Bulldogs Place Hopes At Stake In Last Home Game Tonight With Coyotes

Sid Smith's McPherson College Bulldogs' last glimmer of hope in at least winning a second place tie in the Kansas Conference race goes on stake tonight when the Bulldogs meet their long standing rivals, the Kansas Wesleyan University Coyotes from Salina, in a crucial game for both clubs.

Tonight's game, which is scheduled to begin at 8:00 p.m., at the High School gymnasium, will be the last home game for the Canines, and winning it might drop the Coyotes into a first place tie with the Ottawa Braves, and place the Bulldogs in second place in the conference.

The Conference race this year has been most unpredictable one, with any team in the conference, (except probably the Quaker team from Wichita), capable of upsetting the other.

So far in the race, the Coyotes from Salina are perched in first place in the run with a record of 8-2. Last Tuesday night, the Bulldogs lost their chance of at least a possible tie for first place when they surrendered to the Ottawa University Braves who are in the second place with a record of 7-3, the Bulldogs in third place have a record of 6-5.

Already this season, the Bulldogs have been able to down the first place Coyotes in a thriller played at the Coyotes' den at Salina. Although the Coyotes are favored to win this one, yet the Canines hold an advantage of playing on their own grounds in tonight's game.

The Coyote squad are several outstanding players and high scorers in the conference. The big question for tonight's game is "Will the Canines be able to check Gary Cassel's tremendous onslaught? Gary Cassel bagged 32 points against the Bulldogs when the two teams last met at Salina. Other outstanding players on the Coyote squad are Carroll Cyr and Dean Groves, both of whom are capable of piling up high points.

Sid Smith has been preparing his Bulldogs for this major battle, and lots of thrills are expected in tonight's game. The "B" teams of the two colleges will clash in a pre-game skirmish.

Next game on schedule for the Bulldogs will be played Monday, Feb. 22, at Wichita against the Fighting Quakers of Friends University, and on Thursday of next week, the team travels to Baker to wind up the season.

Dotzour Hall Has New Constitution

At a dormitory meeting that was held Feb. 11, in the college chapel, the Dotzour Hall girls adopted a new constitution.

Although patterned to a great extent after the old Arnold Hall constitution, two important changes were made. Replacing the old point system, the new method allows a total of thirty minutes a semester for any lateness after the designated dormitory hours or the hours stated on the late leave.

Campus rules were altered for various reasons, foremost being the effectiveness of the old rules. The rules governing campus will go into effect the weekend following the offense, the culmination of more than thirty minutes. Previously, a girl was campus for a week; however, she is now campus from 5:00 p.m. Friday until 8:00 a.m. Sunday.

During this time she may not have any dates, off-campus leaves, and may not attend school activities.

Any exceptions to the campus rules must be considered by the Executive Council composed of the following: President, Dorothy Nicholson, Vice-President, Ruth Peckover, Secretary, Ideal F. Treasuer, Shirley Hamilton, and two advisors, Miss Neiter and Miss Fee. Dotzour Hall housemother and Dean of Women, respectively.

Flory Undergoes Eye Operation

Prof. Raymond Flory, head of the History and Political Science Department at Maccollege, underwent an operation for a malignant tumor on the eye at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., on Feb. 22.

The first sign of the cancer occurred early in February when Prof. Flory noticed that he could no longer see objects above eye level. He immediately went to the University of Kansas Hospital, and was later sent to the KU Medical Center in Kansas City.

After medical authorities diagnosed his tunnel vision as cancer of the eye, he was sent to Mayo Clinic where he is now recuperating from the operation. Prof. Flory expects to resume his duties here in two or three weeks.

Prof. Flory has been working on his doctoral degree in history at Kansas University, while teaching history and political science subjects at Maccollege.

Raymond Flory

He has been driving to Macampus every Wednesday from Lone Star, near Lawrence, to teach his classes. He expects to finish his residence work by this summer.

Physicians said that Flory was in top physical shape and that no building up strength methods were needed. There was no pain experienced in discovering the malignant tumor, just the narrowing of eye's vision at the top.

Prof. Flory graduated from Maccollege in 1940. He came back in 1947 in the position he now has. He was originally from South English, Iowa. While at Maccollege in his student days, he participated in Players Club, A Cappella, and other campus activities.

He is a minister in the Church of the Brethren and has been pastor of Ottawa and Newton churches. He is presently pastor of the Lone Star Church of the Brethren. He is married and has three children, Lowell, Gary and Marlys.

While Prof. Flory is absent, his plate is being taken by Ken Brown, junior from Wichita, Kans., who majors in history and is an assistant to Prof. Flory.

Persons who know him well describe Flory as a strong and well-disciplined person.

A Cappella Makes Trip To Moundridge

February 12 marked the first out-of-town concert for the 1953-1954 A Cappella Choir. The choir left for Moundridge on Friday to sing in the high school there.

The program began with the choir's hymning its identification song, which is "Dedication." Other numbers on the program were "Oh Lord God," "Stand Up and Bless the Lord," "Ballad of Brotherhood," "The Lord's Prayer," "Row, Row, Row your Boat," "South Pacific," and "Ezekiel Saw da Wheel."

Pied Piper To Be Shown

"The Pied Piper" will be shown in Chapel tomorrow night at 7:30. This story has been widely heralded as an outstanding novel by a master story-teller.

Although its background is rather grim, the story of a quietly heroic man who shepherded a group of refugee children across France is crowded with human drama and high entertainment. Although this story is about war, it is said to take the mind off human conflict and bring out human kindness.

Neil Shute, the author, was a Lieutenant Commander in active service with the British Navy. He is also the author of Ordeal, Landfall, and other best sellers.

Spring Production Challenges Skill Of Scene Builders

The forthcoming play "Quality Street," has as the most unusual part of the scenery props, a huge nine-foot window showing Quality Street, a street in an English town during the Napoleonic wars.

A large blue and white room, which has the window with the street behind, is being built under the direction of Dean Neher, senior from Oswego, Kans. Also, an entirely different set is being built for another act, it being a dance pavilion. Quality Street is a play which requires a large amount of scenery props.

About 50 persons are working on the play, which is a large number for a school play. A group of 5th and 6th grade children will be played by children of the summer dramatics class sponsored by the City Recreation Commission, and taught by Usha Yoder, director of this comedy play.

Other children acting in "Quality Street," are played by LaFaugh Hubbard, Galen Slifer, Don Ullom, and Leonard Guering.

The play will be presented March 5, during the Regional Youth Conference. It will be given at the City Auditorium.

Were We Fair?

By Joan McElroy

It is no longer the question of whether the Dinkler Hall women will continue with the old Arnold point system or not. Thursday, Feb. 11, a new constitution was installed which stipulates that each girl has thirty late minutes a semester. This is in comparison with eight late hours a semester over in Arnold.

These late points were for an emergency, and it is certain that they were not always used for that purpose. Miss Neher unnecessarily lost hours of sleep because girls did not use their points to the right advantage.

There was quite a bit of opposition to the part of the constitution that thought it was too drastic a change from what they have been accustomed. Others thought that in case of emergency, only thirty minutes would be sufficient.

The seconds ticked on, the minutes, and the hours. The girls were getting sleepy and restless. They were tired of all the argument and discussion.

Finally it was put to vote. It is a fact that some girls voted for the constitution in its entirety simply because they were tired, 14 was well past eleven. Others looked around to see how her neighbor voted and then voted likewise.

Were we democratic? Should we have voted by ballot? Should we have voted during the day, when time would not have been as precious?

You be the judge.

A Challenge . . .

The greatest challenge on the part of the American college student of today is to further thought and action towards the building of a firm foundation for peace.

In working for this foundation, religious as well as intellectual aspects of the problem must pervade one's thinking. Our first total objective is to make people realize the obsoleteness of war in modern society as a means of settling differences.

The problem of war has been made larger in recent times by the advent of tremendous advances in scientific warfare, each nation stocking up this potential to back up its own particular national ideas.

Ever since the nation-state system has risen over 500 years, countries have dealt with each other with the traditional Machiavellian methods, each nation considering itself the "best."

Student Ministers Meet At Dr. Metzler's Home

The Student Ministers organization will hold its regular meeting next Wednesday evening, Feb. 24, at 7 o'clock.

C. Ernest Davis and Harold Row will lead a discussion. The meeting will be held at the home of Dr. Burton Metzler, head of the Philosophy and Religion Department at Maccollege.

When thoughtful persons stop to realize the antiquity of man's contemporary statecraft as compared with society's mighty technological advances, we can readily see the need for paralleling our advances in science with an adequate type of world government.

I see the fundamental weakness of our world society today in its old, inadequate, and dangerous non-state system.

College students of today, representing the new ideas of the atomic era, must accept the challenge to build a strong and peaceful world. We can do this by supporting the "One World" idea and helping to expand its potential through world Peace conferences, such as the one planned for this weekend on Maccampus will stimulate and provoke thought on this vital subject. Let us, as mature young people, take up the challenge.

Music Recital Will Be Held Feb. 26 In Chapel

The Music Department of McPherson College will present a student recital on Friday evening, Feb. 26, in the college chapel.

The program will feature vocal soloists, pianists, organists, and other instrumentalists. The program is being arranged by Prof. Donald Frederick.

Thinking With The President

The Faculty-Student Formal

The other night the faculty put on a formal party for the students. We were delighted that so many came. You looked beautiful with your lovely gowns and evening dress in the candlelight. You were well-behaved—real ladies and gentlemen. We were proud of you.

We had a good time putting on the party. We always feel somewhat embarrassed to try to put on a party for fine young people like you; we are afraid maybe we are too old. Maybe we don't know your language anymore. Maybe we don't know what you like. But we did.

Many of you still look like us, pie out of our time trying to entertain a modern generation. But we had a good time trying to turn back the clock and be young again.

We hope you had a good time. When you applauded and seemed to appreciate our singing and acting, we felt good.

We do like to serve you. We want to serve you, not only at an occasional party, but every day on the campus, in the classrooms, the church, in our homes. We think you are important. We would like to see you preparing yourselves to do a better job of world-building and brotherhood building and equalization of opportunity and service around the world than we have done. We feel that if you do better than we, then part of our purpose in serving you will have been achieved. If you do more poorly than we, then we may be at fault. We feel that our work is important because you are important.

Very soon you will sit where we sit. We will no longer be here. But we shall leave this place and work to you with confidence that you will advance it and leave it to those who shall, in their turn, come after you.

It is fun to think that you and your together are moving forward in a common progression to an ever higher goal.

It is fun to be alive, reaching for that goal, no matter whether you are old or young.

Student Ministers Speak . . .

Peace Through Discontentment

By Fred Cline

Last year when I was studying anthropology it occurred to me that the seeking of peace and contentment has always been one of man's main objectives.

In our time too, much peace and contentment can be one of humanity's greatest dangers. In our society one way of gaining popularity is by using the psychology of selling people perfect peace. Advertisements continually lure us with their seductive wares that stress ease and contentment if you purchase.

The result is that a lot of us are getting too large a dose.

We have seen that college students are a select group, and certainly we would all agree that we are a privileged group. These facts alone should be enough to cause us "not to be satisfied with being mediocre."

Can people who are supposed to be the cream of the crop be content with so much unhappiness, crime, and discontentment about them?

When one studies the careers of Old and New Testament characters, one is not struck with their peace, but with their discontentment of existing conditions.

True peace and contentment lie on the other side of struggle. We cannot have Easter without Good Friday, or the Resurrection without the Cross.

As intelligent young people we should not allow ourselves to seek peace and contentment as an end in itself. We should all seek it through a noble endeavor to relieve conditions of discontentment.

Snap, snap went the scissors. What was cut was not paper nor fabric but hair. "He's going to hate me for this," was Miss Brooks' new comment. Darien, Treloar went further and had her long locks snapped off all the way around.

One of the Feminist English assignments took a good deal of creative concentration this last week. Many of the rough drafts were well doodled before the assignment was completed. Some of the doodling revealed interesting subconscious minds.

An army of blue suits and yellow ties descended on the gym, camouflaged as "Cafe De La Coeur" last weekend. Most of the fellows came up with the same color harmony.

The secrete and pleasant undercurrent of watchful excitement of Heart Sister Week ended last night. Some guesses were right and some were as wrong as wrong could be.

Fast-speaking Bob Wise and "The Snozzle," Royer talked fast and furiously against their opponents on the affirmative, long-winded Eula Mae Murray and Dean Neher in the debate on prohibiting the sale of packaged liquor in McPherson at C.B.Y.F. last Sunday. The referee-clad time keeper tried his best, but Eula Mae is hard to stop when she gets going.

The phrase "Go soak your head" was changed to "Go soak your foot" when one of the girls on second floor twisted her ankle and began living with one foot in hot water in the bathtub.

Faculty and student eyebrows shot upward the other morning when Dr. Hess appeared to be late for faculty meeting. However, Dr. Hess was busy giving a test at that time.

Miss Lehman received a Christmas present the other day, and it was not canned peas, either. This was from some relatives who had expected her for a Christmas visit and were disappointed.

Annual Booster Banquet Set For April Second

The traditional Booster Banquet has been scheduled for April 2. This is annually put on by McPherson College. It is an opportunity for the town to "show its appreciation to those who support the college."

Roe Leibman, lecturer from Kansas City, will be the speaker at the Booster Banquet.

Kough's Visit On Macampus

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kough, members of the Maccollege faculty, visited on Macampus last weekend. Mr. Kough is now on a temporary leave of absence at the University of Chicago.

The main purpose of the trip was to visit on Macampus and to assist in making plans for the forthcoming Booster Banquet.

Jack Kough is a psychology instructor; his position is being filled by Max McAuley. Arlene Kough was Home Economics instructor.

Jack Kough

The Koughs are living in Quincy, Ill., where he is associated with the faculty of the Univ. of Chicago doing youth work there securing leadership. This work is being done towards his Doctorate degree.

The Koughs attended the "Cafe de la Coeur," and started back to Quincy, Ill., on Sunday.

SS Deferment Test Deadline Is March 8

All eligible students who intend to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test in 1954 should file applications at once for the April 22 administration, Selective Service National Headquarters advised recently.

An application and a bulletin of information may be obtained at any Selective Service local board. Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application immediately and mail it in the special envelope provided. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, March 8, 1954. Early filing will be greatly to the student's advantage.

Results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student, according to Educational Testing Service, which gives this deferment test.

Coming together is a beginning; keeping together is progress; working together is success.

Surprise parties are getting to be quite popular on Mac campus. Last Monday night a surprise birthday party was given for Don Vaughan. Those attending the party were: Donna Schreck and Rosalie Sains, Clifford Reeves and Lois Rolfs, Gary Button and Esther Ichaberry, Marilee Grove and Max McAuley, Kathy Hamm and Don Colby, Charles Petty and Liz Swinger, George Grove and Marlene Evans, and Merle Rolfs and Louise Postier. Don is new on the campus this semester and is living in Arnold Hall. If you don't know who he is, watch for him on the basketball floor during the "B" games. He will be wearing number 32.

Dr. Bittinger was in Wichita Sunday speaking at the Church of the Brethren there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ikenberry and Bobby Lee were down from Manhattan Sunday visiting Mrs. Ichaberry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Dell.

Bea Grone went home to Davenport, Nebr., over the weekend. She stood up at the wedding of one of her girl friends while home.

Shirley and Lois Knackstedt also spent the weekend at home visiting with their family and friends.

Tommy Taylor, Dwight McSpadden, and Don Hoch were in Manhattan last weekend. They went to the K-State, Iowa State game while there. Jerry Goering rode along with them and visited with friends. Jerry went to K-State last semester.

Dotzour Hall adopted its constitution last Thursday night. There have been several changes made from the ones used in Arnold and Kling. The girls will be campused for Friday night and Saturday and Saturday night instead of a week, and one-half hour a semester to be late is the limit instead of eight hours as was in the former constitution.

Heart Sisters plotted and searched. Suckers were common gifts. Some of the notes that were trailed led to such places as the "M" file in the library, the refrigerator, the storage room and beside the automatic dryer.

The Annual Heart Sister week has come and gone once again. Many little exciting and clever gifts were exchanged among the girls during the last week. The week was ended by a party Thursday night when each girl received a gift from her heart sister with her name on it revealing who she was. The party was held in the church parlor.

Nancy Keim and Marian McEntain spent the weekend visiting with Nancy's grandparents in Salina.

Lucille Weaver was in Keota, Iowa, over the weekend where she visited with her family and friends.

Ruth Grossnickle's folks surprised her Saturday night. They came down to visit her from their home in Laurens, Iowa.

Peggy Sargent, who is in BVS in Kassel, Germany, is now living with her German family. She works in the Kassel office from eight to four and spends most of her free time with her German family. Donna Sooby who is also in BVS in Kassel has not been assigned to her German family as yet.

Paul Spohn, who attended Mac last year, was home on leave from the army last week. He left Feb. 17 for Camp Stoneman, where he will eventually get shipped to Japan or Alaska.

Carol Crichton was here over the weekend visiting Shirley Hamilton. Carol played her violin as a part of the program at the Cafe de la Coeur. She also gave a violin recital Sunday afternoon at the church. Jack and Arlene Kough and their little daughter were here last weekend. Jack and Arlene are both former profs here at Mac.

Shirley Deardorff and Alice Hagan were in Topeka over the weekend visiting Margie Kendall. Margie attended Mac college last year.

Ariene Merkey was in Lawrence, Kan., last weekend. She visited with her sister and brother-in-law.

Rowens and Bob Wilson. She also attended the WAA meeting in Lawrence.

Cafe de la Coeur is said to have been one of the most delightful events on Mac college campus for a long time. The entertainment and everything that went with it was tops, making it a very enjoyable evening for all who went.

There are probably two people who will never forget that evening and they are Alberto Ebbert and Ronnie Grosbach, because this was the evening for the announcement of their engagement.

Students Show Large Interest In Woodworking

Prof. S. M. Dell is instructing the largest woodworking section he can remember. Definitely this class has the most girls ever.

Usually the lab periods are confined to the afternoons, but this year a Monday morning lab is being run to avoid confusion.

Coffee tables, end tables, lamps, chairs, and other pieces of furniture are being made from such woods as walnut, oak, cherry, mahogany, and Korina. The latter is a new African blond wood. The native wood name is Elimba, but this wasn't romantic enough sounding for some people, so the name was changed to Korina.

One large project is six dining chairs to be covered with nylon plastic on the seats and backs. George Boyd is working on this. Bob Peel is concentrating on dinette chairs.

Dwight Blough has a combination cabinet bed on way to completion. Jack Harter has just finished a double cherry dresser and has turned his attention now to a bed to match.

Some of the students are starting on study desks. Don Hoch is working on a coffee table which includes a drawer in its design. Howard Todd is spending his time on an oatey buffet.

The beginning project in woodworking is a guest book. Ida Zunkle has finished a book case. Lu Carpenter has a dressing table in Korina almost finished. Some of the students have made some attractive lamps.

Alberto Ebbert did his first turning on the lathe in turning out the legs of her coffee table the other day.

Every M Club fellow works on his birdseye maple M Club paddle. Most of them think about the beauty of it and not the hardness.

Assistants to Professor Dell in his woodworking classes are William Pulliam, sophomore from Bushton, Kan., and Kenneth Wahl, sophomore from Elmo, Kan.

Four members of the faculty are shown indulging in a rare bit of frivolity at the recent "Cafe de la Coeur." Shown here are Della Lehman and Glee Yoder. The two veiled women of the faculty are Edna Neher and Betty Lou Hershberger. They are doing "Overtones," a skit which displays the true feelings of two women as against their artificial social niceties.

Cafe de la Coeur' Has Large Crowd

Last Saturday night 240 Macalester students gathered in the candlelight of Cafe de la Coeur. Reports showed that more students attended than all-school event than several other previous occasions.

Alberto Ebbert and Ronald Grosbach were the stars of the show. Alberto is a freshman at Macalester. He spent several years in the gymnasium prior to his enrollment here. Alberto is a junior majoring in home economics.

No date has been set for the wedding.

The scene of the gym was built to represent a French sidewalk cafe. The cafe was enfringed with a cast of red lighting. A stage was built on the north side of the gym and was decorated with plants.

The cafe featured Miss Carol Crichton, from the University of Wichita as a guest performer. She played a violin duet with Prof. Paul Sollenberger and also several solo numbers. One of the violin solos was "Banjo and Fiddle." Harry K. Zeller acted as master of ceremonies.

Dr. Olson, Glenn Swinger, Coach Sid Smith, and Prof. Burkholder illustrated how women play cards.

Dr. Wesley DeCoursey sang a solo accompanyed at the piano by Miss Ann Krebsiel. The singing waiters also gave several selections of songs.

The waiters were Professors Williams, Hershberger, McAlester, Frederick, Sollenberger, Wareham, Dr.

DeCoursey, and Gordon R. Voder.

Miss Doris Coppock sang "I Can't Help Loving That Man." She was introduced as a torch singer. If anyone does not know what a torch singer is they will have to see Miss Coppock. Mrs. Glenn Swinger played several piano selections. A dramatic presentation called "Overtones," was given by Miss Della Lehman, Miss Edna Neher, Betty Lou Hershberger, and Mrs. Glee Yoder.

The committee members in charge were Prof. Max Mohler,

Glenn Swinger, and Miss Stroh May Vanell. Art work was done under the direction of Prof. E. S. Hershberger and Miss Betty Hershberger.

Bulldogs Dump Bethel 70-62, Move Into Third

McPherson College Bulldogs moved into third place in Kansas Conference league standings last Friday night, in a thrilling game held at the High School gymnasium.

The game was a "do or die" affair for the Bulldogs, when they dumped the Bethel College Graymaroons 70-62, who were then in a four-way, fourth-place deadlock. The game left the Canines with a 6-4 record in conference games.

The Bulldogs were able to hold down Bethel's scoring ace and center, Arlie Loeffler, to a meager three points throughout the game. Arlie's only basket in the game came halfway through the final period shortly before he fouled out of the game. Harms was really harmful to the Bulldogs as he poured in 18 points for his team.

High scorer for the night's game was McPherson's Jitterbug, Tommy O'Dell, who racked up 21 points from seven field goals and seven free throws.

The Bulldogs hit their highest percentage at 56% in the first half, but dropped woefully to 26% in the second period. The best that Bethel could do for the night was 26 percent.

The Bulldogs led early in the game, and for a while it looked like they might have an easy win. But soon, the Maroons came to life, and the going got a bit rougher. The Bulldogs led at the end of the first quarter by a score of 23-26.

The most thrilling moments of the night's game came with 2 minutes to go in the second quarter, when the Graymaroons tied up the score at 33-33. The remaining two minutes in that quarter were full of action. The lead changed hands five times, and was the only time the Maroons had a point advantage over the Bulldogs.

Gene Smith's basket and "Digger" O'Dell's free throw in the closing seconds of the first half gave the Bulldogs the three point advantage they held at the half at 42-39, and put the Canines ahead through the remainder of the game. McPherson:

Girls Lose To Central By One Point

By Marilyn Metzker

Plenty of action was seen on the court at Central College Tuesday afternoon when the Mac girls competed against the Central girls. This was the first game played this year between the two teams. The previous game between McPherson and Central was cancelled.

Because of limited time, five-minute quarters were played.

The Central six kept a slight edge on points most of the game. At the end of the first half, Central controlled the game with a nine-point lead.

The third quarter showed that the distance between points had narrowed with a resulting 20-16 score. Near the end of the fourth quarter, Central with a one point advantage held on to the ball long enough to keep Mac from scoring another basket.

The Central girls grabbed the game with a 25-24 victory.

Koffman of Central held the scoring honors of the game with 13 points. Dolores Siges was next highest with 10 points.

Bulldogs Give In To Ottawa, 70-56

Ottawa University Braves, in their bid for a possible tie for first place in the Kansas Conference circuit, trounced the McPherson College Bulldogs 70-56 in a game played at Ottawa last Tuesday night.

The Braves outscored the Bulldogs, and got most of the rebounds. They took the initial lead early in the game, but the Bulldogs were always close to them throughout the first, second, and third quarter.

At the end of the first half, the Braves had a five point lead over the Bulldogs at 18-13. The second quarter was full of action, and it was not until the last seconds of the quarter that the Braves resumed their lead.

It was during this quarter that the Bulldogs closed in on the Braves, and took over the lead as a result of Glenn Gayer's field goal, quickly followed by Gene Smith's beautiful lay-up, with 3 minutes left in the quarter. The lead changed hands four times, and the Braves snatched the lead from the Bulldogs for good in the final second of the quarter, to lead at 31-30.

At the end of the third quarter, the score was 45-42 in favor of the Braves, and the final score was 70-56.

Ottawa's Kahler led the scoring with 29 points from 12 field goals and 5 free throws. Ottawa's scoring ace, Dale Majors, was limited to 9 points.

For the Bulldogs, it was Glenn Gayer with 13 points, followed by Tommy O'Dell with 12.

Trampoline Added To Gym Equipment

The gym has been the center of much activity recently. The reason is that a trampoline has been added to the list of physical education equipment.

Anyone may use it, providing one member of the physical education department faculty is supervising.

The trampoline provides good exercise and entertainment for all. It teaches coordination, balance, and breath control. Those who are interested in improving their diving techniques during the winter months, should do well to practice on the trampoline.

Two women's groups, the Pep Club and the W.A.A., are splitting the cost, making it a two-year project. The approximate cost of the trampoline is four hundred dollars.

The Choir has made over 125 orchestral appearances in 12 years with major symphony orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Orchestra, and NBC Symphony. The choir sang in the film, "Hymn of the Nations," under Toscanini's direction.

A special bus from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln will be here and reservations already have been made for that group. Another group from Arkansas City has made arrangements for a special bus here for the concert.
