Tuesday Is The Day For The Irish

Sure and begorra! St. Patrick's day is just around the corner!

Come March 17, it's time for shamrocks and the wearing of the green. And with this enjoyable occasion comes the air of the free and easy living ways of the Irish. March 17 is the observance of the death of Ireland's patron saint, Saint Patrick, and is observed by Irish people the world over.

St. Patrick was born in Scotland in 387. He lived in southwestern Britain where the Romans were abandoning the island to its fate, and was educated as a Christian.

Then one day, when he was sixteen years old, he was carried off by some wild Irish marauders and sold in slavery in Ireland. After he had served in Ireland for six years as a swineherd he managed one day to escape and return to Britain.

After his return, he dreamed one night, that a man came to him with a paper saying "The Voice of the Irish," and at the same time he heard the Irish calling, "We pray thee holy youth, to come and walk again amongst us as before."

This Patrick decided was a missionary call to Ireland. He arrived in Ireland and began the work which was to make him the patron saint of the island.

It is believed that there were no Christians in Ireland when Patrick began his work and no pagans when he died." This is not strictly true, but he did establish Christianity firmly on the island.

Many legends grew up in Ireland about St. Patrick. One was when some converts questioned the doctrine of the Trinity, St. Patrick ended the argument by holding up a shamrock leaf as an example of "Three in One." It was claimed that at his death, on March 17, 463, there was no night for 12 days.

Baptist Minister Gives Life Equation In Chapel

The Rev. Ross Wood, pastor of the McPherson Baptist Church, spoke in chapel March 12. He stated that the formula of life is T x S equals C, that is, Talent x Service equals True Christianity.

The women's quartet, who made their first chapel appearance since it was newly organized, sang two numbers.

Students Burn Midnight Oil

A heavy drain on the midnight oil supply has been taking place this week. In other words, nine-weeks tests are here.

Typical students reactions are: "Why do they all have to come at once?" "They're a poor excuse for a motivating force." "I wish the prof wouldn't discuss something entirely unrelated the last class period before the test, especially when we never have discussed the lesson all nine-weeks."

One teacher reaction perhaps not typical was, "I'm for more and harder nine-weeks tests. Students need some point to work from, and tests give that something."

Regardless of individual reactions to the ordeal, most people know that many new resolves will be made as a result.

GOD'S Living Letters

By Kirby Page

John Wesley lived in every decade of a century. He was born in 1703 and died in 1791. He was one of the best educated men of his time and the author of many books. Few evangelists in all the centuries have matched his eloquence and power over masses of people. He was gifted with genius as an organizer and the worldwide Methodist Church is his enduring monument.

He was an itinerant preacher and travelled incessantly throughout England, and forty-two times he crossed the Irish Channel. He travelled on horseback in a day when there were few good roads, in heat and cold, in rain and snow. It was late in his life when friends provided him with a coach to make easier his travels. For a full half-century he preached on the average of fifteen times per week. In all he travelled on land, 250,000 miles, most of it on the back of a horse, an average of thirteen miles every day for fifty years.

His output as a writer reached incredible proportions. He read several languages and searched the literature of the ages for material to be used in the Christian Library, a work of fifty volumes, which he published. Much reading was done while walking or riding on his horse. It has been well said that he "made a wider distribution of religious writings dealing with the inner life" than any other man in the previous history of the Church.

All this prodigious activity came from a man small in stature and frail in health. Sixty-nine times in his Journal he records attacks of sickness.

President Woodrow Wilson once paid this tribute: "The Church was dead and Wesley awakened it. He cleared and purified it by speaking always and everywhere the word of God; and men's spirits responded, leaped at the message and were made wholesome as they comprehended it."

Occupations Day Plans Begin; Date Is April 7

—Guy Hayes, S. M. Dell and Jack Kough—has plans under way for the 1952 Macallege Occupations Day which is to be held April 7.

As stated by the Committee, the purpose of this program is "to acquaint high school seniors and college students with the occupational and vocational opportunities that are available in present-day America."

Speakers will include business and professional men of McPherson and men who are working in the vocational field throughout Kansas.

More specific details will be announced later.

Girls Buy New Irons

There are irons in Arnold, and the girls ever proud!

Yes, the Arnold Hall girls got the irons they have been wanting for so long, on Tuesday of this week.

At a dorm meeting Monday evening the subject was brought up, and it was decided that Phyllis Bowman and Lorene Clark should purchase two irons the following day.

They are Sunbeam irons, and each girl in the dorm is paying 50 cents to the Treasurer, Martha Lucore, towards the cost of them, and if there is a surplus, this amount will be used for repairs later on.

The two irons will be used on 3rd and 4th floor, since an iron had been purchased at the first of the school year for 2nd floor.

I am convinced by my own experience, and by that of others, that if there is any one secret of success it lies in the ability to get the other persons' point of view and see things from his angle as well as from your own.—Henry Ford.

Thinking With The President

IT'S SPRING

Now that our prize winning blizzard has blown far away, spring has come. Even before the blizzard came a little crocus pushed its way through the buffalo sod of our back yard and set the whole yard singing with its broad, yellow, laughing smile. The willow buds are now pressing through. The green leaves are eager to stretch themselves in the Kansas breeze.

A week ago I saw some boys digging for fishing worms. Baseball gloves began to thump. One can hear the occasional crack of a bat when it meets the ball.

Eastern illies, baseball bats, green grass, baby lambs, hatching chickens, faraway looks in students' eyes as they glance out the windows; these are all signs of spring.

Spring is a time of growth. The old is being left behind. The new is being added.

Have I grown any during the last winter? Is there anything new in my life that wasn't there before springtime came? Is my spirit, and my soul bigger than it was before? Can I beautify myself during these months of spring?

If I grow, if the spirit of God can push new beauty into my smile and into my deeds, then I am young. Spring can do something for me. If I am like I was, if no changes can come about, then I am old.

Students, is spring doing anything for you? If it isn't, better check your pulse to see whether you are alive.

West Speaks Of Tithing To Campus Cell Group

Meeting with the college campus cell group, Rev. Guy West discussed "The Christian and his money." Using the Bible as a standard, 100 cents out of every dollar belongs to God. We, students as well as others, are stewards of that dollar. The Scripture of the New Testament teaches that man's attitude towards material things should be the same as towards spiritual things. Gandhi's Way Is Solution To Crisis

Speaking Sunday evening at the Church of the Brethren, Dr. Amrit Chakravarty challenged us to accept the way of Gandhi to help solve the problems of the world. Speaking on "India's Role in the East-West Power Conflict," Dr. Chakravarty said that the present world of discord is a challenge for us to delve deeper into present political institutions to find a way to universal peace. He said, "People are being made aware of each other, in many ways, by mutual anguish and hunger, both physical and hunger for freedom."

War and the exertion of physical force does not, and can not cure this hunger and anguish. The problem is to remove the causes. War does not do this! He said, "Over a million and a half of women and kids have been killed in Korea. There is a world of difference between intervention and intercession. Intervention uses force; intercession uses love and kindness." When asked if he thought that the conflict in Korea could have been prevented, he answered in the affirmative. Before the war started India had a chance to send teams to both sides, but failed to do so. Had they done so, a chain reaction of events might have started; that would have altered the course of events.

In upholding non-violence, the way of Gandhi, he cited the surrender of India by the British. India did not fight the British as British people, but their colonial system as an evil system. They could not fight individuals for both British and Indians were victims of the system.

Gandhi could not use force of war against the British. He used non-violence, the force of truth, the force of conscience, and the force of right. While he did not advocate the use of force; he did not advocate meek surrender either. He did teach non-cooperation. Gandhi told the British, "We do not hate you. We hate slavery, your system of colonial control." The British answered that they would leave as rulers, but were coming back as friends and business men. Today, in India, the British are more respected than they ever were before.

Dr. Chakravarty said, "In Asia, we are witnessing the uprising of countries for freedom. The desires and thoughts of common people are the same the world over. Mothers are thinking and working for their families; fathers are working to provide a living and fighting for the freedom to win that living."

He said that India and China are neighbors. They have lived side by side for a hundred years without a battle. India does not like some of the ways of China today, but she cannot denounce China for doing what she thinks is better and is right. To fight them would only push them deeper into those ways.

He said that Gandhi's greatest message was "do not fear to stick up for what you believe. But do not resort to guns to defend it—there is a better way non-violent force and love and kindness."

Advice To The Wise

"Do not worry about people not knowing you, but strive so that you may be worth knowing." —Confucius.

"It is man that makes truth great, and not truth that makes man great." —Confucius.

There is never a quarrel that cannot be settled when both parties repent, never a friendship that does not succeed when both parties are attracted toward one another; never a stroke of bad luck that can be avoided when both parties have lost their temper.

Talent grows strong through personal force; character becomes firm through the will.

Health Chart Display Is In Gymnasium

The School Health Education Class, under the direction of Miss Doris Copcock, has just completed a health chart project.

Each member of the class was instructed to make a health chart that would be attractive to elementary school children, and that could be used in an elementary school.

The charts will be on display in the Physical Education classroom for those who wish to see them.

Weapons Of Evil

Of all things, soldiers are instruments of evil. Hated by men. Therefore the religious man avoids them.

Soldiers are weapons of evil.

They are not the weapons of the gentleman.

The things of ill omen favor the right.

Letter To The Editor

I am a student. I go to college nine months out of twelve. Nine months I attend the church of my choice in the college church. Three months I attend the home church, if I work at home. To which church do I owe my loyalty? To the church that fostered me, or to the church that I attend the most? To which church should I give my money?

Bob Mays says that "The loyalty and money should go to the church that I attend the most. It is that church that more fully supplies my needs."

"A non-resident member is about the same as an inactive member as far as taking part in the church is concerned, and is to a degree a detriment to the church. If I am a member of a church I should help with the business of that church. This I can not do when I am 300 to 1,000 miles from the church.

If my letter is in the church that I attend the most, I can better fulfill my duties as a member of that church. I can attend its council meetings; I can function in its auxiliary groups. I will take an active interest in that church and feel more at home there. Nine chances out of ten I will not go back to the home church anyway.

But my local church may not like the idea of transferring my letter for four years, or I may not feel that I want to take my letter from the home church, in spite of all arguments. To solve the difficulty the church could issue a nine months letter, which would cause me to take an active interest in the college town church of my choice. I would be more willing to support it with my time, effort, and money.—M. R.

Met Broadcasts 'La Boheme'

Puccini's "La Boheme" will be broadcast by the Metropolitan Opera Company Saturday afternoon, March 15. The four-act opera has its setting in Paris about 1830.

Saturday's broadcast will be the sixteenth time "La Boheme" has been presented on the air in the 21 years of broadcasting by the Metropolitan Opera Company.

"Aida," with 19 network broadcasts, "Carmen," with 18, "Die Walküre," with 18, and "La Traviata," with 17, are the only operas performed over the air more times than "La Boheme."

"Opera News" for March 10 carries a 21-year summary of Metropolitan Opera on the Air and lists 74 operas broadcast in that time by the Metropolitan Opera Company.

The Defense Department defines small business as any plant that in itself and affiliates employs not more than 500. I have also heard it said that small businessman is one who just isn't big enough to maintain a representative in Washington.—Senator John Sparkman.

"Anointing Service" Is Metzler's Talk To Ministers

Dr. Burton Metzler, advisor of the Maccollege Student Minister organization, spoke to the group at its weekly meeting Tuesday, March 11, at 6:45 p.m.

Dr. Metzler's subject was "Administering the Anointing Service." A discussion followed the talk.

Opening the meeting officially was Bob Fryman, member of the Steering Committee.

The group decided to journey to the Moundridge Eden Mennonite Church Sunday, March 16, and let this replace next Tuesday's meeting.

For devotions Bob Powell read the New Testament, James 5:13-16, and Don Thralls offered the invocation.

The benediction was pronounced by Beryl McCann.

Those present at the meeting were: Bob Fryman, Walter Blough, Dick King, Karl Baldwin, Bob Powell, Beryl McCann, Don Thralls, Don Fike, and Don Ford.

26 Boys Report For Baseball Practice

"Spring training" has started for the Bulldog baseball squad. The trouble is that the schedule doesn't call for training down in the sunny southland. Instead, the 26 squad members are trying to get their arms in shape by playing catch in the gym. Until the weather takes a turn for the better, an observer will be able to notice the players swinging at imaginary balls and running for the red line at the middle of the floor that is supposed to represent second base.

Thirteen lettermen from last year's squad have reported for baseball this year. Of that number, five are seniors. Two of the five, Bill Moore and Bill Tolle, are pitchers. Last year Moore finished the season with a winning record of 10 wins and 1 loss. One of those wins was against Emporia State. Moore's greatest asset is his smoking fast ball. Bill Tolle saw service chiefly as a relief pitcher last year and will probably be used for that again this year.

"Chuckles" Petefish, another senior, should have a great season again this year if he can get his broken right hand to function properly when it comes out of the cast. Last year he hit .455 while playing shortstop for McPherson College. The other two senior lettermen are Loren Blickenstaff, who played outfield and hit .340 last year, and Don Stevens, who will be sharing duties with Eddie Ball behind the plate this year.

The two junior lettermen are Keith Rickner at outfield and Rolland Delay, who took over second base when it was necessary to move Earl Grindie to catcher.

Some sophomore made letters last year. They are: Wayne Blickenstaff, who played third, first, and pitched; Glenn Gayer, who pitched and played outfield; Eddie Ball, who caught until he broke his finger; Gene Smith, who played outfield; Dwight McSpadden, an infielder; and Tommy O'Dell, an infielder.

Two other sophomore squad members from last year, who didn't earn letters, are out this year. They are Don Hoch and Manly Draper.

Eleven people are out for the first time this year. Several of them will be strong candidates for regular positions this year. Jack Richardson and Joe Johns are two pitchers that Wally Sibley thinks will do him good this year. Richardson pitched for the town league here last summer, and Johns pitched high school ball for several years back in Pennsylvania. Two Iowa boys are among the freshman prospects that have a good chance to make the team this year. Vernon Petefish played two years of high school baseball for Cedar Rapids at first and in the outfield, and Dick Carter played summer ball for Ottumwa at first and in the outfield.

Others out this year are John Schrag, Bill Goering, Eugene Elrod, George Boyd, Ellis Powell, Max Snapi, and Stan McClung.

Coach Wally Sibley released Monday the schedule for the season. The college plans to play 13 games this year plus the possibility of a conference tournament. Eight of those games are at home. This year the team continues its reputation for playing the tough teams by scheduling two games each with Emporia State and Wichita University. Wichita's game opens the home season for the Bulldogs on Tuesday, April 1st. The schedule follows with H denoting home games.

"Gloved Guys" Defeat Varsity Gals In Basketball Battle Of The Sexes

Fur coats, fur caps, fuschia bows, diapers, and gloves identified the motley collection of boys who played the varsity girls in an "exciting" basketball game Tuesday night.

The easy-going boys defeated the hard-working girls to the tune of 33-29. At one time in the fourth quarter the score was tied, but the gals never managed to pull into the lead.

Working under disadvantage of girls and girls' rules, the "boobs" made a number of obvious errors. It did the girls good to see the boys step over the center line, dribble too many times, forget the two passes from the center, lay hands on the ball after the girl had possession, and stand inside the center circle.

Trying to match a bit of the abundant humor provided by the boys, the girls pulled a few tricks too. Dolores Sibley tried to appeal to the chivalry of Vernon Petefish by dropping a handkerchief and asking him to pick it up. As Petefish stared at the object trying to decide the proper thing to do, Dolores moved in and shot.

The boys were left dumbfounded when the girls tossed the ball to officials. Doris Coppock and Florine Hale to have them tossed in the basket.

On the Gloved Boys team were: Gene Erod, Bob Wilson, Dick King, Glendon Button, George Boyd, Vernon Petefish, Don Butler, and Lee Hogle.

Varsity girls playing were: Katie McLeod, Ann Powell, Marlene Gandy, Jo Baker, Rosena Merkey, Edna Lickman, Esther Mohr, and Dolores Sibley.

The girls must not have minded the defeat too much, for they allowed the boys to treat each of them to a Dairy Queen after the game was over.

College Inn vs. Rajahs

A grudge battle is going to be decided between Rajahs (winners of the Central League) and the College Inn (second place in the league). The College Inn seems to think that they are a better team than the Rajahs, so Earl Otis (owner of the College Inn) has promised that he will give to the winners a chicken dinner for all the players on the winning team.

This game will have no bearing on the standing.

College Prexes Discuss Athletic Programs

Kansas College presidents meet tomorrow at Sterling College to discuss further cooperative efforts between the different schools, and to discuss the total athletic program in relation to the colleges.

The latest innovation of the group has been the cooperative effort of 22 schools, both Protestant and Catholic, in preparing a booklet to be distributed to all Kansas high school seniors. Dr. D. W. Bittinger has acted as editor in preparing the booklet.
