Third Community Concert To Present Duo-Pianists

The Teitschik brothers will be featured as the third in the series of Community Concerts, Saturday, March 26 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

"Trio for Two" could easily be the musical signature for the brothers, Alfred and Herbert Teitschik.

Born respectively 29 and 30 years ago in Floresville, Texas, or Austrian parents, the Teitschiks began their musical training at an early age under the tutelage of their father, an old-world musician. After moving to Houston, they continued their studies under Aldridge Kidd, a musical educator that continued for a decade. Later they came to New York, where they entered the Juilliard School of Music, studying under such eminent personalities as Sascha Górdzinski and Mischa Elman. Upon graduation from Juilliard, they returned to Houston, married, and settled down to teach piano in the city's public schools and in their own studio.

To satisfy their own love of making music for audiences, they began giving two-piano recitals on the side. They soon encountered the usual occupational hazard in their field, the problem of finding two evenly matched pianos in out of the way places. They solved this difficulty neatly with what their friends term "operation trailer." To their car, they have attached a trailer rigged for storing and transporting two pianos. They also know how to repair and tune their own pianos, thus achieving further logistic independence.

During the war the two brothers served in military orchestras, and played recitals for the armed forces, thus gaining rich experience for the career they chose to pursue.

Community Concert Tickets will admit students to this recital, one of the regularly scheduled numbers this season.

Warren Sets Date For Senior Exams

Senior comprehensives have been set for April 11. This year the comprehensive exam will be handled somewhat differently than it was handled last year.

Written examinations will be first, and then following the written work will be oral examinations. This year the faculty has permission to give oral examinations to more than one at a time. Also there will be a committee doing the oral examinations.

The date for the examinations was set by Dean Luther Warren in conjunction with the Calendar Committee.

The Forecast:

March 18—Eula Witmore's Recital.

March 21—Rolland Plasterer's Recital at 8.

March 26—Community Concert (Duo Pianists).

March 25-April 3—A Cappella Trip.

Ray Evans To Speak At Banquet

The price per plate is $1.00 and since most of the banqueteers will be guests, it is hoped that the loyalty of the former lettermen will exert itself to the extent of financing the banquet.

The banquet is a part of the drive being put on by the college to secure new students and to reawaken the interest in athletics on the McPherson College Campus.

Lettermen that cannot attend are being urged to buy a plate for one of the many guests that will be present. The banquet will be at 6:30 in the parlors of the local Church of the Brethren. The banquet meal is being served by the local church women.

Election Results

The proposed amendment to the constitution has been dropped, because the required number of students failed to vote. In order to amend the constitution two-thirds of the enrollment has to vote in favor of it. The final count was 71 for, and 95 against the amendment.

Omicron Show Awards Bechtel First Prize Money

Gene Bechtel, Edward Melson, and Karoly Kay Löwen received the first place award in the talent show held Wednesday night sponsored by the Beta Omicron chapter of the Zeta Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Gene Bechtel, high school junior, received first prize of $10 for his trumpet presentation of Herbert Clarke's "Carnival in Venice".

Little seven-year-old Karoly Kay Löwen won the five dollar second prize for her piano solo, "The Spinning Song." After playing the number, she proved to the audience that she has perfect pitch by correctly recognizing notes played on the piano.

The record, "My Old Flame" was comically impersonated for third place by Edward Melson. His prize was $2.50.

Besides receiving cash awards, the winners will be allowed to present a unified thirty minute program over the local KNEK broadcasting station sometime in the near future.

The winners of the show were chosen by anonymous disinterested judges.

Give Us UNESCO

During the recent meeting of college Unesco organizations at Wichita, every college in Kansas was found to have been represented—all but McPherson College. Many of us are ignorant of the existence of such organizations and their functions, and many more of us would like to hear the whole story. It seems a great shame that a church college whose doctrines so nearly match Unesco's doctrines should be so far from becoming a part of that movement.

Unesco, as a branch of United Nations, is interested in international coordination of education, science and culture. Since the college student is so affected by these fields, it is, first, the college which should take up the work, being center of the three fields of science, education, and culture in McPherson.

You faculty members who are and have been active in Unesco previously should quit asking us students if we are interested in Unesco and find out if Unesco is interested in us. Either direct some responsible student in organization or do so yourself.

We are not politely clamoring for an organization; we are demanding that it be given us.

Wordsworth says, "the child is father of the man." World understanding is the father of peace. Unesco furthers world understanding. So give us Unesco.

Exchange Papers

Many of the students on the campus undoubtedly do not realize that located in the Spectator office are papers from twenty-eight other schools from across the nation. Schools in Pennsylvania, Virginia, Idaho, and South Dakota carry on a weekly exchange with the Spectator as do the sister colleges of Elizabethtown and Manchester. Among the many schools represented are also five high schools across the nation.

These papers are used by the staff in many ways. The campus editor usually finds a great deal of material for the Collegian Column from these many papers. Also the papers serve as suggestions for layouts and possible feature stories. But for the majority of the staff they make good reading. Any student on the campus may visit the Spec office and use the exchange papers. The staff only asks that each paper be returned to its proper place on the rack.

The exchange papers are for the students, faculty, and the Spec staff—use them.

You Did Not Vote

In Tuesday's election many members of the student body were disappointed because not more of the regularly enrolled students trooped to the polls. At the last official count only 166 of the regularly enrolled students had enough initiative to get out and cast their vote. One hundred and forty-six students were just too lazy to exercise their right of the ballot.

Many of the students that did not vote complained that they did not know just what the amendment was all about. This fault can be accredited only to the students themselves because of the adequate information and many heated discussions that took place over the proposed amendment.

If students of McPherson College want to retain their right to let faculty and the public know just how we as students stand, then it is our school duty to get out and cast those ballots. Regardless of the way you vote, each and every one of you should vote. We here at McPherson should be ashamed of ourselves when our student body lacks the drive to go to the polls at any election.

In a short time the election of the student council officers will take place, and everyone should make it his or her duty to exercise his inherent right.

Go to the polls during the next election.

Guest Editor "The Best Things In Life Are Free"

This week's guest editor is Mr. Paul Sargent, prominent local banker, former student, and trustee of McPherson College. Mr. Sargent is also very active in the scouting circles in the city of McPherson having been connected with scouting for over fifteen years. Mr. Sargent has been actively engaged for many years in pushing the needs of McPherson College to completion.

Mr. Sargent's editorial is as follows:

Placing a value on college from the distance of twenty-five years or more is rather easy, as from this distance the most valuable acquisition seems to have been friends. I am sure studies are important, and technical knowledge has a large part to play in the success of most college graduates. Teachers are well remembered, and the friends seem to grow more valuable as the years go on.

We seemed to live on syrup, and I do not know whether the cost was high or not, but those things seem like trifles. Old Farnestock was nothing to brag about, but it seemed like a great old hall because of the fellows who lived there.

Each year seems to bring a chance meeting with one of the friends of college years. Big Bill Mudie stopped in during the war and gave us a thrill. He was captain of a squadron of fliers at the Smoky Hill Base ready for overseas duty—he had been in the Canadian Air Force and was the same old Bill. Last week at a Cattlemen's Convention at Wichita I saw Ervin Crofoot who played a whale of a game of football at center on the Bulldog team in the early twenties—he weighed only 150 lbs., but he was plenty good—he is an extensive cattle operator in the Flint Hills now.

"Hookworm is bad on the island. The people can't afford shoes and don't have or else don't use good toilets so the hookworm runs wild. Besides hookworm there are a couple of other kinds of parasites so we have to be careful what we eat and drink."

"Travel here is mostly walking, although there are quite a few bicycles and a few cars. Some of the kids have coasting carts which they push up the mountain and ride down. They are pretty good considering what they have to make them out of. One day four of us big guys and four kids rode on one that looked as if it would fall to pieces by itself and it held up under us."

Three Faculty To Attend Brotherhood Meetings

Drs. W. W. Peters, Burton Metzler, and H. E. Mohler will leave the college campus to attend the Brotherhood Meetings in Elgin, Illinois. The meetings will take place from March 21 to 25.

Dr. Peters is a member of the Brethren Service Commission; Dr. Metzler is a member of the Ministry and Home Missions Committee, and Dr. Mohler is a member of the Finance Commission.

Routine business will be discussed and also the necessary adjustments to be made because of the failure in giving to the brotherhood fund. Dr. Mohler reported that a 20 percent drop in giving had been recorded by the Elgin office. This will undoubtedly necessitate the adjustment in personnel.

On Sunday the committee on Goals and Programs will hold a panel discussion in the Elgin Church of the Brethren.

"Last Sunday we got to go to San Juan. They were inaugurating the new governor. This is the first time the people got to elect the governor. Before he was always appointed by the President. San Juan really thrives a celebration. They had a big parade and had the place all decorated with lights. We got a real good place to watch the parade on top of a large building.

"(After leaving the parade), we went out to see some old Spanish fortifications. They were really wild. They have a modern army in them now, but they still look old. It reminded me of some of the old forts and castles I have seen in shows.

"The Puerto Ricans celebrate January 6 as Three Kings Day. It is supposed to be the day the three kings came to see the baby Jesus. Some of us went for a walk.

"We got about three-fourths of the way up the highest mountain around here and decided we'd have to turn back if we wanted any dinner. They say when you get to the top of that mountain you can see ocean on three sides. I'll make it up that mountain some day though."

Spring Season Ushered In By Two Recitals

The spring season was certainly ushered on to Mac campus last weekend. The two musical recitals, with their setting of spring flowers made one realize how near we are to summer vacation.

Mr. Wagoner's program presented much of interest from any angle one chooses to look at it. The sacred or semi-sacred numbers would have been a credit to any worship service. Bridging the gap between the secular, and sacred works is no small problem in itself. Mr. Wagoner displayed very fine spirit and choice of numbers in this respect.

Krehbel Recital

Miss Ann Krehbel of our piano department presented a recital Sunday afternoon which will live in the memory of many of us for sometime. There seemed to be no end of the technical difficulties which she has mastered. Each number was presented with a grace and ease that only the well trained can hope to attain.

A Cappella Tour Starts March 25

At least six communities are calling off all other activities and are lending their support to the a cappella choir when they appear in those communities for concerts. One movie theater in Summerfield, Kansas, is closing Sunday night in favor of the a cappella choir when it appears at Richland Center church in that town.

The a cappella choir will tour eastern Kansas and western Missouri March 25 to April 3. The tour will take the choir into the region surrounding the Lake of the Ozarks. The choir, the direction of Prof. D. R. Frederick, will give 14 programs.

Miss Sarah May Vancl will accompany as chaperone.

Means of transportation will be a chartered Santa Fe Trailways bus.

Well, here it is another week, with another deadline to meet. Life sure gets tedious, don't it? Here we thought spring was here to stay last week, and even went so far as to mention it in the latest happenings, but by the time the Spec came out we were back in the midst of winter. That's Kansas weather for you. They say if you don't like the Kansas weather you can just wait fifteen minutes and it will change, except when it snows, and then experience tells us it just never quits.

The Urban Sociology class had an eventful trip to Wichita last Thursday, and spent the day visiting places of interest in that urban center. One place they visited was the Cessna Aircraft factory, and from all reports Gene Arnold looked like a Russian spy, the way he was taking pictures of everything around the place. Maybe somebody told him it would help his grade.

People have been asking for more news of where the town kids work, and as we aim to please here's some more lowdown on that score.

Joyce Hocott is busily doing her duties as sales lady at the J. M. McDonal store downtown in her spare time. She's been working there for quite a while now, and is well equipped to help the customers with any problems concerning materials, etc.

Marx Jones is a part time employee of the Bay Refinery, or at least he was the last we heard. Marx is so changeable you never know what to expect.

Clifford Shultz is secretary down at the Veterans of Foreign Wars office in McPherson, and in contrast, Dean Coughenour spends much of his spare time helping out at the local Y. M. C. A. They both work with the fellows, but there's quite a difference in the ages.

Lawrence Lowrey is learning the trade at his father's grocery store downtown, and Lyle Goering is also learning the business, and helps his dad out on their farm around McPherson. The work, no doubt, means more when you know that someday you'll get a share of the profits.

That's a few more of them, so in case you've got urgent business after school hours with one of them, you'll know where to locate them.

Bye for now, we'll be back next week, with more news and views and . . . till then . . . thirty.

R. E. Mohler was the guest speaker at the community Father and Son Banquet in Hesston, Kansas, on March 15.

Dr. W. W. Peters was the evening speaker at the Wichita Church of the Brethren on their annual McPherson College Sunday.

The McPherson College Male Quartet, accompanied by Prof. Raymond Flory and family, traveled to Ottawa last weekend. They sang for the Northeast Kansas Young People's Conference. Members are Albert Rogers, Frank Lutz, Don Guthals and Gifford Ikemeyer. Professor Flory delivered the sermon Sunday morning.

From Ira

To Spectator readers who are interested in hobbies, we are pleased to submit the following letter from an alumnus who has been interested in hobbies since graduating from college. Carroll Kooms graduated from McPherson College with the class of 1934, and we are pleased to introduce him to our readers.

"Since graduating from McPherson it has been my hobby to travel and collect picture postcards and snapshots of my travels. "My hobby horse has taken me over the whole of the United States, Canada, Mexico, South America, Africa, Asia Minor, Hawaii, Guam and Saipan.

"While traveling one of my objectives has been to visit the various places of worship throughout the world, such as the Coptic churches in Ethiopia, native shrines in Guam, Chinese temples in Hawaii, the Catholic cathedral in Mexico City, the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, Utah, and a monastery on top of a 10,000-foot mountain in Ethiopia where white men have been.

Collegian Column

The co-ed folkgame class of Manchester College is very popular with the students. The history of Manchester's first co-ed folkgame class is very interesting. It all started as a response to the wave of folkgaming that has hit this country in the last year.

According to the February 7 Life Magazine, folkgaming and square dancing will soon surpass all other forms of dancing if it continues to grow at the present rate.

The popularity of folkgaming is growing because it requires skill and coordination, as well as more exertion than the common jitterbugging.

This folkgame class had a party as its final examination.

"One of the most impressive places I have visited was the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico. One great room 650 feet underground and six miles long has a rock formation known as the Rock of Ages. Several hundred people sat on the surrounding ledges in total darkness and heard a choir far away singing the beautiful hymn, 'Rock of Ages,' while echoes floated through the huge natural underground amphitheater.

"I met and talked with the cowboy, Jim White, who found the cavern while chasing a bear. The cowboy saw bats flying out of the ground and investigated. At about 6:00 p. m. every evening an estimated three to six million bats leave the cave, literally darkening the skies.

"Most of my trips have been by car or bus and traveling with a companion or group of people, at times twenty to thirty in a group. The war was one more factor in the furtherance of this hobby, for it took me to Rio de Janeiro, Capetown, Suez, Cairo, and all the cities of Northern Africa. I was in Africa for two years and covered the entire continent, spending a time at Massawa, the hottest spot on earth. That was followed by a year in the Hawaiian Islands and the South Pacific. Of all my travels, the most interesting trip was the one to Mexico City. There we watched the bull fights—gruesome but interesting; visited the native villages, and saw the Palaces of Fine Arts, which sports a million dollar curtain, while the palaces in the country are living in squalor and filth.

David Hiltz was scheduled to give a speech in chapel Monday concerning something about his excellent memory—quite a display of talent—he forgot to come.

West doily carriage and Burton said that they should be paid for making a deposition trial to Tampa, Texas at least it appears to have turned out to be that the four of them composed a quartette which sang for the church service and later preached the sermon.

Although liquor in Kansas is illegal, the rule banning liquor at Kansas State college-sponsored functions will continue to be effective, according to K-State's president, Milton S. Eisenhower.

Once I heard that football season is the only time a fellow can carry a blanket under one arm and a blonde under the other without encountering raised eyebrows the first aid course is one exception.

If nothing else van dunshoo and duane jamison should make the headlines or here carrot tops that peroxide ammonia mixture must be mighty potent.

Several other campus co-eds have been doing a little tooth brush work also but those two take the hoity prize.

Elliot stine journeyed home with his beau dalenyder over the weekend and I hear he is planning a trip to Iowa around Easter time some of the fellows must be trying to polish the apple in the first aid course at least they wanted to show the instructor roy knipe that even if he is from texas they have boots too pretty sharp I might add.

Occupational Information On File In Dean's Office

Are you a person who is intrigued by ratios? Here is one that is 1000 to 1 in your favor. The chances are 1000 to 1 in favor of your finding a fitting occupation by reading the following article concerning occupations.

A pressing problem to many students is the choice of an occupation. If a list of 29,000 occupations were presented to these students, it seems plausible that a suitable selection might be made. Such a list is available for students who are trying to choose an occupation.

Information on occupations has been collected and is on file in the dean's office. In one of the files, there is a complete section, the Occupational Guidance Section, that contains material about leading occupations. This material is arranged systematically according to the Dictionary of Occupational Titles.

Copies of this book may be found on Dr. Warren's desk or in the library.

By the classification system in this dictionary, all occupations are divided into the following seven occupational divisions with indicative code numbers: professional and managerial occupations, 6-0 through 0-9; clerical and sales, 1-0 through 1-9; service occupations, 2-0 through 2-9; agriculture, fishery, etc., 3-0 through 3-9; skilled occupations, 4-0 through 5-9; semi-skilled occupations, 6-0 through 7-9; and the unskilled occupations, 8-0 through 9-9.

Innumerable occupations of these types are classified under each of these seven headings and are identified by code numbers. Occasionally a subgroup will bear the initials n. e. c. (not elsewhere classified), which signifies that those occupations have not been classified in any other group.

For example, railroad clerks, n. e. c. includes clerical positions strictly peculiar to the railroad industry, but excludes file clerks, bookkeepers, etc., that are also found in other industries.

The Dictionary of Occupational Titles lists 29,000 occupations. Dr. Warren's files contain descriptions of 1000 of these.

A number of students already have found the file very helpful. The dean believes that other students may find the material beneficial.

Dean Warren urges all students to become familiar with the occupational files. They were installed for the students' use, and have value only as they are used.

An excursion through the files may prevent an aimless excursion through school.

More than 12,000,000 documents of the governments of the United States and Great Britain in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations are being duplicated for historical records.

Team Wins For Third Year

Deforpech's Take Intramural Title

In the two play-off games of the intramural basketball league for the first-second place tie and the third-fourth place tie, the Deforpech team emerged victorious, 42 to 23, to walk off with the championship. The Bowery Boys in second place while the Preying Eight were their play-off game, 31-21, and took third place honors leaving the Liors' Lodge in the fourth place position.

This championship makes the third consecutive year that the Deforpech team has won the intramural honors. Only one player, John Ward, has been a member of the team all three years. Kenneth Jarboe, Ellis Albright, and Wendell Burkholder have played on the champions the last two years. Playing for the first time this year were Don Smith, Carol Tillman, Dean Ward, and Erake Hoffa.

With Smith scoring eight points in the first half the Deforpech team moved to an early lead at half-time 23 to 10, keeping it during the remainder of the game to win easily 42 to 23.

Tillman was high for the winners with 13 points while Smith of Deforpech and Hicks of the Bowery Boys each had 11 points.

The consolation play-off game proved a little bit more of a contest as the winning Preying Eight held only a smaller 14-11 advantage at half-time. Big Buck Reinecker came through in the last half, however with 13 points and the Preying Eight easily walked off with their game from the hands of the Liors' Lodge, 31 to 21.

Reinecker led all scoring with 15 points in the basketball game. The box scores of the two games follow:

Attention Aspiring Ball Men

The coaches are issuing a call to all those who are thinking of going out for baseball this season. There are less than three weeks to prepare for the first game. Workouts are continuing. The deadline for those going out for baseball is Monday, at 4:35 p. m. Many positions are still open and talented players should be there at that time.

Canadian Capers Tops Juke Box Selections

The official report concerning the number of plays for each record in the "Juke Box" was obtained last Wednesday, March 16, from the "Dog House" manager, Ronald Moyer.

Topping the list was "Canadian Capers." The exact count on this record is not known, because the counter was not working correctly on that particular one. The count for the rest of the most played records is as follows:

Record No. 19, 42 plays, "How High the Moon," Ziggy Elman.
Record No. 1, 35 plays, "Beautiful Eyes," Art Mooney.

Record No. 29, 28 plays, "Careless Hands," Sammy Kaye.

Record No. 7, 21 plays, "Far Away Places," Bing Crosby.

This count is over a period of 21 days; from February 26 to March 15. The records were changed also, following the usual procedure every two weeks, or so.

Although there are many language spoken throughout the world, there is considerable similarity between the fundamental speech sounds.

Pictured above in an informal shot are "Frosty" Hardacre and Dick Wareham. These two men sparked the athletic department for the present school year. Mr. Hardacre is director of athletics and Mr. Wareham is the assistant coach.

UNESCO Steering Committee Organized

The faculty committee appointed to work out the question of the campus UNESCO decided that inasmuch as much as the activity of UNESCO encompasses all areas of life it was thought advisable to set up a steering committee representing the various interests on the campus.

It was decided to have that committee made up of one student representative from each department listed below plus one student representatives from each of four student interest groups not covered by the various departments.

Departments or groups:
Biology, Rural Life, Chemistry, Home Economics, Mathematics, and Physics, Health and Physical Education, Economics and Business Administration, Education and Psychology, History, Industrial Arts, Philosophy and Religion, Sociology, Art, English, Foreign Languages, Music, S. C. A., Camera Club, Dramatic Club, Journalism.

Opinions From Captains Wanted For Star Poll

Coach Dick Wareham is asking for all the intramural captains to turn in their opponent's all-star team selection in the first and second teams. These selections should be in as soon as possible so that Wareham can complete his poll and announce the all-star selections.
