

BULLDOGS BOW TO WICHITA U. BASKETEERS
FRIDAY NIGHT AT CONVENTION HALL COURT

McPherson Team Jumps Into Early Lead by Brilliant Opening Attack—Lead at Half, 16 to 13

FINAL SCORE: 28-26

Binford and Dedrick Lead Waku 52 Points Apiece

Jan. 8.—The Wichita university cagers of the Central Conference won from the Bulldogs on the Convention hall court tonight by a score of 28 to 26.

McPherson jumped into an early lead and ran the count up to 10 points to the opponents 4 in the early part of the game. Wichita rallied and began to sink many of their shots but at the half McPherson was still leading by a scant margin of 16 to 13.

In the second half the Wichitans opposed us with a brilliant passing attack and some accurate shooting which soon put them into a substantial lead and effected the game for them.

Binford for the Bulldogs and Dedrick, Wichita's flashy forward were tied for highest scorer in points apiece as each chalked up four field goals and four free throws for a total of 12 points. The Bulldogs played good team work and especially in the opening minutes of the game showed a great improvement over previous playings this season.

Both coaches exhibited freely to the last half to find effective combinations. Wichita was two completely separate teams at different periods of the contest.

D. A. CRIST SPEAKS TO COLLEGE STUDENTS
QUINCY PASTOR TELLS "BEAUTY" AS SUBJECT OF TALK

Mon. Jan. 4.—Rev. D. A. Crist, pastor of the Church of the Resurrection at Quincy, Kansas, addressed the McPherson college student body this morning at the first chapel service of the new year. His subject was "Beauty."

The speaker built his talk around the passage from the Bible containing this statement: "For we all have bodies as to a glass the glory of the Lord. As they are changed into his likeness. After calling attention to the several types of beauty, he stated that the Creator especially loved beauty, and therefore made beautiful things to please in the world. The perfection of nature, created by God, is a combination with the imperfection of man made things.

Rev. Crist said that she and every form of nature always leaves its mark, while on the other hand the full of beautiful thoughts and deeds remain to mark the world as created by the perfection of God.

The way of the transgressor is well written on.

CITY Y. M. SECRETARY HEARD SUNDAY ON RIGHT
George Bryan Speaks on Right to Live Our Lives

Sun. Jan. 10.—George Bryan, secretary of the McPherson Y. M. C. A. spoke on "Have I a Right to Live my own Life?" in the Christian Endeavor meeting tonight. Mr. Bryan pointed out that we may be willing to cooperate and share responsibility with those who are sincerely trying to live and lead toward the Christian life. If we are to derive the right to live our own lives, he said that true freedom comes not through constraint, but through full compliance with the law of God and man.

A mixed quartet with a special number of music. The quartet consisted of Lois Edwards, Gulae Koch, Della Hildebrand, and Harvey Clark. Everett Sandahl as chairman of the meeting. He devoted and introduced the speaker.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT INJURES LOIS LACKEY

Popular Student Is Hurt in Wreck December 19

Miss Lois Lackey, freshman of McPherson, today was injured in an automobile accident which occurred the morning of December 19, 1931, near Junction City, Kansas.

The car in which Miss Lackey was riding, carrying a group of students to various points for the Christmas season. The accident happened just before daylight, as the car rounded a dangerous curve three miles west of Junction City. It crashed into a concrete abutment, throwing the weight of the other passengers against Miss Lackey. After she was taken to a Junction City hospital it was learned that her hip had been crushed.

On the following Tuesday she was transferred to the McPherson hospital, where she will remain for several weeks. Her condition is reported to be improving so rapidly as could be expected. Miss Lackey is a popular student, taking part in many school activities. She is secretary for President V. F. Schwalm.

Other members of the group, who were injured except for minor bruises, were Leola Gula, Florence Weaver, Martha Aron, and Marie Fisher, and Lillian Dittman.

BLANCH HARRIS SINGS IN ASSEMBLY FRIDAY

Fri. Jan. 8.—George Elias, noted lecturer and entertainer, who was expected to deliver on Monday night this morning, was unable to reach McPherson on account of inclement weather. The students met for a short school. The singing of several songs was followed by a responsive reading conducted by President V. F. Schwalm. The service was ended with two solos by Blanch Harris, "A Dream," and "The His Run Vial."

W. S. G. PROGRAM ON SUBJECT "LIFE AHEAD"

There, Jan. 7.—The theme of the World Service Group for the night, was "Life Ahead." Mary Weddle, Grace Heckman, and Corvill Whitcher gave interesting discussion talks. Each theme gave a reading, Charles Austin led devotions. Action will be taken at the next meeting of the Group regarding the organization of its president, Philip Lawler, who will not be here next semester.

Friday is a sort of moral preparation—it turns many a woman's head.

HERSHEY PARTICIPATES IN SCIENCE MEETING

Over Two Thousand Renowned Scientists Attend

HERSHEY FILMS PAPER

Also Presents Plans Takes 26 U. S. Laboratories

During the Christmas vacation Dr. J. Willard Hershey attended the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New Orleans, Louisiana.

At the meeting, which lasted from December 16 to 20, between two and three thousand scientists were present. The most important of the scientists present to discuss modern scientific problems. About one thousand papers were presented.

The president of the Association was unable to be present, so Dr. Robert Millikan took his place and presided at the entire meeting.

Dr. Hershey was given an hour during the meeting, at which time he presented his paper and also on the apparatus which he is now working constantly for the last two years.

The most pictures taken in the McPherson laboratory, concerning the same subject, were also presented.

One of the main features of the work was the program above on Wednesday evening. This program was entirely dedicated to the late Thomas A. Edison and was in charge of Mr. Charles E. Edger, the president of the Edison Laboratories. Mr. Edger worked with Edison for fifty years.

The meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science will be next December in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

KIRBY PAGE UNABLE TO CONDUCT MEETING SOON

Local Y. M. C. A. To Hold Conference Later

Sat. Jan. 9.—Kirby Page, internationally famous speaker and writer, was announced as making tentative plans for a two-day conference on the Y. M. C. A. campus on January 16 and 17, will be unable to come here in the near future. Other arrangements pending the situation will prevent any immediate message will call on in the next few days.

The local Y. M. C. A. plans to have such a conference later in the year with either Kirby Page or some other equally good leader to be the speaker.

GIRLS' STEP RIGHT UP AND LOOK 'EM OVER

Believing that no opportunities should be wasted the freshmen have taken advantage of the chance set forth by the advent of last year and are throwing a Leap Year Party next Friday night.

Just by way of a hint, setting up Date Bureau might be profitable as the freshmen are practicing all manner of subterfuge in order to insure themselves of dates.

LOOKS TO GENEVA MEETING

Speaker Will Present on Subject by Travels in Europe

"Unless something can be done to halt the process of militarism and competitive armaments, our civilization is destined to fall." This was the gist of a summarizing statement made by Dr. A. W. Cordier, Internationally famous speaker and writer who conducted four meetings in McPherson on Saturday and Sunday, January 9 and 10, relative to the problem of World Peace.

Dr. Cordier, now Professor of History at North Manchester college, is an authority on international conditions especially those relating to Europe. After his graduation from the University of Chicago he traveled extensively in Europe with Howard Kelly, and lived there for several years. He is the author of a history of Europe. From June, 1930 to April, 1931, he was under the name of Geneva, Switzerland, studying the trend of international peace.

Sunday morning Dr. Cordier spoke at the McPherson Y. W. C. A. on the subject of "Facing the Disarmament Issue." He outlined the significant factors in the present European situation, and the history of the World Disarmament Conference which meets at Geneva next month.

The next meeting will be on the subject of "Europe, Germany, England, and Italy," also being held by the influence of the United States, and the history of the world to be done at Geneva.

He said that the United States had not had chance to be the dominating force in the conference by the latter to provide a strong leadership for the U. S. delegation. England looked will take the lead, and the strong direction of Premier Stanley Macdonald, a pronounced pacifist. This leadership, Dr. Cordier said, will be an asset to the conference.

Other side is success are the wide spread public opinion of those desiring to make the meeting a success, and the improvement of the developed through the League of Nations.

ATTENTION ANNIE! HELL BROTHERS

Annied Hall is the only home out of the college girls have during the winter. Each girl has her own room but in order that we may feel snug at home a parlor has been provided with a few homelike furnishings. The girls welcome their boy friends in this parlor and visit to see each other at home as they would naturally do. It is a social gathering place where we want the boys to feel free to come at appropriate times any time they wish. We want to have good times together.

We feel, however, that some people are planning the parlor as a lounge into their homes, and expect them to respect our facilities, especially when our plans if they are not suitably visited, avoid throwing things at other of our guests or at ourselves. It is not considered good form to pull hair, hold chairs, hold or arm chairs, about and walk, sit at the top of one's voice, or hold anything, watching in a home. The dormitory is our home, we desire to see it ahead and those things done there. Many of us resent the rudeness of our otherwise welcome guests.

Many of the girls rather than become a part of the section which is held after each meal, as to their own rooms. If more congenial good times could be experienced in the parlor they would be glad to participate. We dislike to bring strange friends here because of the fear of being embarrassed by the conduct of some of our guests. If we have been embarrassed when our friends called us over the telephone because of the yelling, impromptu serenades, and unnecessary noise which has made conversing difficult or has been forced upon the ears of the visiting friends. We maintain the same attitude towards similar conduct in the dining hall. We wear clothes as good as we can afford and attempt to keep clean and neat. If for no other reason than that cleanliness does not clean our clothes for nothing, we feel we have a right to object to the throwing of food and water. We feel that college students should have better conduct, manners and should, now, if ever, be ready to lay aside childish tricks such as pouring water down clothes, throwing things, stacking up dishes in precarious positions, talking chains and pointing glasses unnecessarily and acting like started horses while eating. We have our regular places set and it is really to find a guy taking possession over them as we were there is plenty of time.

We advise courteous gentlemen, and we enjoy clear jokes and good times; but most importantly, we do not approve of the boorish and inferior conduct of some few people who force their crudities upon us in our own home. We appeal to all upper and lowerclassmen alike, to maintain some standards of culture and refinement. — B.

NOBEL AWARD GOES TO AMERICANS

Announcement that the Nobel Peace Prize for 1931 had been awarded to two Americans, Jane Addams and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, has received general applause in the United States. These two widely known women in the case of World Peace have here done a vast amount both in this country and on an international scale toward the advent of a warmer world. Seventy-year-old Jane Addams is perhaps the best known woman in America. Through the establishment of Hull House in Chicago she has been able to render a monumental service to the unfortunate of that city, and has reached out to more distant points with her program of social welfare. She has announced that her share of the Nobel Prize money, which amounts this year to $48,000, is to be devoted to the work of the Women's International League for Peace, of which she has been president for the last fifteen years.

In addition she is chairman of the International Committee of Women for Permanent Peace, and has on several times she presided over the international convention of the International Congress for Women, held in 1915, 1919, 1922, and 1928. She is the author of two widely read books on peace, "New Ideals for Peace," and "Peace and Bread."

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, is one of the world's active leaders in the advancement of the ideals of peace. He has made it his duty with the persuasion of Andrew Carnegie to found the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, of which he is now president. Dr. Butler is famous as a writer and speaker, and his untiring efforts in this cause have certainly earned for him a share of the Nobel award.

LOOKING TOWARD GENOVA

All who heard Dr. A. W. Coddier in his masterly discussions of the Peace Problems in relation to international events are convinced of the seriousness of the situation, as the time draws near for the second world international event since the close of the World War. The eyes of the world are turning to Geneva where representatives of all leading nations are gathering for the World Peace Conference.

As Dr. Coddier pointed out, there are many factors which will crop up in the progress of the conference as hindrances to effective and wholesome arrangements. But there are also other factors working for peace which will be more potent in this meeting than in any which has preceded it. It remains to be seen what the outcome is to be.

Meanwhile it behooves every person who is interested in the maintenance of the destruction of obstacles to reach the program of the Geneva Conference. If he wants the world to preserve what it has attained in the last several hundred years, he will lend his support in every way possible to the success of such conferences as this. If he wishes himself, his friends, his property, perhaps the major part of our present civilization, to be destroyed in another terrible war, he can obtain pleasure or satisfaction to such efforts toward World Peace.

TRANSFORMATION

From a fresh and weak backbone into a sturdy and marvellous BEAST! Has been the H. C. club's motto. The club has had the advantage of the members of new. Happenly did the evergreen attracted about the grounds. They were outside effects of the members with the white decorations. More than one member was called into use as that students still recall. Presently was a new member was called into use as that students still recall. Presently was a new member was called into use as that students still recall.

White and red were being suffered and hardship to bear, they bring back beauty and can be seen as in no other period of the year. Forgive me in the address Director's method of drawing up the girls in the "dressing class" and displaying the best work of the classes in the school.

CLUMBS THAT FALL

He who knows and knows not that he knows is asleep. Awaken him. He who knows not and knows that he knows not is simple. Teach him. He who knows not and knows not that he knows not is a fool. Beat him. He who knows and knows that he knows is wise. Follow him unto the end. — An Arabian Proverb.

It is well to live and let live, but it is better to live and help live.

The worst form of self-conceit is to think everyone "has it in" for you.

Smile, and the sun will plote the shadowing; Treat, and the mista will roll away; Give, and the heavens will shine with glory; Work, and you'll have a happy day.

AAA! HERE'S SOME ADVICE FOR THE FINISHED PRODUCTS OF THE M. C. MATCH FACTORY

To those of you who have fond contemplations of married life we are offering these bits of wisdom...

Please don't accuse us of attempting to make you believe that this is a life to be entered into...

"A man, unlike a woman, never bothers about whether his wedding day is funeral will be beautiful or not...

"The step of the just may be sweet, but from our observation, it is usually the unjust who sleep peacefully...

"After a few years of marriage, a woman can see a man through a man without looking at him; and a man can look through a woman without seeing her..."

"Rhinis to co-habitate: A woman wears a crown as long as the alimony is coming in..."

"At sixteen every girl believes anxiously that she was 'just made for love'..."

"An old-fashioned girl is one who hates late trains instead of late proms, whom her schoolmates regard as a little bit of a snob..."

"For a man may get a headband of virtue, yet none more like a headband down the neck as a visible in the hair..."

"Lu, he that lingers in the ambrosy, with the chosen general, could counsel his wife to resist to him before her time..."

"If you find it hard to wax romantic about the Boy Friend in his new derby hat, just remember that your prospective love is a young man in spots of a full face, suspenders and red flannels..."

"If a man would only let go and enjoy the sensation when he feels himself falling to love, as a woman does, he would discover that marriage, like either, is not a matter to take when you don't struggle against it..."

"If you are single, you have to sit around and wait for a man to stop talking about himself and go home, nights. And if you are married, you have to sit up and wait for him to come home, nights..."

"Kisses used to be given, taken, stolen or exchanged; now, they are just passed around like bananas or cigarettes and you help yourself..."

"Love is as hard to diagnose as a cold. You cannot tell when it is started, whether it is serious or superficial, or just how long it will last..."

"A man doesn't walk deliberately into marriage with his eyes wide open; he just stumbles into it, or..."

INSIDE INFORMATION, FOR WOMEN ONLY

The advent of Leap Year brings about a time when the majority of naive women ought to at least be keeping their eyes open...

Therefore we submit some information about several young candidates, six to be specific, who are capital prospects for the matrimonial stage...

"The said there is system in their activity, for two of the number are detected each week to be working, while the other meet in a confidential like manner..."

"Therefore, girls, don't overlook this opportunity for exercising your traditional Leap Year privilege..."

Religio Calls for Active Minds to Match Our Problems

Wed., Jan. 5.—Dean F. A. Religio, in this morning's chapel address, stated that everything must come in an interpreted society that we are living in today...

Dean Religio stated that we need to meet the new world of today in a different mind and have a different purpose than was held in the old world of yesterday...

"What is needed in 1932 is a plan to match our problems," stated Dean Religio. "We must develop active, expanding minds..."

MOHLER LIKENS SOULS TO HUMAN PERSONALITY

Both Are Unproductive Through Lack of Cultivation

Tuesday, Jan. 5.—"Soul and Human Personality" was the topic discussed by Dean D. B. Mohler in the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. this evening...

"It is said that there are souls that look as if they are productive but are not because there is one thing lacking—that you cannot always tell what a soul will do by its looks..."

Dean Mohler compared souls that are unproductive with human personalities which are also unproductive...

"One reason might be lack of cultivation, while in personality it would be lack of education, Scotch, trying to grow great crops on that soil gives poor results..."

— DRIPPINGS — FROM THE DOPE BUCKET

The Bulldogs have played a number of non-conference games and have improved considerably in these pre-season games.

Larry Rock is back to the lineup at forward position after being out of the game for a few weeks with an injured thumb. Rock is a two-footed, forward player. Opposing forwards find it hard to get around him for shots at the basket. His physical and knowledge of basketball make the Bulldogs of different direction in their games this year.

The Bulldogs open the conference season Friday night at Baldwin with Baker university furnishing the opposition. The Wildcats generally have a good team and they will probably prove to be no exception. Baker obtained McPherson twice last year by small margins and the Bulldogs will be out for revenge Friday night.

On the night following the basketball game the Quakers will oppose the Kansas City Athletic Club in Kansas City. The K. C. A. C. has a long, heavy outfit composed of former college and university stars. They will make two hard games on successive nights for the Bulldogs.

BULLDOGS NOW READY FOR K. LOOP SCHEDULE

Begin on Baker in Game at Baldwin Friday Night

With five pre-season encounters out of the way, Coach Hines' Fighting Bulldogs are now ready to begin on the regular Kansas Conference schedule. Baker university of Baldwin is to be the first adversary, in a game there Friday night.

Besides the eight games stated between conference teams McPherson fans can expect an exciting rivalry with opponents here before the season is over.

The games played thus far have been with several of the strongest teams of Kansas. Although McPherson has not been able to turn in winning scores thus far, the showing made so far has been quite indicative of a steadily improving type of playing which is far from discouraging as the Bulldogs enter the following conference schedule:

January 15	Baker, there
January 22	Olivia, here
January 29	Wichita, there
February 5	Bethany, here
February 12	Ottawa, there
February 19	Baker, here
February 26	Wichita, here
February 28	Bethany, there

FELIX MANLEY SPEAKS ON CREATIVE LIVING

Outlines Ten Steps Toward the Creative Life

Tues., Jan. 12—"Ten Steps Toward Creative Living" was the subject of a very interesting and enlightening talk given at the Y. M. C. A. meeting this evening by Felix Manley, well known Y. M. C. A. leader who was on the McPherson campus earlier this year. He was president of the Kansas university Y. M. C. A. last year, and was chairman of the Estes Park Y. M. C. A. Conference held last summer.

Mr. Manley gave some facts attributed to "Dad" Willot, who said that there are four types of college men: those per cent are too vain, and servile; per cent are too unambitious to hold out much hope; seventy per cent are indifferent; and the remaining ten per cent are men who are really concerned about something. The speaker emphasized the importance of forming habits of living in life.

He spoke briefly of each of the following steps toward creative living as outlined by Kirby Page: 1. Budget your time. 2. Explore the realm of science. 3. Participate in creative worship. 4. Live in the presence of beauty. 5. Elicit your friendship on high levels. 6. Read great biographies. 7. Pluck out the offending eye. 8. Prepare for a creative life. 9. Cut under the load of human need and life. 10. Respectively run races and live dangerously.

DR. J. D. BRIGHT GOES TO HISTORY CONVENTION

Held December 28 to 30 at Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. J. D. Bright of the history department spent a part of his Christmas vacation attending the meeting of the American History Association which lasted from December 28 to 30. The sessions were held in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Mr. Carl Becker of Cornell gave the presidential address. About six hundred persons registered for the convention.

DEAN REIFGLE SPEAKS TO Y. W. C. A. JANUARY 5

Tues., Jan. 5—Devin Reifgle, introduced Dean F. A. Reifgle as the speaker to Y. W. C. A. meeting this morning. He talked concerning some common failures and problems of men and women.

Dean Reifgle declared that men and women are psychologically much alike. Practically everyone who cannot do a thing well will say, "I can't do that, but I do the very well." In this way people try to excuse themselves and to elevate themselves in the eyes of other people. Another method commonly used to serve the same purpose is to exaggerate the faults of others and thereby try to minimize one's own.

"Wish-fulfilling" is quite all right until the type of thinking becomes the central figure in life and then it is only harmful because the individual loses all of his energy, striving for something and does nothing to realize the dream.

"Criticism everything demoralizes the mind."
