Sturhahn gives talks today

Lawrence Sturhahn, professor in the departments of drama and English at Wichita State University, is speaking on campus today.

Sturhahn, an Associated Colleges of Central Kansas visiting lecturer in drama and English, spoke in Convocation this morning. His topic was "Modern Film-Making." He showed an award winning half-hour film, "Casals Plays," which he directed and produced.

He also discussed the film and avant-garde cinema in general.

Following the Convocation, he met with students in a forum session in the Student Union.

He met for lunch with persons interested in writing at 11:45 in the cafeteria.

This afternoon he will speak and meet with campus writers. He will speak on writing modern fiction at 1:15 p.m. in Mohler 212.

"Emotional Communication Through Fiction" will be his topic when he speaks in Harnly 101 at 3 p.m.

Individual campus writers will have a chance to meet with Sturhahn from 4:30-5:30 p.m.

Sturhahn will give an interpretation of Eugene O'Neill's life, "A Long Day's Journey into Night," at 7 p.m. in Harnly 101. The film of the book will not be shown.

Any interested person may attend the different programs and discussions this afternoon and evening.

Sturhahn and Warren Kliever, the other visiting ACKCK professor in English, will be visiting and lecturing on the other ACKCK campuses during the coming weeks.

Piano-duo presents final cultural series

The duo pianos of Harold and Patricia Barr will be in concert in Brown Auditorium at 3 p.m. Sunday March 2.

The concert numbers will range in style from rare and original two-piano music by the great composers to modern and popular numbers.

Included in the program will be: "Pastorale," Bach; "Fugue in C major," Bach; "Variations on a Theme of Beethoven, Opus 35," Camille Saint-Saens; "Rondo in C Major, Opus 73," Chopin; "Introduction and Dance for Two Pianos," Hemmer; "Fetes," Debussy; "Ritmo-Manual Infante," "Romance," Opus 17, Rachmaninoff; the finale from "New Dance," Reiger.

Harold and Patricia Barr have played in over 250 concerts and have made four orchestral appearances in 46 states and Canada.

For their concerts, the couple brings with them two Baldwin concert pianos.

Committee picks project theme

This year Communications Day, Thursday, April 17th, will have student involvement as its theme. A film, made on campus, as well as other films which are being brought in, will be shown.

Those on the committee for Communications Day are: Joel Burkholder, Jr., Idaho; Rita DeCoursey, soph, McPherson; Stan Hoffer, sr; McPherson, Dan Snyder, soph, Wichita; and Brian Summerhays, Jr., New York. Dr. David L. Eller, associate professor of philosophy and religion, is the sponsor.

Trustees meet, discuss new concerns, reports

The McPherson College Trustees will be on campus today, tomorrow and Saturday for their annual meeting.

Trustee activities will begin today noon when the Development Committee of the Board will meet.

The Development Committee will meet for lunch, and this evening the new members will get together at the President's Home.

J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College and Harold I. Mohler, chairman of the board, will meet with the new trustees Thursday evening to discuss the responsibility of being a McPherson College trustee.

The Friday morning faculty-trustee meeting will center around annual reports given by the president, dean of academic affairs, director of development, dean of students, business manager, and president of the student council.

Friday afternoon the Board will take action to approve the necessary bonds for Miller Library and interim construction financing.

Dr. G. J. Ikenberry, Jr., professor of biology, will be toastmaster for the annual faculty-trustee dinner Friday, 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

Invocation will be given by Dr. David Eller, associate professor of philosophy and religion, and Mr. Robert Mesrobian.

ACCK visiting professor in music, will entertain with song.

New faculty will be introduced to the trustees by Dr. Merlin L. Frantz, dean of academic affairs, and Dr. Melhorn will introduce new administration and other employees.

Introduction of new and re-nominated trustees will be made by Mr. Harold I. Mohler.

Recognition of faculty and administration celebrating their 25th, 20th and 15th years of employment at McPherson College will be made by Dr. Melhorn and Mr. Mohler.

Following the annual president's report, Dr. Dayton Rothrock, professor of education and psychology, will give the benediction.

Main concerns of the Board over the three-day meeting period will be faculty salaries, promotions, sabbatical leaves, college costs, the budget of 1969-70, alumni board merit citation recommendations, election of officers and committee assignments.

The annual trustee general meeting will end Saturday noon; following adjournment the executive committee and the finance and investment committee will meet.

The trustees are engaged in a variety of occupations. They are: Quinter Bosserman, telephone executive, Peace Valley, Mo.; John D. Bower, farmer and legislator, McLouth; Earl

J. Brubaker, president of Valley Concrete, Rocky Ford, Colo.; Wesley W. Darrow, school administrator, Hutchinson;

Donald R. Ferree, attorney, Panora, Iowa; Edward R. Frantz, insurance underwriter, Wichita; Dr. Winston K. Goering, veterinarian, Nampa, Ida.; George Grove, farmer, South English, Iowa; S. G. Hoover, farmer, Plattsburg, Mo.; P. R. Jamison, teacher, Ottawa; J. Paul Jewell, teacher, Kansas City;

Rev. Harvey C. Lehman, minister, Lincoln, Neb.; Delbert LeWallen, farmer, Bisbee, N. D.; Max G. McAuley, director of curriculum, Overland Park; M. Clare Miller, construction executive, McPherson; Harold I. Mohler, insurance executive Warrensburg, Mo.;

Milton L. Morrison, grain executive, Salina; Ernest A. Peterson, C.P.A., Wichita; Paul Rolston, farmer, Sheldon, Iowa; Herman H. Sudman, bank executive, McPherson; John E. Thomas, Sr., minister and executive director of CROP for the state of Iowa, Dallas Center, Iowa; Royal Yoder, farmer, Conway.

New members are: Orville Pote, retired teacher, Cushing, Okla.; Robert Bradshaw, accountant, Waterloo, Iowa; Wayne Bowman, instructor of electronics, Southern Colorado State College, Pueblo, Colo.; Wilbur Yoder, bank executive, McPherson.

Association will meet

"The Agony and the Promise of America" is the theme for the Twenty-fourth National Conference on Higher Education of the American Association for Higher Education.

Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College and Dr. Merlin L. Frantz, dean of academic affairs, will attend the meeting at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago March 2-5.

General sessions, beginning Sunday, March 2 will be devoted to moral dilemmas, structural flaws and problems in American life, and organizational malfunctioning of higher education.

Responses which higher education can or should make to these dilemmas in order to fulfill the "promise of America" will serve as the focus for the discussion groups on Monday and Tuesday.

Numerous aspects of education will be considered in the discussions, including the nature of student demands, the roles of trustees, administrators, faculty and students in decision-making, relationships of higher education to national policy, and a case study of a college as a microcosm of society.

Future directions will be considered at the Wednesday morning sessions.

Among those speaking at the general sessions will be Elizabeth Sewell, poet and president of the experimental college at Fordham University; Robert McAfee Brown, Stanford University theologian, speaking on moral dilemmas; James M. Gavin, retired Army general, presently chief executive officer, Arthur D. Little, Inc., on rebuilding American cities;

Rollo May, New York psychologist and author, discussing other approaches to reality besides rationalism; and Edmund S. Muskie, U. S. Senator from Maine.

Colleges communicate, explore student rights, freedoms, actions

Student rights and freedoms were explored at an Associated College of Central Kansas workshop on Feb. 21 and 22 at Bethel College.

Representatives from the administration, student personnel deans, faculty and student body of the six colleges discussed the joint statement on rights and freedoms, compared existing conditions on the different campuses and examined how the statement might serve each campus.

The workshop was a valuable experience for communication among administrators, faculty and students as well as among the ACKCK colleges. It was a time to think and possibly a starting point for action on one's own campus.

"Student - College Relationship, What It Should Be" was the main lecture by Dr. Peter H. Armacost, president of Ottawa University and member of the joint drafting committee for the statement, who served as consultant for the workshop.

Dr. Armacost saw three options for the student-college relationship: the student as boss, the student as ward and the student as junior colleague.

An example of the student as boss in the Latin American university where students completely control the school.

The student as the ward of the school is the common en loco parentis concept which views the college as foster parents. The prime objective is the welfare and maturation of the student.

The legal doctrines in this country reflect this view with the college being held responsible for much that students themselves do.

In Dr. Armacost's opinion, this option gives too little responsibility to the students, prolonging immaturity and promoting conformity. The opportunity to learn from making decisions and taking their consequences is denied.

The third option, which Dr. Armacost prefers, is the view of the student as a junior colleague in a community of scholars in the pursuit of learning.

The colleagues would each relinquish certain freedoms to achieve the objectives, and a delicate balance between the junior and senior members would be determined by ability demonstrated.

It must be acknowledged that students are novices in the use of freedom because they have had little experience. At times they seek simple solutions to complex problems and have few interests in the academic community.

However, Dr. Armacost believes the remedy is not less freedom but more, and points out that the rapidity of student maturation is related to the level of recognition of student maturity.

Too much regulation hinders growth toward maturity, while at the same time in no sense is there freedom from responsibility.

Dirksen attains doctor's degree

Dennis A. Dirksen, assistant professor in industrial arts education, has completed work for the Doctor of Education degree from Utah State University, Logan, Utah.

Dirksen's major is industrial education and his minors are educational administration and secondary education. His dissertation is titled "The Functions of the Two Year College as a Supportive Force in Industrial Arts Education in the State of Kansas."

Martha, the Vandellas will appear March 22

The world-renowned group "Martha Reeves and the Vandellas... 100 per cent" will appear at the Roundhouse, Saturday, March 22. The group will be sponsored by McPherson College.

A few years back, Martha Reeves and the Vandellas were presented a music plaque by comedian Phil Silvers. The presentation was in recognition of the Trio's sizzling rock classic, "Heat Wave," then nominated for a "Grammy Award" as the best rhythm and blues record of the year.

Five best selling albums and twelve hit singles later, the trio had become one of the hottest recording acts in the nation.

Their status is continuously being enforced, as was evidenced when they recorded their live album — Martha and the Vandellas Live! — at one of Detroit's leading night clubs.

When it was announced that the girls would appear at the club for three nights of recording, public response was overwhelming. The club's management was unable to handle the reservations.

Good things seem to come in three's for the trio, who has had three trips abroad. They had been organized the same number of years prior to their tremendous take-off.

Their first popular disk was "Come and Get These Memories." The list of recordings following the initial release ring out with familiarity to fans of the trio, "Dancing in the Street," "Quicksand," "My Baby Loves Me," "Ready for Love," "Jimmy Mack," "Love Bug Leave My Heart Alone," and their current hit release, "Honey Chile."

Equally familiar to fans on a name basis, lead singer Martha Reeves and first soprano Rosalind Ashford have been singing together since joining the same community center as youngsters.

The other Vandella, Lois Reeves, Martha's 19-year-old sister, is the newest addition to the trio. She replaced second soprano Betty Kelly, now venturing in the performing arts as a soloist.

Tickets may be purchased prior to the performance for $3 per person or at the door for $3.50 per person.

Kansas Campuses

A resolution supporting aid to Biafra was approved by the student assembly at Kansas State College of Pittsburg.

Last week the statement accompanied by student signatures was sent to President Nixon and Kansas Senator James Pearson. Also, $100 from their banquet fund was reallocated to Biafran relief.

The student council at Tabor College, Hillsboro, recently passed a recommendation to the administration regarding chapel.

Under the proposal students would receive one-half unit credit per semester for chapel and a pass-fail system based on attendance would be maintained.

A dorm hours proposal which would eliminate hours for junior and senior women on the Bethany College campus, Lindsborg, has been submitted by a student committee.

Freshmen and sophomores would both have hours, and the latter would be allowed 16 late leaves. No action has yet been taken on the proposal.

In an editorial in the State College Leader of Fort Hays State College, McPherson's key-card lock used in Dotzour Hall is cited as an alternative to the key system presently used there.

At Hays sophomore, junior and senior women have the key system privilege.

Bishop James A. Pike, former Episcopal Bishop and presently member of the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions, will speak in the Kansas Union Ballroom at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, on March 5 at 7:30 p.m.

Wichita State University will host a conference for representatives from residence halls across Kansas on March 7, 8 and 9.

Highlighting the conference will be a banquet and lecture on "An Experience in Communication" by Marty Williams of Penn State.

"A University Collects" is the current art exhibit at Spooner Hall, University of Kansas.

The collection includes a wide representation of painting since World War II, including works by noted artists such as Hans Hoffman, William de Konning and Paul Jenkins.

The display, on loan from the University Art Museum of the University of California, Berkeley will be exhibited through March 9.

Electric art is on exhibit in the Kansas State Union now through March 15. Sculpture and painting illustrating light and kinetics as well as two films explaining the exhibit are being shown.

The art department and Fine Arts Council are sponsoring the show.

The College of Emporia will sponsor its seventh annual Jazz Festival featuring Clark Terry on March 1 in Memorial Auditorium of Kenyon Hall.

Terry, a member of the Doc Severinsen band on the Johnny Carson Tonight Show, will appear along with the C. of E. S. a g. Band. Tickets will be available at the door for $1.00 and $1.50.

We get letters

Writer requests specific insults

Dear Editor:

Since thoughts have arisen in my mind after reading the article of the student from Biafra, Nigeria, I feel the need to publicly air them as I believe the question which gave rise to them is of fundamental importance to the world community which will necessarily be faced with problems of collective co-existence if not survival.

First, I request that Nwosu specifically state exactly how the last Convocation speaker directly insulted the African community. If, perchance, he did so in private post-Convocation conversation with Nwosu, would he kindly inform us in specifics as to how he did so?

I merely request an explanation in specific, unequivocal terms which would be enlightening to members of a Western, white society.

Distinctly, I would request an explanation not designed to politely please members of a nation which serves as a host to foreign students.

Apparently, the white man's ability of verbal expression becomes so inadequate, despite the expanded level of the world interaction and the increasing sophistication of mankind's understanding, that even when he speaks in a positive manner about alien cultural characteristics, he insults the members of that culture, because they hold these characteristics, such as their native language, very dear, if not sacred.

If this be true, as I increasingly suspect it is, then the cultures on both sides of the Atlantic will fail to communicate with each other in a logical manner because of their inability to understand and tolerate the unconscious insulting which ensues.

The two cultures, because of the division of the once single human race thousands of years ago, are undeniably different to a very great extent, so unconscious insulting through the idiosyncrasies of language translation will inevitably occur.

Nevertheless, it would seem that if the human race is to ever attempt to collectively solve problems brought on by the exigencies of modern interdependent economies and international politics, all parties involved will have to develop the ability to understand the nature and reasons behind what seems to them, insults.

For those of us who will live out our lives in the future, which will be drastically altered by changing international power structures, it conceivably would help to prepare us to more adequately meet the challenges posed if we were enlightened on the specifics regarding the insult to the African community.

Bass speaks on races

Dr. William Bass

Speaker for the March 6 Convocation will be Dr. William M. Bass, associate professor of physical anthropology at the University of Kansas, Lawrence.

He will speak on "The Races of Man."

Dr. Bass specializes in fossil man, anatomy and physical types with special attention to the American Indian.

He is one of very few Americans who are trained to classify skeletal materials. Consequently, he is an on-call consultant to the Kansas Bureau of Investigation and other area law-enforcement agencies.

Dr. Bass has worked with the Smithsonian Institution on summer projects in the River Basin Surveys for the past few summers.

During the summer of 1964, Dr. Bass was asked to classify the skeletal material of 57 individuals found in an unusual excavation site in Iran.

In 1965-66, he analyzed human skeletal material from a Leavenworth, S.D. site.

Rothrock speaks at Tabor dinner

Dr. Dayton Rothrock, Professor of Education and Psychology, was the guest speaker at the Tabor College teacher appreciation dinner, Tuesday, Feb. 25.

His topic was "The New in Education."

Assistant business manager is accepted

Serving as assistant business manager for the Spectator for the remainder of the semester will be Marilyn Shepherd, soph, Ft. Scott.

Betty Jones draws merit

By Dr. Doris Coppock

Grotesque—beautiful—graceful—meaningful—ugly—expressive—esthetic—dissonant—abstract—whimsical. These descriptive terms could be appropriately applied to nearly every art form.

We had opportunity, rare on these Kansas plains, to see examples of the art of movement in our concert of Modern Dance by Betty Jones and Fritz Ludin, to which all of the above terms could be applied.

Their excellence of technique and body discipline was evident throughout the program, initiated by "Invention," a piece suggesting spontaneous improvisation. Miss Jones' emotional sensitivity was beautifully expressed in her two solos from Limon's choreography to Kodaly's "Missa Brevis." In this dance she portrayed the role of Mary, the Mother of Jesus, in her extremes of joy and sorrow.

Reactions in the audience to "Journey No. 2 for an Angel and a Clown" were varied. Some compositions, whether on canvas, musical score or stage, can be enjoyed as "art for art's sake." This was my approach to the third piece, after Miss Jones stated her own uncertainty regarding Mrs. Wittman's concept of this work.

Without trying to subject my ideas into the piece, I thoroughly enjoyed it for its movement, its change in moods, the contrast in characters and use of props. Several in the audience appreciated this dance for the meanings they found in it, while others related to the "Journey" not at all.

Selections from "There is a Time" seemingly communicated to more in the audience than any other dance. This was due partially to the familiarity of the source of ideas and to Miss Jones and Mr. Ludin's demonstrations of meanings of specific movements.

The unifying aspect of the circle gave every observer a point of reference which was meaningful. This group of dances provided a delightful and thought-provoking conclusion to an exciting evening with the dance.

Club elects new officers

Sociology Club has elected officers and has started planning for this term.

Elected to serve on the executive committee are Gary Stauffer, fr. Rocky Ford, Colo., Susan Krehbiel, soph, McPherson, and Rachel Bittle, jr, Myersville, Md.

Plans are being made for a workshop in Wichita through the Church of the Brethren mission point during spring vacation. Anyone interested is encouraged to participate, and definite arrangements will be announced soon.

Pictures from the interterm sociology classes to Jamaica and Chicago will be shown at a future meeting. Also, service and social activities are being scheduled, including a possible get-together with sociology clubs in the other ACK schools.

Outgoing officers are Gene Roth, sr. Bolling Springs, Pa., Nancy Brown, sr. Concord, Mass., and Dave Huber, sr. McPherson.

Anyone interested in sociology is invited to attend any or all the activities. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. March 5 in the coffeehouse.

A Cappella choir sings at service

The A Cappella Choir will be singing at the Church of the Brethren morning worship service March 2. Plans are being made for the choir to sing there once each month.

This year the Chamber Choir is also taking part in the church services. They also will be singing at the Church of the Brethren once each month.

Each choir will present a spring concert. Both choirs are under the direction of Donald Frederick, professor of vocal music.

Women play KU, win championship

The McPherson College women's basketball team will meet the University of Kansas in the McPherson gym at 6 p.m. tonight.

The team has continued to win by defeating Bethel, the only team to previously beat them, and by capturing three victories and the small college championship at Emporia Sports Day.

In the Feb. 20 game with Bethel, a great team effort led the coeds to a 43-32 win. Mary Hutchison was high scorer with 18 and Leanna Mease had 16. On Feb. 22 the team traveled to Emporia to play in the basketball Sports day Tournament along with 13 other Kansas colleges.

McPherson won the smaller schools division by defeating Marymount of Salina, College of Emporia, and Mount St. Scholastica College of Atchison.

Against Marymount, Miss Hutchison scored 20 points while Miss Mease added 13 and Kathy Rogers 12 to give McPherson a 49-36 win.

Miss Hutchison again threw in 20 points as College of Emporia fell to McPherson 39-23 in the second round.

In the championship game McPherson ran over Mount St. Scholastica 48-25. Miss Hutchison led in scoring with 18 while Miss Mease and Miss Rogers each added 11.

Members of the women's team, coached by Dr. Doris Coppock, professor of physical education, are Pam Burns, soph, Westwood, Mass.; Diana Christensen, soph, McPherson; Chris Greve, soph, Unionville, Iowa; Peggy Gurley, fr, Perryton, Texas; Ann Herbst, fr, LaVerne, Calif.

Mary Hutchison, fr, Thomas, Okla.; Estelle Masse, fr, Falls Church, Va.; Neva McNicholas, jr, Landing, N. J.; Leanna Mease, fr, Fredericksburg, Iowa; and Kathy Rogers, jr, Brooklyn, Iowa.

Rothrock gives instruction

Saturday, Feb. 22, Dr. Dayton Rothrock, professor education and psychology, presented individualized and computer instructions at a conference in Scott City sponsored by the Kansas State Teachers Association.

The theme of this conference was "New Practices and Designs in Curriculum."

Rogers runs independent

Kathy Rogers, jr, Brooklyn, Iowa, has decided that this spring instead of running for the Topeka Cosmos, she will run as an independent and, when possible, for McPherson College.

She will run the mile or the 1500 meter and the half mile.

Miss Rogers has been training in the afternoons and will increase her program when basketball season ends.

She plans to participate in the ACK meets, the Missouri Valley AAU, and other meets in the area.

Also on her running agenda are the Collegiate Nationals held in May in Texas. If there are other girls interested in participating in the Collegiate Nationals, they may contact Miss Rogers.

FCA selects officers, chapel

The McPherson College Chapter of Fellowship of Christian Athletes elected new officers at their Feb. 19 meeting.

The new officers are Dick Stalcup, soph, Topeka, president; Dave Smith, jr, McCune, vice-president; and Phil Stover, fr, Manhattan, secretary.

FCA is planning to present a chapel sometime during this second semester.

Association has student meeting

Students interested in summer camps for mentally retarded children are invited to attend the McPherson Association for Retarded Children meeting on Monday, March 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school special education room.

The president of Camp Wonderful Association will be present to explain the program and opportunities for college students to work in it.

Those desiring further information or transportation should contact Mrs. G. J. Ikenberry, Jr., at 241-3258.

Basketball season ends

Bulldogs met Sterling, trounced Swedes 78-76

The McPherson College Bulldogs brought their season record in Kansas College Athletic Conference play to 8-11 by defeating the Bethany College Swedes 78-76.

The final game of the season was played at Sterling Tuesday, Feb. 25.

The Bethany game was won in the last four seconds by a field goal scored by Jim Mowry. The game went into overtime with a 76-76 score. After stalling for 1:46, Larry DeTour stalled to Mowry who scored the winning points.

The game was close during both halves, with the ball changing hands 17 times. The score was tied eight times.

The Bulldogs led Bethany in scoring percentages from the floor and Bethany led at the free throw line.

McPherson had 46 per cent from the field compared to Bethany's 41 per cent. At the free throw line, Bethany boasted 80 per cent compared to the Bulldogs' 63 per cent.

John Smith was top scorer with 28 points to his credit. Mowry followed close behind with 24 points. Mowry was hitting from all areas around the basket while Smith was hitting best under the basket.

The game brought Bethany's seasonal record to 3-15.

The box score:
H. Wright 3 2 4
Monke 0 0 2
DeTour 4 0 1
Chenoweth 6 0 5

1969 track season opens with indoor meet March 8

On March 8, the Kansas College Athletic Conference Indoor Track Meet on Kansas State indoor track will open the 1969 track season.

Currently there are 21 track men working out every day. There are also several basketball players who will join the team at the end of basketball season.

The team will consist of eight returning lettermen plus many talented trackmen who have joined the team this year. They will be striving to better last year's effort of 12 new school records.

In addition to several dual and triangular meets, McPherson will also host the ACK Relays, the KCAC Conference Meet and the Missouri Valley AAU Championship Meet on the home track.

Art Ray, head track coach, summed up this year's prospects by commenting, "We have more depth than we had last year and we should have a very successful season."

ACCK prepares for ski weekend

Forty students will be spending a weekend in Colorado skiing March 7-9.

The Associated Colleges of Central Kansas sponsored trip will be to Winter Park, Colo., and the bus which has been chartered is already full.

The weekend will include lessons for beginning skiers. Students from the six ACK colleges were able to sign up for the trip.

Class meets in Ed. building

The College church school class will meet March 2 in the Educational Building, room 102, of the church.

The topic will be a study of the book, "Your God is Too Small," by J. B. Phillips.

Dr. G. J. Ikenberry, Jr., professor of biology, will lead the discussion.

Players present 'A Thousand Clowns'

ON STAGE REHEARSAL — Cast members of "A Thousand Clowns" practice for performances March 7 and 8 under the direction of Tom Nee, sr, McPherson.

On Friday, March 7 and Saturday, March 8 at 8:00 p.m. the McPherson College Drama Department will present "A Thousand Clowns," a two-act comedy by Herb Gardner.

Tom Nee, a senior majoring in speech and drama, will direct the play, under the supervision of Charles Fischer, assistant professor of English and Theater. Fischer is also technical director and set designer. Dennis Boller is stage manager, and Ann Linville is in charge of properties.

The cast includes: Terry Johnson, soph, as Murray Burns; Mike Knoetgen, a fourteen-year-old ninth-grader, as his nephew Nick; Richard Hanly, fr, as Albert Amundson; Neva McNicholas, jr, as Sandra Markowitz; Alan Flory, jr, as Arnold Burns, and John Petersen, soph, as Leo Herman.

The set will be non-realistic in style and will require the use of the audience's imagination.

According to Nee, the play deals with "a lovable eccentric's clash with the establishment." A conflict arises when two social workers become concerned with the fact that Murray's nephew Nick is staying with him, and they decide to investigate the situation.

Profs attend conference

Dr. Dayton Rothrock, professor of education and psychology, and Dwight McSpadden, assistant professor in education, are attending a conference, Feb. 26 through March 1, at the Conrad Hilton, in Chicago, Ill., sponsored by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

The theme of the conference is "Reality and Relevance: Today's Agenda for Teacher Education."

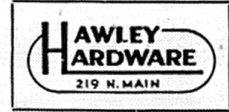

While in the Chicago area, Dr. Rothrock will visit the Elk Grove Village Schools in Elk Grove, Ill. to study their methods of individually prescribed instruction.

English teachers meet in Topeka

The Kansas Association of Teachers of English will meet March 1. The meetings will be held at Topeka in the Topeka High School.

Dr. Dudley Bailey of the University of Nebraska will speak on making a new English curriculum in our schools. Dr. Kenneth Rothwell of the University of Kansas will talk on Carl Sandburg.

There will also be small group meetings for anyone interested.

Government awards $6500

McPherson College has been awarded $6500 by the government for use in the Law Enforcement Education Program. According to the Student Application and Note, only full-time degree enrolled students are eligible to receive a Law Enforcement Student Loan.

Only degree enrolled part-time or full-time students currently employed by a public law enforcement agency, who agree to remain with their employing agency for at least two years after completing their educational program, are eligible for a grant.

Full-time degree enrolled students currently employed by a public law enforcement agency may apply for both a loan and a grant.

Full-time degree enrolled students not currently employed by a public law enforcement agency are only eligible for a Law Enforcement Student Loan if they promise to seek employment with a public law enforcement agency either during, or upon completion, of their course of study.

Students must be taking courses related to law enforcement, and those that are helpful in improving job skills and work ability in the law enforcement officer.

Loans may not exceed $750 per semester, and grants may not exceed $300 per semester.

A person may cancel his loan at 25 per cent per year by serving with a law enforcement agency at the local, state, or federal level.

For the current term, grants totaling $730 have been awarded to three part-time students who are presently law enforcement officers. These grants must be used for tuition fees and books, not for living expenses.

A loan of $750 has been awarded to a full-time student, currently enrolled at McPherson College, who plans to join the FBI or another law enforcement agency following graduation.

For further information concerning these loans and grants, contact Guy Hayes, director of financial aids.

Hughbanks hosts MCY meeting

Mrs. Monroe Hughbanks, assistant professor of languages, faculty adviser for the McPherson College YMCA-YWCA, hosted the MCY in her home in Buhler Monday evening, February 24.

Included on the agenda was folk singing, election of publicity chairman for the YMCA and YWCA, a discussion of the future of MCY, and a discussion of the books for India project.

The books for India project will be started in the near future and will include contributions from the students and the faculty.

As stated by Carolyn Dell, sr, Enid, president of the YWCA, "This is a service project to involve the total MCY."

Bette Davis acts as "Charlotte"

"Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte" starring Bette Davis, Olivia de Havilland, Agnes Moorehead, and Mary Astor, will be shown at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 1, in Brown Auditorium. As Miss Charlotte, Bette Davis rummages through the psyche of a Southern belle who first appears, already acting a bit strange, one memorable evening in 1927.

During a ball, someone slips out to the summer house and takes a cleaver to Charlotte's married lover, who has just killed her.

Now, the creaky mansion where Charlotte has lived in unkempt seclusion for decades has to be torn down to make way for a bridge.

Jody Duffy and Don Davis reign as king and queen

REIGN OVER DANCE — Reigning as king and queen of the "Holiday of Hearts" dance Saturday night were Don Davis, sr, Harrisburg, Pa., and Jody Duffy, sr, Abilene.

Hearts and snowflakes transformed the basement of the Student Union into a "Holiday of Hearts," Saturday night.

Elected to reign over the dance as queen and king were Jody Duffy, sr, Abilene, and Don Davis, sr, Harrisburg, Pa. The queen was presented with a carnation scepter and the king received a carnation boutonniere.

Music for the semi-formal dance was provided by an instrumental duo, the Tymer-Beckley Union.

The dance was sponsored to promote social activities on campus which give students a chance to practice some of the social graces.
