Friendship Hall Exhibits Student Art, Gasser Display

Paintings of last semester's basic drawing and basic painting classes have been displayed in Friendship Hall this month.

Included in these classes are Donna Shellenberger and Harvey Hess in basic painting, and Bill Borth, Eugene Graves, Alvin Hintz, Ronald Trostle, and Sandra Walby in basic drawing.

Still lifes and living models were used for these paintings which were painted in different medias such as gouache and tempera water colors.

About one-fourth of all the work that the students did during the semester is hanging in Friendship Hall. Forty-five paintings in all were painted.

Many of the students whose work is shown have never painted or sketched before taking the art class.

Paintings By Gasser

Also hanging in Friendship Hall are 23 paintings by Henry Gasser. These paintings range in value from $100-$250.

Henry Gasser studied art at the Art Students' League, New York, which is a school for professional artists. For more than 12 years his work has been exhibited throughout the United States and abroad, winning a number of awards.

Mr. Gasser is now lecturing and demonstrating painting techniques for art groups and schools in various parts of the country.

Dotzours Give Funds For Furnishings

A gift from Mr. and Mrs. Royer Dotzour for the purchase of furnishings for Friendship Hall has been announced by D. W. Bittering, president of McPherson College.

Furnishings will include display cases for geological, ceramic and historical displays, benches appropriate for art exhibit areas, and units for conversational and leisure areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Dotzour made possible the enclosure of Friendship Hall, the unit which will be used as an art display area and leisure area connecting Brown Auditorium and Mohler Hall.

In addition, the Dotzours earlier contributed the necessary funds to cover the cost of furnishings for the new additions to Dotzour Hall. Room furniture and furniture for the lounges on each floor are included in this gift.

Dotzour Hall was made possible by a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Dotzour who are former MacCollege students.

Additional faculty members, faculty salaries, curriculum, and campus buildings will be discussed.

Three separate committees are formed among the trustees. They are the building and grounds, educational, and finance. Each committee will meet while the trustees are on campus.

Skating Party To Be Tonight At Hutchinson

Octorollo members and those interested in roller skating are urged to meet at Dotzour Hall on Feb. 24, at 6:15 p.m. for what may be the last MacCollege skate party of the year in Hutchinson.

Party's costs include 60 cents per person with or without skates plus shared transportation expenses. Any skaters who do not have a car load are requested to stop at Dotzour Hall for riders.

"Peace Corps" Recommends Youth Service Program

A pilot program to test the merits of having young Americans serve for two years in underdeveloped countries has been recommended by President Kennedy's "peace corps" task force.

Max Millikan, director of the Center for International Studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, submitted a report emphasizing that, "no more than a few hundred members be employed on tasks now known to be clearly vital to the recipient countries." Expansion would follow as the program proves itself, the report added.

Although he respected President Kennedy's campaign promise of extending draft exemption to "peace corps" members, Mr. Millikan said it would be "undesirable to publicize this program as an alternative to the draft." His view is that the small number of recruits needed during the early years of the program could be obtained without such an offer.

College Graduates

Participants in the program, according to the task force, should be college graduates, at least 21, willing to commit themselves for at least two years, and able to meet strict academic and personality qualifications.

Three meetings on the subject have been held with representatives of universities, foundations, labor unions, voluntary agencies, and religious groups.

The groups agreed that three separate but coordinated aspects of a peace corps program should be investigated: one, a United Nations Corps, in which the United States would participate; another, the strengthening of existing agencies and programs; and the third, a corps sponsored almost entirely by federal funds.

Not Alternative To Draft

Most of the participants agreed that the corps should begin with a small number of youth, but not with so few that it would not be worthy of federal support. They also agreed that membership in the corps should not be held out as an alternative to the draft.

Other plans for a "peace corps" have been introduced by such people as Senator Hubert Humphrey from Minnesota; Thomas P. Melady, chairman of the steering committee of the Point Four Youth Program; and Theodore M. Hesburgh, C. S. C., president of the University of Notre Dame.

(This article was published in the Jan. 15 issue of the AHE College and University Bulletin.)

MCA To Sponsor

Social Tonight, Feb. 24

MCA is sponsoring a social in the SUR from 7:30-12 p.m., Friday, Feb. 24. Ping pong, table games, and other games will be provided.

Progress Continues

On MacCollege Buildings

Weather has been the controlling factor in the construction of the new additions on campus. The brief warm weather has kept construction running smoothly.

Addition to Dotzour Hall will be built by the same method as Dotzour. Progress has been slowed down a little until the steel columns arrive. The foundation wall was poured just before the weather changed.

Letters To The Editor

C. Of E. Student Attacks Editorial On Liberalism

Dear Editor,

This letter is written with a two-fold purpose. First, it is written to show that we at the College of Emporia are interested in the thoughts and ideas of your campus; second, as a rebuttal to one of the ideas which came from your campus.

The idea of which I speak is taken from an editorial in the Feb. 3 issue of the Spectator; the title of which was, "For the Lat-est in Style - Become Broad-minded."

Your writer remarked, "It is in vogue to be unprejudiced, open-minded to all ideas, and liberal on basic issues." I would hasten to add that it is not only "in vogue," but it is the educated path to follow.

I hope that we students are all in college to gain an objective view of ourselves and the world about us; not to simply fill our minds with the facts of our elders. A prejudiced, closed-minded person, it is obvious, could never reach an objective view.

It is also impossible to line up the "wishy-washy" and-or the "middle of the road" person with the liberal view. Indeed, these people can be found on either the conservative or the liberal side.

We can well admit that there are people who just do not care, but we cannot align them with one view or another. In fact, it would probably be proper to declare them as a group of their own; an "I don't care" group.

"What has happened to the college student who felt strongly about something and was not willing to concede to conformity?" I believe he is alive, kicking, and still in substantial number to be heard and felt.

The discrepancy in the article was due to the writer's unacquaintance with the standpoint of the liberal. In the following and closing paragraphs, I would like to express my views on the dynamics of a liberalist.

Basically, a liberalist is a person who realizes that his view is not the only view in the world, knows that there is always some remote chance that he might be wrong, and is always willing to discuss.

He will not out-and-out argue and fight because he realizes that anything, in an ultimate sense, whether in science, philosophy, or theology, cannot be proved right, wrong, or the only way.

When he disagrees with someone's view, he will say, "That is your view, and I will accept it as that; however, I believe differently, and this is why." From there he will go on to explain his reasoning.

This, however, is not to say that the broadminded, open-minded, or liberal person will not stand up for his opinion; he wants to take all facts into consideration, and then choose what seems to be proper. A closed-minded, prejudiced person can render nothing, save a biased, emotional opinion.

Gladstone said, "Liberalism is trust of the people tempered by prudence; conservatism, distrust of the people tempered by fear." If these words are read in their full meaning and to their ultimate depth, one will gain an insight into the meaning of liberalism.

I also, as expressed by your writer, would rather meet a man who disagrees with me and says so, than to talk all day to one who doesn't care. But, I would never call that man a conservative or a liberal; I would shut-up because he doesn't care.

I sincerely hope that the thoughts expressed here are, at least, thought provoking; to me, they are true.

Respectfully submitted,
Rod Borlase
College of Emporia
Emporia, Kansas

Editor's Reply

Dear Mr. Borlase,

First of all, thank you for your letter and secondly, may I paraphrase myself - "I would rather receive a letter from a man who disagrees with me than read a book by one who doesn't care."

Actually, however, I don't believe we really disagree, I too, think it is the "educated path" to be willing to allow others to have views different from my own whether they be liberal or conservative. Unreasonable and uncontrolled prejudices can have disastrous results for the human race.

However, I have met so many college students who are unprejudiced toward absolutely everything except one - and that is the prejudiced person. To me this is almost a paradox.

I was no so much against the liberal point of view in my editorial; rather I was attacking the person who is a liberal for the only reason that it is the easiest and most stylish way out.

I hope this has clarified my ideas on the subject.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

LOOKS LIKE I'LL BE A LITTLE LATE FOR WORK, EDDIE. I JUST GOT WORD WE'VE A FACULTY MEETING.

Thank you again for your letter. It is good to know that the students at College of Emporia are interested in us at Mac.

Mac Student Supports Execution

Dear Editor:

As one who has spent approximately four and one-half years as a police officer in two large Mid-western cities, Wichita and Kansas City, I was particularly interested in your editorial condemning capital punishment.

As I read your article I took these to be your basic objections to capital punishment: (1) it is cruel and (2) it is a means society uses to revenge itself.

It would appear your first criticism could be dispensed with rather quickly by pointing out the mass of evidence which indicates all four methods of execution now being employed in the United States, hanging, the electric chair, the gas chamber, and the firing squad are physically painful to the person being executed.

Your second protestation overlooks the purgative effect capital punishment has in society. In the popular mind execution may have a connotation of revenge, but to those associated with law enforcement it is looked on only as an expedient to permanently remove an undesirable element from the environment, much as a surgeon would cut out a piece of diseased tissue to prevent its spreading.

I vainly searched your article for a solution to our growing criminal problem. I found none. I suppose it is much easier to be against something than it is to come forth with a workable alternative.

You rightly divined that criminality is a sickness and a symptom of weakness within our society, but you gave no treatment for this sickness to supplant that already devised, ineffective as it may be.

The fact is that there is no adequate treatment. Search the literature of criminology; you will find no specific cure for crim-

Pondering With The President

Where Are You Going?

By D. W. Bittinger

A survey conducted among manufacturing firms who are seeking college graduates as employees revealed that they placed at the top of the list of the qualities they wish, "clarity of student's goals and objectives in life."

Other things they rated highly are: scholastic achievement, ability to communicate, ambition, social maturity.

Often the very thing which the industrial employer is looking for in his employee is least to be found in the youth, even the college youth, of our day: "clarity of goal and objective in life." Some industrialists and businessmen indicate that they prefer to look for employees among the students of small colleges or church-related colleges because they believe that in these colleges realistic goals and worthy objectives are stressed.

This is true of church colleges. But those of us who stress goals and objectives realize that we cannot determine for any student his goal and objective. We can only help the student find this for himself.

Long term goals are important. We who teach and counsel would like to be of help in every way we can.

natality. To be sure, progressive methods are being tried, such as honor prisons without wall, selected probation and parole, and psychiatric treatment, but the incidence of recidivism is still much too high to consider the problem solved.

Thus, we must continue to isolate criminals from society and on occasion execute them, when their continued presence is fraught with danger.

It would be my suggestion that we might better turn our energies toward improving those conditions in society which breed crime rather than attempt to strip the already depleted arsenal against crime.

And in this connection, we should aid in efforts to improve the administration of justice so that the carriers of the crime "germ" might be more effectively isolated and exterminated, much as we would isolate and exterminate the carriers of any communicable disease.

Sincerely,
Gene Elrod

Two Seniors To Play In Season's Last Game

Mac Faces Bethel, Tabor In Final Week Of Games

Final week of the basketball season finds the MacCollege Bulldogs meeting the Bethel Threshers on Saturday, Feb. 25, and the Tabor Bluejays on Tuesday, Feb. 28. Both games will be played on Mac's home court.

Bulldogs have played the Threshers twice. In the first contest Mac defeated Bethel 95-79; but in the second meeting, Bethel won out 72-67. On both occasions the home team was the victor.

Men to watch will be Don Wedel and Franze Loepp. In the first meeting of the two teams, Wedel hit for 28 points. In the second contest Loepp scored 32 points.

Wedel is now second in the conference in individual scoring. Mac's own Deryl Elmore is in the top slot, so there may be a scoring duel in store. Wedel also ranks near the top of the conference in individual free throw shooting.

The game with Bethel may very well be a strong offensive struggle. In the first meeting the 95 points scored by the Bulldogs was one of the highest scores of the season. In that same game Mac pulled down 32 defensive rebounds and a total of 46 rebounds, the top rebounding performance of the season.

Two Teams Tie For First Place In KCAC

With the last week of the basketball season, two teams—College of Emporia and Southwestern—are still eyeing the Kansas Conference championship. These two teams are deadlocked in a tie for first place.

As of Feb. 20 the standings in the Kansas Conference are:

	W	L
College of Emporia	14	2
Southwestern	14	2
Bethany	11	4
Ottawa	8	8
Friends	7	9
Sterling	7	9
McPherson	6	11

Bulldogs have also played the Bluejays of Tabor twice. The first clash of the two teams resulted in a victory for the Mac ball club, 71-62. The second game went to Tabor 49-45.

Tabor's men to watch will be LeRoy Dick and Eugene Friesen. Although the Bulldogs have never played against Dick, his average of better than 30 points per game cannot be overlooked. He started playing with the Bluejays this semester and has hit 50 points on one occasion.

Coyotes Fall To Bulldogs, 85-82, In Last Away Game

Playing the last away game of the season, the MacCollege Bulldogs took measure of the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes 85-82 at Salina last Monday, Feb. 20.

Starting slowly, the Bulldogs were trailing 25-16 midway through the first half when the second five went into the game. Unable to latch onto the lead, the Mac ball club went to the dressing room at halftime trailing 44-40.

However, the second half was a different story as the Bulldogs outscored the Coyotes 45-38.

Leading the game's scorers was Deryl Elmore, who tossed in 26 points. Following him on Mac's squad were Garth Werner with 15, Stuart Frazier with 13, and LeRoy Weddle with 10.

Coyotes presented a very well-rounded scoring attack with their high point man, Childs, hitting 15, followed by four others in double figures.

Second String
One of the more impressive aspects of the attack against the Coyotes was the showing made by the Bulldogs' second string, who came in midway through the first half and made considerable progress in tearing down the nine point lead which had been established by the Coyotes.

Among these were Art Hoch with four points, David Priddy with nine points, and Ralph Rindt with four points.

The B team players were victims of inaccuracy as they fell to the Coyotes 70-51. Playing a large part in the cause of defeat was the fact that the Mac B teamers could find the target on only 25 per cent of their field goals and 53.1 per cent of their free throws. Leading the Bulldog scorers were Dick Kruse with 14 points and Cal Unruh with 10 points.

101-99! Mac Bulldogs Win Over Baker Wildcats

With their biggest high-scoring splurge of the season, the MacCollege Bulldogs pulled up from behind and defeated the Baker Wildcats in a thriller here last Saturday, Feb. 18, by the score of 101-99.

Trailing the Wildcats 19-29 midway through the first half, 43-51 at halftime, and 69-75 midway through the second half, the Bulldogs did not go ahead until the final six minutes of play.

Score Tied

In the final few minutes of play, the score changed hands several times and with less than ten seconds remaining, the score was tied at 99-99. Hoping for a tie-breaking goal, Deryl Elmore threw up a jump shot with three seconds remaining to play. The ball hit the rim, bounced high, and fell through to sew up the win.

Hitting only 37.3 per cent of their shots the first half, the Bulldogs came through with 54.1 per cent the second half to round out 44.3 per cent for the game.

Wildcats reversed the trend, dropping from 51.3 per cent the first half to 40.8 per cent the second half. They averaged out 45.5 per cent for the game.

Outstanding performance of the game was that of Baker's Mike Neal, who threw in 41 points for the Wildcats. Thirty of Neal's points were scored in the first half as he connected on 75 per cent of his shots.

Werner, Elmore

High point honors for Mac were shared by Garth Werner and Deryl Elmore who both had 21 points. Stuart Frazier hit 20 points, Ivan Prochaska scored 13, and Tom Richards put in 12.

Although above the seasonal average, the Bulldogs free throw accuracy of 62.2 per cent was far from the Wildcats' 83.5 per cent.

With one of the best rebounding nights of the season, the Bulldogs pulled down 43 rebounds. Leading in this department were Ivan Prochaska with 13 and Garth Werner with 12.

Shirley Petracek, senior from Chicago, Ill., has a discussion group for girls only. Harvey Lehman is the adult counselor.

One class open only to married couples, "Come and See," gives interpretation to the life of Christ and its pertinence to modern life. Discussion is headed by Ken Holderead, senior from McPherson. Mr. Clifford Drescher counsels.

Leaders and counselors are: David Hykes, senior from McPherson; Dr. Merlin Frantz; Treva Brown, junior from Wichita; Prof. George Arnold; Gail Fillmore, junior from Nampa, Ida.; Mr. Paul Sherly.

"Meaning of Lent" will be the discussion topic for the Church of the Brethren Flock Groups, Sunday, Feb. 26, at 7 p.m.

Almost 30 groups will meet in homes of the church members. Student members of the Church of the Brethren will also gather with these groups.

Bullpups Are Favored In Regional

McPherson High School Bullpups will enter the regional tournament this year as a top ranking team in the state. Rated either number one or two in the state by different press polls, the Bullpups are picked by several to bring the crown back to McPherson this year.

McPherson Prep cagers boast a well-balanced quintet with a powerful reserve unit. Three of the Pups lead the Central Kansas League in individual scoring, coping the first three positions.

With the CKL title already clinched by the undefeated Bullpups, tonight's final league game against Manhattan will not put undue pressure on the Mac High cagers.

Wichita Eagle Press poll has the McPherson High Bullpups rated first in the state followed by defending champion, Wyandotte
