82 Seniors Receive Diplomas At May 31 Commencement

Eighty-two graduating Macollege seniors will hear Dr. Paul Harnly, noted midwestern secondary school educator, deliver the main address for the 66th annual commencement exercises on Monday morning, May 31, at 9:45 in the College Church of the Brethren. "Educate for Community Cooperation" is the graduation theme.

Dr. Harnly, who is Assistant Superintendent in charge of Secondary Education, Wichita Public Schools, will speak on "The Power of Ideas." He will receive an honorary LL. D degree from McPherson College at the exercises, and will be presented by Dr. R. E. Mohler, retired head of the Macollege Biology Department.

Prof. Raymond Flory, dean of students, will deliver the invocation. The College Student Ministers Quartet composed of Karl Balder, Kenneth Evans, Don Thralls, and Walter Blough and the College Ladies' Trio, composed of LaFugh Hubbard, Dorothy Nicholson, and Mary E. Swinger, will render several numbers. The College Stringed Ensemble under the direction of Prof. Paul V. Sollenberger will present "Melodie" by Reynard. Miss Anne Krehbiel, pianist, will give a solo; and Mrs. Audrey San Romani, organist, will play the processional and recessional.

President of the College, Dr. D. W. Bittinger, will announce the special honors of graduates, and Dean James M. Berkebile and Registrar Alice Marlin will present the candidates for graduation.

Candidates to receive the Bachelor of Arts degree are Alvin Anderson, Walter H. Blough, Maxine Brunzell, Cletus Cary, Fred Cline, Ida Cook, Shirley Coppock, Modena Crumpacker, Elsa Kurtz Edmonds, Maxine Hanley, Susan Harms, Mildred Hicks, Arlille Hudson, Elsie Kindley Hall, Phyllis Kingery, Ruben Krehbiel, Jack Mason, Jerry McConkey (in absentia).

Shull Edits Spec Next Semester

Hard-working Macollege Freshman Irene Shull, from Colo. Iowa will take over as Editor-in-Chief of the Spectator next fall. Irene has worked her way up in journalistic ranks to become one of the few students to edit the Spec in the sophomore year. With this issue she has finished her term as managing editor.

Next in line for the Editorship is Don Faules, sophomore from Haxtun, Colo., who finishes his term as Campus Editor today. Intending to major in Home Economics, Irene is planning to work in journalism after her graduation from Macollege. She goes under the pen-name of "The Cub." Don intends to take post-graduate work in journalism after he finishes at Mac. He will serve as managing Editor next semester. A new Campus Editor has not yet been selected.

Poet To Appear At Workshop Here

Miss Geraldine Feighny, Kansas poet and teacher in Norton, Kansas, will be a guest lecturer for the Contemporary Poetry workshop June 1-5. Miss Della Lehman is Director of the workshop.

Miss Feighny won first place in the free verse division of the Kansas Authors Club contest for 1953 with a poem, "Leading the Young." In 1952 her poem, "The Poet," won honorable mention in the contest. She also won honorable mention in the 1953 contest for the poem, "Who Seeks the Sun."

During the workshop Miss Feighny will lecture on Edgar Lee Masters and Sara Teasdale and will give some experiences in amateur writing and publishing. For her master's thesis at the University of Kansas, Miss Feighny chose "Idealism in the Works of Edgar Lee Masters."

Twentieth century poetry in Great Britain and America will be studied in the workshop through reading, discussions, lectures, and interpretation recitals by the leaders.

The Contemporary Poetry workshop is the second in a series of three contemporary literature workshops which Miss Lehman has planned. In 1953 the workshop was on contemporary drama. The workshop planned for 1955 will cover contemporary prose.

Geraldine Feighny

Registration for the workshop will be at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, June 1. Enrollment may be for either credit or non-credit work. Either an examination or an approved project will be due on Saturday, June 5, if the workshop is taken for credit. Tuition for the workshop is $15.

CONCERT BAND will present their annual spring concert this evening in the college chapel at 7:30 p. m. The twenty member group is directed by Prof. Paul Sollenberger.

Seniors Given Tropical Magic

The Macollege seniors were guests of the senior class last evening at the traditional junior-senior banquet which was held at 6:30 in the social rooms of the Church of the Brethren.

Tropical Magic reigned last night. The banquet program included seven Hawaiian acts. The singing trio of Kathy Albin, Donna Berry, and Connie Brooks performed; there was a chorus line of junior fellows; Martha Switzer played her marimba and Darius and Ronnie Miller played their string instruments.

Others on the program were: Leon Albert and Lu Carpenter, Joyce Wall and Velva Wagener.

Head of the decoration committee for this tropical night was Betty Moore. The junior class officers: Kenny Brown, Al Blocher, Ruth Strickler, and Kathy Ball were responsible for the program. The women of the church served the meal. Fourteen sophomores served.

SUR Is Scene Of Roman Feast By History Class

The Roman world of yesterday was brought back on Macampus Wednesday as Prof. Raymond Flory's Roman History class prepared a Roman feast, complete with couches, togas, white-robed slaves, bowls of grapes and even a Mark Anthony "Tommy O'Dell," all in the SUR.

The meal was prepared by the girls of the class in the Dog House. Entertainment and feasting were the main diversions, as head coach Flory directed the proceedings.

Summer School Begins June 7

The 1954 Macollege summer session will begin on Monday, June 7, at which time enrollment will be taken.

Classes will convene on Tuesday, June 8, and the session will end at noon, Friday, July 30.

Kline Hall will be the only dormitory open for the session. Special meals can be obtained from Out's College Inn. Persons desiring information on rooming facilities are urged to see Gordon Yoder, business manager.

Tuition for the regular courses will be $11; an incidental fee which covers library and student activities will be $4. Matriculation fee is $5. Rooming charge will be $3 a week. Maximum load for the regular summer school session is nine hours.

Stadium Builders Are In Process Of Pouring Foundations

Actual construction of the new concrete stadium began last week after several crews of Macollege students tore down the old stadium in 2 1/2 afternoons.

Harold Johnson, superintendent of the project says that the work schedule of building operations will be subject to the arrival of essential materials, such as steel rafters and special parts of the stadium.

This week the workers have been in the process of pouring foundations for the new structure. Wood from the old stadium has been hauled away, leaving only foundation diggings which has been roughed out in the last few days.

Annual Spring Concert Is Tonight In Chapel

The Macollege Concert Band under the direction of Prof. Paul Sollenberger will present its annual spring concert tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the chapel.

Numbers on the program will include the "Foolflitter March" by Henry Filmore, "Carnival of Roses Overture," by Olivadotti, "All Glory Be to God on High" by Bach, "Prayer and Dream Fantomine" from Hansel and Gretel by Humperdinck. This number is taken from Act I, scene II.

It is the picture of Hansel and Gretel lost in the woods, who kneel down at nightfall, say their prayers, and fall asleep. Suddenly through the evening mist breaks a light—a staircase is seen, down which Angels come to protect the children.

Also on the program will be "Mancho-Poco" by Donald Moore.

American Family Workshop Is June 1 To 5

D. W. Bittinger, president of Macollege, will be the director of an American Family Workshop to be held on campus from June 1 to 5.

The workshop will cost $15 and is available for credit or non-credit. The course will undertake to look briefly at the family in America, its achievements, its problems, and its needs. The course will attempt to follow the interests and needs of those who enroll.

Part of the emphasis will be upon the strengthening of the individual family, its orientation in the community. Reading, discussion, films, and reports will be the methods of developing the study.

One hour of credit may be obtained from the course.

Travel, Teaching Are Summer Pastimes For Faculty Members

McPherson College faculty members will be scattered this summer. Although many will be teaching in summer school here on campus, others will be traveling. Those instructors who will remain to teach in the summer session are: Dr. Kenneth Bechtel, Dr. Wesley DeCoursey, Dr. Mary Fee, Prof. Max McAuley, Dr. Burton Metzler, Dr. O. A. Olson, Mrs. San Roman, and Miss Sarah May Vancil.

Dr. Maurice Hess is departing from the campus, immediately after administering his freshman English test, to attend the fortieth reunion of his class.

Miss Della Lehman will conduct a workshop here and then go to La Verne College, La Verne, Calif., to teach in summer school there. She will travel in her new shrimp-colored 1954 Nash.

Prof. Frederick will be giving music lessons in conjunction with a local music store. Doris Coppock will spend her summer at the University of Iowa where she will graduate with her Masters degree in August.

Betty Lou Hersberger will be attending camps, schools, and confer-selections from the opera "Porgy and Bess" by Gershwin including "Summertime," "A Women is a Sometimes Thing," "Bess you are My Woman," "Picnic Parade," "O Lawd I'm on my Way," "Song of the Bayou."

Other numbers include selections from the production "Carousel," "Mr. Soow," "If I Loved You," "June is Bustin' Out All Over," "What's the Use of Wandin'," "A Real Nice Calmbake," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "The Way You Look Tonight," from the production "In Springtime," by Jerome Kern.

Assisting on the program will be the string ensemble also directed by Prof. Sollenberger, playing the following numbers: "Pralidium" and "Sonata" by Samecnik, "Pizzacata Gavote," by Pache, "I'll See You Again," by Coward, and "When Day Is Done," by Hatcher.

"Our Town" Is Read

"Our Town," a play by Thornton Wilder, was presented in the Macollege chapel, Wednesday evening, May 19, by the Literary Interpretations group, under the direction of Miss Della Lehman.

Max Parnley was stage manager, the one who keeps the plot established. Emily Webb and George Gibbs, the two characters in the play who fall in love, marry, and eventually are separated by death, were played by Lois Stinnett and Leonard Goering.

The parts of Mr. and Mrs. Webb, parents of Emily were read by Margaret Baile and Miss Lehman. Parents of George were Donna Ford and Art Benson.

Velva Wagner read various small parts, such as the paper boy, the milkman, Mrs. Soames, and other neighbors.

The entire Literary Interpretations class played some part in the play; this was one of several projects on which they have worked during the semester.

STUDENT MINISTER Quartet will sing at Commencement ceremonies to be held May 31. Shown here are Karl Balder, Kenny Evans, Don Thralls and Walter Blough.

Thousands Jam McPherson For All-Schools Parade

A crowd variously estimated at between 35,000 and 45,000 persons jammed the town of McPherson last week for the county's 41st annual All-Schools Day, an affair which honors graduates from all schools in McPherson County. Main attraction of the day was the big parade held in the morning.

Winning the grand prize at the 41st All-Schools Day of the McPherson County, was the Santa Fe School's float, a huge windmill with the girls riding it dressed as sunflowers. The survey with the fringe on top and the hollyhocks growing all around it, entered by the Business and Professional Women's Club of McPherson was judged runner-up for the grand prize.

The Macollege float was built by the sophomore class, as is the custom. Lewis McKellip was chairman of the committee.

In all, there were 23 rural school floats, 11 from organizations in McPherson, two college floats, 14 decorated bicycles, seven pets, 14 junior floats, and 23 comic entries in the parade which took place

Friday, May 14. The theme of this year's festivities was the Kansas Territorial Centennial. Following the parade, people went to the carnival, an annual All-Schools Day entertainment feature, or to this year's special Centennial feature, a Wild West rodeo, held at the 4-H grounds.

The traditional May Fete was held Thursday night, May 13 and also on Friday morning at Lakeside Park. Queen of May, Miss Virginia Schmidt of McPherson High school, was crowned; as Janice Loocke, maid of honor, James Hersberger, Prince Charming, and attendants and flower girls from many of the surrounding towns in the county, looked on.

The Fete included several chorus lines, vocal music, and the customary winding of the May Pole. Colorful costumes and decorations, particularly of the Kansas state colors, blue and gold, were used to a great extent both in the May Day Fete and the parade.

Thanks!

The end of another school year is almost upon us. With this the last issue of the Spectator for this semester, we the staff of this publication, want to thank those who have helped us and bared with us through the trying situations involved in putting out a newspaper.

The staff fully hopes that the student body has enjoyed reading the "Spec" as much as we have enjoyed bringing it to you. Perhaps the greatest rewards we have experienced is watching your faces peering through the depths of our journalistic madness each Friday at noon.

We hope that you have enjoyed the antics of our little collegiate clown, Arnold. Sometimes we have found his disgusted expression of "ish" rather appropriate to our feelings about meeting our deadlines.

Student Ministers Speak . . .

A Faith For Tomorrow

By George Thom

In these days of swift change and catastrophic events, the eyes of the thoughtful men turn from the present to the unknown future. What does it hold for them, their families, their friends, and their world?

Behind the dark veil that separates today from tomorrow, may lie strange new forces, treacherous tides, enumerable hidden dangers and new fogs of human life and happiness. These are the uncertainties of life.

The man of today, like his primitive ancestor, peers anxiously, even fearfully, into the future and tries to solve its mysteries, but to no avail. He is unable to see beyond tomorrow through the darkness of eternity.

Yet man has risen from his primitive degradation through all the difficulties and dangers of the evolving years to his present civilized state. He has met the beasts of the forest, the disease of the jungle the pangs of hunger and the sting of the cold—and has survived.

He has survived and become preeminent in the world today because he possessed a faith in himself and his race and a faith greater than a greater tomorrow was just around the corner.

This is the golden thread that runs through the history of man's evolution from his primitive animal nature to his present state of political, social, cultural and religious excellence. This is the answer to all the mysteries and uncertainties of life.

It is the faith that tomorrow will be better than today that has led man into his eternal tomorrow.

A Great Year . . .

It's been a great year for most of us. We've enjoyed the manifold blessings that only a church-related college like ours can give.

Material blessings have been ours—a beautiful and spectacular women's dormitory, and the start of a stadium destined to vitalize the college's athletic program.

We have enjoyed the blessings of companionship from our friends, sharing the joyful days which make our college years the best in one's life. The social and extra-curricular activities have rounded off this year in a great way.

We have experienced spiritual and scholastic blessings, blessings enhanced by the presence of many fine intellectual and religious leaders.

For the seniors we can particularly look to, and proudly say that they are the culmination of all that McPherson College seeks to instill in an individual. They are, in essence, the finished product. With these thoughts in mind, and as this eventful year draws to a close, we say goodbye seniors, we have to see you go, but we wish you all of the best. — W. L.

Thinking With The President

Commencement

Across our nation in our colleges and universities we are moving rapidly into a ceremony which we call commencement.

At first glance it would seem that commencement is the wrong name; the school year is about over. The seniors who have labored faithfully and well for four years are about to conclude their efforts. Graduation from college comes at the conclusion of at least 16 years of continuous education.

It would seem, therefore, that a better name than commencement might be secured, such as, completion or finishment.

The name is the right one, however. The more one thinks about it the more he is convinced that his culmination of long educational achievement should be called commencement.

It is the commencement of what? 1. It is the commencement of a larger and more significant responsibility. Graduates go from the rather secluded life of the college or university which has sometimes been referred to as "life within the Ived Halls," into a rigorously industrial kind of competition.

There has been competition in college, but always there have been sympathetic counselors and teachers trying to help at every turn. Now it is the commencement of the kind of competition that says sink or swim, live or die.

In this larger responsibility the graduate should find a place to make a contribution in the total life of his community, state, nation, world. Instead of only getting something out of it he should put something into it. He should definitely become part of the civic affairs of his community, seeking to strengthen them and benefit them. He should also enter into the church activities, letting himself be counted on the side of right and progress.

2. It is the commencement of a life's work. Up to now a graduate likely has been spending most of his time getting ready to enter into a life of teaching, farming, industry, or the professions. Now more specifically he enters into it. It is a commencement.

3. It is the commencement of specialization. If the profession he is entering requires still more studying he comes now to the professional last part of it. From here on out his studies are concentrated in the area of the technical knowledge and skills necessary for highly professionalized work he may enter.

4. It is the commencement in many cases of an enlarged home-life for the graduate. The new home will require or require the combined efforts of the two of them working together with divine assistance.

Commencement is the right word. Congratulations, seniors, upon achieving commencement. May God bless you in this commencement of a rich, serviceful life.

Oregon Or Bust!

Over 52 Macollege students will shortly begin their mass exodus from Kansas over a 1500 mile route to Oregon to work in Pea Canneries and later the wheat harvest. For four successive summers Macollege students have spent their summers working with the small but valuable vegetable, the sweet pea.

Students planning to go for the first time should bear in mind these suggestions:

Cabins: Barrack type rooming facilities are available at Pendleton Cannery. At Milton-Freewater two types of cabins will be used, the barrack type, easily distinguished by its bright orange exterior, and small brick structures. Married couples can work only at Milton-Freewater.

Clothes: The clothes one needs are determined by the particular job. Appropriate clothing can be easily secured after arrival. Girls, bring all your jeans along; one or two dresses for church or leisure time can be used, depending on which job and shift the student is on. Rubber galoshes are a necessity for girls.

Food: Facilities are provided at both canneries for cooking. Refrigerators, stoves and sinks. Boys usually have the worst time in preparing meals, as their jobs usually last longer than the girls. Showers and washing machines are provided.

Recreation:

Chances for recreation of any sort will vary with the lateness of the season and the student's particular job. Swimming, movies, and a rare game of tennis are about the only possibilities. Car trips to the Pacific Coast and over the Pacific Northwest are worth the effort and expense. It must be emphasized that the amount of recreation one will indulge in will be done so at the loss of badly needed sleep. The average work day varies from ten to twelve hours.

Work: Work at Milton-Freewater will last at least until the middle of July while the Pendleton plant will finish near the end of July. Work at the two canneries will begin around June 15.

Cabins are furnished free through the manager, Ed Martin. Anyone having questions about the trip should see either Bob Powell, Loren Frantz or Wendell Lentz. Be sure and take kitchen utensils, bedding, coats, and money enough to last until the first paycheck (around June 28). Leave home superfluous materials like suits, portable radios, typewriters, etc. They could prove a hindrance.

Doutour To Be Invaded

Doutour Hall will be vacated, then invaded. Approximately one hundred women will move into Doutour on the fifth of June to stay through the twelfth, of that month for an Interdenominational Laboratory School for Children's Workers.

This is sponsored by the Kansas Council of Churches. Meetings will be held in the Brethren Church and meals will be taken in the college cafeteria.

Carnival Attracts

Many Mac Students

Many Macollege students were spending evenings at the Carnival, one of the All Schools Day features, last week.

Dolls, big fuzzy dogs, blankets and many other items were won in various contests.

The carnival was located at Kansas and Oak Streets and was operating for three days and evenings.

Scholarships Available

For Social Workers

Scholarships for social work are available through the Council on Social Work Education, 345 East 46 Street, New York, 17, N.Y.

A list of the scholarships is published in a booklet which sells for ten cents. The field of social work has many opportunities, and is not overcrowded, according to the School of Social Service Administration at the University of Chicago.

Sociology majors and others interested in the field of social work are urged by the Chicago school to look into this field.

Sophomores Elect Officers For Fall

Eula Mae Murrey was elected president, Elwyn Taylor vice president, Beverly Schechter Secretary, and Leland Lengel and Norann Royer were elected to serve on the student court. At a previous meeting Arlene Merkey and Don Hoeler were elected to the student council.

Notice!

Miss Virginia Harris, librarian has announced that all library books are due in the library today, Friday, May 21. Next week books will be checked out over night only, until May 28, when the library will close.

Spec Needs Campus Editor

Would you like a start in journalism? Do you feel the urge to serve your school in a vital way? Then apply for the position of Campus Editor on the Spectator.

The position is open to all regularly enrolled students, and leads to the editorship of the paper after one year, after also serving as Managing Editor. Main job of the Campus Editor is to gather and supervise the news stories of the paper.

Don Faules, the present Campus Editor, is moving to the position of Managing Editor, where he will be, in line to be Editor-in-Chief next January.

Persons interested in applying should see either Wendell Lentz, Irene Shull, Prof. Sarah May Vancil, George Keim or Ed Frantz. All that is required is a written application stating the reasons why the person would like to have the job. The Board of Publications will judge the applicants.

The only thing wrong with the world is the people in it.

Next week, is FINAL week.
This week could have been called shower and bouquet. Monday night Hattuko Kanazawa, was honored at a surprise shower. Kathryn Williams and Orva Blickestaff gave a shower for Beverly Turner last Saturday night. Tonight Dolores Sigle and Donna Wagoner will be honored at a shower at the Elsie Hamm home. Elsie Hall, Maxine Hanley, and Bertha Landis are the hostesses. Norann Royer will also be honored at a shower tonight at the Clyde Cline home. The shower is being given by Loreen Gayer and Eula Mae Murray. An afternoon shower will be given for Margaret Baile tomorrow by Kathy Ball and Mrs. Chester Murray, at the Murray home.

The A Cappella Banquet was held in the Blue Room at the Warren Hotel last Friday night. The male quartet sang together for the last time at the banquet.

The "M" Club banquet will be held at the Warren Hotel tonight. "M" Club members and their dates will be attending the banquet.

Rec Council had their retreat last weekend at Kanopolis. During the night the rain came and shortly thereafter the sun came out. The retreat was obtained in the shelter house and cars. Luckily no one got wet.

The "Mac Ag" Club and Home-Ex Club had a picnic last Sunday afternoon at Yonker's Grove.

Visitors on Mac campus lately were: Don Grosbach who came down from the University of Nebraska to visit Pauline Forsyth. Don is a twin brother of Ron. Sara Courtney's folks from Coffeyville and Jeanette Cline from Independence were here visiting last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harter from Los Angeles are here visiting with friends and relatives. They will be in this part of the country until Jack and Eleanor's wedding.

Nancy Trostle, Carol's sister, was here visiting from Friday to Wednesday. She plans on coming back today to attend the band concert.

The paintings in the library were painted by Warren Brown.

A special thanks should go to the members of the Quad staff for putting out such a wonderful annual.

Gaye Hinkle, from Canton, has moved into Dutzour and is rooming with Donna Schrock. Gaye will be working in the Central office this summer and plans on going to McPherson to attend college.

The sophomore float in the May Day parade won second place. The award was $35.

EEK!

By The Cub
"Eek! I just know that was a mouse that ran over me in the dark." Mice, thundershowers, snoring, all were contended with at the Rec. Council Retreat.

Dick Wareham and Don Butler carried on a "who can eat the most" contest with mock drumsticks until they felt like giant drumsticks themselves.

The girls in clothing labs practically lived on the second floor of Harply in order to complete their sewing projects in time for model them at the tea last Thursday.

Last week-end was filled with parties, retreats, picnics, and this weekend it is simply: music, music, music.

And how we find that those items known as "tests" are bearing down upon us. Whether it's mice or tests, "Eek!"

Absent-minded profs exist, not only in cartoons, but also on McPherson College. Prof. S. M. Dell left his car running outside Sharp and the other afternoon as he stopped off to collect his mail before his 1:15 class.

At 3 o'clock he reached for his car keys and suddenly remembered he had completely forgotten that his car was idling.

In the meantime, about 2 o'clock, Mrs. Dell had discovered the car and corrected the situation.

Fellows in physical education puffled around and around the track until they had run the required five mile distance.

Jay Williams came up with a new tree in Horticulture class the other day—Poppye Russian Olive.

Without abundant giving there is no abundant living.

Miller, Becker Exchange Vows

Lee Ellen Miller and Glenn Becker were married May 8th at the Christian Church in Newton, Kansas. The Rev. Underwood officiated at the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Verna Carlson Miller and Mr. M. Clare Miller. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Pete T. Becker of McPherson.

For the wedding the bride chose blue embroidered suit and wore an orchid.

After a short wedding trip to Oklahoma, the couple are now at home at 140 North Charles, McPherson, Kansas.

Glenn is a student at McPherson College.

No Joke, This!

By Joann Silver
What would you do with people like these in a society? In a Christian college such as this you should not expect people taking things out from rooms just for practical jokes.

Do you honestly think that such things are practical jokes, or are they a touch of juvenile irresponsibility?

I have talked to quite a few people and as yet not one of them has agreed that behaviors like these are practical jokes, but a violation of one of the ten commandments.

How would you teach such people a lesson? I am sure if it was played on them, they would not do so much laughing. Think this over!

Eisele, Keim Are SCA Officers

The new SCA cabinet which was recently elected is: co-chairman, George Eisele and Nancy Keim; treasurer, Betty Holderread; and secretary, Carol Trostle.

SCA started off the first week of school by sponsoring two activities: the All-School Talent Show and the Watermelon Feed.

Other activities throughout the year were: Sadie Hawkins' Race and Party, WPA (Women Pay All) Week, BSCM Conference at Manchester, SCA-CBYF Caroling Party, Christmas Chapel Program, School of Missions, Peace Conference at McPherson with Bethel and Friends as guests, Regional Youth Conference, Religious Emphasis Week with Bob Richards as guest speaker, and WSSF Auction.

Other activities which were scheduled included: Thursday night devotional program, Memory Chapel on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings of each week, bulletin boards in Sharp, and various chapel programs.

Many people contributed in making SCA function this year, but there were certain ones spearheading the enthusiasm. The following composed this year's SCA cabinet: Kenny Evans and Ruth Strickler, co-chairmen; Glenn Bellah, treasurer; and Mary E. Swinger, secretary.

The cabinet for 1953-54 would like to thank everyone for their help in making this year of great fellowship.

Baile Portrays Shakespearean Women Characters At Recital

Portrayals of several Shakespearean women characters were given Monday, May 17, by Margaret Baile, Macollege junior from Warrensburg, Missouri.

The recital included scenes portraying Lady Macbeth, Juliet, and others. Miss Baile added to the effectiveness by wearing appropriate Shakespearean costumes.

The recital was given as projects for several classes including the Shakespearean class and Literary Interpretations.

Leicht Receives W. U. Fellowship

Another Macollege senior, Curtis Leicht, has been honored by an award for graduate study. This fellowship from Wichita University is the second award which Curtis has been offered, but he will accept neither.

Curtis has accepted a research job in the medical division of Michigan University at Ann Arbor and will begin two years of alternative service in that position on August 1.

Under the terms of the Wichita U. fellowship, Curtis would be an instructor, receiving all his school expenses and $1300 in addition, for nine months.

At the end of nine months, he would be eligible to apply for a renewal to permit him to finish his master's degree in chemistry.

Strickler To Edit 1955 Quadrangle

Now that the Quadrangles of 1954 are out, it is time to start thinking about the Quad of 1955.

Karl Baldwin, in charge of the distribution of this year's annual. Every student carrying twelve hours, and who had attended Mac college both semesters was eligible to get one.

Meyers and Company again will print the Quad for next year. Lee Padget was here Thursday to talk with Ruth Strickler concerning plans for next year's yearbook.

Again the Quad will feature a three color cover. Ruth is considering using "dust" finish in stead of the usual enamel finished paper.

Ruth wants to have a meeting soon with all those interested, in working on next year's book. Any ideas or suggestions for its make up would be appreciated. She also would appreciate snapshots from anyone, depicting various school life.

Mac Float Ranks Second

A semi-roofless barber-shop scene, thanks to the lowliness of a couple of tree limbs which the float was given under, received the second prize of $35 in the college float parade of the All-Schools Day Parade.

The McPherson College float was built by the sophomore class. Using the college male quartet, composed entirely of members of their class, the sophomores presented a realistic scene of years ago, complete with barber-shop harmony.

The quartet competed with a band which was marching right behind them in the parade.

Lewis McKellip headed the float committee. Other committee members were: Kenny Wahl, Roselyn Hull, Idell Fick, and Kermit Daum.

Other sophomores who labored long and hard included: Leland Leland, Don Ulton, Don Moeller, Bob Vance, Leon Neher, Virginia Bower and Dwight Blough.
