COACH STATES DEBATE PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

Tryouts To Be Held On The Evening Of Nov. 21, At 6:30

TWENTY ARE TRYING OUT

How To Attend Coaches Meeting At Kansas City, Missouri

Fri., Nov. 1.—Prof. Maurice A. Hess, debate coach, has announced that the men's debate tryout will be held Thursday evening, November 21, at 6:30 P. M.

According to Prof. Hess the prospects for a good tryout are excellent. At least twenty men have signified their intention of entering the tryout.

The official wording of the debate question this year is, "Resolved, that the nation should adopt a plan of complete disarmament excepting such forces as are needed for police purposes." The men will try for sides on their debate question in room 21 at 1:15 on November 11.

Those working on the debate question will find a good deal of available material at the office of the librarian.

On November 11, 12, Prof. Hess will go to Kansas City where he will attend a meeting of the debate coaches of Missouri and Kansas. At this time the debate schedules are usually made out. Prof. Hess is secretary of the Kansas Association of Debate Coaches. He is rated as one of the most outstanding coaches in the state and he has produced teams that are a credit to any institution.

The men who are entering the tryout are Melvin R. Landis, William G. Guitman, Ward Williams, John Brown, Donald Bowers, William Grant, Clevo Hill, Otto Whitebeck, Blane Harris, Dwight Newburg, Kenneth Bilkhofer, John Lehman, Harry Bernard, Guy Hayes, Kenneth Bryan, Lloyd Dings, Harry Brodwin, Ernest Wing, Ernest Betts, Roy Keebler and probably others.

GOOD TRAIN CONNECTIONS FOR THIS EVENING'S GAME

Students wishing to witness the night football game this evening between the McPherson College football team and the Hutchinson Junior College team will have good train connections between here and Hutchinson. The Rock Island leaves here this evening for Hutchinson at 6:20 and another train returns to McPherson this evening about mid-night.

CHURCHILL LEADS

C. E. PROGRAM

Sun., Nov. 3.—A worship program of unusual strength and inspiration was held under the direction of Jessie Churchill this evening in the opening of C. E.

Vocal numbers by the Misses Ellen and Irene Steinburg and Helen Fisher and instrumental numbers by Mary Swain and Lawrence Turner. For very appropriate songs following the worship portion reports on the Marine conference were given by Jessie Churchill, Ethel Marie, Edna Hoover, and Lila and Evelyn Flocks. Many practical suggestions were offered. A number of representatives of the downtown C. E. groups were present.

Rev. Bowman will open the C. E. study of the question of World Peace next Sunday evening. This topic promises to be interesting. It is a vital question on which all youth should be thinking.

McPHERSON COLLEGE MAY ENTER TRI-STATE TOURNAMENT

Thurs., Oct. 21.—McPherson College has been invited to send two teams of debaters to Southwestern College at Winfield to a three-state Forensic tournament on December 7. Prof. Hess says that McPherson will probably send representatives to this tournament. Many men are interested in debate this year making competition keen.

EIGHT NEW MEMBERS IN THE THESPIAN CLUB

Thurs., Oct. 31.—The Thespian Club approved the report brought by the tryout committee and elected eight persons to membership as a result of the tryouts held the first three days of this week. Twenty-eight people entered the tryouts and the eight recommended were the unanimous choice of the judges. Those elected to membership were: Doris Ballard, Lucille Crable, Mildred Doyle, Edmar Kiera, Otto Whitebeck, Philip Lawton, John Berkebile and Gay Hayes.

Tryouts for the play chosen by the club will be held within the club. It is probable that the play will be presented before the Christmas vacation. Some definite action has been taken concerning it and plans will be completed by the end of this week.

The club is eager that all members who can, will try out for the play, and that by cooperation with the director, Mrs. L. H. Gates, a real play may be well produced.

BOTH "Y" CABINETS MEET TOGETHER

Wed., Oct. 23.—The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets held a joint meeting in the Y. W. room at six-thirty this evening. Reverend Rufus Bowman of Elgin, Illinois, who is conducting the revival meetings at the Methodist Church met with the group. Emory Metzger, president of the men's Association opened the meeting with prayer and introduced Rev. Bowman who gave an inspirational talk on personal sanctification after which he held a discussion with the members of the cabinets on personal problems and religious possibilities.

BOWMAN EXPRESSES VIEWS ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Sun., Nov. 4.—In an interview with our evangelist, Rev. Rufus Bowman, he commented very favorably upon the religious attitude of the student body. Many of them are taking an active interest in the meetings, and are thinking seriously upon the great truths of life.

Reverend Bowman seems to us from Elgin, Illinois where he has been serving for the past six weeks as General Secretary of the Board of Religious Education. In this capacity he meets leaders of the Christian church from all parts of the country.

Reverend Bowman believes in his work of evangelization through education because he believes in young people. Young people are seeking for a rational religion, or in other words they are not satisfied with a man's conception of God and a child's conception of the universe. Young people give attentive ears to the discussions of the great realities of life. They respond to worthy challenges. They like life tasks.

There is no conflict between evangelism and religious education for religious education is a constructive type of evangelism.

CAMPUS CALAMITIES

Dear The Spectator:—Yeah, I ain't out of a keen day for the game last night. What game? The "son" game of course. How'd you know it?

"How'd you know? Well, I ain't didn't know it either but he beams aware of it after so long. We hear that one of the professors of our Alma Mater's faculty just got in his heater ward in the trunk. Since last night he has not been at work. Nothing is impossible, therefore, I ain't nothing. Seriously though—several interesting happenings happened upon our dear campus which are not of the ordinary to say the least. For instance—

—how did all the beds in Fehnestrick get disintegrated and freighted up on the floor? How did all the dresser drawers become mixed up, etc.? How did the chairs in some of the class rooms become reversed in their natural positions? Wherever did it must have thought that the ideal position

McPHERSON COLLEGE REUNION HELD IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Kan., Nov. 1.—A very pleasant reunion of McPherson College alumni was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hoover, 3040 July street this evening. A six o'clock dinner was served to a group of teachers attending the State Teachers Convention and other M. C. graduates of Kansas City.

There were no formal toasts. But our Alma Mater, the alumni, teaching and personal friendships were among the subjects of conversation.

CHURCH EVANGELIST SPEAKS AT Y. M. MEETING

Thurs., Oct. 23.—"What Happens When We Pray?"

Reverend Bowman says prayer is not magic. It is not a signed blank check to fill out, nor is it simply work that the recipient of prayer is fellowship—fellowship of friend with a stronger friend much as we comprehend others' ideas but do not actually see the parish.

Those who think of prayer alone as an asking process do not need to give up prayer. It would be much better to change the concept to one of fellowship.

God is interested in our desires and everything which concerns us as well as our earthly father is interested in what concerns his children.

God knows what we want and need even before we ask but he cannot give unless we have the will to receive. Prayer changes man's attitude, not God's. Prayer is (renewed, disposition, attitude. The proper attitude is "Thy will, not mine be done."

QUADRANGLE GIVES PRIZES FOR ANNUAL PURCHASES

Fri., Nov. 1.—It was announced in chapel this morning that the Quadrangle, McPherson College yearbook, would give each class a ten dollar prize if they attained a hundred per cent annual purchase. The Quadrangle sale will be held during the chapel period Wednesday, November 13.

for the attainment of mental nourishment would be that of the upside down effort. So it goes.—
The Peterson Ford took a sudden and queer turn that it also wanted to do some "middle reading." Well, "Dullness of History"—perhaps, looks appear to be going up—up the walls of the library.
Listen my children and you shall know of the girl who was so dumb she thought that Paris Green was a golf course (with apples to Mr. Laverne of Chicago and points in that vicinity, incidentally). The U. S. A. squib originated from Christine Muller of Missouri, it begins in giving results (how credit it does). Yes, sir, there is one sin I don't wish to commit and that is plagiarism—but when you "plunge" or "she has an 'ism'" what can you do?

MANY VISITORS ON CAMPUS DURING THE WEEK END

Sun., Nov. 3.—During the week and many friends and alumnae of McPherson College visited the campus because of the opportunity afforded them as a result of the state teachers meetings. Following are a few of the visitors:

E. Wagener and son Charles of Hastings, Nebraska.

BOWMAN SPEAKS TO WORLD SERVICE GROUP

Thurs., Oct. 31.—Rev. Bowman spoke to the World Service Group this evening, pointing out some of the special needs of the world for young people who are willing to live sacrificially enough to fill them.

Four special fields were pointed out with particular needs of each stressed: The ministry, especially pastors of churches in the open country; missionaries, especially home missionaries who can build up a strong home base; religious educators, real pioneers in our ultra modern materialistic civilization; and Christian business men, men who can live Christian lives in business and whose finances are dedicated to the Lord—these are some of the needs of the world today.

THE PERFECT FRIENDSHIP DISCUSSED IN Y. W. C. A.

Thurs., Oct. 23.—"The relationship which existed between Jesus and His Father and God was a Perfect Friendship," Ruth Truitt, leader of the Y. W. C. A. meeting this morning, declared.

She illustrated her point by quoting the statements of famous people concerning their conceptions of friendship. Two talks and a musical number constituted the remainder of the program.

As the girls assembled, Helen Eberly played an organ solo after which the group sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Following the scripture reading and prayer Grace Heckman spoke on Christ's Fellowship with Man pointing out the elements of strength and beauty in this relationship.

Jessie Churchill then told of the implicit trust which he placed in God in his friendship with Him. Mrs. Rufus Bowman will speak in the group next Tuesday on the general theme of Divine Friendship and Prayer.

NININGER WELL PLEASED WITH HIS DISCOVERIES

Has Encountered Rough Roads And Extreme Cold Weather

NOW IN MEXICO CITY

Will Be In Mexico City Election Day—Expresses No Danger

Professor H. H. Nininger has reached Mexico City and is well pleased with his discoveries and observations made so far on his trip into the interior. The professor has encountered many interesting and unusual experiences on this lap of his trip.

He says that rough roads and extremely cold weather have caused them some discomfort, but he has had no trouble with health. He made some pictures of Mexican farmers using oxen teams for plowing. As Nininger neared Mexico City he said the roads became a little better and he saw no reason for giving up the trip.

The professor and his interpreter are receiving much attention from the natives. The American way of camping is strange to them, and Nininger says that their conversations are more than the native revealed has.

Mr. Nininger told the scientists at the college in Mexico City where they could find a meteorite that fell in 1878. The next day it was found, and one of our already famous professors gained more renown because of his careful study and observation.

He will be in Mexico City election day, but says that in case of any disturbances he will be well protected from danger.

ONLY TWO TRY OUT FOR WOMEN'S DEBATE

Fri., Nov. 1.—The Women's Debate tryout is set for Tuesday, November 27. As yet only two names have been handed in to the coach signifying their intention. If there is to be a women's debate team it is argued that quite a few more hand in their names at once. The debate question is the same as is to be used in the men's debate.

PICTURE NOTED CHEMIST UNVEILED AT MEETING

Thurs., Oct. 31.—A large picture of Dr. Jew Rowson, pioneer chemist of America, was unveiled this afternoon by Arthur Hershey, son of Dr. J. Willard Hershey, at the regular meeting of the Chemistry Society. The picture is a gift of the chemistry department and will hang in the hallway of First Bond Barnard Hall.

Proceeding the unveiling an altogether fitting program was presented dealing with the life and accomplishments of Rowson. The History of his early life was discussed by Hoyt Steinkler. John Cottingham gave a very interesting history of Rowson's teaching. The writings and publications of this great pioneer chemist were related by Leland Diebel.

"Rowson is said to have placed more teachers than any other man," he stated. Dr. Hershey said the picture was hung in the final large picture ever made of the man. Rowson died in 1927 while in California.

It has been customary with the society to have a meal and coffee together each year. Last year the affair was a great success. A dinner was expressed this afternoon for next evening and Friday evening, December 13 was set aside for the event.

The evening's entertainment will be in charge of the social committee composed of Adella Anderson, chairman, Mildred Doyle and Verdon Gustafson.

BELL SYSTEM ESTABLISHED IN FAINSTOCK HALL

Wed., Oct. 23.—The installation of the bell system in Fainstock Hall was completed this afternoon. Halls have been installed on second and third floor only, for it was apparently not needed on first floor. The system is similar to that in Arnold Hall.

IF I WERE TO PAINT A PICTURE

If I were a modern artist, I should follow in the footsteps of Millet and paint a picture called "Curfew". And through a clump of bushes I could get the dim outlines of the "Ad" building. In the foreground would be a man and a maid, the man gazing at the watch in his hand and the girl at the one on her arm. And on the face of each would I put an expression of agonized despair, for the hour is nine fifty-five—A Dater.

"M" CLUB—A PART OF THE "SCHOOL OF QUALITY"

Be it therefore agreed that certain great benefits are derived from the wearing of freshmen caps. The friend of the opposition has condemned the method used by the "M" Club in carrying out the "cap rule" but has offered no other method except to treat with respect, and motivate through social approval or disapproval. Perhaps boys are extremely different than girls, but the Woman's Athletic Association asked the freshmen girls kindly, to wear their caps and they did for at least one week.

If we want freshmen to wear caps some group must see that all wear them. (Such a group should have the majority approval of the whole student body). Perhaps the "M" Club is as logical an organization for this task as any other on the campus.

As for those "weak minded" "M" Club men, some of them are of the "best" type men on the campus, and some of them do not reach this standard; but why condemn all "M" Club men? An exclusive group is one which is able to prevent others from entering. Who has not been allowed to enter the "M" Club, if he has met the requirements set by the State Athletic Board?

To a large degree it has been "M" Club men who have advertised our "School of Quality". Their influence has been felt throughout the state and nation. Let us see these men as individuals (and not as an organization) and not as athletes always; perhaps if we try we can see deeper than their red sweaters and discover a few who are not paddling swimmers, but hunting mariners.

Yes! The "M" Club does have a place on our college campus, as a part of our "School of Quality".—W. A. Member.

"PHANTOM OF DELIGHT" VS. HOURS OF DISGUST

Girls, what would you think of a man who opened a door, entered, and allowed it to slam in your face? Would you term it "kenteel" for a man to bump you, or hit you with his elbow or shoulder, just because he was too careless to avoid doing so? If he got in a hurry and shoved you out of his way simply because he did not care to go around, or patiently wait until you passed on, would you tender him even scant respect? Absolutely, no!

Girls, you do all these things... yes, and more... to boys and girls alike, constantly. Yet it is almost axiomatic that women are more conventional, polite, courteous, refined and cultured than men. You constantly crowd, push, and shove through groups; you accept small courtesies un-thanked; you forget to give small courtesies to your friends and acquaintances, male or female.

For the sake of feminine grace and charm; for the sake of common courtesy and reasonable respect for others, girls, endeavor to cultivate cultured manners and men.—Olson Bruised.

TO REV. BOWMAN

Last Sunday morning practically fifty students of McPherson College professed Christianity during the church services. Rev. Bowman is to be commended on his great work.

The fact that at one meeting a group of college students should give their lives for the sake of God, for the betterment of their neighbors and for the complete spiritual understanding of themselves is one satisfaction that modern youth is not going to the "dogs" and that Christianity, as a whole, is securing a deeper grip on the hearts of the rising generation.

YES "M" CLUB

Due to my close association with, and interest in, the M Club, I feel it more or less my duty to come to the defense of that organization after reading the editorial "Ye Freshman Caps" written by a self-styled Casual Observer in the last issue of the SPECTATOR. I am taking it for granted the aforementioned editorial was written by a boy, because I find it hard to believe a girl would write an article about something which can be readily seen does not concern her in any way.

It is my personal belief that the large majority of freshmen do not object to wearing their caps. It is usually the small group of smart-alecks found in every class who refuse to be sports enough to follow school precedent and so are paddled. While I do not particularly condemn paddling, I have yet to discover any other method which has achieved the desired result, either in this school or any other school. Perhaps Mr. Casual Observer has insight (which he thinks is lacking in the M Club) enough to produce a workable plan. I do not think the M Club members believe themselves to be an "exclusive group", nor do they have the feeling of superiority attributed to them; neither do I believe they have refused to allow any individual the right to exercise his due "rights and privileges" in any school affair. Some very strong friendships in college have been formed between letter-men and non-letter-men.

About a thousand years ago some one remarked that athletes had strong backs and weak minds. Since these numerous persons have continued to paddle that remark around as something quite clever and original, I should like in my right here that in present-day athletes the weak-minded, strong-backed fellow would not set in first base. The stiff competition found in all athletic circles requires the keenest intellects for quick decisions and quick action. If the Casual Observer knew anything at all about athletes he would know that to be a fact.

If one should remove the entire M Club from our school, he would find that with that organization would go a group of loyal, clean living, clean thinking men who are unselfishly giving a great deal of themselves, their time, and their energy for the betterment of their college. I feel I am in a position to know whereof I speak. The M Club DOES stand for better athletics, and it DOES stand for better relations among the men in McPherson College. If they have failed in their goal they are no more responsible than is Mr. Casual Observer. The high ideals of fellowship, to achieve results, must come from non-letter men as well as letter-men.

One thing more! I doubt if any member of the M Club would write the type of article such as I have referred to and sign it merely "Casual Observer". To quote from a recent chapel speech—"If you can't say something complimentary about a person, don't say something uncomplimentary behind his back." This refers to a group as well as to an individual. If, Casual Observer, you had the courage of your convictions, why didn't you come out in the open and in all honesty sign your name?—GEORGE CARBNER.

COLLEGE OF THIS AGE IS SAFE FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

The younger generation, denounced as playing fast and loose with the ideals cherished their elders, may not be such a bad lot after all. In fact, study of the subject is leading to the suspicion that in some respects they may be equal in morals and self-respect, and certainly freer and more independent.

There is smoking and drinking and sex irregularity in the colleges, but they are infinitely less prevalent than many persons have been led to believe. A most thorough search fails to disclose more than a fractional per cent of college girls guilty of improper conduct—not more than one-tenth of one per cent.

Much noise has been made over a few isolated examples found, but the bulk of the talk is hearsay and rumor. Each college has heard that the neighboring college has had some trouble, and the neighboring colleges return the compliment. It is like a mirage that disappears as one approaches it.

Regarding drinking, which has come to be considered a college problem since the advent of prohibition, there is a pretty general agreement that drinking in all parts of the country is not only less than in pre-prohibition days, but that it is definitely on the decrease in the last four or five years.

The police in most college towns agree that drinking by students is on the decrease. With some boys, however, the college is attributed chiefly to the students themselves, and especially the coed. The girls take a definite stand against drinking by their escorts at college functions, and refused to go with those who do. The result is that social pressure is exerted on those who might otherwise be inclined to drink.

Regarding the diversions known as "necking" and "petting", there is actually less of it in college circles than among the young men and women in the ordinary social life of the towns and cities in the country.

The attitude of the majority of upper-class college girls seemed to be the rather patronizing one that freshmen are apt to indulge in it because they think it is collegiate and smart, but they soon get over that.

In fact, the question was not found among college students to be one that they felt was worth getting excited about. The majority of college "petting" was found to be a comparativeor affection, rather than an outlet of a furtive and secret thing likely to be dangerous, modern college "petting" has emerged into the light and by indifferent expression of friendship is not regarded as something to be ashamed of.

Smoking is found to be fairly prevalent in colleges, both among men and women. One of its chief objections are considered to be the danger that girls who had not acquired the habit would do so if continually surrounded by others smoking. The students themselves met that objection by voting to limit it to certain special rooms or parts of the campus.

One other question of college life, that of the possible lessening of religion as a force among the students: the Institute of Social and Religious Research found that 50 per cent of the students in twenty-three colleges investigated (practically all non-sectarian) attended church regularly and 27 per cent more occasionally. Fifty-seven per cent found religion a larger force in everyday experience by senior year than it had been when whereas formerly "spurious" was genuine, see emotion. they entered, disbelievers and skepticism were found to number only 1 per cent. (The S. Hall in Good Housekeeping Magazine).

"Eyes" for blind flying!

Three new G-E contributions to the conquest of the air

LINDBERGH, flying blind much of the way, hit Ireland "on the nose" as he winged toward Paris. Now, as an aid to air navigation comes the magneto compass, a product of General Electric research, which gives pilots a navigating instrument of extraordinary accuracy. Meanwhile, two other General Electric contributions to aviation have been developed—the electric gasoline gauge and the radio echo altimeter. The ordinary altimeter shows only height above sea level. The radio echo altimeter warns the pilot of his actual distance above ground or water by flashing green, yellow, and red lights on the instrument board.

Every year hundreds of college-trained men and women enter the employment of General Electric. Research, similar to that which developed "eyes" for blind flying, is one of the many fields of endeavor in which they play an important part.

McPHERSON SUCCUMBS THE BAKER "WILDCATS"

Bulldogs Out Of Running For State Championship

McPHERSON 6, BAKER 7

In Latter Part Of Game

Baldwin, Kan., Nov. 1.—The Baker University Wildcats defeated the McPherson College Bulldogs 7-6 here this afternoon after overcoming the visitors' early lead. The game was full of thrills from the very beginning, the Bulldog crew scoring with in the first half dozen plays as a result of a Wildcat fumble. Miller's place kick was faulty for the third time this season out of twelve tries. Baker then came back and almost as quickly scored on the Bulldogs and by outwitting their opponents added the winning point by plunging over the line through the tackle. Twice during the latter part of the game the Bulldogs placed the ball on Baker's 4-yard line only to be held by the stubborn Wildcats, and twice they attempted to make a goal from the field but failed. This game spoiled all the Bulldog hopes of becoming conference champions this season.

BITIKOFER WINS FORENSIC DEBATE

Mon., Oct. 28.—It was decided at a debate given by the Forensic Club this evening that McPherson College should spend her first surplus money for the increase of her endowment. Kenneth Bitikofer, upholding the affirmative, won the debate from Blanch Harris, negative, by a rising vote of the audience. The question was stated: Resolved that the first surplus money to be used to increase the endowment instead of for a building program. Before the debate Miss Helen Eberly played a piano solo.

MELVIN "STUDENT" MILLER

Miller, Bulldog quarterback, carried the "pigeon" for 126 yards gain during the Bethel game. Miller was the only regular player to play the whole game. During the same Bethel game Captain Nonken carried the ball for 160 yards gain.

Baker advanced by defeating the McPherson Bulldogs last Friday 7-6. McPherson can change her rating to 600 if she defeats the Swedes in the annual grudge game on Turkey Day.

Steering Up-Stream

Every individual who makes any headway in his chosen field must struggle against the current.

The fact that a man is a success does not indicate that he has never chanced to meet adverse conditions—but that he has met and overcome them numberless times and is always ready for the combat.

We cannot train to overcome adverse conditions by shying around them—if we could there wouldn't be near as much room at the top of the ladder. Is it not so?
