

FRULA program receives acclaim

BY DORIS COPPOCK

The enthusiastic receptiveness of the audience was one measure of the quality of entertainment which FRULA brought to McPherson.

Their program arrangement had maximum appeal with their variations in steps, tempo, costuming and musical accompaniment.

The Yugoslavian Folk Ballet is one example of groups from several European countries who study and perfect various types of folk dance and folk music; only in this way will so important a part of a cultural heritage be preserved.

The highly developed skill of the male dancers was exhibited in their execution of the vigorous and athletic-type steps characteristic of dances of Eastern Europe.

The graceful movements of the ladies were in delightful contrast; the combination made a truly delightful Sunday afternoon.

Folk dance reveals the many facets of one's life — emotions and events; happiness, sadness, desire for freedom, courtship, marriage, war, victory, occupation. FRULA had examples of nearly all of these themes.

The beauty of the Biljana, a dance in which the peasant girls weave their linen for a trousseau, deserves special mention; the intricacy of the patterns, positions and steps neared perfection.

The Komitadzi, danced by five men in black costume, exemplified the thin line which frequently exists between modern and folk dance.

The accomplished musicians contributed much to the production in their fine accompaniment as well as special folk music.

For those who availed themselves of the opportunity, the afternoon with FRULA was an exciting, enriching and enjoyable experience.

Coffeehouse opens for community use

BY CINDY BARCHESKY

"The Handle," a coffeehouse located above the Firestone store at Main and Euclid Street has been open about four weeks.

It will be open from 8 p.m. midnight on Saturdays. There is a possibility it may be open on Friday nights.

The McPherson Coffeehouse Association, Inc., a non-profit corporation of individuals, is the main group who sponsors the coffeehouse.

Purposes of the coffeehouse are to provide a place for youth to come and express themselves, to attempt to get people out of the church buildings into the market place for ministry, and to meet the needs of youth in the community.

Young people are able to sit and talk about subjects that "bug" them.

Setting of "The Handle" is crude. Empty high-line wire spools are used as tables and cushions are used as chairs. Colored lights also add to the atmosphere. Snacks and soft drinks are sold.

Painting on the tablecloths with crayolas and water paints is popular with the youth. The tablecloths are changed about two-three times each evening. Finished "paintings" are then hung on the burlap walls.

Outside entertainment is often presented. Some recent entertainers have been Marilyn Hoover, jr., McPherson, a folk-singing group from Salina and a woman detective from Wichita who spoke about shoplifting.

High school and college students are welcome at "The Handle." If any students are interested in working, they should contact Mrs. Byron Moore. An eight week training session, "The Coffeehouse Itch" is required of all who work.

1968 will not be routine

An ancient Chinese curse says simply, "May you live in interesting times." Events of the past few weeks on the political scene make me wonder if the Chinese are cursing Americans roundly. We are, indeed, living in interesting times.

People — McCarthy, Rockefeller, Westmoreland, Kennedy — and events — the "Tet" offensive, the New Hampshire primary, the Kerner report on racial disorder — have dramatically awakened Americans to the fact that 1968 is not going to bring a relatively routine re-election of an incumbent president.

The United States is at war in Vietnam, and that war has aroused widespread and heated public controversy. At the same time the country faces a situation in its cities which may approach a war here at home, between black and white.

The 1968 election will in large measure determine how the United States faces these and other crucial problems, and the nature and outcome of that election hinges on what happens between now and November.

What will be the outcome of the state primaries in the next few months? Will Westmoreland get his requested 206,000 troops? Will the Republicans take a chance on Richard ("the loser") Nixon, or will Rockefeller or some unforeseen "dark horse" get the nomination?

Has McCarthy got a chance? And finally the sixty-four dollar question: Can Kennedy rally enough support to dump unpopular but incumbent President Johnson?

For the answers to these and other exciting questions, keep your ears and eyes open during the coming months. Pick up a newspaper occasionally, and don't switch off the TV when the news comes on. You may be surprised to find that it rivals the re-runs for mystery and suspense.

Guest editorial by Marilyn Smith

Coed hopes all candidates work together in 1968-69

Now that elections are over, it's easy to sit back and think our duty is done.

It's true that the Student Council members have greater opportunity than the rest of us to innovate programs to improve our college. And, hopefully, they will do this next year.

But the Student Council does not have to have a monopoly on student government and action. In fact, it shouldn't.

To have a successful government, many students need to be involved: individuals or groups of students should come up with ideas or projects on their own — and then either work them out independently or else take them to the Council for consideration.

All the Stucco candidates last week had good ideas. One of the best things I heard was Marilyn Hoover's promise to work, even if he was not elected, toward closing the gaps between students.

I hope that all the defeated candidates have this attitude and will try to work out the good ideas they have even though they weren't elected.

Unhindered by the more mundane duties that go along with executive offices, these students are in an excellent position to employ the thinking they have done and the insights they have gained from running for offices to work toward making our college a better place for people to spend four years of their lives.

26 students will tour New York Washington, D.C.

Twenty-six students of the class of American Politics will leave March 30 for a week's trip to Washington, D. C., returning to McPherson April 6.

The group will leave by chartered bus and hope to arrive at Washington, D. C., Sunday, March 31. Most of Sunday will be spent sight-seeing around the city of Washington.

Beginning Monday morning and following through the week, the group will engage in interviews with members of Congress. The group will also be in attendance at committee hearings and will observe the sessions of the House of Representatives and Senate.

It is also hoped, too, that members of the group will be in conference in the Washington headquarters of the AFL-CIO and the Farm Bureau.

On Monday evening the group will attend an alumni meeting at which time Kenneth Weaver, a senior editor of National Geographic, will speak. On Tuesday evening the group plans a session with Dr. Elmer Staats, who is the Comptroller General of the United States.

On Friday April 5 the group will be in New York and will round up their trip with a visit to the United Nations.

Dr. Raymond L. Flory, dean of student affairs and professor of history and political science, is leader of the group.

Fischer is in charge of April 4 Convocation

Charles Fischer, assistant professor in English and theater, will be in charge of the 9 a.m. April 4 Convocation. He will probably use his puppets.

Robert Docking, governor of Kansas, was to be the speaker at today's Convocation. He was to base his talk on the future of higher education in the state of Kansas.

After speaking at Convocation, Docking was to hold a press conference at 10 a.m.

He was scheduled to speak at Central College at 11 a.m.

Strong conservative victory possible in CHOICE 68 vote

BY DEAN SELLER

If anyone makes a killing through CHOICE 68, the National Collegiate Presidential Primary, it could be the campus conservatives.

Although caricatured endlessly as dedicated young fascists obsessed with the mirage of exterminating insidious communism and related socialist end products, the fact remains that as a semi-professional political machine in the narrow, conventional sense of the word the student right is unequaled.

This professionalism has developed paradoxically enough, as a result of the incredible publicity that student leftists have received from the national press.

Their large and usually garish demonstrations have rudely thrust the less flamboyant conservatives far into the background — where, in the leftist scenario, they vegetate in deserved obscurity.

Actually, this guise of conservative anonymity is deceiving, for the vitality of the student right rests in its dedication to the democratic process. Student power for conservatives

Student challenges Mac Pac to state objectives, solutions

We get letters

Dear Editor:

The McPherson Peace Action Council wants to promote discussion on the involvement of the United States in the Vietnam war.

In order to carry on a meaningful discussion two prerequisites seem important: (1) a reasonable degree of objective background in the area to be discussed, and (2) a willingness to revise previously held conclusions.

At present it can and should be suggested that the Mac Pac is unable to meet the prerequisites for meaningful discussion.

The Mac Pac's criteria for opposing the U.S. policy is shaky. It chooses to look at the issues objectively through pacifist publications, excerpts from congressional debates — with the government defense left out, and a good solid look at McCarthy's candidacy.

The Mac Pac has been stricken with the wisdom of the numerous articles in newspapers and magazines which indict the foreign policy of the United States.

It is so unimpressed by publications supporting U.S. policy that it leaves them off its public information board, second floor, northwest corner, Mohler Hall.

From the above, it seems reasonable to assume that the Mac Pac, as an organization, has taken a rather one-sided and unobjective look at the policy of the United States in Vietnam.

If the Mac Pac truly wishes to have meaningful discussions, it must be willing to approach them openly, aware that it, as well as those who held a different point of view, must be willing to compromise.

When individuals engage in verbal discourse from diverse points of view and are unwilling to change these views, counterproductive argument results.

When individuals enter verbal discourse with a willingness to change their views, productive alternatives are realized through discussion.

The Mac Pac has indicated that it is unwilling to accept any alternative to immediate negotiations. It has rejected a compromise proposal for the succession of bombing for a stated period of time.

Consequently, what would an advocate of United States foreign policy in Southeast Asia, willing to compromise his strong military position, have to discuss with the Mac Pac?

The vigils of the Mac Pac are an additional effort to stir discussion. But it seems futile to discuss the matter with a group that has already made up its mind.

"We are here to express our concern and our opposition to present government policy in Southeast Asia." (from "Why We Are Here")

Only as an afterthought does the Mac Pac suggest, "We also hope to increase discussion about the war, and we invite you to talk with any one of us after the vigil." (From "Why We Are Here")

It seems as if the Mac Pac is more interested in argument than discussion.

It is the right of the Mac Pac to express its views. It is its responsibility to defend its position when challenged to do so.

The Mac Pac has been challenged in this publication by a statement of arguments against indecisive negotiations.

Harwick, Shenefelt

Mr. and Mrs. Carrol E. Harwick, McPherson, announce the engagement of their daughter, Bonnie Kay, to Leslie M. Shenefelt, son of Rev. and Mrs. Francis L. Shenefelt, Carleton, Neb.

Miss Harwick is a junior majoring in business administration. Mr. Shenefelt is also a junior, majoring in biology.

No wedding date has been set.

The Mac Pac is now challenged to publicly state its objections to United States policy in Vietnam and to submit a solution to these problems in an on-campus debate, at the location and time of the Mac Pac's choosing.

Bulldogs win second game of doubleheader

BY MIKE THOMPSON

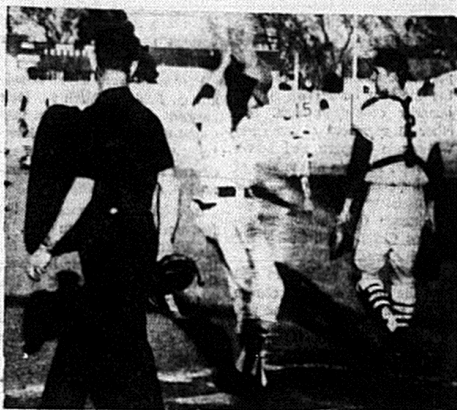

This is the first year since 1954 that McPherson College has fielded a baseball team.

The weather, which had been particularly bad for baseball, cooperated, and it was a good day for a game.

The one thing that wouldn't cooperate was the Sterling baseball team, at least in the first game. The first Sterling batter reached first on a walk, advanced to second on a balk, moved to third on a wild pitch and went home on an infield out.

The final score was 14-5 in favor of Sterling. Sullivan was the winning pitcher, going the distance for Sterling, and Borowski was the losing pitcher. He pitched four and two-thirds innings before being relieved by Falen, who pitched final innings.

In the hitting department, Knechtel went — 2 for 3, Stauf-

JIM STAUFFER, soph, Wichita triumphantly jumps on home plate after Denny Dahlquist, sr, Alexandria, Va., (number 15) hit a single scoring him to win the second game of a doubleheader against Sterling 3-2.

6 juniors, seniors are on track team

BY MIKE THOMPSON

This week we would like to introduce you to the junior and senior members of the track team.

Mike Fox is a graduate of Garfield High School. He has not participated in track since high school but is showing a great deal of desire and willingness to help where he can. He should be a definite asset to the squad. He is a physics major.

John Smith graduated from Owens Valley High School, Independence, Calif. He and his wife Chris came to Mac by way of Bakersfield College in Bakersfield, Calif.

In track he is a high jumper and triple jumper and should help make the team stronger. He has already set a school triple jump record of 42'1 1/2" this year. He is enrolled in pre-dental courses.

Larry DeTour is a McPherson High School graduate, coming from Chanute Junior College. "Bat" is a former quarter miler, but he will be running the half-mile this year. He is a physical education major.

John Lane is a graduate of Central High School in Piquia, Ohio. John transferred to McPherson last year from Ohio State. A miler in years past, John is working with the half mile and pole vault this year. Chemistry is his major.

Bob Parker is another graduate of McPherson High School. "Spook" is a high hurdler, intermediate hurdler, and quarter miler. He took second in both the high and intermediate hurdles in the National Junior College meet two years ago. He also was on a 440 relay team that took second at the Mexico City Relays.

Dave Eagles is a graduate of Assaria High School. He is working on the triple jump and broad jump. He is a former school record holder in the triple jump. He is a junior majoring in industrial arts.

fer 1 for 4, Dahlquist 1 for 3, Smith 1 for 4, and Hummel 1 for 1.

For the game, Sterling had 14 runs on 12 hits and had one error. McPherson had five runs on six hits and four errors plus numerous wild pitches and past balls.

In the second game of the doubleheader, McPherson started looking more like a ball team. The nervousness was gone, and the team had settled down. McPherson pulled it out by a score of 3-2, but had to go an extra inning to do it.

Steve Putloff was the winning pitcher, going the distance. He faced only 31 batters, and looked impressive for this early in the season. Josse was the losing pitcher.

For the game, Sterling had two runs on five hits with two errors. McPherson had three runs on seven hits and three errors. Hitting for the Bulldogs were: Stauffer, 1 for 3; Hummel, 1 for 4; Dahlquist, 3 for 4; Brown, 1 for 3; and Locavara, 1 for 3.

"YOU WERE SO MASCULINE, so decisive, Daddy!" says Mommy, Marilyn Smith, jr, Cedaredge, Colo., to Daddy, Nick Mosher, fr, Bellevue, Neb., as the American Dream, Manfred Cripe, sr, Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Barker, Sandy Kussart, fr, Cerro Gordo, Ill., look on.

Lab theater is April 2

"The American Dream" by Edward Albee will be the second lab theater this semester. The play will be Tuesday, April 2, at 7 p.m. on stage in Brown Auditorium. The play has been postponed from March 26.

Kerry Givens, soph, Nickerson, is directing the play under the supervision of Charles W. Fischer, assistant professor in English and theater.

The author of the play, Edward Albee, is also the author of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

The author has described the play as "... an examination of the American Scene, an attack on the substitution of artificial for real values in our society, of cruelty, emasculation and vacuity; it is a stand against the fiction that everything in this slipping land of ours is peachy keen."

The characters in the play are portrayed by Nick Mosher, fr, Bellevue, Neb.; Marilyn Smith, jr, Cedaredge, Colo.; Manfred Cripe, sr, Tucson, Ariz.; Sandy Kussart, fr, Cerro Gordo, Ill.; and Jean Keith, sr, Chicago.

Daddy is the "American Dream" after Mommy changes him like she wants him. Daddy and the "American Dream" are twins in a "before-after" situation.

Grandma behaves the way society (Mommy) dictates. Mrs. Barker is the agent between society and the individual.

NCT to present King Midas play

"King Midas and the Golden Touch" will be presented by the National Children's Theater March 29.

The performance will start at 4 p.m. in Brown Auditorium. Admission is 75 cents.

Edwin Child, the director, will play the King, Miss Kathy Everett will portray the Princess Dorothea, and Lawrence Mooncy will be Festi, the court jester.

The play is the usual story of King Midas. The King discovers he can turn anything he touches to gold, and is very happy. Disenchantment arises when he turns his food to gold and is not able to eat or drink anything.

He realizes that gold is not the most important thing in his life when he turns his daughter, Princess Dorothea, into gold.

American Association of University Women, the McPherson Chapter, is the sponsoring group that brings the NCT to McPherson.

Proceeds from the theater go toward fellowships for women who do graduate work.

Authors Club holds initiation

On the evening of Friday, March 15, a dinner and initiation ceremony for the Fifth District Kansas Authors Club was held at Friends University. Speaker for the evening was Dr. Emory K. Lindquist, president of Wichita State University.

Members from McPherson prior to the induction were Mrs. Dean Cotton and Prof. J. A. Blair. New members in McPherson initiated Friday night were Mrs. Homer Brunk, Mrs. H. V. Tucker, Mrs. Gordon Yoder, and Dr. Harley Stump.

This Authors Club is open also to students. To apply, the applicant must have some published work. This could be either three poems, two articles, two editorials, two short stories, one book, lyrics to two songs, or a combination of these.

Special manuscripts are accepted also, these being one television, radio, or motion picture script, or one play or pageant.

Other requirements, however, are taken into consideration. A list of the applicant's commendable credits, a signed statement by the sponsor in regards to the applicant's high status, or three original, unpublished manuscripts in salable form are sufficient for membership.

For more information about the Author's Club students should contact one of the members.

Literary paper to be published

Claudia Hanson soph, Boone, Iowa, as chairman of the committee working to publish a literary magazine, reports that the literary magazine itself will be postponed until next semester.

However, as a preview to this literary magazine, a literary paper will be put out this May.

Students are encouraged to submit poems, essays, photography and art work, or any other original literary work to this paper.

On April 22 there will be a meeting to organize the paper.

Flory to manage food preparation for banquet

Christine Flory, sr, McPherson, is managing the food preparation and serving for the Mother-Daughter Banquet at the McPherson Church of the Brethren, April 1.

Miss Flory's meal will be prepared for 200 people, which is the most to be served at any quantity cookery project. The other 11 members of the class will again prepare and serve. However, because of the size of the banquet, the Foods class will assist with serving, and the McPherson College Home Economics Chapter will be helping with dish washing.

The Women's Fellowship will plan the theme and take charge of the program; the theme will be "The Hand that Rocks Still Rules."

Miss Flory's menu includes fruit juice cocktail, meat loaf supreme, buttered macaroni, golden greenbeans, pineapple-carrot loss, butterhorns, butter sticks, preserves, cherry cake, coffee and milk.

The meal will be served at 6:15 p.m. for $1.25. Any profit will be donated to the Home Economics Chapter.

Documentary film

to be shown April 1

"Voyage of the Phoenix," 60 minute color documentary film, will be shown at 8 p.m. in Brown Auditorium, Monday April 1. It is the story of the ship which sailed to Haiphong with $10,000 worth of medical supplies in early 1967 under the sponsorship of a Quaker Action Group of Philadelphia.

"Voyage of the Phoenix" shows the events of the trip in chronological order—attempts to get passport validation in Hong Kong, having fears of being stopped by the U.S. Seventh Fleet in the Tonkin Gulf, and what occurs as they near the North Vietnamese shore.

Horace Champney, a member of the crew of the Phoenix, will speak on his experiences after the movie. Since this voyage, Dr. Champney has been writing and traveling about to speak on the Phoenix mission and his observations.

Profs will submit ideas, courses for inter-term

BY DONNA WINEGARDEN

Inter-term plans are developing along more concrete lines; ideas are still coming in, and various possibilities are under consideration.

Professors were asked to submit on Friday, March 22, their suggestions for the courses they would like to offer during inter-term. These will then be reviewed and sifted by the Educational Policies Committee.

Inter-term is planned for the four-week period from Jan. 6-31. Most courses will count for three semester hours; however, there is a possibility of a few one-hour seminars.

The inter-term courses will meet distribution requirements the same as regular semester courses.

Most departments are hoping to bring some novel approaches into their teaching methods and course organization. The absence of set requirements for classroom meetings gives the professors the freedom to decide the amount of classroom time necessary.

Some ideas under consideration for inter-term courses are field trips, which were tried successfully this past year, professor exchanges among ACCK colleges and team teaching within and across departments.

Students may also attend courses at other colleges; details of credits and course transfer are under consideration.

ACCK completes summer schedules

Summer class schedules for the six Associated Colleges of Central Kansas have been completed. Students may take a wide variety of courses in sessions which will last from two to eight weeks from May 27-August 16.

Credit hours are interchangeable between the six ACCK colleges — Bethany, McPherson, Kansas Wesleyan, Sterling, Bethel and Taber.

Guest lecturers and instructors will be brought to the campuses for special workshops to benefit future and present teachers.

McPherson College is offering a variety of courses of one to six weeks in duration. Included in these are six workshops for teachers. They will offer a field session in Mexican history.

Twenty-three courses are being offered in two and four week sessions at Bethel College. Included are several workshops for teachers.

Courses in history, English, German, economics and home economics may be taken at Kansas Wesleyan University. They also have a summer program in Mexico.

Kansas Wesleyan does not have on-campus housing and board for the summer session; the other five ACCK schools do.

Thirty-seven courses are being offered at Sterling College. In addition to two four-week sessions, several workshops will be available to teachers.

Complete listings of courses and other information about the schools are available from the academic deans of the six colleges. Pre-registration for the summer school session at the ACCK colleges should be made before May 17.

Those persons interested in the Mexico courses should contact the deans of the respective schools before May 1.
