Bayard Rustin To Discuss Race Relations Feb. 7, 8

One of the foremost American exponents of non-violent techniques, Bayard Rustin, will speak at Chapel Tuesday February 7. For those who will be interested to hear him speak again he will be at the Congregational Church 7:45 on Wednesday, Feb. 8.

In 1949 Rustin went to India and was entertained by the Governor General at Government House, New Delhi; toured the untouched villages of Mysore; had several interviews on world problems with Prime Minister Nehru.

Rustin received the Jefferson Award as one who "had done more to better relations between colored and white citizens." He is a member of the staff of the Fellowship of Reconciliation and a Quaker; He knows what it is to suffer for his convictions.

He plays the guitar and sings beautifully; has a range of humor; and is an excellent dynamic speaker.

During the last year Mr. Rustin traveled through the South to tell the Interstate Commerce Law which says nobody can be removed from an interstate vehicle. He suffered great embarrassment as well as persecution. He was forced to work thirty days on a Georgia chain-gang.

Youth Build, God Designs

American Christian Young people across the continent are joining this week in the activities of National Youth Week, Jan. 29 to Feb. 5.

An appeal to all youth to join the crusade for a Christian world is being given over radio broadcasts, in special services, and through increased youth activities.

Some observers may view Youth Week as "just another promotional scheme without lasting benefits." Skeptics such as these should be invited to see how vital Christian youth work is and "how necessary for the future good of any community."

This year's theme for Youth Week is "Youth Build," based on an often overlooked fact, "God designs." The theme arises from the realization that youth cannot build unless God builds with them.

Youth this week are looking upward to God "whose will they seek and whose kingdom they serve," and "outward to the world that needs their service."

Class Invited
Faculty, Students

To Study Group

Both faculty and students are invited to sit in on our Problems of the World Community Class. This class meets every Mon., at 8:00 and discusses pertinent problems of national and international importance.

This study group serves the same purpose as an International Relations Club that some colleges have. The trend in recent years has been to give credit for such work. At McPherson this is a one hour course.

The discussions for the month of February are:

Feb. 6—Relationship between the United States and Mexico on the Hoof and Mouth Disease.

Feb. 13—Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

Feb. 20—British Elections.

Feb. 27—Relationship between India and Pakistan.

Missions Fill Vital Need In World

One out of every twenty in our world is a displaced person." Dr. Rufus Bowman informed his audience at the annual Birthday Dinner. That is one of the reasons why missions are desperately needed all over the world.

Telling of his trip around the world to study Brethren missions abroad, Dr. Bowman spoke of China as a land of tragedy and opportunity. The Chinese people eagerly await the communists who have promised to alleviate their suffering by giving them bread, work, and land. Suffering people are the seedbed by communism and if the existing government cannot meet the problems of the people, they will turn to what they think is better.

Already all of the missions in China are under communist domination, but this is no reason to discontinue them. Rather we should stay as a church and meet the rough problems of life.

"India is a land of freedom," Dr. Bowman spoke with great hope for India as a country as well as for the missions in India. Under the new constitution religious freedom is guaranteed which gives the church a free hand.

The influence of the Christian church in India extends far beyond the Christian community. Many Hindus who will never accept Christianity have been influenced by compassion and spirit of Christianity."

India is looking ahead to better days under the leadership of Pandit Nehru. He is trying to help the poor masses economically.

In Europe Dr. Bowman found that not over ten percent of the people are Christians. They have lost their hold on the church because the church failed to relate religion to life. Any missionaries who go to Europe will have to understand the crushing burdens which rest on the shoulders of the people before they can help.

Representing the college at the Annual Conference of the Council of Administration and The Kansas Adult Education Association at Topeka Feb. 2-4 is President W. W. Peters.

Last night he and Dr. Mohler attended a dinner of the Kansas Schoolmaster Club.

Bowman Talks With Ministers

Dr. Rufus Bowman, president of Bethany Biblical Seminary spoke in an informal meeting of student ministers immediately after the Birthday Dinner last Sunday.

After the session opened, Dr. Bowman gave an opportunity to ask questions concerning future training for the ministry in Bethany.

The new chapel, for which $150,000 was raised several years ago, is expected to be completed by the end of 1950, according to present plans. It will house a place for worship, music studies, and facilities for speech classes.

In keeping in close contact with the North American council of Seminaries, Dr. Bowman has observed that no seminary has as fully developed a course in counseling as that of Bethany.

In the discussion, Dr. Bowman stated that work and housing conditions for the present, as well as for the future are very favorable. By careful planning it is thought that one can get through seminary without adding to his indebtedness. The school is run on a very economic and cooperative basis. Single students operate a cooperative boarding club; the married students a cooperative buying. All operate the work office, book store and do other jobs on the campus.

Few weekend pastorates are held by seminary students because of traveling distances. Practical work includes church choir, teaching Chinese Sunday School, teaching in Parental School, working with a mission group, or doing other types of musical work.

Dr. Bowman encourages, and is appealing to more young people to seek the call of God to full Christian service.

Student Council Gives Unusual Chapel Program

You have been waiting for a Monday chapel which would be different; a chapel which would be both interesting and educational. Monday, Feb. 6 there will be just such a chapel program. McPherson College's Little Theatre is the scene of three one-act plays to be given February 6, 8, 9, and 10 by the McPherson College Players.

"Through a Glass Darkly" presents a new slant on the ever-present race problem. Aaron Shaeffer, an orthodox Jew, feels he is mistreated and abused when really he has taunted his mind so much about the antagonism for his race that he has become warped mentally.

Clara, his wife, is kindly, tolerant, and understanding but does not share her husband's views and feelings; however, she is unable to change them. These parts are taken by Dean Cotton and Doris Roesch.

Wayne Zeigler plays the part of Aaron's son, Sandy, and Betty Frantz portrays his wife. Carol Zeigler is also student director of the play.

Marilyn Bowman and Doris Roesch are new additions to the Player's Club. Other members of the cast may be remembered from this year's production, "The Late George Apley". Burlesque Melodrama.

For those who enjoy a melodramatic thrill the screamingly funny burlesque entitled "And the Villain Pursued Her" is to be presented.

John Handout (Garth Ellwood), his wife (Esther Mohler), and his daughter, Emaline (Phyllis Bowman) are overwhelmingly distressed when their maid, Mary (Lois Voder), declares that their chimney has been stolen and also their chimney hole.

In addition to these worries, they are constantly bamboozled by the villain, George Grabus (Albert Balzer), who holds a mortgage when their maid, Mary (Lois Voder), declares that their chimney hole has fallen due to very day.

According to ISA, the purpose of the essay contest is to enable the contestants, who come from the ranks of today's students, to familiarize themselves with conditions abroad, and appreciate the differences in the cultures and institutions of the various peoples living together in this world.

Council Sponsors Heart Sister Week, Feb. 6-10

Heart Sister Week, an annual affair sponsored for the women by the Women's Council, will be observed next week, Feb. 6-10. The drawing for names will be held Monday after assembly.

The purpose of heart sister week is to encourage the spirit of sharing among the girls, as well as helping each to know the other better. It is customary for each girl to do some small deed of kindness or give a small gift to her Heart Sister every day throughout the week.

Climaxing the event will be the party in the SUR Monday evening Feb. 13, from 9:00-10:00 at which Heart Sisters will be revealed.

Campus women are not under obligation to participate in this activity, but the Women's Council urges all who desire to share in a wonderful week of fun and fellowship to take part.

Teachers' Exams Given At Mac

MacCollege has been designated as one of the four centers in Kansas for National Teachers Examinations to be held. Tests will be given Saturday, February 18, 8:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.

The purpose of the test is to inform the person taking it of his qualifications in teaching any subject or one particular subject. Several optional tests will be given concerning individual majors and one common test will be given to teachers in general.

The results will be mailed directly to the prospective teacher. He is told his score and how he ranks with other persons throughout the nation who have taken the examination. The examination is given in thirty-eight states.

Recently President Peters received a letter from the mayor of Valognes, a city in France. This letter was received as thanks for CARE packages sent by Mac College WAA.

"Mr. President: Due to your generosity we have received a package from 'CARE'.

"This package containing various boxes of preserves was distributed to our school canteens and to certain needy old persons for whom this help is a true godsend. But what we appreciate still more is the sign of spirit of fellowship (brotherhood) to which we are especially sensitive.

"I believe that this package was arranged by a collection among the pupils of your college, and I ask you earnestly to give them the thanks of the city of Valognes.

"Our little city of less than 5,000 inhabitants, situated 15 kilometers from Cherbourg was the first town in France destroyed at the time of the Liberation.

"The 8th of June 1944, within a few hours 75 percent of our houses were destroyed, and we counted about 300 dead among the civilian population. Now we are reconstructing. Alas, very slowly! but with the help of your Great Country, which is shown by the Marshall plan, we do not despair of succeeding.

"Very sincerely yours, The Mayor, J. Leterneau."

Valognes has been adopted and is being given support by the city of McPherson.

Do We Have More Talent

Congratulations to the junior class for giving the students such a good party last Saturday night.

As I sat through the floor show, I was struck with the thought that we have more student talent on this campus than most of us realize.

Hidden talents have a way of popping up at unexpected moments. Jim Hoover, whom some of us have known for several years, stood before us and demonstrated his magician's skill. It takes a steady, quick hand to perform any kind of magic trick. I think that everyone fully enjoyed the fun sometimes at Jim's expense, sometimes at ours.

And the way that he can play the harmonica! Just think what some of us have been missing.

Another number which showed some of us an authentic native dance for the first time was the Samoan dance. It probably took a lot of nerve for Vi Alaiima to share with us some of his culture.

A group with which we are more familiar but which we always welcome is the barbershop quartet of Albert Rogers, Gilford Ikenberry, Don Guthals, and 'Alvin' Willems. The boys were really in the spirit of the gay nineties with their mustaches, loud ties, and suspenders.

Funnier than Abbott and Costello is the comedy team, Olitzman and Zeigler. These two have already entertained the students several times and we are waiting for more.

I wonder how many more of our best friends have hidden talents. We ought to hear from these people more often.

New Books Help Students Solve Current Problems

The Market for College Graduates by Seymour E. Harris sounds a warning. The "Proletariat of the A. B. degree" is in the process of formation. By 1969 it is expected that there will be two or three college graduates for every job commensurate with their training.

Mr. Hardis, a professor of economics at Harvard, asks, "Does schooling pay?" He proposes in answer, that greater emphasis should be placed on the non-economic aspects of education and offers other solutions to this political, social, and economic problem.

How To Live Longer by Justus J. Schiffer is advertised as a book that may help to save your life. It is written in simple, non-technical language, but is based on the most recent findings of public health and medical authorities and the latest U. S. government statistics.

From U. S. records Mr. Schiffere shows the principal causes of death today. He points out the usual course of these dangers, tells how to guard against them, and identifies the danger signals to watch for.

Length of Life by Louis J. Dublin and others traces and interprets the progress in health and longevity from earliest times to the present day. Emphasis is placed on the social and scientific influences that have brought about this progress.

Dr. Dublin is a member of the Statistical Bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and has been active in many scientific societies. He includes life tables for various other countries besides the United States. Students of population will find a summary of the place of life table in the new concepts for measuring population trends.

The Second Forty Years by Edward J. Stiglitz, M. D., is a straightforward popular presentation of what a scientist knows about man as he grows older. It is an authoritative handbook concerning the universal problems

Where's Your School Spirit

In a letter to the editor last week some of the boys were wondering just what the pep situation was here at McPherson College. Well, it is not good enough. One reason is that there are too few students here who are doing their share to create better spirit.

A pep club was newly organized last fall with 25 members. Individual efforts have been made to recruit new members, but it has been a rather difficult job. Many asked, "Well, what kind of an organization is it? What will my organization be if I join?"

The Pep Club is an organization of both boys and girls who individually contribute what ever they can to make a better pep club and create, better school spirit. Incidentally, if you have some ideas concerning an assembly program, make them known.

Here are some suggestions as to what you can do to help create better school spirit. We should have and will have more pep assemblies. Everybody attend pep assemblies! Pep Club members meet with cheer leaders and practice new yell. At the assemblies all Pep Club members sit in a body and help lead the cheer leaders.

At the Club's business meetings the first Thursday of each month at 9:50. At the Saturday night game with Baker there will be a special section marked off for all Pep Club members and others who have the pep and wish to display it. Let's all wear red and white and sit together.

Come on, kids! Enlist in McPherson College Pep Club! The school needs and covets your cooperation and support! Let's have a 100 percent attendance at the pep assembly Friday and a good pep section at the game!

Sincerely,
A Pep Club Member

Elgin's Loss Is Our Gain

Pays Tribute To Pastor

A splendid tribute was paid Rev. Harry K. Zeller by the Elgin, Illinois Courier-News.

Judging from the editorial, he is a man any community can be proud to have as a citizen, and a preacher.

"Memo to the Citizens of McPherson: Fortunate indeed are you Kansans that the parishioners of the Brethren church of your community have seen fit to call Rev. Harry K. Zeller, Jr., to attend their spiritual needs."

"You will find Mr. Zeller to be the kind of man who not only is exceptionally well fitted for his chosen calling but one who can and does give wholehearted and active support—not just lip service—to worthwhile community endeavors. Patrons of the YMCA in McPherson, of the Community Chest, and of other community betterment groups, will find Mr. Zeller a man with the knack of organizing for the common good—and on getting things done."

"For seven years now the citizens of Elgin have been privileged to call Harry K. Zeller, Jr., a fellow townsmen. We have observed him serve the YMCA as a director, the Community Chest as a governing board member, and the Ministerial association as its president. We have heard him speak, in and out of the pulpit, and upon each occasion he has had something forthright, something sound to say."

"We have applauded the principles of justice and brotherly love, of tolerance and understanding which he has espoused—and has voiced so vigorously."

"We can only say Mr. Zeller is deserving of this call to larger fields of service. In the instance of this good citizen, Elgin's loss in his leaving is McPherson's gain. We join with Elginites in many creeds in wishing him well."

New Drug Cures Cold

You may be able to cure that cold with antihistamine compounds is the opinion of a government official, a pharmaceutical manufacturer, and a National Better Business Bureau spokesman.

Allen E. Blackman, spokesman for the National Better Business Bureau remarked, "Scientific information available indicates these drugs have a legitimate place in cold therapy." He said that the Bureau recommends that (advertising) copy make it clear that the product is recommended for "head colds."

Doctors have tested 10,000 cases and report that 70 to 90 percent of the cases have been successfully stopped by various antihistamines.

Elliott A. Bowles, president of the Union Pharmaceutical Co., states that drugs in dosages as low as 10 mg. per tablet have been perfected, and it is these that are now offered for sale without prescription.

Letter To The Editor

I have recently had a very grave problem that is troubling me no end, and I was hoping some readers of the Spectator could help.

A couple of weeks ago a friend of mine disappeared, and no one has seen him since he was last observed walking over the parking area west and north of the gymnasium. Perhaps he fell into one of the holes or ruts and couldn't get out.

Now I'm not griping about the condition of the driveway or parking area. Frankly, my car springs can use the exercise.

I'm not even hollering about the loss of my friend, because he really wasn't a very good friend.

However, after two weeks, his wife and children are beginning to worry. If my friend is still alive, he would like to file a claim for his insurance immediately.

Besides, speaking from a humanitarian point-of-view, this chap should be accorded the honor of a funeral.

Maybe I'm wrong about the funeral. Perhaps enough people fell in one of those ruts, the bones would collect and nobody would have to fill the ruts in with soil.

Won't some brave fellows organize an expedition to see if they can find my friend? Maybe even San Jose would help by knocking

Dear Editor:

Upon looking at last week's Spectator I felt sorry that it was necessary to print such an edition of our school paper. Although I do not like to see the paper contain so much filler, I would much rather have some printed matter in those spaces than nothing at all.

If it is more reporters we need, then I think it behoves each of us to recheck his schedule and see if he is not the one who has the time as well as the talent to be a reporter on the Spec.

Our college paper has a large circulation and is exchanged with many other colleges. The Spec may be their only contact with McPherson College. Is a paper with blank space or canned filler the kind of paper we want to represent our college? I would favor a five column paper rather than a paper of that kind.

It is better to have a small and good paper than a large and poor paper. With more writers and reporters it is possible to have the paper both large and well-written.

Sincerely yours, down the sides of those ruts, and my friend could be more easily found.

Monroe Platters Top Sales Records

We do not know how many record players there are floating around on the campus, but if you have access to a few waxings and a record player, we cannot think of a better way to erase or accelerate a mood.

So, if you are rebounding from an unfortunate love affair or an unfortunate semester grade, pull up a turntable and listen to—

Vaughn Monroe's platters still are the fastest sellers on "Tin Pan Alley." Neither Monroe's orchestra nor his own booming tonals are the best in the business, but he apparently has the key to the popular imagination.

Monroe's popularity stems from his uncanny ability to pick music that is synchronized to the public pulse, and his four-year record of one night stands. The late Glenn Miller's combo—the most popular in American history—should have proved that an orchestra cannot be popular and remain holed-up in the metropolitan hotels and cafés.

While Monroe is patrolling the sticks, RCA Victor is heating the drums for "Bamboo," his latest platter.

Speaking of Glenn Miller, listeners to the music of Ralph Flanagan will swear that the ghost of the smiling, bespectacled Miller is wielding the baton.

Flanagan, a one-time New York school teacher, has no imitation of Glenn Miller as Tex Beneke does. His stuff sounds like the real-Miller. Best work to date has been a pop adaption of "My Hero" from Oscar Straus' operetta, "The Chocolate Soldier."

Incidentally, if none of the post-war music appeals to you, try to dig out some old Miller recordings. His "Tampico" and "String of Pearls" are still better than anything that has appeared since his death.

Youth Is Disillusioned

It seems that while this college lad was carrying out his play directors' every whim; namely, the replacing of a step on the ladder leading to the men's powder room backstage in the S. A. R. that our boy ran into his difficulties.

It was a wondrous sight to behold indeed: the sunlight on his eager, young face. It reminded one of a St. Bernard, eager to do the bidding of his master.

In the next minute his world came crashing down around him for the step had been repaired.

A pitiful sight was he then as he stood, stoop shouldered broken in spirit, beaten. "And after I crawled into the Industrial Arts building through a window, spent an hour finding the wood, hammer, and nails, this is the thanks I get!"

And then Bill stumbled from the room sobbing. "There just ain't no (soh) justice." Poor Daggett.

Found!

Several lost objects have been accumulated during the first semester in the chemistry classrooms and laboratories. They may be claimed by the loser in the Chemistry Office. 1 white head scarf, 1 Weaver pen, 1 Supreme Miss Lehman, and Miss Neher. Miss Sara Mae Vanell acted as housemother at Arnold Hall during Miss Neher's absence.

Margaret Daggett spent the weekend visiting at her home in Lone Star, Kansas.

She Wears Two Pairs

Absent-minded professors usually happen only in stories but a few evenings ago Bonnie Alexander demonstrated that professors of that type live here on Macampus.

In a hurry to go to Harnly, Bonnie dashed into her room without turning on the light and slipped her feet into what she thought was a pair of shoes.

Down in the parlor students began giggling. Bonnie looked down at her feet and saw parts of two pair of shoes. Amid hoots of laughter she dashed up stairs to change into one pair.

Peters, Quartette Made Weekend Trip

President Peters accompanied by the Women's Quartette, Naomi Mankey, Phyllis Bowman, Ruth Crumpacker, and Claudia Stump; visited the Church of the Brethren at Bartlesville, Oklahoma last Sunday.

The occasion was the burning of the mortgage on the parsonage. Dr. Peters spoke at the morning service.

Girls Attend Luncheon

Bonnie Alexander and Gina Munda attended a Farm Bureau luncheon at the McPherson Methodist church on Monday, January the 30th.

The food was served buffet style, and consisted of many kinds of foreign dishes.

Bonnie interviewed Gina about different things in Italy, and in response, Gina told many interesting things about her country. Several other people from different countries gave talks.

"Just Because"

I climbed the door
I shut the stairs.
I read my shoes
I removed my prayers,
I turned out the bed
I turned into the light...
Just because
You kissed me Goodnight.

MC Meets Baker Tomorrow Still Seeking First KC Win

Tomorrow night on the McPherson High School floor the McPherson College Bulldogs will make their eighth attempt of the season to enter the Kansas Conference win column as they engage Russ Davee's Baker Wildcats.

The Wildcats and Coach Forrest C. (Frosty) Hardacre's Bulldogs have met one time previously this season. On Jan. 20, at Baldwin the Wildcats won 38-41 in a hard fought scramble that went to the last second before it was decided.

The Bulldogs had made their best showing of the season in their first encounter with Baker, and, if they can return to that game's style, the Canines may pull the biggest upset of the year in the Kansas Conference.

One thing will be in the Bulldogs favor. Baker will be playing their second game in two nights tomorrow as they will fight it out for the top spot in the conference with Kansas Wesleyan tonight at Salina.

Certainly the Bulldogs will have to improve upon their lackadaisical performance against Bethel Tuesday. Five of the first seven players on the squad did not hit a field goal—Bob Odle, Gene Arnold, Glen Pyle, Earl Grindle, and Kyle Goering.

The performance of the red-haired jumping jack from Idaho; Lorin Blickenstaff, can still draw no criticism. Since he has become eligible the second semester, Blick has been high point man for the Bulldogs in every game. His peak performance was the 17 points he swished against Bethel Tuesday.

That mark ties the high winter level for an MC basketeer this year. Gene Arnold holds the other end of the record—seven field goals and three free throws against Scranton in the only Bulldog win of the year.

Blick's 17 points at Weston was made despite seven missed free throws and the fact that he did not touch the ball in the six minute period between the time he made his last point and his withdrawal from the game by coach Hardacre late in the contest.

Baker's team is built around two big men—the methodical, slow thinking six foot-five inch Frank Turner and another man of the same size, Kenny Sterns.

Sterns is a vastly improved player over last year and has been the Wildcat's principal scoring punch all year. Working with Turner and Sterns, is the veteran captain Forrest Pontius, hard-working senior Rodney Enos, and Howie Singleton, a five-foot-eleven sharpshooter who put in the winning bucket against the Bulldogs in their first 1950 encounter.

If the Bulldogs cannot enter the Kansas Conference winning column tomorrow, their chances of taking their second victory of the year appear somewhat brighter as they play their non-conference opponent since Jan. 17 as the Friends Quakers from Wichita come to McPherson next Tuesday.

The Quakers have an impressive record this year but do have one of the nation's finest scorers in Bob Hudgins.

Sports

A new spin on the sports page of the Spectator appears this week as the sports editor gets a very welcome assistant Melvin Fishburn, a junior at McPherson College, Fish, a graduate of Lawrence, Kas., High School and now a married citizen of McPherson has taken over the writing of the weekly intramural summary, the Kansas Conference recap, and—starting next week—will begin a series of profiles on McPherson College's senior athletes.

Speaking of intramurals, we wonder what can be done to create a greater campus interest in that activity. Admittedly, intramural basketball is sometimes pretty poor basketball, but occasionally it is surprisingly good.

The league has a better organization and administration than it had last year, and there are four or five good teams in the league to provide competition.

Three years ago intramurals used to fill the gym with spectators. The playoff of 1947 provided more noise than we have heard since at a varsity game.

Perhaps you won't like it, but come over to the PE building on Monday and Thursday nights and sample it. You may find some real entertainment and certainly a good crowd always adds interest to any activity.

While the Bulldogs were opening the game in remarkably wrestled fashion, the men of Rudy Enns were hotter than the proverbial dollar pistol. In fact, the game was six minutes old before Duane Kaufman missed the first Bethel shot.

Worse than that, the Bulldogs did not score in all that time, and the score was 18-0 before Lorin Blickenstaff dunked a sucker shot at 6:45 to put the 'dogs in the scoring column.

At 8:20 Kyle Goering added a free throw (his only point of the night incidentally) to make the score 21-3. By halftime the Gray Maroons had pulled ahead 35-18.

Little can be added of the second half play. The Kraut had a 12-point lead when the farce was over. Both teams rushed the second half and play on both sides was slipshod. Bethel's second half rush, incidentally, was an extremely generous gesture for a team that was leading by 30 points.

Probably Bethel was looking for a new team scoring record. With 73 points they found for what they were looking. Laney Loggabill swished 21 points for game honors, although Fred Schroeder was not far behind with 19.

Women Begin Tournament Play In Basketball

Playing on the Kline Hall team were: Mary Helen Messamer, Velma Hanagarne, Arlene Mohler, Frances Hall, Florene Messick, Donna Sooby, and Esther Mohler.

Top scorers were Jean Thompson, 23 points and Frances Hall, 16 points.

Women's intramural basketball are scheduled every Wednesday. Spectators are welcome.

Bethany Smacks M As Rally Fails

Last Friday night the Bulldogs were the victims of a 56-48 spanking at the hands of the Bethany Swedes. The Swedes jumped off to a 4-0 lead on two goals by Anderson and were never headed off. Half-time found the Swedes with a 24-17 advantage.

Dave Anderson was the big gun for the Swedes, contributing 17 points to their cause. Loren Blickenstaff was high for McPherson for the fifth time in a many games, with 14 points, followed by Carpenter who connected on five of eight tries from the field for 10.

The Bulldogs rallied to within three points late in the game only to see their hopes fade as the Swedes came back with a strong finish.

Finally Marietta won in the fifth extra period 199-99 according to the scoreboard, but when the two official scorers added up their books—you guessed it—Marietta had only 99 points.

However, by this time, the Capital team was too weak to argue, and they decided to accept the scoreboard's count.
