our new frocks straight from the boxers? They are designed to flatter your figure (only in fairness must I make this statement). The material is the finest burlap that has been dyed in turpentine and red paint. It has an exclusive design that will never be duplicated. There is a small story behind this design. The fabric workers take a bolt of this ravishing goods and unroll it on the sidewalk next to the muddy street. When the cars go by we have a most inexpensive, but purely delightful, design of various shades of brown splashed on the turkey red background. Of course, one day a garbage truck went by when the wind was blowing. Now we also offer you in this same material fascinating fruit and vegetable designs.

"The styles are out of this world. If you have not a figure, when you wear this dress you will have one! If you have a figure, you'll never know it when the exotic folds of this dress enclose it. It's sensational!"

"Perfume! Ah, yes, that delightful fragrance that leads poor unsuspecting males on. Here is your chance. Try our NEW perfume, Stinko. It's scent is indescribable. It eludes you, then knocks you flat when you get too close. Use it girls. It always gets your man. One whiff of Stinko and they can go no further. One more hint: Note the telephone of your nearest undertaker."

The Wolf

Male wolves (the so-called human variety) can be spotted as far as you can see them if you are wise to the wolf technique.

And the technique is unvarying, according to an article by Alice Leone Moats in the February issue of Junior Bazaar entitled "How To Spot a Wolf."

"The technique of wolves seldom differs," the article states in part. "Young ones use it by instinct and aren't necessarily aware that they are using a technique; older ones have perfected and given it polish and they know exactly what they are doing. Aside from that difference, the methods are the same. Their technique might be compared to that of the jujitsu artist who defeats his opponent by making him use his own strength against himself. A wolf keeps stepping back and letting the girl come forward, until, in her eagerness, she falls on her face—to put it politely."

Uncertainty is one of the chief weapons of the wolf. At the end of his first date he will murmur something about calling you again sometime and then let you sweat it out for a few weeks, wondering why he hasn't called.

Another wolf approach is his declaration that he doesn't like casual affairs."

"The moment a man says that, run for your life," the article continues. "You may be certain that they are all he does like, and the more casual the better. Naturally by their have to be casual on his side only. Part of the fun is making you think that this is the real thing, this is for keeps."

When your new boy friend confides pensively that he "has been hurt by a woman," beware, because to the trained ear this wolf call is as recognizable as The Star-Spangled Banner.

And wittingly or unwittingly the wolf is aware of the fact that most women want to be needed. Therefore the work he is doing is never what really suits him, but with you at his side he could really accomplish great things.

When he finally slips out of your life either through an adroitly engineered quarrel or a gradual disappearance, you can console yourself that you will not be forgotten immediately—when he starts to work on your successor, you will live on as the women who "hurt" him, the article concludes.

Group discussion was the main item at B. Y. P. D., February 15, on the topic "Would Christ play football if He were here today?" Rowena Neher was the pianist for the service and Robert Keim was the chorister. "The Touch of the Master's Hand" was read by Vanell Dunahoo; he also gave a prayer. Paul Wagoner, leader of the discussion, presented a short summary of Don Snider's ideas on the question.

Perhaps Christ would not play football or sanction the playing of it because it is both injurious and it affords for poor sportsmanship. No particular decisions were made, but the issue presented material for constructive thinking and discussion.

Pi Mu

The Pi Mu society of the campus met in their regular meeting on Wednesday February 18, 1948. The members present discussed the general line of business and the activities of the club was discussed. The meeting was held in the Student Union Room.

Student Ministers

The Student Ministers met with Reverend James Elrod and the discussion and lecture was held on "Proper Appearance in Worship." The meeting was held on February 17. This meeting was another of the series that are intended to help the student minister to be of more use to his church.

SCA

The SCA Commission on World Problems met and decided to adjourn for study of the countries that each had volunteered to represent in the campus model of the United Nations. The coming meetings will be discussion of the framework of the campus United Nations.

SCA Student Volunteers met on Tuesday at 9:50 in the SUCR. Dorris Murdoch conducted a forum of Recreation. Many plans were discussed for better recreation and beneficial suggestions made.

Rec. Council

Miss Dorris Murdoch presented the schedule for the coming Recreation Workshop. The program will open on Friday afternoon and close Sunday evening. There will be six guests from Bethel College in North Newton and they are expected to arrive early Friday. The extra number of work shoppers will be limited to eight boys and eight girls. This number was reached after much debate and it was decided to have an equal distribution of boys and girls so that it would facilitate the folk games that the group plans to learn. The workshop will have several well known Recreation leaders.

Chapel

Dr. Peters opened the chapel period Wednesday by reading the scripture from II Peter and offering prayer. The A Cappella brought a message by singing "The Lord's Prayer." The address was given by Dr. Peters, whose topic was "By W. W. Peters" or "As I See It." In his speech, Dr. Peters took up the problems that come to college students, and gave some guidelines to follow in order that we might gain the greatest value from our educational development.

Mr. San Romani had planned to bring to the college Monday, a group of talented youth from the public schools, but because of inclement weather he was unable to come. Miss Bonnie Burk led the assembly in the singing of several numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. San Romani.

Eligibility for membership in the Alpha Psi Omega fraternity includes work in various fields of Drama. The persons of the McPherson College Players who have turned in their participation sheet are working towards a goal that will allow them to become members of this society. A list of the names of students who have been recently added to the membership of Alpha Psi Omega, will be published in the Spectator soon.

The Roving Eye

Everyone who attended the formal dinner last weekend enjoyed the program immensely. The reading that Leroy Doty gave was quite successful. We couldn't help but chuckle, though, when Mr. Doty's number was announced, and a very reticent member of the faculty said: "That ought to be natural!"

Ooops! We almost broke our glasses watching Riffel and Albright! You realize, of course, that if we should break our glasses, there would be no more Roving Eye. Par bon, oui!

We overheard a co-ed talking to one of her friends the other day. Here's what she heard: Gerlie: "I wonder if Jack loves me?" Bertie: "Of course, he loves you, why should he make you an exception?"

Ramey has everyone guessing... pertaining to his favorite "Try-ting place", that is. According to the great romance, "Aphrodite", a trying place is a secret place for the meeting of lovers. A-ha—

With this little touch of spring weather, the co-eds have quite effectively paired off. Opposite sex, that is. Almost anytime you can see two love birds billing and cooing their time away.

We happen to run across this "Motto for a Dog House" and thought we'd pass it on to our readers.

"I Love this little house because it offers, dark. A pause for rest, a rest for paws. A place to moor my bark."

Arthur Guiterman, "Of course, this does not apply to OUR Dog House!" (We hope!) What is this we have heard about Patricia Louise Bittinger? Seems she has had some kind of job in a "legitimate theater" in Kansas City.

After the recital on last Friday night, the boys of the Berkebile house had a small informal formal party. Refreshments consisted of coffee and cake and various games were played. Chaperones for the evening were Becky Spear and Cora Emmert.

'Tis rumored that Van Dunahoo celebrated a great event in his life Saturday night. Why so secretive about all this, Van?

Your slip is showing: "A musical program was recently presented, and Miss P. accompanied by Miss T. sang two numbers."

Dorris Murdoch and Marvin Blough spent Sunday learning the art of needle work. Congratulations, kids!

Some men's promise to be on time carries a lot of wait.

The Season Of Crutches

The past season was not only one of low temperatures, formal parties, and beginning of leap year, but also the season for crutches at dear ole' Mac.

Ted Geisert started a fad when he used crutches to maneuver about on after his accident in January. Promptly other males on the campus adopted this trend. First John Burkholder, then Dick Prentice, and now Nick Nicholson.

Some persons have gotten the wrong idea about these crutches... those who do not know the facts. They think the boys are using crutches because of injuries they have received from the females that are in pursuit during this time of leap year. Or could they interpret it as merely an excuse to keep from being chased.

Germany A Hope For World Peace

standing of a country is not based upon the number of men who are able to work, it is the amount of goods which can be produced for international commerce.

The joining of the British, American and French occupation sectors in Germany will aid this thing a little, but in order to accomplish the real mission, wholesale destruction of the plants which can be put to commercial use must be stopped. Reparations could be paid in manufactured goods rather than in wrecked factories, thus affording the German people a reasonable standard of living, and something to look forward to in the future.

This is not a crusade. It is only an urge to all who are interested in preventing World War III and the ultimate destruction of the world to act. Of course, marching on the government houses would be both drastic and expensive; but with a three-cent stamp, a letter will do your marching for you. And while the politicians are kicking other proposals around, they may use this as another football. Even that would make the people think about it, and eventually get action of one sort or another.

Nobody is essential, but that isn't any reason why you shouldn't try to be as essential as you can.

The Antique Table

by Niel Hamilton

"You don't think it could look any worse, do you?" Carey asked. Mat Foster did not answer, but strode from the room scowling. He shaved and dressed and left for the Elks. He didn't let anyone know he was going, but at one forty-five, he sneaked out the front door and said in a small, very squeaky voice: "I'm going." He knew perfectly well no one could hear him. That is precisely what he wanted, so that he wouldn't have to do any last minute chores.

At five minutes of two, Alice Foster was putting her hat on. She was standing before the mirror in the parlor, giving last minute instructions to Carey.

"All of the particulars about the antique table are on the piece of paper in the drawer," she told him as she tilted her hat from one side to the other. "Now, be sure and tell him why we want to sell and the price is seventy-five dollars... to begin with. Don't go down beyond fifty."

She picked up her purse from a table and started for the front door. On the way, she gave a few minor adjustments to her dress.

"Carey," she called from the front door, "you'd better get the table out and dust it off before he comes."

"Yes 'mam,"

Immediately, Carey turned on the radio much louder than necessary, grabbed a magazine from a table and flopped on the sofa. He thumbed through the pages until he found a suitable story. He began to read.

The next thing Carey knew, he heard the doorbell ring faintly. Then he heard someone calling for his father. It was a feminine voice.

Carey jumped up from the sofa and rubbed his eyes for a second, then stumbled to the front door and opened it.

"Mr. Foster?" a sweet voice asked. It belonged to a young and very pretty girl, who had dark eyes and bangs. He looked at her with a confused expression.

"Is Mr. Foster here?" the sweet voice inquired again. "I'm Harriet Haskitt. I came to look at the antique table you have for sale."

Carey's sleep-filled eyes brightened up a bit. He opened the door and asked her in.

"I thought your father was coming to look at the table."

"He went to the meeting at the Elks and mother went to a bridge party, so I was stuck with the job."

Carey smiled, but it promptly faded into a frown when he suddenly remembered he had not taken the table out of the store room and dusted it as his mother had requested.

"Go on!" he exclaimed. "What?" Miss Haskitt was taken by surprise.

"Oh, I forgot to take the table out and dust it."

"That's all right."

He picked the magazine up from the floor, where it had fallen when he was asleep.

"I'm afraid I fell asleep and forgot all about that table."

"That's all right," Harriet Haskitt insisted.

"If you'll just come on back, I'll show it to you."

Harriet followed him into the back yard and to the store room, located to one side of the garage. After struggling for some time, Carey produced the antique, which truly exemplified the word. She looked it over and made no comment.

Carey opened the small drawer and took out a yellow-with-age piece of paper and handed it to her.

"You can read this while I go find some rags to dust it off. It's gruesome looking."

When he returned from the garage, he found Harriet leaning on the table with a broad smile on her face.

"Mother will be very pleased with this history. She dates on antiques, and the longer their history, the more she cherishes them."

"Do you think she will want it?"

"Of course."

"Well," Carey eyed the table curiously, "I can polish it up and probably fix some of these nicks and scratches."

"Heavens no!" Harriet cried. "Leave the ancient thing just as it is. It looks old and decrepit and dear mother will love it just as it is."

Southwestern 44; McPherson 43 Bulldog Rally Falls 1 Point Short

Fisher Tops With 12. Also Fouts Out With Reinecker And Gilbert of Western

The McPherson College Bulldogs dropped their ninth game of the season last Tuesday evening by losing to the Southwestern Builders on the Winfield court, 44-42.

Southwestern loomed strong at the start and picked up a 27-18 half-time lead. Their main scoring came from forward Gilbert, center Danny Kahler, and his little brother, C. Kahler. Hill and Goering were leading for the Builders.

In the second half high-scoring Bud Fisher found his eye and dropped 10 points through the bucket. Goering got three field goals in this half. Kahler won 5 points in the second half for the Builders.

The Bulldogs lost both of their games with Southwestern, the previous one being a 58-54 defeat on December 17.

The game might have ended in a different light had Fisher not fouled out. He was hot the second half and was causing the defense plenty of trouble. Buck Reinecker kept up his deadly free throw average, getting 3 out of 4.

The Bulldogs made 11 out of 26 free throws while Southwestern was getting 10 out of 18. It seems our average is a little below normal. Southwestern also made 29 fouls to McPherson's 10.

Intramural

Due to the gas shortage, the games scheduled for last Wednesday and Thursday nights were postponed.

However, Monday night, Prantz and the Ramblers had a bang up game, with the Prantz E. of Ed. winning 22 to 20. The first half, Prantz held a decided edge as they controlled the ball a good share of the time. In the second half, the Ramblers cut the margin to four points. The last quarter, the Ramblers tried desperately to tie it up, but to no avail. Bowman, Prantz, center, led the scoring with 11 points, while Wolf, West and Heidebrecht bucketed 8 points apiece for the Ramblers.

In the second game of the evening, Dankard Tech had a comparatively easy time by scoring 44 points while IPT scored 25. Dankard Tech got off to rather a poor start but as the game progressed they widened their margin and their lead was never threatened. Heckethorn lead the Tech scoring with 13 points, while Dadsman led IPT with 10 points.

Perhaps a word should be said about the intra-mural program thus far and for the future. Everyone is to be commended for his cooperation and sportsmanship. There are a number of postponed games that will have to be played and the committee hopes to get them ran off as soon as possible. After the league is completed, there will be a double elimination tournament which should prove exciting and interesting to all teams.

Ministers Hold Discussion

The student ministers met for their regular meeting on Tuesday evening of this week. Chairman Paul Haworth presided. Russell Jarboe led in devotions. The topic discussed was, "Prayer Appearance in Worship" with Rev. James Elrod as leader. The scriptural background for this discussion was I Corinthians 11:13-16. This has been the basis for the women wearing the prayer covering and the men removing their hats in our church. Rev. Elrod pointed out the reasons why St. Paul insisted that women wear veils. It was a local problem with the church at Corinth, and many feel that it does not apply today. A few churches still require women to have their heads covered when entering a church, although in many churches the practice is rapidly fading. During the question period which followed it was emphasized that those preparing for the ministry should take a respectful and tolerant attitude toward those who feel that it is necessary to wear the prayer covering, and not let it become a contentious issue within the church fellowship. There were twenty present for this meeting.

Players Choose Play

Recently at one of their meetings, the McPherson College Players selected as their spring production, "The Night of January 16th." This successful play was written by Ayn Rand.

A Look At Mars

Tuesday night, some of the foremost scientists of America got a good look at Mars, or as good a look as was possible. It was hoped that the astronomers would be able to determine whether life exists on Mars. They did not definitely discover this, but they did determine some of the plant life on Mars and it is thought that it is very cold there. At 11:54 a. m. CST on Wednesday Mars was within 63 million miles of the earth. Many wondered how it would be possible to determine anything at such a vast range. The observers used the McDonald observatory's 82-inch reflecting telescope—the third largest in the world.

The observatory, situated on a rounded mountain top far out in the wastelands of West Texas, is operated jointly by the Universities of Texas and Chicago.

What Do I Owe My Neighbor?
An understanding smile
And all the things I'd want myself
To make my life worth while.
A greeting on the way
And all the things I think of
He could do for me today.
A kind and friendly hand
To help him on his way that he
May do the thing he's planned.
What do I owe my neighbor?
Of all this proud world's pelf
I owe him but one thing. That is studied music with the well-known pianist-composer, Fryer. Dr. Frieberg, recently acknowledged his pupil, Miss Krehbiel, as being one of his exceptional students. Her ability has been won through long and tedious hours of work.
To love him as myself.

The young virtuoso is staying at the Parnassus Club in New York City, which has been acclaimed as the haven for artists and celebrities. She is very happy in obtaining new musical contacts and although much of her time is taken up in studying and practicing, she is able to enjoy new experiences by attending some of the best concerts and musical programs.

Miss Krehbiel expresses interest in coming back to McPherson College next fall, if she is needed. She intends to pursue her musical career further by studying at various other conservatories under noted instructors.
