Dr. Bowman is an authority on personal and family relations and has written a book entitled "Homemakers of Tomorrow" which has proved very popular because of its practical and helpful material.

Dr. Bowman will speak at the Brethren church on Sunday, November 13, and every night of the following week. The college will have Dr. Bowman as guest speaker in chapel during the week.

Followings is a program of Dr. Bowman's talks to the S. C. M. group. All of the talks will be held in the Student Union Room except the personal conferences which will be carried on in the S. C. M. office, the first door to the right at the foot of the chapel stairs:

Monday 3:15-4:30—"Friendship."
Tuesday 3:15-4:30—"Courtship."
Tuesday 4:30-5:30—"Personal Conferences."

Wednesday 4:30-5:30—"Personal Conferences."

Mohler Says To Give What We Have

Friendship, Money, Influence
Among Things Students
Can Contribute to Others.

Prof. H. E. Mohler opened the chapel period Wednesday with devotion and prayer, to which the chapel choir responded. The choir sang "When Will Thou Save the People?"

"Silver and gold have I none, but that which I have I give unto you" was the subject chosen by Prof. Mohler for an inspirational talk. In applying this to our giving today, he said, "People that do not give any silver or gold usually become very hard. We ought to be as willing to contribute to a religious life of faith as we are for cheap entertainments."

"The student who does not give now will never give. Often a man becomes so enwrapped in details of his profession, he forgets to live."

To the question, "What can a student give?" Prof. Mohler suggested several. A student can give money; friendship and clean living may be the turning point in someone's life.

The biggest thing, however, is to give one's best so that he might realize the best of his dreams as he grows older. This is accomplished as he develops right attitudes of conduct and thought.

Harnly Speaks Before Student Chapel Group

Dr. Harnly gave a cheerful talk in chapel last Monday. He said, "I would rather see the good than the evil in the world. I like to think of the world as not going from bad to worse, but improving in the long run."

"A person can find the way to live the best kind of a life in the Sermon on the Mount and other biblical passages."

"The belief that there is nothing you can do that matters is entirely wrong. For nations are still strong or weak according to the quantity of righteousness in their governments."

Hold Open House

Kline hall has decided to have open house tomorrow night. Many people bumped into closed house there Halloween night.

Instead of girls clad in hair nets, housecoats, and sleeping garments, guests will see the girls with their best, curls, faces and frills.

During the hours of 8 to 10:30 there will be no ropes on the doors and all the brooms will be locked in the closet, where they will stay until they become useful as weapons next Halloween.

Workers Back From Confab At Manchester

Eighteen Volunteers
Return, Tired,
With New Ideas

With dragging step and hollow eyes the Manchester conference group straggled back to their classes Tuesday morning with 1800 miles to their credit since the preceding Thursday afternoon when vivacious, high-spirited folks sped to the United Student Volunteer Conference at North Manchester, Indiana.

Smucker Sets Record
Carl Smucker set the record time by making the trip in 29 hours; Miss Ida Shockley with Kirk Taylor's assistance pushed through in 22 hours. Charles Shetter has a few more tales on his record, but he got there in 26 hours. After all, arguing yourself out of a $5.00 time, getting mixed up in the railroad loading docks of Atchison, and increasing car trouble during a rainy night do not tend to cut down the traveling time.

Nor do near-sideswiping cars and

New Date Schedule For SCM Commissions

On Tuesday at 4 o'clock the World Service Commission will meet in the new Y. W. room, and members of the Peace Group will convene in Room 5 of Sharp Hall at the same time.

The Personal and Family Relations Commission will hold their meeting in the S. U. R. from 4 until 4:30 o'clock on Wednesday, while the Rural Life Commission gathers in the new Y. W. room.

Wednesday from 6:00 until 7:30 is the time for the Creative Leisure Commission to meet in the photography room, on the first floor of Sharp Hall. There is a possibility of an additional period being found for this group.

Librarians At Conference

Miss Forney and Miss Hockethorn were in Wichita Friday to attend the Librarians' Round Table of the Kansas Librarians Association.

Dr. Heaston Stresses Importance of Health

Warns Students That Good
Health Necessary for Success.

Dr. W. C. Heaston, a local physician and former student of McPherson College, used as his topic, "The Health Program," in his address to the student body, Friday, November 4.

"To no people is health more important than it is to the college student," said Dr. Heaston.

Mr. Heaston named the three H's necessary to attain highest things in life. They are health, helpfulness, and happiness.

"It is the simple things that we need to keep well. Things are so common until we need them."

"It isn't the things that we know that count, but it is the things that we do," remarked Mr. Heaston.

Two remarks made by Dr. Heaston that are outstanding are "Keeping well is so much better than getting well," and "You can't expect a good personality from a sudden rundown condition."

His concluding remark was "Live and learn, but also learn and live."

Library Gets Books

The library has received a number of books and pamphlets as a gift of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. They include "Far East Fundamentals," "The Puzzle of Palestine," "Government in Fascist Italy," by Steiner, "Our Trade with Britain" by Bidwell, "The Federalist," by Hamilton, Jay, and Madison, "Analysis of the Problem of War," by Hagelton, and "Cooperation or Coercion?" by Jacka.

Military Training Enrollment Leaps

War Scars Cause War Courses
To Be Popular Subjects.

Cambridge, Mass.—(AP)—War scars and international crises have brought enrollments in military and naval training courses to new highs.

At Harvard University here undergraduates are flocking to the two courses, with naval science enrollment almost double that of a year ago and military science registration up more than a third.

No Pictures Shot Soon

Mr. Leonard Walker, studio photographer for the Quadrangle is ill in the hospital at Halstead and will not be able to resume his work at his studio until late this month; consequently, no student pictures will be taken until that time.

Plays Are Postponed

Presentation of the three one-act plays which was scheduled for last night, has been postponed until a week from next Monday, November 21. The short plays which the play production club will produce, are "He," "The Managers," and "The Lendonderry Air."

Homecoming Is Today With Game, Coronation

Sarah Jane Olwin, Queen, To Be Honored Before Kickoff
Of Builder-Bulldog Grid Battle

Today, when dozens of graduates return to the campus, McPherson College is celebrating its annual homecoming, which will feature the Southwestern-McPherson grid battle on the college field this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Captain Christens Bulldog Mascot

As the homecoming queen and her attendants sedately presided over pep chapel yesterday from their place on the red and white decorated stage, Captain Dave McGill officially christened McPherson College's new mascot.

The Bulldog terrier, carried by Mrs. W. P. Astle, was named Scrappy in an impressive ceremony.

Before the ceremony, Tom and Dick, Coach Buck Astle's little boys, put on an act which showed the Builder's constructing being demolished by a Bulldog.

Tonight the tower which the Builders have constructed, may put on a similar Habel act.

Letskeman Has Rest-Cure

Students and faculty alike were stunned last Saturday evening when they heard of Joelle Letskeman's ill health.

The loss of Joelle from our campus was a distinct blow to many campus activities, for he made a contribution to most of them. Shocked because of Joelle's illness, students are glad to hear that he will be back again after Christmas Vacation.

Library Expands With Addition Of New Books

The library has received a number of new books and a periodical in the last few days. The periodical, "Feminist," is the official organ of Pi Kappa Delta.

Milton W. Goering presented the library four books as a gift from the Turkey Creek teachers. The books are on the general subject of education.

Miss Lehman gave the book "College Handbook of Composition."

Among the books which have been purchased are:

"American Authors—1600-1900," a biographical dictionary of American literature, by Kunitz and Haycraft, "Personality and the Culture Pattern" by Plant, "Contemporary British Literature" (3rd ed) by Manly and Rieker, "A Study of the Modern Drama" (2nd ed) by Clark, "Play Directing" by Crafton, "Dissect Play-Readings" by Frankenstein, and "First Person Singular" by Ryserson.

The last two books are collections of short plays and readings.

Ruth Wedel's Pictures Attract Much Attention

Two unusual paintings in the Art Department are receiving quite a lot of attention as they are nearing completion. The artist is Ruth Wedel, a special art student who last year attended Bethel College.

The first painting is a still life in oils of a little pair of boy's shoes, dusty brown, and scuffed. There is a pathetic story concerning this painting, for the shoes were worn by Ruth's little nephew not long before his death last summer.

The second painting Ruth is making from a sketch which she made of a little arched foot bridge near Newton.

Now Ruth talks of painting a male.

Before the opening whistle is blown, Miss Sarah Olwin, sophomore of Cushing, Oklahoma, will be crowned as homecoming queen. Miss Virginia Kerlin, freshman, Twin Falls, Idaho, and Miss Elma Minnick, Junior, Hardin, Missouri, will be her attendants.

After practicing for two months, the new McPherson College Band will appear in uniforms for the first time this year. The musical organization, which has promoted pep during the season, is directed by Loren Crawford.

High School Band To March

The McPherson High School band, directed by August San Roman, will march during the intermission between halves. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to witness the non-conference battle against the Moundbuilders.

Tonight at 7:30 in the new physical education building, faculty members, alumni, football players, and the rest of the student body will join in a huge social, which will include games and refreshments.

American Legion Reminds

With the American Legion in charge, there also will be various displays appropriate to Armistice Day. Southwestern will not be represented by bands or other organizations.

Headed by Dr. Claud R. Flory, the homecoming committee includes Dr. J. D. Bright, Prof. J. H. Fries, Prof. Don Paden, Rush Holloway, and Mrs. Leonard Wiggins.

Peace Group To Organize City

Saathoff Heads Canvassing
Of Down-Town Area In Interest of Peace

Addison Saathoff announces that interest is picking up down town in the peace movement which was launched last week on the McPherson college campus. Tomorrow the entire town will be canvassed in the interests of peace.

Saathoff, peace leader on the campus, feels that if the college will do its part well, sufficient interest will be stirred up down town to organize a peace group of the city. McPherson college students' part is to help in the canvassing. It is hoped that a sufficient number of students will volunteer so that the town can be completely canvassed Saturday. Students interested are asked to report to Saathoff or Elmer Dadesman.

Those who are interested in peace but who are unable to help Saturday are urged to attend the peace meeting Tuesday at 4 o'clock in room five, Sharp Hall. A survey of the plans for peace and reports of the canvassing will be presented.

Bowman To Address

Next Sunday evening Dr. Rufus D. Bowman will speak to the B. Y. P. O. Dr. Bowman is president of Bethany Biblical Seminary in Chicago.

Last Sunday evening the program was given by the International Relations Club. Addison Saathoff spoke on economics as related to peace, and Wesley Darrow spoke on the influence of movies.

Pacifism Is Not Sentimentalism

'Dixie' Bryan Speaks Before S. C. M. Group About the Possibilities of World Peace

Mr. George N. Bryan, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in McPherson, spoke on November 8 to the members of the S. C. M. on world peace.

Introduced by Addison Sathoff, Mr. Bryan, despite his small size, talked convincingly of the means of averting another war.

"War is not over," said Mr. Bryan. Then he proceeded to point out that regardless of the probability of war, each student can do his part if he realizes that great need for peace.

That pacifism is not a sentimental, soft-hearted philosophy, was the theme of Mr. Bryan's talk. He showed that war propaganda can involve as much, emotionally as pacifism. World peace cannot be had until the nations are willing to pay for it. Among other things each nation will have to give up the right of "hand to hand combat" to settle its disputes.

Each nation must submit its disputes and recognize a higher central authority.

The fact that peace is a far-distant thing should not discourage us. Instead it should be a challenge to work for the ideal, all nations working in harmony.

Mr. Bryan's talk followed after devotionals had been read by Rosalie Fields and a prayer had been sung by Lucille Wade.

In Arnold Hall

Some of the college girls from town seem to have found some attraction in our domicile. It can't be because of our privilege to stay out until 11 o'clock on Saturday night. Maybe Fehnestock had some influence. Anyway, a swarm of those girls spent Saturday night here. Come more other girls, we'd really like to know you better. And we'll try to give you a good sample of our family life.

Our "all-American Drawback" reports that she isn't going to step out with any males until her girlfriend here is in necking condition again. How considerate!

Aren't we proud, having one of us elected for Homecoming Queen. Congratulations, Sally! And what's more, one of our freshmen rated too. Here's to Kerlin, who is one of the queen's attendants.

This little incident didn't take place in Arnold, but it did happen to one of our number, and besides, it's much too good to pass by. Hughey, not experienced in handling small pups, held "Scrapery" a little too long while at Emporia last Friday. The consequences—thoroughly soaked.

If the halls were wider we could play badminton—if we had a net. The other night I walked down the hall and wham! a shuttlecock whizzed past my head. Keagle and Vera Flory were trying to master the "smash."

If Edna Mae Russell has "hopes", then I reckon some of the rest of us needn't be worried. At the present she's embroidering pillow cases for her hope chest. That means she's out to catch her man. Take your pick, Edna, of one of those three "M's"—Merle, Merlin, or Marvin.

It seems that there were more girls in meetings upstairs than at prayer meeting in the parlor Monday night. Some were "awing" their way to higher education. Others were absorbed in tales of childhood days and relating how they got "that scar", which is, by the way, a hilarious subject.

Mets and Anos have two clocks in their room. Every night they drift into their slumbers to the steady tick tock of the clock (see, I'm getting poetic). But the other morning Mets came to yelling "Mine's ahead! Mine's ahead!", meaning the clock of course. What keen ears you have, grandma! But while I'm talking about these two, here's one that'll simply slay you. Wednesday morning they awoke miserably aware that the bed was slightly damp. Time to laugh—but wait, Mets has an excuse. She blames it on that wet towel she put on her head the night before. Tsch! tsch!

While she was passing through Duhler last Sunday, Wiggins stopped to make a call. But, being as how Joelle is an invalid, he couldn't come in answer to her knock, so Wiggins had to be content with a conversation over the telephone. Goe whiz, it must have been good, to have lasted for fifteen minutes.

Kitty has recently achieved something new—a southern accent. Where did you all get it, kid? Greetings and salutations of welcome to all the former students and friends of McPherson College!

Whadda ya say, Bulldogs, let's tear down those Bulldogs!

Campus Teems In Early Morn

When old Mae sun raises his head over the eastern horizon, M. C. campus looks calm, peaceful, and quiet, but by 7:55 it fairly teems with activity. In the note book of old Mother West Wind dropped (purpose, we hope) outside the Spec office we found the reports of the Merry Little Breezes which run something like this:

Dorothy Braid and her violin, is headed for Harnly Hall; Mary Ellen Sigad with her arms full of towels is hurrying to Phy. Ed. building; Luther Harshbarger is for once calmly walking along as though he hadn't a care in the world. What was it that didn't happen to detain him so that he had no need to rush to reach class on time.

Assistant Coach Seidel was driving late; Asta Ostlund was madly flying around the drive. Miss Collins with her happy "Good-Morning" hurried toward the art room, and watch out! Here comes Gladys Shank gaily racing with the oscillating water sprinklers that Forney insists on putting near the walks.

Katherine Deal and La Vonn John from the north east corner of the campus as Edna Keeler hurries from the west with Marguerite Brower. In the Ad building Miss Shockley composedly unlocks her door while Bob Frantz races toward third floor. Arlene Barley mails letters in the business office while some of Dr. Claude Flory's students rejoice (or do they) when they find the English books have arrived.

Nevin Fisher walks rapidly toward Harnly Hall and a Kline Hall lassie smiles kindly down upon the bustle as she calmly eats her breakfast.

8:05: The last straggler has darted into class, and all remains quiet until chapel whistle blows.

Within These Walls

Hurrah for the Republicans. And what's more, Mohler says that the country will be safe for another two years. (Well, of course, a few did boo him.)

Speaking of the Mohlers, Mrs. Mohler makes a good teacher, doesn't she?

Attention would-be music teachers! Dr. Flory is looking for some one to give him piano lessons. If Vena Flory doesn't agree to teach him, you might be able to secure him as a pupil.

Said Lillian Pauls to grocery clerk, "Please give me some dried oranges with lots of juice."

Olan Nienchecker and 'Pony' had quite a time in church last Sunday night. They were pulling the fur out of Mary Ellen Stead's coat collar and placing it conspicuously on the shoulders of Delbert Barley's suit. Even though it did look rather suspicious, we know that Delbert and Mary Ellen were good (at least during church time.)

Gladys Shank certainly put her foot in her mouth when she attempted to explain that preachers are just like other people, didn't she? It seems that Carl Smucker is a 'whiz' at doing imitations. Maybe, if you ask him, he'll imitate for you some day.

What's this we hear about Leonard Vaughn dating Marianne Krueger? Have you noticed the bright flowers she's been wearing in her hair lately? No, you're wrong, they were sent from home.

If you were to ask Paul Prather if he were in love, he would answer very emphatically, "Yes, I am!" Even in the class room he admits it. What will these young folks do next?

"Moses" (Dohn Miller to you) is beginning to look like Blue Beard himself. There's a rumor about that Dohn is going to be the brunt of a joke one of these days, if he doesn't shave off that 'wool'. I'm told that it has something to do with dog biscuits.

Margaret Hannum must aspire to become an artist some day. She carries a picture book with her everywhere she goes, even to church. Tak, Tak.

GOP Against Demo In Pre-Election Rally

Bright Acts As Mediator As Thompson, Sathoff Argue.

The eve of election witnessed an interesting political rally when Mugwump Bright acted as mediator while Carl Sathoff expounded the Republican views and Ross Thompson pleaded the Democrat points.

Winning the toss of Doc Bright's coin, Mr. Taylor Ratner Reed (Sathoff) spoke first, followed by Mr. Houston Huxman McGill (Thompson).

The McPherson College Band entertained between speeches. After both Reed and McGill had spoken once, rebuttals took place in the same order. Then the audience, which had been divided into political groups, were allowed to heckle the speakers. The Republicans kept H. H. McGill busy for a while with their questions. Then the Democrats asked Sathoff a few.

That ended the rally proper, but the Republicans stayed to have their picture taken for the Quadrangle.

Just Around

Flora Mae Duncan spent the week end at her home in Silvia.

William Hobbs' mother and Robert Nance's father of Reserve, spent the week end visiting here. Charlotte Nance, a former student here, who attended Teacher's meeting at Wichita spent Sunday on this campus visiting friends.

Margaret Louise Kazarice spent the week end at her home near Hutchinson.

Joelle Letkenman was sent home Saturday, on account of ill health, to rest and recuperate for six weeks. We're missing you, Joelle.

Daniel Zook, a grad of last spring, came Friday afternoon and spent the week end here visiting friends.

Alberta Keller, a graduate of last spring who is teaching at Manning this year, spent the week end here visiting friends and relatives.

Theresa Strom, Estelle Baile, Harold Mohler, Alene Wine, and Don Bangerover were here again last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Johnston visited on the campus last week end.

Rilla Hubbard, Estelle Baile, Theresa Strom, and Alene Wine were guests at a slumber party Saturday night, given by Alberta Keller at the Dale Strickler home.

Saturday night guests at Arnold were Glennys Doll, Doris Voshell, Paylene Stansel, Anna Jean Curran, and Deborah Kubin.

Doris Dresher attended the Kansas State Teachers Meeting at Hutchinson last week end.

Rosalie and Autumn Fields, Billy Thompson, and Winton Sheffer spent the week end in Wichita attending a young people's conference of the Presbyterian Church.

The Varsity male quartet has been busy this past week. Wednesday night they sang at a banquet of the Farmers Alliance Insurance Company and at the forum at the Congregational Church.

Dr. Bright was a member of the election board last Tuesday.

In a cause that will ultimately succeed than succeed in a cause which will ultimately fail."

Throughout the conference various members of the McPherson party met and talked with former friends and relatives. Miss Shockley was able to introduce us all to her sister, another Miss Shockley, James Crill, Mary E. Hoover, Elizabeth Mohler, Esther Sherry, and Carl Smucker met cousins, aunts, or uncles, or, in the last name mentioned, his own family. Orville Beecher was happy to see at that campus hometown friend with whom he could talk "in a more natural dialect."

Former Mac Students Attend

McPherson students would be interested to know that former students including Philip Davis of Lawrence, Cal., Mildred Davis of Muncie, Indiana, Bruce Wood of Iowa, Lois Hichwine of Montana, and Ines Goshenour of Iowa, all were at the all "Back home."

Play Is Part of Program

Bruce Wood entertained the group from McPherson at his house Saturday evening following the play, "Under the Shadows, written by one of the faculty members of Manchester College. At the conference banquet earlier in the evening, Leonard, "Buddy", Vaughn was seen happily situated in the midst of a Bethany group with whom he associated last year. Opal Hoffman was positively thrilled by the midnight beauty of the Manchester campus and it probably was beautiful because Rowena and Geraldine concurred on that belief, too.

As a result of a psychological test given during recreational hour most of the M. C. group were recommended for institutional care. On the occasion, Miss Shockley asked which name was to be written, and she was gently advised to use her maiden name.

Sunday morning found Opal Hoffman so flustered that she poured her cocoa over her breakfast cereal. Looking at his map, Charles Sheller broke into humor with his remark, "Let's have ham-and-eggs when we get into Hamon, Illinois."

Honack and Brubaker Close Meet

The morning address was given by C. D. Honack who challenged every student volunteer to lose his life by giving it to some worthy cause. The conference closed at the dinner table with a short service conducted by Leonard Brubaker and a period of silent meditation during which the bells in the chimes tower rang out with "Take the Name of Jesus with You."

All the Brethren colleges were represented; namely: Lawrence-8, Elizabethtown-13, McPherson-19, Juniata-21, Bridgewater-30, Bethany-36, Manchester-85, speakers and guests-24. Every delegate waved farewell to the others with a look that said, "It was good to be here."

The first game of six-man football was played on the Hebron College gridiron.

Coach Urges More Pep At Impromptu Rally

After a notice had been posted announcing there would be no pep chapel last Thursday, some Bethoid enthusiasts decided they couldn't let the team make their trip to Emporia to battle with the Presbys without a send off, so Rilla Hubbard led a small group in yell.

Speeches were called for from Tony Voshell, Andy Collett, Keith Reinecker, and Coach "Back" Astle.

Coach asked how students expected to have a good football team without all of the student body backing them.

To Meet Southwestern Moundbuilders Today In Homecoming Contest.

Feature of homecoming activities today will be the non-conference gridiron clash between Coach "Buck" Astle's revived Bulldogs and the purple Moundbuilders from Southwestern on the college field at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

After turning in their first victory of the season over College of Emporia last week, the Canine gridsters are expected to furnish more opposition than the visitors are expecting.

Although the Builders have a heavy line which averages nearly 357 pounds, the implied, fighting Bulldogs probably will be able to unleash more speed and power than the Methodists can handle. However, spectators expect to see a close battle.

Thus far in the season, C. of E. also was the only team to succumb to the attack of Don Cooper's men. The Builders have dropped contests by wide margins to Wichita, Oklahoma Baptists, Emporia State, Pittsburg and Sterling.

Besides the centers, Musick and Buchanan, the only standouts on the opposing squad are Eddie Hinshaw, diminutive quarterback, and Rudy Martin, crashing fullback. Hinshaw is a capable field general while Martin is a sturdy line-backer and occasionally breaks through the line on plunges.

On the basis of the C. of E. battles, Southwestern holds a slight advantage with a 14-0 triumph while McPherson defeated the Presbys 7-0 last week. The Builders also have a small weight advantage, for both teams contain plenty of beef.

Today's game will be a "homecoming" for the football team, which has returned to the home gridiron to finish the season against two Methodist opponents. Incidentally, the Bulldogs brought home the bacon in the form of the first win of the season.

Only Keith Reinecker, who suffered a cracked neck vertebra in the game at Emporia, will be unable to see action this afternoon. The entire squad seems to be in fine fettle and ready to go at the starting whistle, hoping to continue what they started last week.

Gain First Victory

Whip College of Emporia 7-0;

Voshell Scores Touchdown.

Showing their best form of the season, the McPherson College Bulldogs broke into the win column last Friday night by chalking up a 7-0 triumph over College of Emporia, the first of this season.

McPherson outplayed the Presbys in every phase of the game and passed the century mark by a wide margin in yards gained by rushing. Passes were not needed with such effective charging, blocking and running.

After Funk charged around end for 23 yards late in the starting period, Voshell looped a pass to Wannamaker, who was downed on the opponents 27-yard line. Then Funk and Voshell alternately carried the pigskin to the 12-yard line as the quarter ended.

At the outset of the second stanza, Voshell crashed over for a touchdown from the 1-yard line. Rock converted for the extra point and McPherson controlled most of the game thereafter.

Four times the Presbys came within the 20-yard line, but the staunch Canine forward wall held back further thrusts, although C. of E. once marched to the 9-yard line. The entire McPherson line and backfield were playing "heads-up" ball as they turned in the initial victory of the current season.

Time Out For Scoops

It Can Happen Here—

A few mediocre sports fans thought the Bulldogs (and they are real Bulldogs, not Pekingeses) were doomed to a winless season. After Bethany's Swedes whipped McPherson, these "cheer while the going is good" spectators dropped in spirits. But the football boys still had plenty of fight and proved to themselves and skeptics that McPherson can produce a victory by playing hard, straight football.

Sports writers in Kansas City, who need to have more accurate information concerning teams in this section, grossly underrated the driving Canines of McPherson College. They could not see any team except Ottawa and it was considered an upset when Coach "Buck" Astle's courageous gridsters outplayed the Presbys, piloted by former Coach "Bud" Selvis.

Nevertheless, McPherson has not been defeated by a margin exceeding 12 points and it is believed the boys are merely getting started on what they almost accomplished during the earlier part of the season.

Tough opponents all the time, Haskell, Hastings, Ottawa, Baker, Bethel, Bethany, and College of Emporia found the Bulldogs tough, determined, and thoroughly capable. We had no special allies to offer in defeat and we can point to the initial victory of the season as proof of the fact that McPherson has had a splendid "foundation" team. Its true strength is just being revealed.

Now is the time to carry on the good deed of last week by smearing Southwestern and Kansas Wesleyan, respectively. As a good Methodist we want the fighting Bulldogs to come off the field with two more victories under their belt. It can happen here.

First Victory Is Sweet

Sympathies of the entire McPherson College student body go out to Keith Reinecker, who suffered a cracked vertebra in the C. of E. game. He was on the bottom of a tackling plunger when the accident occurred. Keith was showing many possibilities as a regular halfback and was regarded by teammates as a "well fellow." Everyone hopes his recovery is as complete and swift as possible, although he will be unable to play during the remainder of the season.

Capt. Dave "Tennessee Terrier" McGill proudly hugged the game ball as he left the C. of E. gridiron with the initial victory under his cap. . . Roy Robertson seems to be afraid of snakes, at least when they are released from packages. . . "Squeaky" Meyer's hat and Astle's Bulldog, "Scrappy", are credited with turning the tide of victory, if a person is superstitious. . . However, clegg, hard playing was a major factor in the triumph. . . Several students were able to shave Saturday morning as a result of the first win. . . Even Pekingeses are better than Presbyterians, but the Bulldogs are really growing to satisfy their appetite for breaking into the win column.

Myers, Funk, Voshell, Cramer, McGill, Wannamaker, Richardson, Owen, Kraus, York, Meyer and a host of substitutes showed excellent form last Friday night. . . With the lights out, the Presbys' band attempted a torchlight stunt which failed. . . Ted McDaniel, capable Gazette sports writer, was a candidate for coroner on both the Republican and Democratic tickets. . . "Pat" Maloney and "Duke" Holmes stopped off at their homes in Herington and Galva for the week-end. . . Phil Myers read an article entitled "Glow Emotion" but he had plenty of steam in blocking and line backing. . . C. of E. bowed for the first time this season to a conference opponent.

Unsets and Setups—

No upset was mighty Ottawa's 13-6 lacing of Ireland, Glannagane, and Co. as Fitzpatrick again proved he is one of the best backs in the conference. Perhaps the Irish didn't call the right substitutions in that particular contest.

We hope College of Emporia (bless their souls) manages to shake loose the "litz" which the Braves seem to hold over most of the members of this circuit, in football, basketball, and track. If none of the present clubs can turn the trick, perhaps Bethel or Sterling should be imported to do the job.

William Jewell (remember the quick shift) trounced the hapless Baker Wildcats with their dippy-doodle, razzle-dazzle stuff to spoil the homecoming of the Orangemen. Don't be surprised if the Bulldogs finish the race ahead of the Methodist schools, Baker and (you know whom).

Highly-overated Kansas Wesleyan surprised more highly-touted Rockhurst to the tune of a scoreless tie. At least, Gene Johnson and his Coyotes saw their names in the Kansas City papers, which is something, or is it?

A fighting Sterling eleven completely outclassed the Southwestern Moundbuilders, who will match the Bulldogs this afternoon, in a neutral battle at Hutchinson's new junior college stadium. As a football team, the Windfords boys were not up to par, but their hand put on an impressive demonstration between-the-halves.

Apparently the band and students of Southwestern are not sufficiently interested in the gridsters to follow them away-from-home. The band is not making the trip today, because of a previous engagement at Anthony. Anyway, McPherson's flashy new uniforms probably would overshadow the visitors, if they came.

Last night Baker tangled with Kansas Wesleyan at Kenwood park, but the score was not available as the Spectator went to press.

Sideline Scribbles—

Bill Rock was tickled pink to contribute one point to the defeat of his former teammates. . . Watch this column next week for our annual all-conference selection, which is usually reversed by Gene Kemper and his cronies. . . Of course, he gathers the opinions of all the coaches. . . With the advent of snow, freshmen and sophomores have lost most of their early enthusiasm for the approaching "grudge" game, which will be played soon. The definite date has not yet been announced. . . The football men hope to make the contributor to the Nerts column eat his words by showing that they can win another game. . . MIGHTY McPHERSON MAY MAUL MANY METHODISTS!

In addition to other outstanding Canine gridsters, Leo Kraus, sophomore guard from Pretty Prairie, deserves all-conference recognition for his sterling services in recent games.

Leo Kraus

After a slow start at tackle, Leo was shifted to guard and developed into an excellent running mate for another capable guard, LaVerne York, a junior. He will be in there fighting this afternoon against the Moundbuilders.

Roy (Master Mind) Robertson, coach of the freshman football team, has announced his squad roster. Although the team is light, he says they plenty of speed and will have a bag full of offensive tricks. Linemen on the fresh outfit are Hawkins, 175; Rhoades, 185; Sanger, 160; Morrison, 165; Garrels, 145; Dobinski, 165; Berger, 125; Burkholder, 135; Rogers, 150; Cooper, 150; Williams, 160; Bowman, 125; Ikenberry, 145; Fry, 150; Nordling, 150; Thompson, 150;

Baldwin, 145; and Wesling, 155. Backs include Albright, 145; Sylvan Hoover, 150; S. O. Hoover, 145; Miller, 125; Falkowson, 160; and Peterson, 155. Preston Rhoades will punt for the squad.

Sophomores are getting organized this week for the big fracas.

Gene Kemper, E. A. Thomas, and Jack McClain will be the officials this afternoon.

Rocky Ford Flash

Jack "Honey" Cramer, speedy back from Rocky Ford, Colorado, will probably see plenty of action today against the Southwestern Moundbuilders in the annual homecoming affair.

W. A. A. Notes

Members of the Volleyball Club were divided into two teams "last week with Lilla Hubbard as the captain of one team and Lenore Shirk, captain of the other. These two teams are evenly matched, and competition is very keen.

On Tuesday, last week, three games were played, with Lilla's team winning two of them. On Wednesday, two games were played and each team won one.

Every member of the club is looking forward to the Volleyball Sports Day to be held here Dec. 3. The Orchestral Club is getting started now under the leadership of Donna Jean Johnson. These girls meet every two weeks on Friday at 8:00 A. M.

Grand plans are being made by the Outing Club for Nov. 15. They are planning to go to Newton, to the rippling skating rink and enjoy an evening's skating. A committee composed of Alice Lindgren, Chairman, Audrey Haimman and Maurine Anderson is making the transportation arrangements. Miss Warner will accompany the girls.

The McPherson College W. A. A. has received an invitation from the Southwestern W. A. A. to send a volleyball team to an intercollegiate Volleyball Play Day to be held December 10, at Winfield. Definite arrangements will be announced later.

Big-Bad Builders

Three heavy tackles on the Southwestern Moundbuilders squad, which will meet the Bulldogs here tomorrow afternoon, are J. D. Krell, 200, Oxford, Kas.; George Morford, 235, Newton; and William Young, 200, Protection, Kas. There are seven players on Coach Don Cooper's team this year who weigh 200 pounds or more and will cause Bulldog linemen plenty of trouble. The visitors will present the beefiest aggregation yet to face the Canines this season.

Loyal-Bulldogs Junt To C. of E. Game

What can six boys do in a speedy car between McPherson and Emporia? What was the topic of conversation during the ninety minutes ride?

These are indeed interesting questions, but they cannot be answered here because of the nature of the answers. However, Ye Good Ole Readers can rest assured that the name of McPherson College will not writhe in the dust of time because of what happened during the adventure in Joelle Letkeman's racer.

Those who dared to travel with Joelle were: Gordon Yoder, Paul Metzger, Eddie Diel, Carroll Crause, and Kenneth Morrison.

Jack Oliver took his Buick and in it were Professor Don Paden, Harold Fries, and Jack himself. The topic of conversation has not been revealed but it may be safe or unsafe to assume that during the drive Paden, venerable gentleman that he is, outlined his communicative tendencies to admiring hearers. Few doubt that a good time was had by all.

The game started at seven-thirty and they were late not because they failed to arrive in Emporia on time but because so much time was spent in eating.
