the Metzler Hall Open House, Sunday, April 23. Mrs. Marguerite Wesifall, housemother of Metzler Hall since it opened in 1963, greeted guests and supervised activities.

Organization began in March when the open house was first planned. The date was postponed when it was found to conflict with the cultural series. When the open house finally took place, all committees were prepared well in advance.

Men on all floors were busily cleaning their rooms. For some, was the first thorough cleaning since the beginning of the semester.

Among the guests were Dr. Merlin Frantz, dean of academic affairs, and wife, and Guy Hayes, director of admissions.

Refreshments of punch, cookes, and candies were served. It still remains a mystery how 43 dozen cookies disappeared in less than two hours.

McPherson College held the trophy during 1966-67.

Sheller Plans Projects For 1967-68 School Year

Student Council does not officially take office until May 1, president-elect Dean Sheller, ir. Eldora, Iowa, is working on ideas and projects for study and action next year.

"It's difficult to say just where our main concentration will focus," Sheller said, "because we have not met as a body."

Nevertheless, Sheller tentatively plans to implement certain points on his platform which must be worked on this year, such as planning an all-student camp and studying the feasibility of an Associated Colleges of Central Kansas student government council.

"We have Dr. Merlin Frantz's approval to add more students to several of the administrative committees," Sheller pointed committees," Sheller pointed out, "but right now, which committees are a matter for speculation.

"John Lane is working Homecoming plans for next year,' Sheller indicated. Lane, fr, Piqua, Ohio, as vice president chairs the Special Projects Com-

Keck Takes Position With Ottawa Library

Marge Keck, sr, McPherson, has been appointed head of the Adult Services Department at Ottawa Public Library effective

In her new position, Miss Keck will perform varied duties aim-ed at stimulating adults to read. She will speak to service organizatiouns and on radio programs and will hold book fairs, coffees and open houses.

The position which she will assume was recently vacated by retirement.

Let's Strive For Integrity

"Tampering with fire safety equipment is against state fire regulations and As prohibited" This statement, taken from the student handbook, is a serious rule and should be given more consider-ation by those who have been pulling the fire alarms in the wee-hours of the morning in two of the men's residence halls.

Society and business are direct customers of colleges. It is estimated that 700,000 students will receive degrees this year, and that five years from now this number will exceed a million.

The foremost quality which society and business specify of these students is integrity. Can integrity be built by committing such serious acts as pulling fire alarms?

Society and business also expect the graduate to have a feeling of seriousness. The "wee-morning arousers" may think that since the two dorms are fireproof, everyone will think that the acts are just pranks. Most students did believe this, so they did not use the exits but stood talking in the halls until the alarm was turned off.

Eight students and one professor were killed in a pre-dawn blaze at the Cornell Residential Club, April 5, at Ithaca, New York. The basement blaze caused acrid smoke to engulf the structure which was termed the safest building in Tompkins by its former owner.

A fire escape program has recently been devised by one of the dorms to increase the safety of the innocent persons. As for the "we-morning arousers," society and business will slowly weed them out and let them wilt while the serious minded persons with integrity grow to great heights.

SNEA Elects 1967-68 Officers

Student National Education Association officers for the 1967-68 year were elected March 8.

Those elected were Kathy Shank, jr, Fayetteville, W. Va., president; Susan Sell, soph, Conway, vice president; Glenice Conway, vice president; Gienices Frazier, jr, Denver, secretary; Irvin Albin, jr Quinter, treas-urer, Cindy Eisenbise, jr, Elizabethtown, Pa., publicity; and Lethia Brown, jr, Hutchinson, historian.

"We visited with the boys who seemed quite friendly and cheerful," Prof. Keim said.

"An olympic-sized indoor pool is provided for the boys, and I wished I could have been in there swimming instead of watching from the side," Prof.

The average stay of each boy is 14 months, but some may stay for six years, depending on his progress and home situation. Approximately 185 boys are committed each year.

The boys stay in cottages with four house-parents who keep a 24-hour vigil. There are up to 60 boys in each cottage.

Paul Roth, soph, Boiling Springs, Pa., was elected as president of the McPherson Col-lege YMCA; and Pat Hayes, soph, Geneseo, was elected as president of the MC-YWCA, in elections held April 19.

Cheerleaders Strive For More School Spirit

Four freshman women and one sophomore were elected by the student body during the April 7 election to become the 1967-68 varsity cheerleaders.

They are Sue Arnesen, fr. Oak Park, Ill.; Janell Brown, fr, Beloit; Sherry Dirks, fr, Wichita; Jody Duffy, soph, Abilene; and Paula Sissell, fr. Davenport, Neb.

"I was surprised, because it is the first time that I've ever been elected cheerleader," stated Sue Arnesen a home economics major. Sue, a popular freshman coed, advocates more student participation at games.

Janell Brown, the most experienced, was an active cheer-leader for four years at Beloit High School and was a McPher-son College B-team cheerleader this past year. She chose history as her major.

Miss Brown indicated that she was glad to continue as cheerleader for another year.

Sherry Dirks, one of the shorter members, at 5 feet, had experience as a B-team cheerleader at Wichita Heights High School and was a College B-team cheerleader this year.

The little blonde elementary education major stated, "This is the first time that I have an A-team cheerleader, and I hope that we have all the students' support."

When asked what her first impression was after being elected, Jody Duffy said, "I was very excited because I can't sit still at a game."

Senior Accepted To Law School

Kenneth Van Blaricum, sr. Meade, Kansas, has recently been accepted into the University of Kansas law school for the fall term of 1967.

This ends for Ken a long series of application writing and testing which began last November when he took the law school when he took the law school admissions test and scored exceptionally well.

This test is comparable to the Graduate School Record exam taken by many college seniors anticipating post-graduate study.

Ken's interests after his three years of law school range from general practice or business to politics or journalism or com-binations thereof. "Actually I'll probably become a Sunday sohool teacher," reported Ken.
