Gadzama will graduate next week with an A. B. degree in biology.

Stump Earns Ph.D Degree

While 109 seniors are participating in commencement exercises at McPherson College on the evening of May 31, Harley Stump, professor of English, will also be participating in graduation exercises.

Stump, however, will be receiving his Ph.D. degree from the University of Oklahoma at Norman. Because the events are held on the same evening, Dr. Stump will be unable to see his son Nelson, a Macollege senior, receive his diploma.

Professor Stump officially became Dr. Stump on Tuesday, May 12, after successfully completing the final step toward his doctoral degree — his oral examinations. During the examination period, Dr. Stump was questioned by the heads of the School of Education on topics relating to his doctoral dissertation.

Dr. Stump wrote his 200-page dissertation on "The Educational Philosophy of Reinhold Niebuhr."

This is the fourth degree for Dr. Stump. In 1944 he received his A.B. degree from Southwestern State College in Oklahoma; in 1952 he received his M.Ed. from the University of Oklahoma; in 1954 he received his B.D. from Bethany Theological Seminary; and in 1964 he completed work for his Ph.D.

Spectator Is Laid To Rest

The printing of a college newspaper is not a simple task and involves many people, students and others, to put out the finished product which you read each Friday.

I have estimated that it takes about 25 people to put out the Spectator.

Among these 25 people are the campus editor, Carolyn Lehman, the managing editor, Mike Hildbrand, 10 reporters, and two photographers.

To these people I owe a great debt, for without them and their hard work, the Spectator could not have been published.

Special thanks also go to Mrs. Brunk for being our advisor, and at times, counselor. Without her help and ready knowledge of how to deal with, sometimes ticklish situations, we would have been lost.

The Sentinel has been very cooperative and patient with our efforts at putting out a weekly student newspaper. For all their help and cooperation we are indebted.

The Scholiast

By

Christopher R. van deVelde

With only a little more than a week until graduation, I find that I have mixed emotions about the event: there is a definite and pronounced sense of relief about the completion; a sense of anticipation about the future; a sense of remorse about potential unrealized; and a sense of regret about leaving McPherson College.

Unfortunately, there are some who will think it strange for me to say that I will miss McPherson College, but I owe the students, faculty, and administration of this college a great deal.

After my first two years of college work, not many institutions would have been willing to gamble that I was a worthwhile risk. But I appreciate McPherson College for more than giving me a second chance; I will always appreciate and be grateful for the change that the last two years have made in my character and outlook.

I have been criticized for being overly critical, but I have tried to be critical only if I felt I had a worthwhile alternative to offer. I have not been critical because I dislike McPherson College, but for just the opposite reason; I want to see it continue to be an outstanding contributor.

I have always believed that constructive criticism is the key to progress, because complacency breeds stagnation. "To uphold the old," wrote A. B. Wolfe, "to abide by the established, to refrain from much criticism of things as they are, to think none but conventional thoughts — these are the avenues to day-by-day respectability." This may explain why, at times, I have been unpopular.

McPherson College offers the student the opportunity to develop both academically and socially, but I feel that this offering should only be made in this order.

The primary purpose of institutions of higher learning should always be the academic development of future leaders. Many college or universities, however, overlook the importance of developing citizens with a social conscience.

If McPherson College maintains the existing balance of academic and social development in its program, I will always be proud to be an alumnus.

Desirable change can be advanced by associating with men with whom we can walk among the stars. We can practice: the compassion of Lincoln; the devotion of Schweitzer; the tenacity of Churchill; and the vision of Franklin. We must surround ourselves with the best in books, music, and art."

McPherson College — Thank You!

And last, but not least, we would like to thank you, the readers of the Spectator for your criticisms, helpful and otherwise.

I would especially like to express my appreciation for those of you who took the time when you were concerned about a controversial issue to express your opinion.

Thus the year comes to a close and the Spectator is laid to rest for the summer, to be revived next fall by the next editor-in-chief, Carolyn Lehman. daa

once upon a time

Once upon a time there came to a big house a little black and white dog. This little dog grew and became grown up. Sometime later a little black and white kitten came to the same house. Both the dog and the kitten were brought to the house by someone.

By some strange coincidence the black and white dog did not get along with the little black and white kitten.

The master of the house gently coaxed the dog and tried to make him friendly to the kitten and to love the kitten.

But shades of hades, the black and white dog did not get along with the little black and white kitten.

Now the master of the house, having lost his temper, tried to force, with more powerful means, love between the little kitten and dog.

The master of the house even made a decree that henceforth the dog and cat should be equal and love each other for the rest of their lives.

The master of the house smugly settled back and waited for the love to flow forth; but darned if they didn't continue to hate each other, and the master of the house was bewildered and didn't know where to turn. d a a

Dear Editor:

Your "magazine-life" ideal, honeyed golden on the surface, actually is unpalatable when one sinks into it. It all sounds great — laying foundation like a good "minister, peace corp volunteer. . . and 'live life from cover to cover' in search of life's meaning in the name of 'humanity.'"

Prodigious idea! And why not? "Cover-to-cover" life "builds big people" that they may stand on high sizing the common masses who live a "hilo life." It must be something.

If life should be wrapped with methods it must be extremely poor living. Your "cover-to-cover" method in its ideal form could only mean life conform to rules, which is something like simple harmonic motion of the clock; and a conditioned life is no better than a life of imprisonment: the thirst to know is suppressed by the methodical bondate and fire of curiosity extinguished. Life of great people is just not "dig in and digest," it's awareness-in-totality — it snatches all methods and confinement and never ceases to live every moment.

Should life be like a magazine as this someone suggested, then our subtle thinking-caps would suffer a life of limitation. It is very unfortunate that many fail to let the mind wander into the infinite frontier of exploration. Rather, many restrict themselves to the childhood environment.

What do it profit if you gain the whole world and suffer the loss of your thinking mind? Peter Tham

If I Were A Graduate Again?

By D. W. Blittinger

President of the College

Each year as I see graduates marching in dignity from baccalaureate services, I meditate on the above question. Considerations such as the following must be uppermost in the young graduate's mind.

Will I be able to operate successfully in a job?

Will I be able to do my share in helping to develop a significant home?

Will I be able to become a respected community citizen or community leader?

Will I be able to build a sense of social and economic security?

As an older person, who has participated in numerous graduations, it is questions such as the following which run through my mind at commencement time.

Can this new group come nearer than we did to finding the real meaning of religion? For so long men have played around the peripheries of religion without discovering the heart of it. This search is as old as man. Sometimes man has almost found it but, as life took on new complexities, it has eluded him again. Will these graduates come nearer to finding it?

Will they be able to sweep away forever the crippling myth of race?

Will they be able to remove from the earth the delusion that hatred, or war, solves problems?

If I were a graduate again I would of necessity work on this first set of questions. But, even more importantly, I would like to work on the second set. I have faith that this set also can be answered. I would like to live long enough to see the answers nearer.

God bless you, graduates! You graduate into major tasks which are waiting for you!

Reyher Schedules Plays For Fall Productions

"Sabrina Fair" and Jean Anouilh's "Antigone" have tentatively been chosen for next fall's dramatic productions by Mr. Loren Reyher, newly appointed dramatics director at McPherson College.

"Sabrina Fair" will be given in October. This play has been chosen primarily for its crowd-pleasing nature and for the comedy elements that ensue when a young girl comes home after five years in Paris.

Originally a Broadway production and a motion picture, it has gained favor with the theatre-going public through the last few years. Another reason for its choice was the setting which calls for many special effects with scenery, lighting, and costume in a realistic combination.

Following sometime in December will be "Antigone," a modern version of the ancient classic. The play was written during the early 1940's during Hitler's occupation of France and is a comment on his regime.

The setting for this show will be a form of impressionism with severe set construction, lighting, and modern dress.

Tryouts for "Sabrina Fair" will be held during the first week of school. Tryouts for "Antigone" will be during the month of October.

Anyone requesting further information on the theatre and policies for the coming year may write to Mr. Reyher this summer at the following address: Mr. Loren Reyher, care of Postmaster, Depoe Bay, Oregon.

Brethren End Regional Groups

Church of the Brethren regional groupings having been dissolved, and the decision of whether or not there will be a Brethren Youth Conference next year lies in the hands of McPherson College.

The conference had formerly been sponsored by the local region of the Church of the Brethren. When this group was dissolved, they left the choice of whether the conferences would continue to McPherson College, the perennial host of the conference.

The regional groupings have been dissolved because the Church of the Brethren felt they were no longer necessary.

Students Active In Sports, Breaking Several Records

In all four varsity sports completed this past semester Macollege athletes have compiled winning records. These sports were basketball, track, golf, and tennis.

The basketball squad ended the season with fifteen wins and twelve losses overall, including a 10-8 record in conference play, good for a fourth place tie. This year's quintet included two all-conference choices, one who also made the all-district ten team, and four were among the top ten in all four of the individual categories.

Marion Enke, junior from Owensville, Mo., gained the highest honor with his selection to both first place teams in this area.

His 19.2 scoring average led the Bulldogs and was good for fourth place in the league. He also ranked eighth in the league in field goal percentage at 49.1 per cent, and was tied for eight with John Tegeler in rebounds with an 8.5 per game average.

John Tegeler was selected to the all-conference second team. Besides being in the top ten in rebounds, his 16.6 scoring average was good for ninth.

George Czaplinski led the Bulldogs in free throw percentage with 80 per cent and his 17.7 scoring average was good for sixth in the league.

Dick Welch's 54.3 per cent field goal accuracy ranked third in the league.

This season's tennis squad exceeded all pre-season expectations by ending third in the conference in individual matches and the conference tournament, dominated by Southwestern and Bethany.

All the tennis players ended the season with winning records except the number three doubles team, which won four and lost five.

Bill Kelly ended with an 8-3 record. Lynn Warner was 10-3, John Tegeler was 7-5, Phil Miller was 10-5, Larry Evans was 7-3, and Roger Emmert was 5-4. In the conference meet Phil Miller gained the Bulldogs only point, which won the third position in the meet for the Bulldogs, by winning two matches before losing in the finals.

Kelly was defeated by the number one man of the conference in his first set, and Evans also lost in the first round. Both Tegeler and Warner won one match and lost one.

Lynn Warner was involved in the most exciting match of the meet, when he fought an opponent to 17-15 before losing.

The golf squad shot 1073 to end fifth in the conference meet held at Salina last week. College of Emporia won the meet with a score of 951. Gene Czaplinski and Ansel Neuburger tied for fourteenth in the meet with scores of 233. Andy Sabol of College of Emporia was medalist with a score of 227.

Robert Williams shot 276, Doug Knehaus shot 291, and George Jones shot 299 to give the Bulldogs their total.

With six new school records set, the track squad completed a very successful season. The three records broken by individuals were the 440 yard dash, broken by John Chance in the conference meet, which he won, with a time of 50.1 seconds, the pole vault, broken by Gary Coleman at 13'6", and the javelin, broken by Bob DeTour at 197' 11 1/2".

The sprint medley, consisting of Larry Bierwirth, Jim Steinle, John Chance, and Lynn Warner, clocked this distance in 3:37.6 for a new record. The 880 and 440 yard relay teams of Bierwirth, Steinle, Chance, and John Treadwell set new records at 1:31 and 43:9 respectively.

In the conference meet held at Ottawa last Saturday the Bulldogs took seventh place with 46 1/2 points. Ottawa won with 88 points. Bierwirth won the one hundred yard dash in 10.0, and John Chance won the 440 yard dash in 50.1 for the Bulldogs only first places.

Bierwirth also took second in the 220 yard dash, along with the 880 yard relay team. The other points were gained by that order.

Lynn Warner, who took fifth in the one and two mile runs, Jim Steinle, who took fifth in the 220, Gary Coleman, who took fourth in the pole vault after spraining his ankle on his second and consequently, last try, and Tom Worthing, who tied for sixth in the intermediate hurdles. The Bulldogs were hurt in the field events, as Bob DeTour was unable to attend the meet due to a cut hand.

Two men's bowling teams representing McPherson College went to Emporia on May 16 to compete in a six team college tournament. The teams competing were Emporia State, Bethany, and two teams from the College of Emporia, besides the two Macollege teams.

The Macollege number one team finished in third place in the team competition, behind both of the teams from the College of Emporia. The Emporia State team finished in fourth followed by the Macollege number two team and Bethany in Bill Klein, Bill Loewen, Lynn Sorenson, Leroy Norstrom, and Richard Nelson were the members of the number one team, which recorded the highest team game of the meet, but could not match the consistency of the two Emporia teams.

Members of the number two team were Rick Shupe, Junior Hendricks, Jamie Oxley, Lowell Yoder, and Dave Scherck.

Each team rolled three lines as a team, with the team with the highest total pins winning. Each competitor then rolled three more games as an individual to determine the highest individual score. Leroy Norstrom was the winner of the individual lines with a score of 592 for the three lines.

As of Tuesday night, May 19, Team 4 led the softball intramural league with a 3-1 record.

Other team records as of this date are these: Team 3 with 3-2, Team 2 with 2-3, and Team 1 with 2-4.

The only game remaining on the league's schedule this year is Team 1 versus Team 4.

Russ Burkholder, hard-hitting infielder for Team 4, and Dave Scherck were among the league's leading hitters.

Nancy West and Lee Miller were among the better pitchers, although Larry Bowman finished with the best percentage, winning 2 and losing 0.

"... and in conclusion, fellow students, remember that success begins with clothes cleaned at..."

Bierwirth Pulls Points In Bulldog Track Team

Larry Bierwirth, called "Red" by his teammates, runs on all the three relay teams which broke school records this season. He also has the distinction of winning the hundred yard dash in the conference meet, one of the two first places the Bulldogs took home.

Besides winning the hundred in 10.0, he also took second in the 220 yard dash. In the preliminaries for the 220 he ran the fastest time of the meet, but could not match it in the finals.

Larry has been a consistent point getter the past two seasons, and this year was one of the top pointners on the squad for the season.

He runs the second 220 yards for the distance medley team, and starts both the 440 and 880 yard relay teams.

Larry competed in track only his senior year of high school in Bartonville, Ill. He was a member of the record setting 880 yard relay team that year. Baseball was the only other sport he competed in during high school, covering the second base position.

Larry believes that Macollege could produce much better track squads if more boys would go out for the sport, especially in the field events where the Bulldogs pull very few points. He pointed out that the team took only nine boys to the conference meet, but still made a fine showing, taking seventh place.

After high school Larry went one semester to Bradley University. He dropped out for three semesters, and then decided to come to McPherson.

Since coming to Mac, Larry has become very interested in oil painting, and plans to make a future in commercial art or art education.

Library Revises Rule

The McPherson College library has made several new circulation rules for library material next fall in an attempt to improve service to students.

No date due will be placed in books from the stacks. If there is a request for a book which has been out for two weeks, the library will send a notice stating that the book is to be returned to the library.

A person receiving such a notice is expected to return the book within four days of the date of the notice. If the book has not been returned by that date, a fee of 50 cents a day will be assessed.

Students needing books which are out should check at the circulation desk so that reserves may be made.

There will be two final due dates each semester (1) the end of the nine weeks (2) the week before the final examinations.

All books must be returned by the final due date. A fee of 50 cents a day will be assessed on all overdue books.

Reserve books are used in the library during library hours. The orange book card should be signed and left at the circulation desk each time the book is used.

Reserve books may be checked out for home use 30 minutes before closing time and are due by 9 a.m. of the next library day.

A fee of 25 cents an hour will be assessed on all overdue reserve books.

Reference books are shelved in the large reading room on the main floor of the library. They are used in the library during library hours.

Reference books may be checked out for home use 30 minutes before closing time and are due by 9 a.m. of the next library day.

A fee of 25 cents an hour will be assessed on all overdue reference books.

Students are requested to use in the library as many periodicals as possible. Most articles are short and do not require a long loan period.

Periodicals may be checked from the library for home use for one day. The periodicals may be checked out at any time during the day and are due the next library day. Only three periodicals may be checked out at one time for home use.

A fee of 25 cents a day will be assessed on all overdue periodicals.
