Seniors Capture Title; Play Day A Success

With a total of 118 points the senior class of McPherson College took the honors in the inter-class Play Day festivities held on Macampus last Friday.

For the seniors it was a hard-fought victory as they edged the sophomores by a mere three points. The freshman class was third with 103 points and the Juniors were last with 52 points.

By the end of the afternoon's activities, the sophomore class was leading the field and the Freshmen, Juniors, and Juniors were second, third, and fourth respectively. The Sophomores, Freshmen and Seniors were close enough together that the skits in the evening would determine the winner.

On paper the sophomores looked like the best bet and they did dominate several events but the seniors and freshmen kept racking up points.

In the track and field events the sophomores outshone the opposition in the 100 yd. dash, 50 yd. dash, mile relay, high jump, and the broad jump, with Dale Carpenter and Dave Metzler being the ablest point getters.

The seniors placed firsts in the tug-o-war and the men's softball throw while the freshmen won a first in the quarter-mile relay, and seconds in the mile relay, broad jump, and tug-o-war. Arlene Mohler picked up the only first for the junior class by outdistancing her rivals in the women's softball throw.

The freshmen dominated the tennis scene with firsts in the singles and the doubles. The seniors tallied in ping-pong as they won first in the doubles and second in the singles. In women's ping-pong Betty Jo Baker hung up another first for the freshman class. The seniors also took a first in volleyball.

The seniors defeated the sophomores in a thrilling softball contest 1 to 0 for their fifth first of the afternoon. This win enabled them to come up within striking distance of the championship as the scores at lunch time were: Sophomores, 100; freshmen, 91; seniors, 93; and Juniors, 52.

The senior's winning skit was full of laughable horseplay and depicted a faculty meeting at McPherson College.

Everyone seemed to have a grand time at this first Play Day held on McPherson College's campus. Judging from the enthusiasm displayed last Friday, it probably won't be the last time Maccollege students will let their hair down and really have some fun.

Bowman, Blickenstaff Chosen To Next Council

Marilyn Bowman and Loren Blickenstaff were chosen to represent extra-curricular activities on the Student Council for the 1950-51 school year.

These two were chosen by presidents of the various extra-curricular organizations on the campus.

The Student Council wishes to commend the Recreational Leadership class taught by Mr. Wareham and particularly Lester Finger, chairman of "Play-day" which was held on May 5. The entire program from start to finish was well planned and the plans well carried out. Students and faculty members showed unusual interest which is in itself a tribute to those who planned the event. We sincerely hope that "Play-day" will become an annual event at McPherson College.

Student Council

Little Heads Fanny

Men of Farnsworth Hall elected officers for the coming year last Tuesday evening.

Ivan Little moved up to the presidency after being secretary-treasurer this year. He was elected unanimously. John Ward is the retiring president.

Lloyd Hummer, was chosen secretary-treasurer of the dormitory for the 1950-51 school year.

Recital Features Bonnie Alexander

Miss Bonnie Alexander, McPherson College senior, will be featured in a piano and organ recital to be presented Sunday afternoon May 28 in the college Chapel. Also included on the program are several of Mrs. Audrey San Romani's organ students.

Bonnie Alexander

Miss Alexander previously had a recital scheduled for May 15, but will appear on the 28th instead. She will play two groups of piano solos: three Etudes by Chopin and two compositions by Johannes Brahms.

Students of Mrs. San Romani playing organ solo will be: Nedra Baldwin, Rowena Neher, Rosemary Traxler, Ruth Crumpacker, and Joan Krebsel. Winston and Marilyn Bowman will also present a duet for the piano and organ. All are invited to come to this joint piano and organ recital.

'Gimme A Quad!' Echoed In Sharp

Well, the Quadrangle arrived Tuesday and everyone made a mad dash to the table from which they were being distributed. Poor Mr. Cotton's voice could be heard above shouts of, "Gimme mine," and "quit yer shovin'", saying in his quiet, dignified manner, "THE LINE FORMS AT THE RIGHT!"

It's funny to watch people crawl and battle their way to get their Quad, only to say upon opening the book, "That's the most horrid picture I've ever had taken", but they'll do it every time.

Of course, there is always the freshman that opens his Quad gleefully in the hope that his picture is plastered over the place.

The sophomore opens his Quad more matter-of-factly and proceeds to thumb through the pages. There is still a tinge of anxiety in his manner and he turns to the various places that he knows his picture appears.

To the junior, the Quadrangle is coming to mean a period of session and he opens with the proper dignity, being very careful so as not to soil this book that literally drips with cherished memories of "the only one."

The senior opens his Quadrangle in the quiet of his room and sighs as before him he is revealed the college life he will never again experience. Memories some sweet, some bitter, that will remain locked forever in his heart. These memories can never be touched but by recalling them in years to come, some of these memories will bring a tear to his eyes. He looks forward to commencement but yet he is reluctant to bring his college days to a close. After thumbing through his annual, he digs out the annals of the last three years and glances through the soiled pages, reminiscent of days not so long ago. As he turns the leaves of the last Quadrangle, he visualized himself in several years, telling his eldest son, "I remember one time back in college".

Yes, whether we be seniors, juniors, sophomores, or freshmen, all look forward to the day the Quads are arrived and even if we take the awfullest picture in the world, we about fly into a tantrum if it isn't there.

Nutter Entertains 75

At M Club Banquet

Seventy-five people attended the annual M Club banquet at the Warren Hotel last Saturday evening, May 6. Jimmy Nutter, McPherson athlete attending Wichita University, spoke and showed a motion picture.

Nutter discussed athletic scholarships in his talk, explaining that such scholarships make it possible for outstanding athletes to attend college when they would not be able to do so otherwise.

Carroll Tillman, president of the M Club presided as toastmaster. Gene Reinecker gave the welcome to the guests and August San Romani presented special music. Paul Sargent gave the response to the welcome.

At the close of the evening Nutter showed a color motion picture of last fall's Wichita-Tulsa football game which Wichita won.

Russell West was in charge of decorations and Dale Carpenter was responsible for the program.

Choir Gives Program In Chapel Thursday

Thursday morning during chapel period the McPherson College Chapel Choir presented a concert under the direction of Prof. Donald R. Fredrick.

Several of the numbers the choir sang were, "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel?", "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind", "Go, Song of Mine", and "For a World that has Lost It's Way".

This was the first appearance of the chapel choir in a concert since the trip that was planned for the latter part of April was cancelled.

Debaters Hold Initiation

The local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta had its initiation of new members Thursday evening. The ceremony was held in Sharp Hall and then the group went to Professor McAuley's house for refreshments.

Those initiated were Prof. Roy McAuley, Gerald Neher, Kathryn Larson, Wayne Zeigler, Bill Kidwell, and Albert Balzer.

Other members of the chapter are Bonnie Martin, Arvis and Ardyce Albright, Donovan Speaker, Dean Cotton, LeRoy Doty, and Winston Bowman. Prof. Maurice A. Hess is the sponsor and faculty advisor of the group.

Radio Class Visits KFH; Larson Becomes Hill-billy

Members of the radio speech class visited stations KFH and KFBF in Wichita Monday, May 8.

At KFBF the class toured the studio and asked questions of the head engineer. The engineer told about the staff, and each man's job.

The group arrived at KFH just in time for Chattime, a program put on by the Ark-Valley Boys.

During the performance one of the entertainers was introduced as being from Cabool, Missouri. This was too much for Kathryn Larson, and immediately she took off her shoes to feel more at home. The class had a song dedicated to her as Cabool's gift to McPherson College. The meet of the show, Dave Wilson, agreed with the class that Cabool was a good place to be from—a long ways from.

After the program Larson talked to the performer. He had left Cabool while still a baby. According to members of the class he had shown wisdom greatly exceeding his age. As one class member said, "Was he really from Cabool, or did he think that town's name made a good joke?"

Besides the Missouri hill-billy, Kathryn Larson, class members making the trip were John Ward, Carmina San Romani, Dean Cotton, Don St. Clair, Gerald Neher, Dorie Roesch, Wayne Zeigler, and Albert Balzer. Prof. Roy McAuley accompanied the group.

Maccollege Takes Part; Enters Float, Band

McPherson College was well represented yesterday in McPherson's day of days as it entered a float and the McPherson College band in the May Day parade.

Mac Actors Find Followup Is Hard

One of the best stories a journalist can write is a followup. McPherson College's Player's Club has found that putting on a play has its followup too.

Members of the cast of the "Great Big Door Step", when tearing down the shanty discovered the followup or tear-down was much harder than the build up.

The windows of the stage were opened and materials were tossed out. Workers hollered, "Look out below," and "Headache."

Prof. Dell came up and said, "Say, that wood doesn't look bad."

"It should look good," replied Roy McAuley. "We worked hard enough pulling nails."

After working several days the debris was cleared and classes continued as usual.

Seven acts were presented in the City Auditorium in the afternoon. Headlining the show was Miles Lyle, a top-notch magician who also served as master of ceremonies. Other acts included Lucille Elmore, a ventriloquist; Buddy Hillier, who did a comedy act with drums, musical saw, cigar-box, fiddle, and other props. In addition to those were McPherson College's Rowena Neher, marimbist; and Reza Mofarrah, gymnast.

Maccollege Journalists Dine At Irish Banquet

Shamrocks, green candies and a blarney stone were part of an Irish setting for the annual Spectator banquet held Monday evening, May 8, at the Blue Room of the Warren Hotel.

LeRoy Doty, editor of the Spectator first semester, was the toastmaster, and speakers for the evening were Lorene Clark, present editor of the school paper, and Miss Sara Mae Vancl, faculty adviser. Inez Royer played several piano numbers.

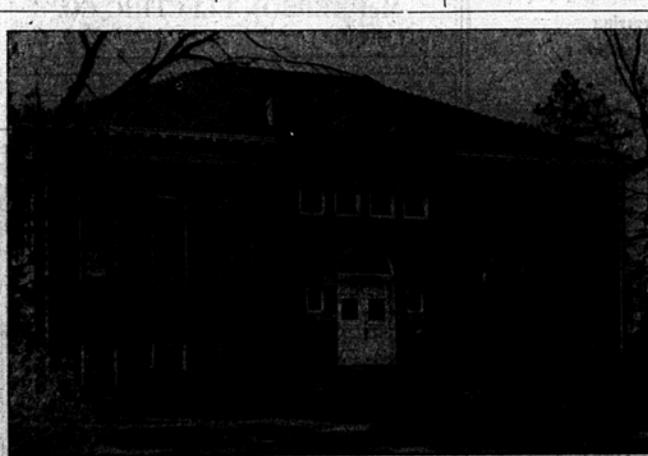

In addition to the green candies and shamrocks of the tables, there was an Irish Castle and at the foot of the room was a table decorated with shamrocks and a large leprechaun holding the menu. Beside the leprechaun stood the proverbial pot of gold containing gold-covered chocolates. At the other end of the room was a small table holding a scene representing the famous Irish blarney stone.

Those deserving credit for the planning of the banquet were Kathryn Larson, Lorene Marshall, Mary Snyder, Gerald Neher and Eldon Coffman.

Students Work In First Aid Station At Carnival

McPherson College students will assist with a Red Cross first aid station on the carnival grounds today from 5 to 8 p.m.

Lois Yoder, chairman, will have five other students to help her. They will work in pairs.

Plans are now under way to begin construction on McPherson College Library. Built in 1946, the library is now too small to serve the needs of the student body. Lumber for remodeling has been donated by Mr. Bruce Tharrington and son, Charles. By the opening of school next fall remodeling should have been completed.

Honor Mother Every Day

God gives us friends and that means much;
But far above all others,
The greatest of His gifts to earth
Was when He thought of Mothers.

On May 10, 1913, a resolution passed the Senate and House of Representatives to make the second Sunday in May a national holiday "dedicated to the memory of the best mother in the world, your mother." This momentous resolution was really the work of one woman who desired to dedicate a day to mothers.

This year, in realization of the importance that the whole family plays in the welfare of our nation, Mother's Day will be a climax to National Family Week. The past decade has seen the rapid rise of juvenile delinquency brought on by homes divided by war and by the increase in the national divorce rate.

We students as potential homemakers and parents should be sharply conscious of the pattern of family life in America. The decline of the family leads to a breakdown of the whole moral system of a nation. Drunks, thieves and murderers do not come from the ranks of the Christian family. They are a part of the all-too-common "no family-life" pattern.

It is fitting in connection with National Family Week to honor mothers as well. Mothers are usually in closer contact with their children than are fathers. Thus they often have a greater influence on the child's behavior. For though governments are considered the authority of a nation, governments are run by men who were once children. "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

ONLY ONE

Hundreds of stars in the pretty sky;
Hundreds of shells on the shore together;
Hundreds of birds that go singing by;
Hundreds of bees in the sunny weather.

Hundreds of dewdrops to greet the dawn;
Hundreds of lambs in the purple clover;
Hundreds of butterflies on the lawn;
But only one mother the wide world over.

Little Makes Study Of Students' Grades Here

For his work in Problems in Biology, Ivan Little, Junior, has made a study of the correlation between Macalester students' grades, and their environment and personal characteristics.

The study was made on several bases: size of high school from which the student graduated; home state, college address, participation in athletics, marital status, sex and scholastic classification. These statistics are the total averages of all first semester students.

Ivan's statistics show that Macalester women have an aggregate scholastic average of 1.79, while the men have an average of 1.46. Students of McPherson County average 1.56, and all students from the state of Kansas average 1.61. Students from Iowa have an aggregate average of 1.62; Idaho, 1.72; and all others 1.48.

Students living on the campus have an average of 1.57; off campus (away from home), 1.56; and those living at home, 1.54. By classes, the average for freshmen was 1.31; sophomores, 1.69; juniors, 1.63; and seniors, 1.79.

The statistics show that Macalester students who graduated from high schools with 100 to 200 students have the highest average, 1.66; followed by a 1.63 average for those graduated from schools with less than 100; and a 1.52 average for those who graduated from a high school with more than 200 pupils.

Those who participated in athletics show a 1.48 grade average, while those who do not average 1.59. Married students have a total of 1.67, and single students, 1.56. Veterans have a 1.48 average, and non-veterans, 1.60.

These averages were found by dividing the total number of grade points by the total number of academic hours.

Library Displays Books Featuring Literary History

The Reinterpretation of Victorian Literature edited by Joseph E. Baker seeks to undermine some diehard opinions about the Victorian era. Instead of an age of priggishness, dogmatism, and imperialism, the period emerges as a time when writers first tried to adapt humane culture to a new world as science, democracy, and industrialism.

Eleven authors in this symposium sponsored by the Modern Language Association consider such

A Cappella Dines Next Wednesday

The A Cappella Choir will hold their formal banquet next Wednesday night, May 17, at the Blue Room of the Warren Hotel.

Mrs. Barbara Doty heads the committee, which will design the decorations. The banquet menu will be planned by Mrs. Elsa Frantz. Harold McNamee and Kenneth Graham have charge of the entertainment for the evening.

The A Cappella Banquet is an annual affair held after the completion of the choir's spring tour. The invitation list includes members of the A Cappella Choir and their guests.

Spectator Wins Third ACP Rating

The Spectator received third place honor rating from the Associated Collegiate Press critical section with $20 points out of a possible 1025. This award is for the fall semester, 1949-1950, at which time LeRoy Doty was the editor.

ACP judges rated the Spectator on news coverage, news writing, copyreading, and proofreading, quality of headlines, typography, makeup, printing, sports coverage and treatment of editorials and features.

Suggestions for improvement were these:

Under editing the judges indicated weakness in the failure to eliminate unimportant extra words and phrases. Criticism was made of the makeup so that too much use was made of one column heads.

A major improvement of the paper, according to the judges would be to work on improving the inside pages with good features and stories.

Topics as form and technique in the novel, Victorian education, social background and thought, the comic spirit and Victorian sanity, the Oxford movement, the tradition of Burke, and new territories in Victorian biography.

A History of Russian Literature by Dmitri Mirkil is a one-volume revised edition of "A History of Russian Literature" and "Contemporary Russian Literature," which have been recognized as classics in their field.

Russian literature has always been inseparably linked to Russian history. Mirkil recognized this fact, but he made his books one of personal criticism as he explored the complex literature of Russia.

The Literature of the Anglo-Saxons by George K. Anderson is a new one-volume descriptive history of English literature from the beginning to the Norman Conquest.

Quotations from the works of the Anglo-Saxon authors are given, but all the material is presented in modern English.

Included in its contents are almost 500 photographs, prints, drawings, and maps. The book was issued in furtherance of the sesquicentennial celebration of Washington as the nation's capital.

An outstanding feature of the book is the unusual amount of documentation for each chapter. Mr. Anderson's book will well become a comprehensive guide to research on Anglo-Saxon literature.

Washington Past and Present by Chalmers M. Roberts presents the story of the capital of the United States in pictures.

What Is A Man Worth?

Three brothers left the farm to work in the city, and all got jobs in the same company, starting out at the same day. Five years later one was receiving $200 a month, a second $300, and the third, $500.

Their father hearing of these salaries, decided to visit his sons' employer and find out why they were paid on what seemed to be such an unfair basis.

"I will let them explain for themselves," said the boss, as he pressed a button under his desk. Jim, the lowest paid man of the three, answered.

"I understand the 'Oceanic' has just docked," said the employer. "Please go down there and get an inventory of her cargo."

Three minutes later Jim was in the office. "She carried a cargo of 2000 seal skins," he reported. "I got the information from the first mate over the telephone." "Thank you, Jim," said the boss. "That will be all."

He pressed the button again and Frank, the $300 man, reported. "Frank, I wish you would go down to the dock and get an inventory of the 'Oceanic's' cargo."

An hour later Frank was back with the list showing that the "Oceanic" not only carried 2000 seal skins, but that she also had 500 beaver and 1100 mink pelts.

The employer pressed the button a third time and George, the $500 man, walked into the office. He was given the same instructions his brothers had received.

George did not return for three hours, and the office had closed for the day. But his father and the boss were waiting for him.

"The 'Oceanic' carries 2000 seal skins," he began. "They were offered at five dollars each, and I took a tentative option on them, subject to your approval. I got a bid of seven dollars for them from a prospect in St. Louis and have promised to hire him our reply in the morning. I also found 500 beaver which we normally don't handle, but since I had an inquiry for some, I bought and sold them at a profit of $700. There are 1100 mink pelts of excellent quality, but as you always handle the mink, I took no action on them."

"That's fine, George," said the boss. "Then, turning to the father, "See what I mean?"

France, Man's World?

From Evanston, Illinois, comes a Frenchman's opinion on blue jeans and sweatshirt for women.

"With all the costumes that pass down the Campus-Elysee unnoticed by Frenchmen—Arab robes, Scotch kilts, Japanese kimonos—why should I get a Mon-Dieu (Omigod)-look when I, in the Northwestern co-ed's standard, blue jeans and a sweatshirt step over to the neighborhood bakery?"

"A native Parisian gave me the answer: in France men wear the pants. Literally as well as figuratively. Why, this friend even frowns on pajamas for females."

"Seriously, though, France is a man's world. Only since the war have women had the vote, and a married woman can't even have a bank account which her husband cannot touch. The city of Paris has set up public lavatories all over town—most of them for men only."

"Smoking, liquor—drinking, automobile-driving, and traveling in general are not considered very honorable as ladies' activities. The gal with the cigarette is a little too coquettish."

"The strongest drink women take openly is red wine. Driving school and drivers' licenses are expensive; besides, only men are deemed skillful enough to tackle Paris traffic."

"But maybe it's all for the best."

Shower Honors Donna Bowman

Miss Donna Bowman, who graduated from McPherson College last spring, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous wedding shower Thursday night at the home of Mrs. W. W. Peters. Co-hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Raymond Flory, Mrs. Howard Fries, Mrs. James Elrod, Mrs. Lowell Heisey, and Mrs. W. W. Peters.

Punch, cake, and nuts were served; decorations followed the color scheme of Donna's invitations, yellow and green.

The women of the faculty, faculty wives, and friends of the guest of honor attended.

Lois Moors Is 4-H

District Dairy Queen

Miss Lois Moors, a freshman at McPherson College, was elected district dairy queen of the Ark Valley District Black and White Show, Friday, April 28.

On May 2, Lois competed in the state contest for state dairy queen and was named one of the attendants to the queen.

Lois is a member of the Good-luck 4-H Club and a Holstein dairy project member. She was the county Holstein champion in 1948 and had a trip to the National Dairy Congress at Waterloo, Iowa.

A Frenchman explained the situation as one to raise, not to lower the female's position. "In the United States," he told me, "women, with all their rights, are no longer respected by men. To us Frenchmen, women are like gods."

To this observer, Frenchmen like their women to be "men" enough to refrain from doing things the men are too weak to refrain from.

FOUNDATIONS

Customer: "Honestly, now, is this hair grower any good?"

Barber: "My dear sir, do you see this brush I'm using on your head? Until some of the hair grower accidentally spilled on it last week, it was a ping pong paddle."

To this observer, Frenchmen like their women to be "men" enough to refrain from doing things the men are too weak to refrain from.
